INTRODUCTION.

IT is now the privilege of the editor to introduce to the public volume II. of this series of Canadian Art Biographies. In doing so, he congratulates the publishers, on the success they have had in the circulation of the former volume, and on the general satisfaction it has given. The production of two such volumes, is unique in Canadian literature. Leaving others to judge the merits of the literary part of the work, it must be conceded that from a mechanical and an artistic standpoint, it is unequalled by any Canadian publication.

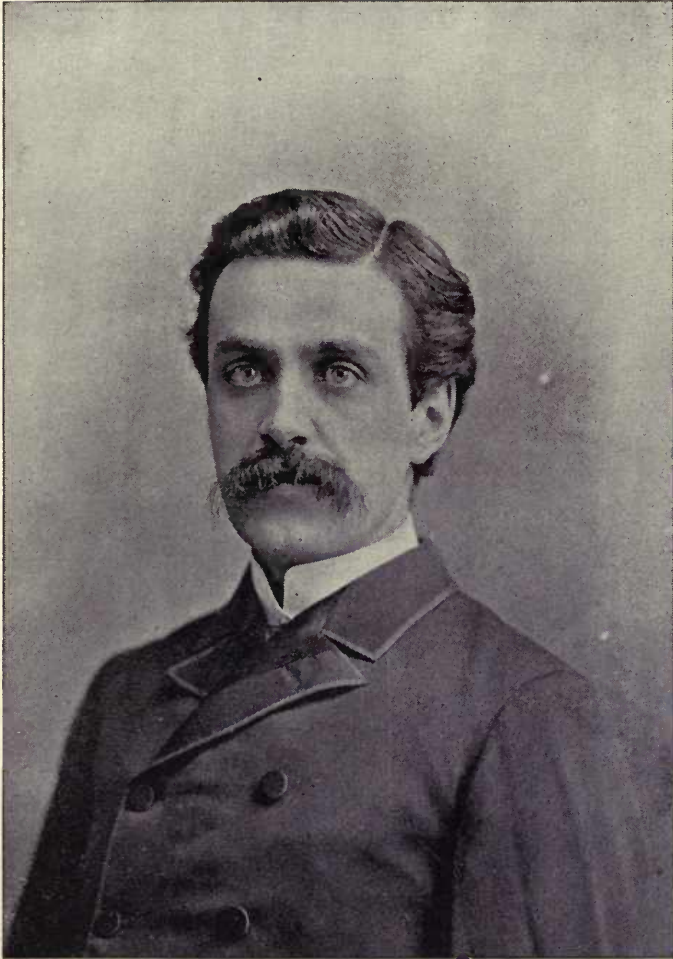

The engravings are produced on copper plates and the portraits are in the highest style of the art. The books are printed on coated paper, which contributes largely to the excellent finish of the engravings, and the clearness of the letter press. The binding too, is not only artistic, and the design of the covers emblematic of the Dominion, but it is at the same time, substantial and durable, and thus we have as nearly as art and mechanism can produce "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." Our country is to be congratulated in that she is able to produce such a publication, two volumes of which are now accessible to the public. Nearly eleven hundred faces greet us here, and every class of our representative men may be seen from these pages. The vast amount of labor involved in gathering the facts and in writing so many biographies, can easily be imagined, but there are few who understand the enormous expense incurred in producing the work.

The plan adopted for the distribution of the first three volumes, is worthy of notice. Volume I. takes in Western Ontario, while volume II. is made up of men from the Province of Quebec and for the most part of Eastern Ontario, there being in this volume comparatively few faces from Ontario West. It is now intended that volume III. shall contain other representative men from Quebec and Ontario, also take in a part of the Maritime Provinces, while the balance of that volume will likely be devoted to the Western part of the Dominion. Future volumes will be similarly arranged, until this art biographical directory is complete. Thus it will be seen that THE CANADIAN ALBUM is doing its part to link the various provinces into one harmonious whole, and doubtless its circulation will contribute largely to the creation of that national sentiment, which is so difficult of realization, in a widely scattered country like Canada.

It is not easy to estimate the good influence in this direction, of a thousand portraits and as many pen pictures of that number of the best known men of Ontario, scattered in ten thousand or more homes, throughout the Dominion, and an equally proportioned number of portraits and pen pictures of the representative men of each of the other provinces similarly scattered throughout the land. But this is the task which the publishers have assumed, and this is the good work they are doing. The enterprise is costly and arduous, but it is making progress and succeeding beyond expectation, their efforts being generously seconded by the leading men of the country.

With this explanation, we commit volume II. to the public to join its predecessor, in carrying out the mission indicated in the introduction to the first volume, and in the sentiments to which we have just given expression.

Wm. Cochrane

THE HON. LOUIS PHILIPPE PELLETIER, M.P.P., Quebec, Que., was born at Trois Pistoles, county of Temiscouata, Quebec. He was educated at the college of Ste. Anne, and at Laval University; called to the Bar in 1880, and was married on the 11th of January, 1883, to Miss Adèle Lelièvre. When only 24 years of age, and with only two years' practice, he was required to act as Crown Prosecutor for the province, and discharged his duties with such marked ability, that he soon came under the notice of the electorate. He was president of the Club Cartier, a Conservative organization, and subsequently president of the National Conservative Association of the Province of Quebec. He was appointed to the Legislative Council in 1888, and resigned his seat in 1889 to run for Dorchester, and was elected by acclamation. Although a Conservative, he supported the Mercier administration. In 1890, he was a candidate for the same constituency, and defeated Mr. Bernier by a majority of 955. Mr. Pelletier seceded from Mr. Mercier on account of his inability to endorse the latter's management of public affairs. Finally, Mr. Mercier's government was overthrown and a Conservative administration was formed, of which Mr. Pelletier is now member, having been sworn in as Provincial Secretary on the 22nd day of December, (1891). At the general elections which ensued, honorable Mr. Pelletier was re-elected by a majority of fourteen hundred votes, his opponent getting about one-sixth of the total number cast. At Laval University, he won the medal of the Marquis of Lorne, a piece of solid gold, worth three hundred dollars, offered to the most successful student, by the Governor General of the Dominion of Canada. The young and able Provincial Secretary is one of the cleverest barristers of Quebec, has more than ordinary executive ability, and is at the head of the legal firm of Pelletier & Fontaine, a law office of first-class standing and of wide reputation. He is a forcible debater, and a power in the House of Assembly.

HON. JUSTICE ALEX. CHAUVEAU, B.C.L., Q.C., Justice of the Court of Quarter Sessions, Quebec, was born February 23rd, 1847. He is a son of the late Hon. P. J. O. Chauveau, Q.C., D.C.L., who was Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec in 1867, and ex-speaker of the Senate. Judge Chauveau was educated at the College of the Jesuits, and Laval and McGill Universities, and took the degree of B.C.L. from the latter in 1867. He studied law with S. Lelièvre, Q.C., in Quebec, and also with the late Sir George Cartier, in Montreal. He was admitted to the Quebec Bar March 4th, 1868, and practiced in partnership with the late Hon. Justice Alleyne up to the date of his present appointment. He entered the political arena at the early age of 24, and contested the county of Rimouski in 1872, against Dr. Fiset, and was elected the ministerial candidate by a large majority. During the sessions of 1872-'73 and '74, he gave independent support to the Conservative Government, although often voting with the opposition during the last sessions of that parliament. He was unanimously returned by the same constituency, at the general elections of 1875, as an Independent member. Judge Chauveau was appointed Solicitor General for the Joly administration, in March, 1878, and was re-elected at the general election the same year. On the 19th of March, 1879, he was appointed Provincial Secretary and Registrar of the Province of Quebec, which he held until September of that year. In January, 1880, he was appointed Judge of the Sessions for the Province of Quebec. He has been twice elected president of the Society St-Jean-Baptiste. The Judge is also a commissioner under the Extradition Act of Canada, and is president of the Champlain Monument Committee. He was married August 1st, 1871, to Miss Adèle, eldest daughter of the late Hon. U. J. Tessier, judge of the Court of Queen's Bench. Has issue, two sons; Alexander, born Aug. 14th, 1874; Charles Auguste, born October 28th, 1877.

JOHN SMYTHE HALL, Jr., Q.C., Treasurer of the Province of Quebec, Montreal, Que., was born in that city August 7th, 1853. He was educated at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, and at McGill University, where he graduated B.A. in 1874, and B.C.L. in 1875. He was called to the Bar January, 1876, and appointed Q.C. in 1887. He is a member of the law firm of Hall, Cross, Brown & Sharp, who do a very large and important legal business in connection with their city and province. Mr. Hall was president of the University Literary Society in 1884, and elected a member of the Corporation of McGill University in 1883, re-elected in 1886, and has been president of the Junior Conservative Club, Montreal. He was first returned to the Legislative Assembly for Montreal West, at the general elections in 1886, over his opponent G. W. Stephens; was elected by acclamation in 1890, and re-elected for his present constituency at the last general elections in 1892. On the formation of the present ministry, in Quebec, Mr. Hall was appointed Provincial Treasurer, a position for which he is admirably adapted by his experience and grasp of public and parliamentary questions.

ALFRÉD ARCHAMBAULT, Titular Canon of the Cathedral of Montreal, Chancellor of the Archdiocese and professor of Natural Law in Laval University, was born May 23rd, 1859. He is a son of the late Honorable L. Archambault, Legislative councillor and ex-minister of Public Works, and of Elizabeth Dugal, first cousin of the late Honorable Judge Morin. He completed his classics at the college of L'Assomption, with the exception of philosophy, which he finished at Laval University, Quebec. Having spent three years at the Grand Seminary, Montreal, he was ordained priest June 29th, 1882, and left in the same year for Rome, where he resided three years, and took his degree in Theology and in Canonical Law, carrying off the gold medal. Returning to Canada, he taught philosophy for three years at L'Assomption College. In 1888, he was appointed professor of Natural Law in Laval University at Montreal, Vice-Chancellor of the Archdiocese in 1889, and Chancellor in 1892. In 1890, he accompanied Archbishop Fabre to Rome, and took an active part in the solution of the difficulties relative to the projected formation of the diocese of St. Jérôme.

HON. EDMUND JAS. FLYNN, Q.C., LL.D., M.P.P., Gaspé, Que., was born in Perce, Que., November 16th, 1847. His father was the late James Flynn, of Irish descent, who was, during his life time, a farmer and trader at Perce. His mother is still living; her maiden name is Elizabeth Tostevin; her father was born in Guernsey, and her mother of Jersey descent. Mr. Flynn was educated at the Quebec Seminary and at Laval University, graduating with honors, having taken at Laval the degree of L.L.L. in 1873, and in 1878, Laval again presented him with the degree of LL.D. He adopted law as his profession, and in September, 1873, was called to the Bar of Quebec, and has since then continued to practice as barrister in the Ancient Capital. He has been professor of Roman Law in Laval University since 1874, was a commissioner of Crown Lands for the province of Quebec, commissioner of Railways and Solicitor General. He declined a portfolio in Mr. Taillon's cabinet, as he had previously declined a portfolio in the Joly administration. On 21st December, 1891, he entered the De Boucherville government as Commissioner of Crown lands, thereby resuming his old department with which he had thoroughly familiarized himself. He was made a Q.C. in 1887, and has taken an active part in political affairs for the last eighteen years, having been a candidate in twelve different elections in the most of which he was successful. He has always been in politics a Liberal Conservative, and his entire parliamentary career has given evidence of his interest in promoting that which was best calculated to develop the country. In the House, Mr. Flynn has taken a prominent part, particularly on constitutional questions, and has won for himself the well deserved reputation of being a strong and energetic upholder of constitutional liberty. He is a Roman Catholic; he was married May 11th, 1875, to Miss Maria Matilde, daughter of Augustin Côté, editor of Le Journal de Québec.

REV. ANTOINE GAUVREAU, parish priest, Lévis, Que., was born in Rimouski, September 22nd, 1841. His father was Pierre Gauvreau, a prominent notary public, and his mother was Elizabeth Duberges. Mr. Gauvreau was sent to the College of Ste. Anne, 1853, where he followed a complete course of classical studies, on the completion of which he determined to enter Holy Orders, and with that in view, was admitted to Laval to study theology. In October, 1864, he was ordained priest, and appointed missionary vicar to the parish of Rivière au Renard, Gaspé. He retained this charge until 1866, when he was called to the city of Quebec to assume the duties of almoner at the Archbishop's Palace, being at the same time chaplain to the Sisters of Charity, the Christian Brothers, and the St. Vincent de Paul Society. In 1870, he was removed by his ordinary to the curacy of St. Nicholas, Lévis county, where he remained until 1875, when he was transferred to Ste. Anne de Beaupré, the place of pilgrimage of the Roman Catholics of the whole American continent. Every summer, thousands of devout pilgrims wend their way to the shrine of the saint. It is said that the number of people who visited Ste. Anne during the season of 1887, exceeded 100,000. Two golden crowns of great value were recently presented to the present curate of Ste. Anne by the citizens of Quebec, and His Eminence, Cardinal Taschereau, presided at the ceremonies incidental to the blessing of the princely gift. Rev. Mr. Gauvreau exercised his ministry in Ste. Anne until 1878, when he took charge of the important parish of St. Romuald de Etchemin, county of Lévis, which he retained until 1882, when he removed to Lévis, opposite the city of Quebec, and has had charge of that parish ever since. In 1889, he established in Lévis the Marist Brothers, who give instruction to three hundred little boys, and he is just now building an hospital for the sick of his parish. He has a very firm hold on the affections of his people.

OWEN MURPHY, Ex-

Mayor of Quebec city, was born in Stoneham, Province of Quebec, December 9th, 1829. His father was a member of the highly esteemed family of Murphys, of Ballainouart House, Wexford county, Ireland, and was a man of peculiarly high attainments and cultivated mind. Mr. Murphy was educated under the tuition of the famous Robt. H. Scot, of Edinburgh, Scotland. In his early commercial life he was associated with two of the then largest and most important lumber, ship owning, produce and milling firms of this country. His unflagging perseverance and invincible integrity have obtained for him the honorable, responsible and distinguished positions which he has so frequently held. He was for years a member of the Quebec City Council, and in 1874 was elected to the mayoralty, and at the expiration of his term was re-elected for a further term of two years. Independent of the many municipal offices which Mr. Murphy has filled, he is director of the Quebec Central Railroad, past president of the St. Patrick's Society, the St. Patrick's Literary Institute, the Quebec Turf Club, and the Quebec Board of Trade. He is in religion a Roman Catholic, and has always taken an independent course in politics, but believes that protection is necessary to the welfare of this country. Mr. Murphy was an unsuccessful candidate for Quebec West in 1881, was elected for the same district, in 1886, by the largest majority ever given in that constituency, and was again re-elected in 1890. He was an important factor in the action which led to the dismissal of the Mercier Government, and the carrying of the province by the DeBoucherville administration. However, he declined to be a candidate for his old constituency, and voluntarily withdrew from active political life. Mr. Murphy was married, in 1857, to Miss Loughry, who died in June, 1888, after which he sold his beautiful residence, and has since lived in social retirement. Mr. Murphy has no family.

JAMES KING, M.P.P., Quebec, Que., was born in St. Antoine de Tilly, Lotbinière county, P.Q., February 18th, 1848. He is the youngest son of the late Charles King, of Sylvester, Megantic. Mr. King received his early education in Lennoxville, and took the degree of B.A. in 1867, and that of M.A. in 1873, at the University of Bishop's College. In early life, Mr. King turned his attention to commercial pursuits, notably that of lumbering, and is now (1892) the Quebec member of the well and favorably known lumber and timber exporting firm of King Bros. and King

Bros. & Co., who are among the largest operators in the province, having their works scattered all over the Eastern Townships, and in this way have become powerful contributors to Lower Canadian development. The King Bros. are largely interested in the important Asbestos industry of the Province of Quebec, and are proprietors of extensive areas of Asbestos bearing lands in the Eastern Townships, and notably of the "Hampden" and "Thetford Royal" mines in Megantic county. Mr. King is the vice-president of the Mining Association of the Province of Quebec, director of Union Bank of Canada, and largely interested in rural real estate, being the seigneur of the seigniories of St. Jean Deschailons and Lake Matapedia. His large and honorable commercial transactions throughout the province, have made him so favorably known, that in 1892, he was elected to the Provincial Legislature, as representative of the county of Megantic, by the Conservative party, and will doubtless prove an able and valuable member of parliament. Mr. King is in religion a member of the Church of England, and has been a lay delegate to the synod of the Diocese of Quebec. He is unmarried, and has travelled over the United Kingdom and the continent of Europe. As he is yet (1892) in the full prime of his manhood, there is strong probability that he will become one of the most important and influential factors in his native province.

HON. JOHN DOBSON, merchant, Lindsay, Ont., was born in the county of Fermanagh, Ireland, September 8th, 1824, and is a son of John and Mary Dobson. He was educated in the parochial schools in Ireland. In 1852, he emigrated to the United States, and settled in Rochester, N.Y. He came to Canada September 10th, 1860, the same day on which the Prince of Wales was a guest at Toronto, and lived in Toronto two years. Mr. Dobson afterwards settled in Lindsay, where he still resides (1892), and conducts a very large trade. He has rendered much valuable service in public affairs, and has been honored with various important positions. In 1874, he was elected mayor of Lindsay, and filled the office with credit to himself and with profit to the town. He has been mayor several times since 1874, and is now (1892), president of the Lindsay Board of Trade, the Mechanics Institute and the Conservative Association. The latter office he has held for twenty years. He was appointed to the Senate, February 23rd, 1892. In religion Mr. Dobson is an Episcopalian. In politics, a Conservative. He was married in 1846, to Miss Catharine Graham.

SIMON C. GRONDIN, M.D., L.M., Surgeon Gynecologist, Quebec, Que., was born January 17th, 1862. He is the son of E. and C. (Morin) Grondin. Dr. Grondin took his classical course at the Seminary of Quebec, was made Doctor in Medicine at Laval University in 1885, after six months in Dublin, Ireland. He received his diploma of Accoucheur, in February, 1886. His next two years were spent in Paris, where he was for one year chief clinical at the Clinical Institution of Dr. Chéron, for diseases of women. For six months he occupied the place of assistant clinical with Dr. Doleris, at Paris, who conducted a similar institution. In 1889, Dr. Grondin established himself in Quebec, and was made professor at Laval the same year (gives clinics for diseases of women). He contributed largely towards establishing the practice of modern surgery in Quebec, and established the first private hospital in that city in 1891. Owing to his great energy and spirit he already possesses one of the most renowned practices in the ancient capital. In religion he is a Roman Catholic. Dr. Grondin was married December 15th, 1888, to Marie Z. Miette, born in the French Ardennes.

EDISON BALDWIN FRALECK, B.A., Belleville, Ont., Junior Judge of the County Court of Hastings county, Ont., was born in Sidney, near Belleville, Ont., February 6th, 1841. His parents were Thomas Tillotson and Hannah (Nicholson) Fraleck, both of genuine U. E. Loyalist stock. The former was the son of Martin Fraleck who came from Wittenburg, Saxony, and took up lands on the Hudson River, which were afterwards confiscated by the Revolutionary party. Mr. T. T. Fraleck served as a cavalryman during the entire three years war of 1812-15. Judge Fraleck began his studies at the common schools and next attended Queen's College, Kingston, from which he graduated B.A. in 1863. He then entered the study of law with the firm of Ponton & Falkiner, Belleville, and subsequently with the Hon. Stephen Richards, Toronto. He took out solicitor's certificates at Easter term, 1868, and was called to the Bar at Hilary term the same year. He was elected to the University Council in 1886, and re-elected in 1891. He continues to reside in Belleville (1892), where he is a prominent and influential factor in the city and county to which he belongs.

In religion he is a Presbyterian from his youth. His mother was of the same faith and his father was a Lutheran. In politics the Judge is a staunch Conservative and takes strong ground as to the connection of Canada with the Motherland, to whom, he believes, we owe our civil and religious liberty. He rendered valuable aid to his party for fifteen years, until he was appointed Junior County Judge 28th December, 1881. He is a member of the Knight Templar, Oddfellow, Black Knight, Orange and Masonic societies, and for several years master of Mystic Lodge 278, of the latter order. He was also lieutenant No. 4 Company, 49th Hastings Rifles, from 1867 to 1874, when he retired retaining rank. Judge Fraleck was married August 12th, 1874, to Miss Jane E., daughter of Wm. Judd, Esq., of Sterling, Hastings county, Ont.

VICTOR PAUL CHATEAUVERT, flour, grain and provision merchant, Quebec, Que., was born in that city, March 12th, 1841. He is a son of Pierre and Angèle (Rousseau) Chateauvert. The former was a well-known contractor and builder, and the latter was the daughter of J. B. Rousseau, merchant, Quebec. Mr. Chateauvert was educated at the Christian Brothers' Academy, and at Thom's Academy. He has risen to his present honorable position, entirely by his own energy and determination. When a mere youth he exhibited those traits of character, which have since developed and played such an important part in placing him in his present honored position. When fourteen years of age, he entered as a junior clerk with J. B. Renaud, in the flour and grain business, and was alternately book-keeper, cashier and salesman of the establishment, and later on became partner with Mr. Gaspard Le Moine, his present partner. After the death of Mr. Renaud, Messrs. Le Moine and Chateauvert formed a partnership, having bought the business and conducted it under the same name, and are now among the most widely and favorably known produce men in the Province of Quebec. In 1891, Mr. Chateauvert was forced to present himself as the Federal Conservative candidate, and was beaten by a very small majority in Quebec Centre division; however, he was elected against Dr. Rinfret, member of Provincial Parliament in March, 1892. He will, doubtless, show himself to be an able member of the House, as having had a thoroughly practical training, he is well versed in all matters of commercial importance, and is able to give his constituents the benefit of his long experience. He had the honor of being elected president of the Quebec Board of Trade in 1891. He is now in the full vigor of his manhood and bids fair to give to his city and country many years of valuable service. He was married August 14th, 1860, to Miss Virginia Sophie, daughter of David Dussault, architect and contractor, Quebec.

CHARLES FITZPATRICK, advocate, Quebec, Que., was born in that city, December 19th, 1853. His ancestors were Irish. Mr. Fitzpatrick was educated at the Quebec Seminary, and Laval University of which last he was, in 1876, the Dufferin Medallist in the law faculty. On being admitted to practice law, he rapidly pushed to the front, and soon acquired a large business. He is an able criminal lawyer, and in 1879, was appointed by the Provincial Government, Crown prosecutor for the city and district of Quebec. He has figured in most of the important cases before the Provincial courts. He represented the Belgian Government in the Tournai frauds case at Montreal, and the United States Government in the great Eno extradition case at Quebec. He was counsel for Messrs. McGreevey and Connolly, in connection with the Tarte charges, also counsel for Hon. Mercier, Hon. C. Langelier and E. Pacaud, in the Quebec political prosecutions. In 1885, he awoke to find himself famous all over the Dominion, by his retainer as one of the leading counsel for the defence in the Riel case. Mr. Fitzpatrick was elected a member of the Provincial Legislature for the county of Quebec in June, 1890, and re-elected for the same constituency in March, 1892. From the moment he entered the House, he took a foremost position as a speaker and debater, having complete command of both languages, English and French. On the formation of the De Boucherville ministry in 1891, he refused the portfolio of Attorney General and a seat in the Cabinet as the representative of the Irish Catholic element, on the ground of his Liberal antecedents, but promised to support all honest and economical government from whatever party it proceeded. He is at present (1892) a foremost member of the Liberal opposition, of which he was offered the leadership. He was married May 20th, 1879, to Miss Corinne, daughter of the late Hon. R. E. Caron, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and sister of Sir Adolphe Caron.

LIEUT.-COL. HENRY

postmaster, Peterborough, Ont., was born in Grafton, Ontario, July 16th, 1839. His parents were Lieut.-Col. James G. and Maria (Burnham) Rogers, of U. E. Loyalist descent. The former died in 1874 in Grafton, Ont., where his father opened the first Post Office between Kingston and York (now Toronto). Col. Rogers began his studies at the Grafton public school, and at the age of twelve, entered the Model school, Toronto. He subsequently attended the Grammar school at Kingston. After leaving the latter institution, he engaged in business with his uncle, the late Lieut.-Col. R. D. Rogers of Ashburnham, with whom he remained for about five years. He then formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, Harry Strickland, under the firm name of Strickland and Rogers, and for ten years conducted a successful lumbering, mining and mercantile trade in Peterboro'. In 1871, Col. Rogers received his present appointment, and consequently retired from business to attend to the duties of his office. He has made a most efficient and obliging official, and has given every satisfaction to the general public. In 1889 he was elected commodore of the American Canoe Association, and is well up in all nautical matters. Like his illustrious ancestors, Col. Rogers is every inch a soldier, and has always had a great love for military life. At the age of sixteen he joined the Peterborough Rifles. He was duly promoted and took an active part during the Fenian raid of 1866. He is an active member and Pastmaster of the Masonic order, and is in religion an Episcopalian. The colonel's official position, prevents him from taking the active part in politics for which his talents qualify him, but his sympathy is with the Conservative party. He was married September 1st, 1863, to Maria, eldest daughter of Dr. W. H. Burritt, Esq., of Smith's Falls, Ont. The latter is also of genuine U. E. L. stock. The family of Col. Rogers consists of five sons and two daughters.

OLIVIER M. AUGÉ, Q.C., M.P.P. Montreal, Que., was born in the Parish of Sorel, Quebec, August 7th, 1845. He is a son of Olivier and Henriette (Piché) Augé, both of whom were among the early settlers of Quebec Province. Mr. Augé began his education in Joliette, where he attended college. After completing his course he began the study of law at Joliette in the office of Mr. now Judge Baby (of the court of Queen's Bench), and afterwards with Cartier, Pominville and Bétournay, of Montreal. On finishing his law course he began practice and soon acquired an important legal business, and now (1892), occupies a prominent position in the city of Montreal, not only in connection with his profession, but is also a noted factor in public affairs generally. In 1890, Mr. Augé was the Liberal Conservative candidate for St. James Division, Montreal, but was defeated by alderman Brunet by a majority of 220, but in 1892, he defeated the same man by a majority of 132. This was a very exciting contest, the number of votes cast was over 5,000. Mr. Augé is in religion a Roman Catholic. He was married in November, 1871, to Miss Melina, daughter of Dr. Hercule Roy.

WILLIAM WARREN DEAN, Lindsay, Ont., judge of the county and surrogate courts of Victoria and Haliburton counties, local judge of the High Court and Master in Chancery, was born in London, Ontario, October 25th, 1830. He is the son of the Rev. Horace and Ruth (Tisdale) Dean, both U. E. Loyalists. Judge Dean began his studies at the Grammar school, Barrie, and subsequently attended the Victoria University, Cobourg, from which he received his B. A. in 1854. He studied law at Belleville with Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C., late chief justice of Manitoba. He was called to the Bar in 1858, and practised in Belleville until 1874, and during the greater part of this time was Master in Chancery. He was then appointed judge of Victoria county, and in 1886, the Provisional county of Haliburton was added for judicial purposes. Judge Dean, is in religion, a Methodist. He has been a delegate for many years to the General Conferences, and for thirty years has been a member of the board of Regents and Senate of Victoria University. Mrs. Dean is the eldest daughter of the late Gilbert Bogart, of Belleville, also a well known U. E. Loyalist family.

THE LATE HON. COL. W. RHODES, Quebec, Que., was born at Bramhope Hall, Yorkshire, England, in 1821, and was educated in the schools and colleges of that land. At an early age he entered the army as an ensign in the 68th Durham Light Infantry, commanded by Lord William Paulet. This regiment was sent to the West Indies and subsequently ordered to Canada in 1842. On obtaining his company, Capt. Rhodes decided to settle at Quebec, and in 1848 acquired the beautiful and picturesque lands of "Benmore," formerly owned by Sir Dominic Daly, late Governor of Prince Edward Island. He was married, in 1847, to Miss Anne C. Dunn, daughter of the late Robert Dunn, son of the former administrator of the Government. Col. Rhodes soon entered the political arena, and in 1850 he went to the Canadian Commons as the representative of the county of Megantic, which, more than twenty-five years later, renewed its confidence in its old member. The colonel was a most energetic promoter of railways and was for years chairman of the North Shore Line (since merged into the C. P. R.). His ever active mind was constantly employed in revolving the questions of improvements in farm stock, tillage of the soil, the erection of butter and cheese factories over the length and breadth of the land, the opening of colonization roads, and the recognition by legislation of agricultural merit. It was evident that the coming exponent of the agricultural class of the province was Col. Rhodes, and in 1887 he became Minister of Agriculture and Colonization. The Colonel lived in his rural home like a respected English gentleman of the olden time. His roses and strawberries were famous; his advice was always, and his purse not unfrequently, at the disposal of the needy. He died suddenly from an attack of paralysis, Feb. 17th, 1892, and was laid to rest by gentle and loving hands, under the shade of the whispering pines of solemn and beautiful Mount Hermon, not far from the fragrant walks and pleasant bowers of "Benmore."

GEORGE HENRY FREWEN DARTNELL, Whitby, Ont., junior judge of the county of Ontario; local judge of the High Court of Justice for the province of Ontario; local master in Chancery, and special examiner in all the courts, was born Feb. 13th, 1834, in the city of Limerick, Ireland. He is the son of the late Edward Taylor Dartnell, a prominent Irish solicitor, who came to this country in the year 1850 and settled in Toronto. His education was begun at King's College, London, England, and continued and completed under the tuition of his father. He first studied law under the present Chief Justice Hagarty, and the late Lieutenant-Governor Crawford, and subsequently with the late Hon. John Hillyard Cameron, the Hon. J. B. Robinson and C. J. Robinson. He was admitted to the Bar in 1857, and commenced his profession in Whitby where he still resides. He was for some time a partner of H. J. McDonnell, and also of Hector Cameron, Q.C. He was appointed Master in Chancery in 1859, and junior judge in 1873, both of which offices he still holds (1892). Judge Dartnell is known as a brilliant scholar and an honor to the Bench. He was a sub-editor of the Daily Patriot, the first daily paper issued in Toronto, and has given much valuable aid to the cause of education, having been for eighteen years a member of the school board of the town of Whitby, and for nine years chairman of that body. He is a member of the A.F. & A.M. and A.O.F. Societies. Is past grand senior deacon of the Grand Lodge of Canada; past district deputy grand master and representative in the Grand Lodge of Canada, of the Grand Lodge of Cuba and Ceylon. He is president of St. Patrick's Society and of the Whitby Cricket Club. He is now (1892) a lieutenant-colonel (unattached) of the volunteer force and served on the frontier during the Fenian raids. He has been married twice, first to Louisa Hawke, daughter of Anthony B. Hawke, and second to Caroline Gross, daughter of G. C. Gross, of Whitby.

AUGUSTIN COTÉ, printer and journalist, Quebec, was born in that city in 1818. He is a son of Augustin and Marie-Louise (Letarte) Côté, and first went to a primary school called Bishop's Chapel, where he was prepared to make his first communion in Notre Dame Church in 1829. He learned the art of printing, and in 1834 worked in company with the now great publisher, John Lovell, of Montreal. In 1837, he began a course of private study, and, in 1842, became sub-editor of La Gazette de Québec, and later on started the Journal de Québec, with Joseph Cauchon, as chief editor, who died in Manitoba in 1885, having been Lieutenant-Governor of that Province. Among Mr. Côté's many publications may be mentioned, Les Relations des Jésuites, in three large volumes, which appeared in 1857-58. He has also printed L'Annuaire de l'Université Laval, since its establishment in 1854. In 1855, he offered a premium for the best abridgment of the History of Canada. The task was accepted by the late Mr. F. X. Garneau, and over 38,000 copies sold up to 1870. In 1861, Mr. Côté was invited to run for the Legislative Assembly, and, at the beginning of Confederation, he was tendered the Post-mastership of Quebec, both of which he declined in order to promote his journal. He has been magistrate since 1855, and Captain in the Militia, under a commission signed by Sir Edmund Head. After an influential course of 47 years, his journal was, by an unexpected event, forced to suspend. Suffice it to say, that our subject has been a great worker, persevering, honest, deserving and universally respected for his many good qualities of head and heart. Mr. Côté was married in 1845 to Miss Caroline Émilie Lemieux, daughter of the late Charles Lemieux. Of a family of thirteen children, eight are living, amongst whom are Augustine, wife of Hon. E. J. Flynn, Minister of Crown Lands; and Amélie, wife of Adolphe Poisson, advocate and Registrar of Arthabaska.

MAJOR SAM. HUGHES, M.P. of The Warder, Lindsay, Ontario, was born in Darlington, Durham county, Ontario, January 8th, 1852. His father, John Hughes, a native of Tyrone, Ireland, came to Canada about 1845, taught school, settled on a farm, and now lives retired at Blackstock, Ont. His father was one of the famous 67 "Royal Bengal Tiger" Regiment. Major Hughes' mother is Caroline Laughlin, daughter of a British Royal Artillery officer, and grand-daughter of a Huguenot Cavalry officer, Poirier de St. Pierre, under Bonaparte. Educated in Durham schools, Toronto Model and Normal schools, the University of Toronto and the Military school under the 29 line Regiment, Mr. Hughes holds "1st A." School Inspector's and "1st class Military" and University Modern Languages, Honor certificates, and is author of a map of Canada and a geography. He is member of A.F. & A.M., I.O.O.F., L.O.L., O.R.A. and D.R.A. As teacher, he served in Belleville, Lifford, Bowmanville, and for ten years in Toronto Collegiate Institute, where he was first English master. In 1885, he purchased The Warder, which he has since conducted with very great success. The circulation has increased four fold since he assumed control of the paper. As athlete, Mr. Hughes in 1872, won championship mile race for America, and from 1872 to 1884, was on "1st 12" of Toronto Lacrosse Club, besides active in football, cricket, baseball, bicycling and rowing. He is also a good rifleman. In 1891, he was defeated for the Commons for North Victoria by J. A. Barren, Q.C., but in 1892, on revised lists, he won over Mr. Barren by the handsome majority of 239 votes. A Methodist and Liberal Conservative, Mr. Hughes is opposed to union of Church and State. He was twice married; first, in 1872, to Caroline J., daughter of Major Preston of Manvers, and second, in 1875, to Mary E., daughter of Harvey W. Burk, ex-M.P., Bowmanville. A son and a daughter of his second wife constitute the family.

WILLIAM HENRY WILKISON, Napanee, Ont., Judge of the county of Lennox and Addington, was born in the city of Kingston, Ontario, in 1838. He is the son of William and Mary (O'Reilly) Wilkison. Judge Wilkison received his education in Kingston. He entered upon the study of law at Kingston and was admitted to the Bar in 1861, having made rapid progress in completing his course. He located at Napanee where he was appointed County Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace. He was also Deputy Reeve of the town for one year. In 1869 he was made judge of the courts of the county above named, and was succeeded as County Crown Attorney by W. A. Reeve, now of the Law School, Toronto. The judge, although one of the youngest on the bench, brought to the discharge of the duties of his office not only a well trained judicial mind, but also that ability and dignity so essential to the position. In religion he is an active and influential member of the Church of England, having been church warden, and is now a lay delegate to the Provincial Synod. Judge Wilkison was married, in 1863, to Isabella Allan, daughter of the late Wm. Allen Geddes, Hamilton, Ont.

REV. FRS.-XAVIER FAGUY, Parish Priest of the Basilica of Notre Dame, Quebec, Que., was born in St. Jean-Baptiste, Quebec, October 15th, 1853. He is the son of François Faguy and Marguerite Voyer. The Rev. Mr. Faguy was educated in Quebec Seminary and graduated in Laval University. He was ordained priest June 7th, 1879, and was professor of literature in Quebec Seminary for eight years. He entered the parochial ministry, acting as curate at Charlesbourg, St. Jean-Baptiste and St. Rochs, Quebec, successively. He was also Chaplain to the Congregation in the last named parish. On the breaking out of the North-West insurrection, Father Faguy was appointed Chaplain to the 9th Voltigeurs de Quebec, and served with the battalion until the close of the troubles, receiving a medal for services rendered during the campaign. The reverend gentleman is president of the Quebec School commission and one of the judges of the ecclesiastical court for the Archdiocese. The Rev. Mr. Faguy has made an impression on his people and country at a very early age, and as he is yet in the early prime of his manhood, has a splendid future before him.

CAPTAIN ALEX. FARLINGER, Morrisburg, Ont., was born in Dundee, Huntingdon Co., Que., June 1st, 1824. His father, James Farlinger, was of German U. E. Loyalist descent, and his mother, Barbara Gardiner, was a native of Ayrshire, Scotland. Captain Farlinger had the advantage of a few years in the public schools, but is practically a self-educated man. When he was about nineteen years of age, he entered the employ of Mason & Farlinger, forwarders, Montreal, with whom he remained for about two and a half years, when he took charge of the royal mail steamer the "Lord Elgin" from Kingston to Montreal, for the joint firms of Macpherson, Crane & Co. and Hooker & Holton, which position he held for seven years without an accident of any kind. During the next two years he was engaged in the forwarding and general merchant business in Prescott. On June 1st, 1854, he was married to Isabella F., daughter of the late Capt. Wm. Kyle, of Morrisburg, Ont. Mrs. Farlinger was possessed of very extensive farm lands, which being added to his own already large possessions, compelled him to give up all other business and devote his undivided attention to the management of this estate of nearly 20,000 acres of valuable farm lands, besides other village and town property, all in Eastern Ontario. He has taken an active interest in a number of railway enterprises, one of which was the originating of the scheme to run a railway from Ottawa to New York (bridging the St. Lawrence at Morrisburg), and which was chartered in 1882 under the name of the Ottawa, Waddington and New York Railway and Bridge Company. The press of private business always prevented him from accepting many public honors in the way of important offices which were frequently tendered him. He owes much of his success, in a business way, to his qualities of keen observation and quick decision. In religion he is a Presbyterian, and in politics a Conservative and enjoyed the intimate friendship of the late Sir John A. Macdonald.

THE LATE REV. JOHN COOK, D.D., LL.D., Presbyterian minister, Quebec, Que., was born in Sanquhar, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, April 13th, 1805. He was educated at the Universities of Glasgow and Edinburgh, where he studied under Dr. Chalmers of distinguished memory. Dr. Cook was ordained a clergyman of the Church of Scotland in 1835, and came to Canada in the following year. He always took a prominent part in the affairs of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland, and after the general union of Presbyterians in 1875, was equally loyal to the United Church. After the departure of the Free Church party, Dr. Cook was twice elected moderator of the Synod. He opposed the division of the Canadian Church, maintaining that it was the duty of Canadian Presbyterians to remain united. While still laboring to promote the extension of the old branch of the Presbyterian Church, he remained consistent with his opinions of 1844. At the Synod of 1861, Dr. Cook moved a resolution to promote the union of all the Presbyterians of the province. This resolution failed, but in 1875, the union so manifestly desirable was brought about, and he was chosen first moderator of the Presbyterian Church of the Dominion. He was also one of the delegates sent to obtain a royal charter for the University of Queen's College, Kingston, of which he was for a long period a trustee, and for some time principal. The High School, justly regarded as one of the best schools in the country, was established mainly through his exertions in 1843. He was for many years chairman of the Board of Directors, and took a warm interest in its struggles and success. Dr. Cook was named by the late Dr. Morrin, as principal of the college then about to be established in Quebec, and since 1861, until his death in 1892, he filled the office of principal. In 1880, the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Queen's University; that of D.D. he held from the University of Glasgow.

REV. A. B. DEMILL, president of Demill Ladies' College, Oshawa, Ont., and principal of Demill Residential Academy, Toronto, was born in Northport, Prince Edward county, Ontario, July 10th, 1831. His parents were Isaac and Amelia (Mills) Demill. Up to the time of his manhood, Mr. Demill's education was confined to the common schools, but he subsequently attended Victoria College, Cobourg, until failing health, forced him to abandon his studies and enter mercantile life. In 1856, he had strong convictions that God required him for the work of the ministry, and began at once to prepare for that calling, and entered as a probationer in 1860. During the twelve years Mr. Demill remained in the active work, his career was marked by most signal success in the conversion of sinners, the strengthening of believers, and the enlarging, beautifying and building of churches. In 1874, his long cherished hope of founding a ladies' college assumed practical shape. He purchased a beautiful site, comprising twenty-eight acres of ground, in the town of Oshawa, and erected the present beautiful and substantial college. This he accomplished without any denominational help, financially or socially, and to-day Demill Ladies' College, Oshawa, stands high in the esteem of the Protestant public throughout the Dominion. In 1890, he opened his Residential Academy in Toronto, and is already (1892) meeting with much encouragement in his object of providing a series of schools which will obviate the necessity of Protestant girls attending Roman Catholic convents. His efforts to sustain this good work are simply herculean, and too much credit cannot be given him for the success he has achieved. Mr. Demill is publishing a monthly paper called The Protestant, which is full of information on the superiority and necessity of Protestant institutions for our Canadian girls. He was married in 1854 to Miss Hurd, daughter of E. Hurd, Esq., of Whitby. His family consists of one daughter, who is an art graduate of 1891.

He is a member of the well-known firm of Carbray, Routh & Co., lumber merchants, who have offices in Quebec and Montreal. Mr. Carbray has won a good position in the commercial world, and as a business man, has received the public confidence wherever known. In addition to his other duties, he fills the important office of Consul of Portugal at the Port of Quebec. He is a trustee of St. Patrick's Church, and also of that noble Irish Catholic Charity, the St. Bridget's Asylum. He occupies a large place in the regard of the Irish Catholic population of the ancient capital, which he represented in the Quebec Parliament from 1881 to 1886. He also takes an active part in all the local national movements of his countrymen, and has filled the highest offices in the various influential Irish bodies in his native city. In politics he is a Liberal Conservative, and was first elected to the Legislature in 1881. His career in the House has been very creditable. He is a good speaker and debater, and speaks both English and French with equal fluency. He is specially strong on matters of finance and commerce. Mr. Carbray was returned by acclamation as M.P.P. for Quebec West at the Provincial General Election on the 8th March, 1892. He is also a commissioner on the Board of the Quebec Harbor Commission. Mr. Carbray was the mover of the resolution adopted by the Quebec Legislature, in favor of granting home rule to Ireland, and sympathy with Mr. Gladstone in his efforts to solve the Irish problem. His prominence on this occasion increased, if possible, his popularity among his constituents of Irish descent. He was married, May 1854, to Miss Margaret, daughter of Wm. Carberry, Esq., who came to this country in 1847.

REV. LOUIS ADOLPHE PAQUET, B.A., Doctor of Theology, Professor of Apologetic and Dogmatic Theology at Laval University, and assistant director of the Grand Seminary of Quebec, Que., was born in the parish of St. Nicholas, county of Lévis, Quebec, April 4th, 1859. Dr. Paquet studied in the Quebec Seminary. He entered the ecclesiastical state in 1879, and was sent to Rome to study theology at the University of the Propaganda, where he spent four years in following the courses of celebrated professors, and took his theological degrees after a public controversy before Pope Leo XIII. He was ordained a priest in the Church of St. John Lateran, on March 24th, 1883, by Card. Monaco Lavaletta. Doctor Paquet returned from Rome the same year, carrying with him several prizes and medals including two from the Pope himself. Since that time, while teaching theology and preaching, he has written a book the title of which is La Foi et la Raison.

He is the son of Angus Ray, one of the first school teachers in the early history of the township of Eldon, and for a long period, clerk of that township, and a postmaster for over twenty years. Mr. Ray was educated at the common schools of Victoria county, and at the age of sixteen, engaged as a dry goods clerk in the establishment of Mr. Robert Spier, of Lindsay. He spent a portion of 1872 in the wholesale dry goods trade. After this, he embarked in business for himself, and has now a thoroughly established trade in the town of Lindsay. He has given considerable attention to public affairs, and has received a good share of municipal honors; he was in the council during 1887 and 1888; Deputy Reeve for 1889, and was elected mayor for 1892. Dr. Workman began his education at the public school. In January 1870, he entered Victoria College, Cobourg, and in May 1875, received the degree of B.A. from Victoria University. He then went to Europe and travelled over England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Italy and Switzerland. In June 1876, he was appointed assistant editor of the Toronto Christian Guardian which position he filled for two years. Dr. Workman became a candidate for the Methodist Ministry in June 1873. In 1878, he received the degree of M. A., was then ordained and spent the next four years in the regular pastoral work. In 1882, he obtained an assistant professorship in Victoria University, and taught Hebrew and Philosophy for two years. In May 1884, he received his present appointment, and shortly went to Leipzig to qualify for special departmental work in Oriental languages, where he spent nearly five full academic years in that way. He was there privileged to attend lectures by Prof. Delitzsch in Old Testament Exegesis and Assyriology; by Prof. Krehl in Arabic and Syriac, and by Prof. Heinze in Philosophy. The greater part of his time, however, was spent in private study and investigation, as pastor of the American Church. In 1889, the University of Leipzig conferred on him the degree of Ph. D. in recognition of his work on Textual Criticism, entitled "The Text of Jeremiah." This work not only received an appreciative introduction from Prof. Delitzsch, but also encouraging reviews from distinguished scholars in Great Britain, Germany and America. But the work which has stamped his name on the public mind is his well-known publication on "Messianic Prophecy," which is constantly bringing him the most gratifying testimonies from noted literary men in different parts of the world.

CORTEZ FESSENDEN, M.A., Principal of the Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, Ont., was born at Romeo, Mich. U.S., March 11, 1851. His parents were Elisha and Elsie, (Tibetts) Fessenden, both natives of the Province of Quebec and descendants of the early pioneers who came from the United States and settled in Quebec. Mr. Fessenden began his education at the Knowlton Academy, Que., and at the age of fifteen years entered the McGill Normal School, Montreal, where he remained for two years. He then taught school for three years and subsequently entered Trinity University, Toronto, where he won the Wellington Scholarship. He held the position of Mathematical Master in Hellmuth College, London, for eighteen months and was appointed Principal of Brampton High School in 1876, which position he filled very successfully for five years. His success at Brampton induced the Napanee Board to offer him the principalship of the High School in that town. He accepted the position and for nine years filled it with great credit to himself and advantage to the large number of students under his care. In 1890, Mr. Fessenden was appointed to his present responsible position in the Collegiate Institute. In his new sphere his sterling qualities and devotion to his profession, have served to strengthen his previously good record. The fact that in every place where he has labored, it has been necessary to erect larger and improved school accommodation, speaks volumes for his ability and success. He is not only a brilliant scholar, but a born educator, having a fine natural adaptation to his chosen profession. He is a member of the Masonic and A. O. U. W. societies, and in religion is a member of the Church of England. Politically he does not take an active part, but his sympathy and support have always been given to the Conservative party. He is an active, staunch Reformer, and a member of the Presbyterian Church. In 1862, he was married to Lucy Lyall, daughter of the late John Lyall, Durham county, Ontario.

THEODORE DOUCET, notary public, Montreal, Que., was born in that city June 18th, 1846. His father, the late Theodore Doucet, and his grandfather, Benjamin Doucet, were notaries public until their death, and their large and important clientelles descended from father to son. Benjamin Doucet, a jurist of note, published several important works on Canadian laws, etc., and was otherwise known as an able professional man. Loyalist stock. Dr. Carson began his studies at the common schools, but is practically a self-educated man. Dr. Carson has practiced medicine in several places since 1852, but has been in Whitby for the last thirty-five years. Mr. Dunbar was educated at the Gosport Naval Academy, other well-known schools of the United Kingdom, and at the Quebec High School. In early life he turned his attention to journalism, and for a time was editor of the Quebec Morning Chronicle, still the leading daily of that city. However, he always evinced a taste for law, and after occupying the editorial chair of the Chronicle for about five years, he gave up newspaper life and devoted himself to the study of the profession to which he has so long belonged. At the age of twenty-two he was called to the bar of Lower Canada, was appointed Q.C. in 1873, and named Crown prosecutor for the district in 1878, which position he has filled ever since, except between 1886 and 1890. In 1875 his colleagues of the Quebec bar elected him their Batonnier, and they have annually chosen him as a member of the Council of the bar for the past twenty-eight years. Mr. Dunbar is a much esteemed and leading member of the Quebec bar, as evinced by the distinguished offices, above enumerated, he has been chosen to fill, and has been a successful practitioner for more than thirty years, during which time he has been retained in many important cases before all the courts of the Province. In 1875 he was named to the pastorate of Kemptville and Mountain, where he labored most acceptably until 1879, when he was made rector of St. Michael's Church, Cobourg, his present field of labor. Bouchard, a man of sterling integrity and excellent judgment, was notary and registrar of Napierville for over forty years. His brother the late J. E. Z. Bouchard, an eminent legal man and French translator, was a gifted writer and a poet of great strength and beauty. Mr. Bouchard pursued his elementary studies at the Napierville Academy, where his success marked him for higher studies. When twelve years of age, he entered the Seminary of Ste. Thérèse, where he studied classics with brilliant success. He studied philosophy at the Seminary of Montreal, and as he was destined to be a notary, took a course of law at Laval University, meanwhile following the practical study of his profession in the office of Archambault & Leclerc. After passing a splendid examination in October 1890, he was admitted as notary, and has since then practiced on his own account. It is expected that his ability will be largely increased with maturing years. Mr. Bouchard is a Roman Catholic, and in politics a Liberal.

JEREMIAH LONG, wholesale grain merchant, Whitby, Ont., was born in Pickering township, Ontario county, September 6th, 1839. His parents were James and Johannah (Ryan) Long, who came from the county of Cork, Ireland, in 1831, and settled in the above township. Mr. Long acquired his education under great difficulties. He was not permitted to attend public school for more than eleven months, when he was obliged to engage in farm work, in order to maintain himself, aid his parents and secure the means of attending a night school in winter, all of which he accomplished with much credit to his industry and perseverance. He thus surmounted great obstacles and gave himself a good useful education. For fifteen years he was the successful manager of a large farm. In 1872, he engaged in buying grain for the late Chester Draper, and on the death of that gentleman in 1876, Mr. Long succeeded him in the business and has proven himself to be an unqualified success. He has now extensive connections abroad and ships from Whitby to foreign ports. Grain and produce men are most important factors in any community, but owing to the fickle nature of the markets, very few of them retire with a competency. Mr. Long appears to possess those commercial qualities which bid fair to make him an exception to the general rule. He is active in municipal affairs, was a member of the Whitby council for three years; deputy-reeve in 1878, re-elected in 1879; reeve in 1881-2, and mayor in 1886. The latter office he held for three years with much satisfaction to the citizens of Whitby. In religion he is a Roman Catholic. In politics he has always been a Conservative, but has decided to identify himself with the Equal Rights movement, to which he gave valuable assistance during the campaign of 1890. Mr. Long believes in sending men to parliament who will act in the interest of the people, irrespective of party. He was married in 1878 to Miss M. McBrady, of Pickering, Ontario.

JOSEPH EDMOND ROY, notary, Lévis, Que., was born in that place, December 7th, 1858. He is a son of Léon Roy and Marguerite La-Voye. The original family, whose name was LeRoy, came from Saint Rémi of Dieppe to Canada in 1663, and settled near Quebec. They subsequently became possessors of the seigniories of Beaumont, Vincennes and Montapeine. Mr. Roy was educated in the College of Lévis and at the Seminary of Quebec, but studied science and law in Laval University, where he took the degrees of L. B. and LL.B. Was admitted to the profession of notary in May 1880, and has since remained in Lévis, where he succeeded to his father's office, and continues to do a large practice. From 1879 to 1886 he was the chief editor of Le Quotidien, a daily paper published in Lévis. In 1883 and again in 1886, he contested the county of Lévis for the Legislative Assembly of Quebec, but was defeated both times. After this he decided to follow literature and history, which were more to his taste. In 1887 the Royal Society of Canada granted him a diploma for his works. In 1891 he was elected a member of that society. Mr. Roy is the author of several books, prominent among them are "Guillaume Couture, first inhabitant of Lévis," published in 1884; "Monseigneur Deziel," 1885; "L'Ordre de Malte en Amérique," 1888; "Voyage au Pays de Tadoussac," 1889, translated into English in 1891; "La Justice Seigneuriale de Notre Dame des Anges," 1890. He has also written a great number of historical sketches in Le Journal de Québec, Le Courrier du Canada, La Presse, &c., &c. Mr. Roy is the possessor of one of the finest collections of books and manuscripts on Canadian history, on the American continent. He is a member of the Notarial Board for the Province of Quebec, and secretary of the law commission of said board. He was married in 1885 to Lucienne Carrier, a descendant of an old French family established in Lévis since 1666. A Liberal Conservative in politics and in religion he is a Roman Catholic.

WILLIAM HAMILTON, mayor of Uxbridge, Ont., was born at that place November 2nd, 1856. He is the son of John and Nancy (Bascom) Hamilton. He received his education at the public and high schools of Uxbridge. After leaving school he served an apprenticeship in his father's general store, where he soon became thoroughly conversant with business and popular with the general public. In 1878, at the early age of twenty-two years, he was appointed postmaster of Uxbridge, and has continued to fill that position most acceptably. Mr. Hamilton has had a good share of municipal honors. He has been in the Uxbridge council for three years, reeve for one year, and in 1892 was elected mayor by acclamation. He is in religion a Presbyterian, and secretary of the board of management of that Church. He is also a member of the "Home Circle" society. In politics he is an active Conservative, with unbounded faith in his country, and believes in Canadian independence, with a defensive alliance with Great Britain. Mr. Hamilton was married September 1st, 1880, to Miss Abbie Parrish, daughter of Samuel Parrish, grain merchant, Uxbridge, Ontario.

JOHN HELDER ISAACSON, notary public, Montreal, Que., was born in the village of Great Chesterford, county Essex, England, February 9th, 1820. His father, the late R. P. Isaacson, came to this country in 1832, and settled in Montreal. Mr. Isaacson was educated at the schools of Cavendish, county of Suffolk, England, emigrated to Canada in 1837 and has since resided in Montreal. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1845, and has enjoyed an extensive clientage for many years. He was a volunteer during the rebellion of 1837, the following year was gazetted as 2nd-lieutenant, and subsequently as captain of the Montreal Rifles. He was also major and lieutenant-colonel in the Hochelaga Light Infantry, and has since retired retaining rank. In religion, he is an Episcopalian, in politics, an out-and-out Liberal. He is an official in high standing of the Masonic fraternity in Montreal, being past master of several lodges, and grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, holding the latter office for nearly a quarter of a century, and has been the recipient of many tokens of esteem from the local brethren and the fraternity throughout the provinces.

FRANCIS RAE, M.D., physician and surgeon, Oshawa, Ont., was born at Fredericton, N.B., July 8th, 1833. His parents were James and Jane (Johnston) Rae, who came from Scotland about the year 1829, and shortly after settled in Ontario county. Dr. Rae received the rudiments of his education at the public school in York county, and subsequently attended the Normal school at Toronto, after which he taught school in Ontario for ten years. During this time he began the study of medicine, and in the fall of 1863 entered upon a course of lectures at the Toronto School of Medicine, and took the degree of M.B. in 1865, and at once began the practice of his profession in the town of Oshawa where he still resides. He took his M.D. in 1866. Dr. Rae has been examiner in medicine for the University of Toronto for 1875-76 and 1891-92. He was appointed by the government a member of the Provincial Board of Health in 1882, and was chairman of the board for three years. He is a member of the A.F. & A.M., I.O.O.F., I.O.F., A.O.U.W., K. of P., and S. of S. Societies. He was W.M. in the A.F. & A.M. for three years, and on retiring was presented with a beautiful silver service. He is P.G.P. and P.G.R. of the I.O.O.F. with which order he is deservedly popular. Dr. Rae takes an active interest in municipal affairs; was reeve of Oshawa from 1876 to 1880, and mayor from 1880 to 1886. The holding of these high offices speaks volumes for his popularity with his fellow craftsmen and his standing in the community. His medical practice of nearly thirty years has given him an influence with the public and that respect throughout the country which can only be secured by long and favorable contact. He is also coroner for the county of Ontario, and surgeon of the 34th Battallion of Volunteer Militia. In religion he is a Presbyterian; in politics an active Reformer. He was married October 5th, 1865, to Miss Elizabeth Jane Currie, daughter of the late Andrew Currie, Esq., a prosperous hardware merchant of Chatham, Ont.

THE LATE REVEREND DAVID MARSH, president of the Jeffrey Hale Hospital, and for forty years pastor of the Baptist Church, Quebec, Que., was born in Accrington, Lancashire, England, December 19th, 1805. Mr. Marsh prepared for the ministry at Horton College, Bradford, England, and subsequently held three pastorates before leaving the Old land. In 1835, by invitation of a few Baptists at Quebec, he became their pastor and organized a church during his first year, with no more than fifteen or sixteen members. In 1852, he built the church which they now occupy, and in 1877, a building suitable for Sunday school and other purposes was erected. From the origin of the Jeffrey Hale Hospital, Mr. Marsh was one of its governors, and was also its president until two years before his death, on February 7th, 1888. When Lord Elgin was Governor-General of Canada, he selected Mr. Marsh as tutor of his daughter, Lady Elma Bruce, which position he held while she remained in the country. Of him a prominent literary lady of Quebec writes: "As he has always united a humility very touching and lovely with the soundest and most profound of teachings, his life has been most active and saintly, and the reverence for him has been so great that many people in sick and dying hours, who never belonged to his church, sent for him to minister to them." Had Mr. Marsh remained in England, he doubtless would have risen to the first rank among divines. He refused calls to different parts of Canada, with a higher salary, caring only for the welfare of those whom he believed needed him. The different members of his family are occupying positions of honor and trust throughout the Dominion and the United States; of these may be mentioned W. A. Marsh, one of the leading boot and shoe manufacturers of Quebec. It is estimated that he manufactures more boots and shoes than any other firm in the Province. He has been in business for twenty years and now employs between 350 and 400 hands.

REVEREND JAMES WESLEY WILKINSON, Methodist minister, Sutton West, Ont., was born in the village of Markham, Ontario, September 25th, 1857. His parents were Miles and Sarah E. (Allison) Wilkinson. The former was a native of Yorkshire, England, who came to this country in 1834. He began his education at the George street public school, Toronto, from which he passed to the Collegiate Institute, Cobourg, and subsequently attended Victoria University. Mr. Wilkinson's first appointment was Kirkville, where he had a successful pastorate. He afterwards filled the appointments of Darlington, Pickering, Aurora, Markham and Goodwood. He was ordained in Toronto in June 1884, and assigned to his present charge in June 1890. At Goodwood he accomplished a grand work and was also instrumental in erecting a beautiful parsonage. He is a man of great energy and has held important appointments in connection with the work of the denomination. He is an excellent singer, which greatly adds to his success. Mr. Wilkinson was married December 3rd, 1884, to Miss Arvilla A. Richardson, of Whitchurch township, York county, Ont.

LOMER GOUIN, advocate, Montreal, Que., was born in Grondines, Que., March 19th, 1862. He received his general education at Sorel and Lévis, and studied law under Sir J. J. C. Abbott and Hon. R. Laflamme. He was admitted to the bar in January, 1884. He subsequently became partner with Judge Pagnuelo, Hon. L. O. Taillon, Hon. J. E. Robidoux, R. Préfontaine, E. N. St. Jean, and is now (1892) a partner of Hon. H. Mercier and Rodolphe Lemieux, Esq. Mr. Gouin has quickly gained the front in legal circles, and is well known for his ability as an advocate. He has frequently appeared for the Grand Trunk Railway Company, the Montreal and Champlain Junction Railway Co. and the Beauharnois Railway Co., and has never failed to acquit himself with distinction. He has published a special edition of the Quebec Municipal Code with annotations, and is now writing a book on commercial societies and joint stock companies. Mr. Gouin is, in religion, a Roman Catholic, and in politics a Liberal. He was a candidate for Richelieu in 1891, but was defeated by Sir Hector Langevin. He is married to Eliza, daughter of ex-premier Hon. Honoré Mercier.

LOUIS JOS. CYPRIEN FIZET, advocate, Quebec, Que., was born in that city, October 3rd, 1825. He is the son of the late Hon. Louis Fizet and Mary Powers. The former is descended from an old French family who left Normandy in 1656 and settled in Canada, and the latter is a daughter of an officer in the Royal Navy. Mr. Fizet received his education at the private school of the celebrated Dr. Wilkie, and subsequently at the Seminary of Quebec, where he had afterwards for professors, among others, the Rev. Alex. Taschereau, now His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau, the Rev. Jean Langevin, late His Grace the Bishop of Rimouski, and the Rev. M. Bouchy, a distinguished French Professor of rhetoric. At the latter institute he exhibited more than ordinary aptitude and taste for literature, for which he has since become widely known. He has travelled extensively in the Old land, and is well acquainted with the chief cities of Europe. He studied law under the Hon. Éd. Bacquet, who was later one of the Justices of the Superior Court, and the Hon. Chas. Allyn, Q.C. Was admitted to the bar on November 24th, 1848. One year later he began to take an interest in politics, and the following year he was offered by the administration of Sir George Cartier, the office of joint Prothonotary of the Superior Court, which he accepted and still retains (1892). Mr. Fizet is alluded to as the well-known French Canadian poet, and has written some of the most graceful poems and lyrics published in this country. In 1867 he obtained the silver medal at the poetical competition open to all comers, by the Laval University on "The Discovery of America." In 1873 he was prepared to publish an edition of his poems and lyrics, most of which were unpublished, when his manuscripts were burned, which was a great loss to the public, as his professional duties will not permit him to reproduce them. He is a favorite in society, and the citizens of Quebec congratulate themselves on having such a poet and scholar in their midst.

WILLIAM EDWARD TILLEY, M.A., Ph. D., Bowmanville, Ontario, inspector of schools for Durham county and the town of Bowmanville, Port Hope and Peterborough, was born in Bowmanville, September 20th, 1840. His parents came from England in 1836 and settled in Bowmanville. His primary education was obtained in the common schools of Darlington which he attended during the winters, spending his summers on the farm and at mechanical work. Being determined to have an education he entered the Bowmanville High School at the age of eighteen and in December, 1860, obtained a certificate and for some years taught school in Darlington. In 1865 he spent a term in Day's Commercial College and a session in the Toronto Normal School, obtaining a full course diploma at the former institution, and a first class certificate at the latter. He was appointed, in 1869, first assistant in the Bowmanville High School, in 1872 to a similar position in the Port Hope High School, and in 1876 to his old position in Bowmanville at a greatly increased salary. In 1875 he took the B.A. degree in the Victoria University, Cobourg, in 1878 the M.A. degree in the same institution, and in 1888 the Ph.D. degree in the Wesleyan University, Bloomington, U. S. In 1880 he was appointed head master of the Lindsay High School and retained the position until he became inspector of Durham county in 1884. In 1888 he received the appointment, from the Peterborough Board, of Inspector of public schools of that town. In religion he is a Methodist and has for years been a member of the various church boards and an active worker in the Sunday school. He married Miss Selina Ann Vanstone, of Tyrone, Darlington. He is a member of the I.O. O.F. and of the A.O.U.W. As an educationist Dr. Tilley has been progressive and successful and has shown a peculiar aptitude for the work. The schools under his charge, whether his connection with them has been that of head master or inspector, have invariably taken a high rank.

ADOLPHE G. TOURANGEAU, ex-mayor and ex-M.P., Quebec, Que., was born in that city, January 15th, 1831. He is a son of the late Jean G. Tourangeau, a J. P., notary public and an alderman in Quebec city. Mr. Tourangeau was educated at the Quebec Seminary and at the Quebec High School. He studied law under the Hon. Louis Panet and followed the law course of Laval University from its opening, in 1853, until he was admitted to practice in 1855. He was frequently elected to the Board of Notaries, and was appointed by the council notary for the corporation of Quebec. He held that position until he resigned, in 1883, to accept the postmastership of Quebec, offered to him. Mr. Tourangeau is Lieut.-Col. of militia. He has been mayor of the city several times. He was elected in 1870 and again in 1872 to represent Quebec East in the House of Commons, but was defeated by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, in 1877, after a very hot and close contest. He was a member of the Quebec Harbor Commission; a director of the North Shore Railway; a director of the Gosford (afterwards the Lake St. John) Railway and a provisional director of the Stadacona Bank, the charter of which he procured through parliament. It was during his mayoralty and by his assistance that a regular steam ferry between Quebec and Lévis was established and the street railway and fire alarm telegraph were first operated in Quebec. During his regime the acts concerning the Quebec incorporation were amended and consolidated, the city debt consolidated, the fiscal year made to agree with house rents, and the city's finances placed on a sound basis. In politics he gave his support to the Liberal party until his fourth election as mayor in 1869, when he gave his confidence to the Conservative party. He is now (1892) apparently in the prime of life and bids fair to give many more years of valuable service to his native city. Mr. Tourangeau was married, in 1861, to Miss Victoria A., daughter of the late Augustus Jourdain, Esq.

STEPHEN GIBSON, barrister and county registrar, of the firm of Gibson and Clute, Napanee, Ont., was born in Cornwall, England, March 23rd, 1837. He is descended from a Scottish family of sterling character and marked ability, and looks back upon his ancestry for several generations, with pardonable pride. Mr. Gibson acquired a thorough knowledge of the common branches of education in the public schools in his native land, but not having access to advanced schools, he determined to educate himself. From his general reading, he acquired a desire to see and know something of the outside world, and in the Spring of 1858 came to Canada. He almost immediately located in Cobourg and made that place his home for a few years while looking around to determine his future course. During the summer he was engaged in the forwarding business, which gave him a large commercial acquaintance from Kingston to Chicago. He spent the winter months in preparing to enter Victoria University which he subsequently attended, and by forced work kept up the year's course during the winter session. In 1863 Mr. Gibson determined to study law, and passed the matriculation examination that year. After this, he served for one year in the office of Wm. Kerr, Q.C., in Cobourg, and spent the next four years in the law office of W. H. R. Allison, at Picton. He was admitted to practice in 1868, and called to the bar in 1869. He shortly after this located in Napanee and began practice for himself. He soon acquired an important connection, and has since continued to conduct a very large business and has become one of the best known legal men in this part of the province. He is a member of the A. F. & A. M. Masonic and Odd Fellows societies. In religion Mr. Gibson is a Methodist; in politics an active Liberal and president of the Reform Association. He was married in September 1870, to Miss Mary E. A., daughter of R. R. Clute, Esq., of Sterling, and sister of R. C. Clute, Q.C., Belleville, Ont.

THOMAS HULLS HUDSON, resident Canadian manager of the United Fire Insurance Company, Ltd., of Manchester, England, Montreal, Que., was born in London, England, November 3rd, 1854. He is a son of George R. Hudson, and was educated in London. He came to Canada in 1875, and entered the fire insurance business, and from the start exhibited an intense interest, and more than ordinary aptness in that line of work. He has had a large experience, and an efficient training in fire underwriting, and is one of the rising insurance men in the Dominion of Canada. The company of which he is manager has recently acquired, by purchase, the Canadian business of the City of London Insurance Company, thereby greatly adding to its already large established connection. The subscribed capital of the United Fire Insurance Company is $1,250,000, of which $500,000 is paid up. It has in addition to capital, cash on hand amounting to $782,500. The "United Fire" expects to not only take the place of the City of London, but to do an extended general business. Judging from Manager Hudson's past record, he will doubtless keep his company well in the foreground.

REV. CHAS. HENRY MARSH, rector of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, Ont., was born at Holland Landing, Ontario, September 23rd, 1854. He is the son of William J. Marsh, the founder of Clarksburg, Ont., and for many years a justice of the peace. Mr. Marsh obtained his primary education at the public school at Clarksburg, from which he passed under the tuition of Rev. Wm. Logan at Millbank, Ont., for two years. He subsequently took a four years' course at Wycliffe College, graduating in 1881. His first charge was at Otonabee where he was curate for one year. He was next appointed to Rosemont where he was incumbent for nearly four years, after which he was curate at Orillia for one year. He was appointed to his present charge in October, 1887. His labors in Lindsay have been most successful and his ministry greatly appreciated by his people, whose interests he never fails to bear in mind. Mr. Marsh is a man of marked ability, great energy and of a very genial disposition, which causes him to be honored and beloved wherever known. He was married December 13th, 1887, to Miss E. C. Wilgress, daughter of George Wilgress, of Cobourg.

WILLIAM MACLEAN, manager of the Union Loan and Savings Company, Toronto, Ont., was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1824, and came to this country in 1856. He received his education at the public and high schools in his native land. Between 1839 and 1844 he received his early business and professional training in a solicitor's office in Keith, an advocate's office in Aberdeen, and in Sir Archibald Alison's office, Glasgow. Prior to coming to Canada he filled several important positions in the head offices of the Aberdeen Railway during its construction. His three last years in Scotland were spent as general auditor and chief traffic accountant of the Great North of Scotland Railway Company. Mr. Maclean was sent out to this country by the London board of directors of the Buffalo and Lake Huron Railway, to fill the position of secretary and treasurer of that company, with headquarters at Brantford, Ontario. He filled this position until 1867 and greatly facilitated the amalgamation with the Grand Trunk Railway Co., which took place in that year. He was also a director of the B. & L. H. Ry. Co. and was mainly instrumental, with the late Hon. David Christie, Mr. Allan Cleghorn and the Hon. E. B. Wood, late chief justice of Manitoba, in securing for the B. & L. H., control of the International Bridge Charter, of which company he was a provisional director, and for some time prior, secretary and treasurer. Immediately after the amalgamation, Mr. Maclean removed to Toronto and accepted the management of the Union Loan and Savings Company, then in its infancy, which he has now successfully conducted for over a quarter of a century. He is among the best known authorities on matters of finance in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Maclean are, in religion, Methodists, having connected themselves with that body, under the late J. B. Howard in Brantford in 1857. They have been connected with Elm Street and latterly Carleton Street since they located in Toronto in 1867.

JOHN U. GREGORY, agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Quebec, Que., was born in Troy, New York State, U.S.A., in 1833. He is the third son of the late Dr. S. Gregory, whose ancestor was a retired British army officer. His mother was a French Canadian lady of a distinguished family. Mr. Gregory received his preliminary education in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and when very young returned with his parents to Montreal where he continued his studies. He has been an officer of the Government since 1863. Upon the organization of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, after confederation, he was appointed head of the agency of Quebec, the most important branch of that department, and still occupies the position (1892), with a large increase in the duties, which has resulted from the success attending his nearly thirty years of service. He is a justice of the peace for the Province of Quebec, superintendent of Harbor Police, shipping master, and has been appointed by Government, on several occasions, commissioner to enquire into matters connected with wrecks and casualties at sea. Mr. Gregory declined to come forward as the independent candidate for parliamentary honors offered him by both sides in politics twice. He is well known in literary circles as an able contributor on various matters of public interest. Several of his articles were translated into French and published in book form.

He is also a most acceptable lecturer, and a great treat and always a crowded house can be counted on when he is announced to lecture for the Literary and Historical Society. He has travelled extensively, and being a keen observer of passing events, is not only a ready speaker, but a most enjoyable conversationist. He is in religion a Roman Catholic. He has been married twice; first to Miss Marie Louise, youngest daughter of the late Martial Leprohon, and second to Miss Marie Louise Letitia, youngest daughter of the late John McCallum, Montreal, Que.

WILLIAM PATRICK INNES, Simcoe, Norfolk Co., Ontario, Canada, was born at Speyside, Inverdrue, Inverness Shire, Scotland, Nov. 6th, 1832. He is a son of Robert Innes, and a grandson of Alexander Innes, both of whom were accounted leading mechanical engineers in the north of Scotland. The subject of this sketch, after receiving the best education practicable in the part of the country in which he was born, went to Glasgow and accepted a position in the office of J. & P. Stewart, iron merchants and manufacturers, remaining with them for one year, when he removed to Dalkeith, near Edinburgh, and engaged with Mr. David Pursell as cashier, and afterwards became manager of the Elmfield Iron Works, which position he held for a number of years. Eventually, having resolved to come to Canada, he gave up his position in Dalkeith and left Scotland in August, 1857, and shortly afterwards landed in Quebec. For more than twenty-five years, prior to the establishment of his present business, he was engaged in various parts of the province of Ontario, in conducting important and successful business enterprises. In 1881, Mr. Innes, along with three other residents of Simcoe, started the business now known as the Simcoe Canning Co., which is one of the largest of its kind at present in the Dominion, and has branches at Hamilton and Cedar Springs. Goods with the Simcoe Canning Co.'s labels are well and favorably known all throughout the Dominion, and shipments are occasionally made to Great Britain and South America. Mr. Innes is now sole proprietor of the business, and employs a large number of operatives. He purchases locally and imports large quantities of fruits, etc. He has been a member of the Simcoe school board for a number of years, and takes an active interest in all enterprises for the good of the town. In politics he is a Conservative, and in religion a Presbyterian. He was married in 1868 to Marion, daughter of the late Reverend M. W. Livingstone, Simcoe.

REV. FRANÇOIS NARCISSE FORTIER, president of Lévis College, actually professor of Dogmatic and Moral Theology in the same institution, was born July 31st, 1835, at Ste. Claire, county of Dorchester, P.Q. His father was Simon Fortier, farmer, and his mother, Louise Fournier. After a few years of private tuition at the hands of the late Right Reverend Jean Langevin, Bishop of Rimouski, then Parish Priest of Ste. Claire, he completed his full course of studies, classical and philosophical, in three years at the Seminary of Quebec, where he likewise received his theological training. He was ordained priest February 23rd, 1862. He performed the duties of his sacred ministry, first, during four years, as assistant priest at St. Joseph de Lévis, and afterwards, during seventeen years, as parish priest in the parish of St. François, on the Island of Orleans, two of the oldest Canadian parishes. He entered Lévis College in September 1882, as president, an office that he has held ever since, besides performing duty as director of the students and successively teaching intellectual and moral philosophy, natural philosophy, mathematics, astronomy, rhetoric and history. The actual president of Lévis College is a born pedagogue. The store of learning amassed by him during the many long hours daily saved from his laborious parochial ministrations, and his deep experience of men and events, have providentially fitted him for his present office as a trainer and instructor of youth. Rising at all seasons at half-past three, and retiring at half-past nine, his mathematically regulated and well filled day, leaves him but little time for "idle words." A rigid observer of discipline for himself, he enforces it in others with a firm, though fatherly hand, while his love of work always apportions to him the lion's share in the distribution of educational labor. Faithful to principles of truth and order that can never change, he is nevertheless an ardent lover and promoter of progress. He is respected and beloved by both teachers and students.

JAMES KENDREY, managing-director of the Auburn Woollen Company, Peterborough, Ont., was born in Oshawa, Ontario, March 29th, 1845. After finishing his education at the public schools, Mr. Kendrey served his apprenticeship with his father in the Toronto Woollen Mills at Streetsville, Ont., remaining there until seventeen years of age, when he left Streetsville and spent some time in various parts of Ontario and the United States, finally returning to Peterborough in 1866. He subsequently held positions in several of the leading woollen mills in this country, and in July 1879 became manager of the Auburn Woollen Mills, Peterborough, and one year later obtained an interest in the business. Under his able management the business has steadily increased and is now known as one of the best equipped woollen mills in Canada. Mr. Kendrey has had a full share of municipal honors and has ably represented his fellow-citizens in the offices to which they elected him. He was for many years a member of the town council and was elected mayor in 1892. In religion he is a Methodist; in politics a Conservative. He also belongs to the A. F. & A. M., C. O. F., and S. O. E., Societies.

SIMON NAPOLEON PARENT, advocate and M.P.P., Quebec, Que., was born in Beauport, P. Q., September 12th, 1855. He is the son of Paul Parent, at one time a prosperous merchant at Beauport, but now deceased. Mr. Parent finished his education at Laval University, where he took the degree L.L.L. In 1881, he obtained the Governor-General's gold medal, and also took the first prize (given by Hon. Justice Tessier), for best examination in law. He is now well established in his profession, and is a prominent figure in legal circles. He is a member of the St. Jean-Baptiste and

Dr. Barrick is descended on the maternal side from Jacob Ott, a U. E. Loyalist, who came to this country from the State of Pennsylvania, at the close of the last century. He began his education at the common school, and in 1856 entered the Normal school, which he attended for two sessions. During 1858 he taught in the township of Humberstone and spent the following year in the Normal school, Toronto.

In 1860 he was one of five who received the highest certificates granted, and the same year began teaching in the county of Wellington, where he remained three and a half years, and then entered Rolph's Medical school, Toronto. Dr. Barrick obtained his M.D. from the University of Victoria College. After graduating he spent some time in the hospitals and dispensaries of New York, and then went to London, England, and resumed his studies in St. Thomas' Hospital there. While in the Old land he passed successfully, examinations before the Royal College of Physicians and the Royal College of Surgeons, in both London and Edinburgh. He returned to Canada in 1867, and in October of the same year, entered the Rolph school as demonstrator of Anatomy, and was afterwards appointed Professor of Midwifery and diseases of women and children, which position he held until the dissolution of the school in 1874. Since then the doctor has given more attention to his practice, which has grown to large proportions. For the past three years he has been examiner in Midwifery and Gynecology in Victoria University, and Treasurer of the Ontario Medical Association. He is in religion a Methodist, and a trustee of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto. He has been a total abstainer from boyhood. The doctor is, in politics, a Liberal Conservative. HENRY NEWCOMBE, of the firm of Newcombe & Co., and brother of Octavius Newcombe, whose portrait appears on the opposite page, piano manufacturer, Toronto, Ont., was born in Devonshire, England, in 1831. He was educated at Shebbear College. At the age of sixteen he chose a business calling rather than a professional career, and entered the house of W. L. Vellacott, of Bideford, the largest dry goods establishment in that part of the country. After remaining with this firm several years, he went to London during the exhibition of 1851 and shortly afterwards sailed for Australia, and there secured a good position with the wealthy Scotch firm of McCallum of Geelong, which he retained until his return to England on the death of his father. After spending two years in winding up his father's estate, he, with the other members of his family, sailed for Canada in 1857, and was engaged in the retail and wholesale dry goods trade up to the time of joining his brother Octavius Newcombe in the pianoforte business in 1879. In this position his natural energy of character, industry, application and large commercial knowledge found full scope and he has helped to build up one of the most successful manufacturing enterprises of its kind in the Dominion. The excellence of the instruments, manufactured by Messrs. Newcombe & Co., has been endorsed by a number of first prizes in Canada, by national awards abroad, and confirmed by the recommendation and patronage of the public. The demand for their goods has so increased that the firm have been stimulated to make their factory a model in the perfection of its arrangements and adaptation of modern appliances, so that it is quite on a par with the most complete factories in the United States, both in capacity and in the quality of its products. The Newcombe brothers are gentlemen of generous dispositions, considerate and honorable in their relations with others, and in every way admirably adapted to conduct their large and influential business.

OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE, piano manufacturer, Toronto, Ont., was born in Hankford-Barton, Devonshire, England, November 19th, 1846. When eight years of age, he began his primary education at Shebbear private school. Owing to the death of his father occurring two years later, he came to this country and located in Toronto, where he attended the Model and Grammar schools, taking first prize in mathematics and English at the latter. Owing to his brother, Dr. James Newcombe, being professor of surgery in Victoria College, he attended that institution during two winter sessions, although his preference was for commerce rather than a profession. He spent the intervening summer at Washington, accepting the position of corresponding clerk to the surgeon in charge of the Lincoln Hospital. He subsequently entered the military school, Toronto, and was one of four, out of fourteen candidates, who were successful in getting certificates. He afterwards joined the staff of the Quebec Bank and in a couple of years was appointed accountant at Toronto. Later on he occupied the same position in Ottawa, the most important branch of the bank. After five years of banking experience, he accepted a more lucrative position with Alex. Fraser, of Westmeath, one of the largest lumber merchants on the Ottawa, and subsequently had a partnership offered him with the financial management of a pianoforte business being established in Toronto, which was entered upon in 1871. In the course of time this business developed into two separate and independent firms, Mr. Newcombe being joined by his brother Henry, who devoted their joint energies to building up one of the largest piano manufactories established in the Dominion. Mr. Newcombe has visited all the important centres in the Dominion, United States, Great Britain and Europe, and from his financial and practical ability, musical taste and capacity for organization, an extensive trade and a splendid reputation has been acquired for the Newcombe pianos.

THE LATE RODERICK S. ROBLIN, barrister, Picton, Ont., was born in Prince Edward County. He was a son of John P. Roblin, Esq., who was a representative in the Upper Canada Parliament for sixteen years. His paternal and maternal ancestors, were both of U. E. Loyalist stock and served their Queen and country with true loyal devotion. Mr. Roblin obtained a thoroughly practical education in the county schools and at Victoria College. He began the study of law in Picton, Ont., and finished his course with the firm of Patterson & Beatty of Toronto, and was called to the Bar in 1871. His legal career, though short, was eminently successful. The extent of his continually increasing practice gave evidence of his business ability and application to the interests of his profession. As a public speaker, his reputation was more than local, and the different organizations of his native county felt sure that their interests would be satisfactorily advanced when placed in his hands. He was for many years manager and Sec.-Treas. of the Agricultural Association, and during this time the affairs of the association flourished as never before. His political sympathies were strong and always Liberal in the truest sense of the term. In religion, while kindly sympathizing with all bodies of Christians, he was an ardent Methodist. From a child he loved the services and ordinances of that church, and faithfully performed all the duties that fell to his share. He was married in 1870 to Miss Jennie, youngest daughter of the late Rev. C. R. Allison, who with one daughter, Eva N. Roblin, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, survive him. In February, 1882, business called him to Manitoba, where the intense severity of the climate brought on inflammatory rheumatism, from which he died in Brandon two months later, aged 41 years, 5 months. His remains were brought to Picton and with Masonic honors, laid to rest in peaceful Glenwood Cemetery, accompanied by sorrowful regrets of hundreds of sympathising friends.

FRANK CARREL, proprietor and managing editor of the Quebec Daily Telegraph and Saturday Budget, was born in Quebec city, Sept. 7th, 1870. He is the son of James Carrel who was a descendant of General Armaugh Carrel, of Paris, and who established the Budget in 1870, and the Daily Telegraph in 1874. Mr. Carrel was educated at Stanstead Wesleyan College, and in early life engaged in the newspaper business. He began at the lowest position on the Telegraph and worked up until he filled the editorial chair, which was made vacant on the death of his father, in 1891.

He is now, probably, the youngest journalist in Canada, and under his able management both the Telegraph and Budget have made rapid progress and have secured a place of influence in the minds of the people living within the area covered by their circulation. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, in their new book for advertisers, name the best, most widely circulated and most influential papers at each important centre of population. For Quebec, the paper given this distinction is the Daily Telegraph. Mr. Carrel is a member of the Irish National League and the Literary and Historical Society of Quebec.

WM. HODGINS BIGGAR, M.P.P., of the firm of Bell & Biggar, barristers, Belleville, Ont., was born near the head of the Bay of Quinte in 1852. He is a son of the late James L. Biggar, for many years M.P. for East Northumberland. His mother was a sister of Thos. Hodgins, formerly M.P.P. for West Elgin, and of Dr. J. G. Hodgins, late Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario. Mr. W. H. Biggar began his studies at the Trenton Grammar School, and in 1868 entered Upper Canada College, of which school he was head boy in 1872. Immediately after this, he engaged in mercantile life, which he abandoned in 1875 for the legal profession, studying in the offices of Bethune, Osler & Moss. Mr. Biggar's law course was most creditable as he stood first in every examination except that of barrister. Mr. Biggar belongs to the I.O.O.F. and Masonic Societies. He was returned M.P.P. for West Hastings in 1890; was mayor of Belleville in 1887; for some years an officer in Q.O.R.; president of the L. O. DOCTOR ORONHYATEKHA, of Toronto, Ontario, Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, was born on the Indian Reservation, near Brantford, 10th of August, 1841. His education was begun in the New England Company's Indian School, near his birth-place, and continued afterwards at the Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass., Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, Toronto University, and at Oxford, Eng. When the Prince of Wales visited Canada, in 1860, Oronhyatekha was selected by the chiefs to present an address to the son of their "Great Mother."

The impression made on the Royal party was so favorable, that the young Mohawk Indian was invited to continue his studies at Oxford University, which was done under the guardianship of Sir Henry Acland, Bart., Regius, professor of medicine in that ancient university. Dr. Oronhyatekha began his profession in Frankford, Ontario, afterwards settling in London, where he enjoyed a large practice. His devotion to the Independent Order of Foresters, and the ever increasing demands made on his time by its rapid growth, compelled him in 1888, to abandon the active duties of his profession, and to devote his whole time to that great order. During the eleven years in which he has been Supreme Chief, he has seen it grow from infancy to its present magnificent proportions of over 40,000 members, with a cash surplus in its treasury of nearly half a million dollars, after having paid about a million in benefits. He has been for thirty-five years a Good Templar. At the last session of the Supreme Body of that organization, held in Edinburgh, Scotland, he was made the head of the order, by being elected Right Worthy Grand Templar. Dr. Oronhyatekha married Miss Hill, a great grand daughter of the celebrated Mohawk chief, captain Joseph Brant. They have two children surviving. The son, doctor Acland Oronhyatekha, who has recently graduated, is named after his father's old friend and guardian, Sir Henry Acland.

progress than falls to most men. He has been chairman of the Board of Education for two years, was three years captain of No. 4 Company, 79th Battalion, is vice-president of the Liberal Conservative Association of Waterloo South, and has been offered, recently, a professorship in a California College, his reputation having spread so far south. James Lynch. His first parish was that of Killey, in Leeds county, joining Smith's Falls, where he remained six years. From there he went to East Peterboro, and afterwards to Cornwall where he labored five years. He then returned to Peterboro and remained until the arrival of Bishop Francis Janiot, D.D., when he retired. He assumed the entire work of that very large parish, and was not only a faithful and industrious priest, but greatly beloved by his people. He takes no part in politics, preferring to maintain a strictly neutral attitude.

REV. FRANCIS HONORÉ BÉ-RLANGER, curé of the parish of St. Roch, Quebec, Que., was born in Montreal, April 26th, 1850. He is the son of Francis and Elmire (Chalut) Bélanger. After Mr.
 Bélanger had completed a course of study in classics and theology at the Seminary of Quebec, he determined to enter holy orders, and was ordained priest in May, 1876. His first appointment was that of vicar at the Basilica, Quebec city, which he held for nine and a half years. In October, 1885, he was given charge of the important parish of St. Roch, succeeding the Rev.

Mr. Gosselin and the Rev. Mr. Charest.
 The memory of the latter will long survive on account of the signal services which he rendered to his flock during the disastrous conflicts and riots which have so often visited Quebec. On such occasions his voice and presence quelled the most turbulent, as if by magic.
 Mr. Bélanger has been eminently successful in his work. He built the St.
 Roch school for boys, costing $65,000, and a convent for girls, costing $19,000.
 He also laid out and beautified the St.
 Roch Parish Cemetery, which is one of the most attractive burial grounds in Canada.

well-known institution, are the outcome of the educational and administrative ability of its principal and governor, who possesses those qualities of heart and mind which command success. The Ontario Ladies' College, at Whitby, is unsurpassed on this continent, and the wholesome and thorough training given to its pupils is well known throughout Canada, and the United States also. The college has certainly a most brilliant future before it. Dr. Hare was married, in 1874, to Miss K. McDowell, daughter of Rev. D. C. Mr. Laliberté received a sound commercial education at the Quebec Normal School, and after leaving that institution was apprenticed to a furrier. This business proved to be in keeping with his taste, and he soon acquired a thorough knowledge of it, and laid the foundation of a successful business career. In 1867 he began in a small way on his own account, and by being obliging and strictly attentive in keeping the latest styles of goods in stock, his customers rapidly increased. At the end of five years he had accumulated sufficient to enable him to rebuild on a much larger scale. After the lapse of a few more years his quarters again became too small, and he erected the handsome building on St. Joseph street, St. Rochs, covering an area of 110 x 45 feet, which he at present occupies (1892). Mr. Laliberté has made it a rule to purchase in the best markets of the world, and offers for sale only such articles, as by their excellent quality and workmanship defy the keenest competition. He visits not only the fur markets of New York, London, Paris, Leipzig, but of late years has also visited the great fur emporiums of Russia every year, and is the first furrier in the Province of Quebec who has done this. He has branch offices in the principal cities of Europe, from which he is weekly advised as to prices, styles, etc. He employs over 300 persons, many of whom are occupied in trapping and hunting in our northern forests. He is both an importer and an exporter, and when a choice set of furs is wanted, even for the West, the St. Rochs Fur Emporium is generally called on to supply the demand. Mr. Laliberté is a very desirable man to meet in the way of trade. He is noted for his courteous demeanor to his fellow men, and in short is a fair representation of the progressive French Canadian.

JOHN MOTZ, editor Berliner Journal, and co-publisher of Berlin, Ontario, was born June 5th, 1830, at Diedorf, Germany. His parents were John and Margaret (Schroeder) Motz. In 1859 he started the Berliner Journal in partnership with Frederick Ritinger.

The paper was originally four pages, but some ten years ago it was enlarged to eight pages. It has now, and always had, the largest circulation of any German paper in the Dominion. Besides the Journal, the Canada Calendar, a German almanac for Canada, has been published for the last twenty-six years, in this office, where also all kinds of German and English book and job printing is being done. Mr. Motz has held a number of prominent public positions in Waterloo county. He was separate school trustee for sixteen years. He has been a member of the Public Library Board for five years past, and is a member of the High School Board. In politics he is a Reformer, and is strongly in favor of the free trade policy, but has too much faith in the future of Canada to wish annexation, firmly believing that this country will one day be one of the leading nations of the world. He is strongly attached to the Fatherland, but a loyal British subject and well satisfied with the home of his adoption in the land of the maple leaf. In religion he is a Roman Catholic, and a member of the Church Council. Mr. Motz was married February 17th, 1868, to Helene, daughter of Peter Vogt, of Berlin. Father McKeon is a brilliant scholar, a high class orator and a captivating preacher. In any of his 1,600 sermons and addresses, he has never found it necessary to mention the name of any denomination other than his own, believing that building up his own good work is more important than pulling down that of others.

In 1880 he accepted the position of chief of municipal police in addition to that of fire commissioner. In this double capacity the colonel is a most valuable man to the city, as his long experience enables him to be thoroughly master of the situation. Five years later he sold his farm and removed to the village of Enniskillen, where he resumed carriage making, and in a few years the place became too small for his rapidly increasing business. In 1878 he removed to the town of Oshawa and built a factory on Simcoe street where he did a thriving retail trade for three years. After this his work became so well known that he was obliged to operate on a still larger scale, and gradually drifted into a wholesale business, and, in 1889, purchased the large factory formerly owned by the Oshawa Cabinet Company and associated with him two other gentlemen forming the present well known company. Mr. McLaughlin is the owner of several valuable patents, the most important of them is the celebrated "McLaughlin Buggy Gear," now so popular with the trade. The success of the extensive business now carried on by this company is largely due to the enterprise and ability of the head of the firm who will not allow any goods to leave the works which are not fully up to the mark. He takes an active interest in municipal affairs and has been a member of the town council for several years. He is a member of the A. F. & A. After this, and while yet in early manhood, he learned the trade of carpenter. He came to Canada in 1859 and began to work for the railway company, in whose employ he has since remained. He was soon very favorably regarded by the railway company on account of the industry and intelligence which he brought to bear on his work, and speedily advanced to the position of foreman, which he held for ten years, after which he was promoted to the position of bridge inspector, and has performed the duties of that office with every satisfaction to the company. When he reached the age of twenty-one, he became enamored of the art business, and began at once taking views, architectural, then natural scenery, making himself famous for his stereoscopic views, and has been called the "Wilson" of Canada. He has travelled extensively through the United States, and has taken views of most of the striking scenes on the continent of America. About the year 1884, he began portrait work, and immediately commenced to attain distinction, and while Preston is a small place for an artist of his ability, yet he has customers from Galt, Guelph, Berlin, Waterloo, Ayr, Doon, Blair, Hespeler, and other towns; a great many also come to him from the larger cities, such as Toronto, Hamilton and Brantford. Speaking of his atelier, the Progress of March, 1892, gives the following: "Taking hold of the photograph business in 1884, James Esson gradually added new scenery and the best instruments he could procure. His work soon began to attract more than local attention, and in three years after getting the business, he had gained for himself the name of being one of the best photographers in the Dominion, and now owns the finest photographic atelier in the Dominion, and one of the finest on the continent. He still continued making views of Canadian and other scenery, and to the excellence of his work in this line is largely due his present reputation as a photographer. These views went into all hands, from the peer to the peasant. Among his patrons, may be noticed, the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise, the leading members of the Senate and Local Legislature.

Shortly after his arrival in Toronto, he accepted work from the Primitive Methodist Church, and travelled the circuits of Whitby, Markham, Brantford and Darlington. Locating in the West where there was no Primitive Methodist body, he joined the Wesleyan Church and has been a local preacher from that time until now (1892). The same year he was settled in Madoc, where he has labored ever since. The new church, begun the following year, was completed ten years later, costing $25,000, and is one of the most beautiful structures in the province. He built St. Columba and St. Paul's churches in the same township, and got them erected into a separate charge. The North Hastings mission field, his creation, has four churches, with as many missionaries now filling them, and a great work is now in progress in that hitherto barren field. are Nelson and Maria (Fry) Drake. The former was a

at Trinity Medical College, graduating M.D., C.M. in 1890, and the same year became a "Fellow" of that institution with first-class honors. After graduating he practiced a short time in South Cayuga, then removed to the city of Brantford, but a tempting offer being made him of a more lucrative position in Norwich, he removed thither and entered partnership with Dr. W.
H. Franks, an old practitioner of that town. Though he has been but a comparatively short time in Norwich, his character and ability have won for him the respect and esteem of all classes and he has been very successful in practice. He is an honored member of the Methodist Church, having joined that body on profession of faith when a mere youth. He is at present a member of the quarterly official board and also class leader of the church at Norwich. He takes an interest in the Young People's Association, and is vice-president of that organization. He is an earnest temperance worker and and spiritual upbuilding of the community. Dr. Drake is a member of the I.O.O.F., I.O.F. and Home Circle, and

As the doctor is yet in the morning of life, he has before him, if spared, a career, full of opportunity to place the world under obligation to his energy and skill, and ample time in which to become eminent in his profession and do much to bless and elevate humanity.

gaged, and has been a faithful and particular friend of the Methodist ministers. He is a life-long Reformer, and in early life did good work for his party. He is now (1892) a very old man, being in his eighty-sixth year, but enjoys the respect and friendship of his neighbors, and has a very large circle of friends, who hope he may be spared for many years. Mr. Smith has been a justice of the peace for over forty years. He has been married twice; first, to Miss Phœbe, daughter of John Street, on January 20th, 1831; and second, to Miss Mary Austin, October 7th, 1862. But few men have reached the years allotted to Mr. Smith, and but few achieve a like temporal success, and it is difficult to find a man who has used his wealth to better purpose. He has ever been a friend to the poor, who look up to him as a father.

WILLIAM E. CHESTER, Montreal, Que., was born February 8th, 1835, in that city. His parents were John and Mary (Drewry) Chester, natives of Lincolnshire, England, who came to Canada in 1831, and settled at Montreal. His father was a builder and contractor, and erected some of the finest buildings in Montreal. He died December 20th, 1892, after having lived a retired life for some years. Our subject was educated at Phillips and Grafton's schools. He then learned his father's business, and followed it successfully since. In 1874-'75, he was so affected with asthma and bronchitis, that his life was despaired of, and was attended by the best physicians without avail. He finally made a preparation himself of different herbs, which entirely cured him. On the advice of the well-known druggist, Mr. H. R. Gray, this preparation was put on the market, and it has attained a wonderful reputation. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, and also the Royal Arch Chapter. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace by the government of Quebec, in 1878. Mr. Chester was married to Miss Mary Peacock, in Montreal, February 7th, 1856. His family consists of one daughter.

JOHN HAMILTON HATHAWAY, Evangelist, Burford, Ont., was born in Dundas, February 28th, 1857. He is a son of Peter H. and Ann Hathaway, and was educated in the public schools. He was converted in 1884, through the instrumentality of the Band movement that was so prominent for several years in Ontario, and immediately engaged with the Rev. David Savage, in that evangelistic movement. After the Band work ceased, he continued in the evangelistic field, and has been blessed with great success in various parts of Ontario, the Lower Provinces, and in the United States.

He is wonderfully fitted by nature and grace for his chosen calling, and being endowed with the gift of song, and more than ordinary power in revival services, sings the Gospel with much effect. He is the author of The Evangel of Song, and also of a great deal of original music. He is now well-known throughout the Dominion, and his services are in demand in many places, and being on the sunny side of life, he bids fair to give to the world many years of faithful and helpful service. He was married, January 1st, 1881, to Miss Mary Henrietta, daughter of the late Dr. J. M. Fowler, of Burford.

EDWIN C. CARPENTER, M.P.P., and leading agriculturist, Simcoe, Ontario, was born at that place December 15th, 1845. He is the son of John B. and Rachael P. Carpenter, who were among the early settlers of Norfolk county. The former was one of the most favorably known men in the county. He took an interest, not only in the public weal, but did much to mould the moral and religious sentiment of the community. Mr. Carpenter was educated at the public schools and Victoria University. His father being a very prominent farmer, he has spent nearly all his life in following agricultural pursuits. The judges of the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario, in 1881, pronounced Mr. Carpenter's country seat to be the model farm of Group No. 1, on the Niagara Peninsula, covering an area of eight counties. He has received a goodly share of public honors at the disposal of the township and county. He was deputy reeve of Townsend for three years and president of the Norfolk Union Agricultural Association on two occasions. He has for years taken an active part in Provincial and Dominion politics. In January, 1891, he received the Reform nomination to contest the North Riding of Norfolk for the seat in the Legislative Assembly, made vacant by the death of Mr. J. B. Freeman. He was opposed by Mr. Elias Boughner, the Conservative candidate, but was elected by a majority of 214. Mr. Carpenter is a thoroughly representative man and one who will do great honor and credit to his constituency. He has a keen insight into public affairs and a thorough grasp of all matters affecting the cause which he represents, and will, no doubt, give a good account of himself on the floor of the House. He is very popular in the community where he lives, which is much to his credit, as he has lived near Simcoe all his life, and is one of the best known men in that part of the country. He is an adherent and a staunch supporter of the Methodist Church, in Simcoe, and is unmarried.

MOSES McPHERSON, M. A., head-master of the High School, Prescott, Ont., was born November 25th, 1840, in Dundas county. His parents were Alexander and Hannah (Brownell) McPherson. On his father's side, he is descended from Scotch, and on his mother's from U. E. Loyalist stock. He received his elementary education at the public school of his native place, and after teaching for a year and a half, and "boarding around," according to common practice, he attended the Toronto Normal School for a session, and obtained a second class certificate, on which he taught for a year. He prepared for the University at Iroquois High School, and entered Victoria in 1865, graduating in 1869. He was appointed the same year to the position of headmaster of the High and public schools of Farmersville (now Athens), which he held with satisfaction to all until 1871, when he assumed similar duties in Prescott. The introduction of the Model School system necessitated the removal of the High School to another building, and since that time Mr. McPherson has been headmaster of it. He has kept up with the times, and is thoroughly efficient in his profession. He was the first, at a convention of teachers, the Hon. Adam Crooks, Minister of Education, being present, to point out, by a resolution, the necessity of Normal schools, devoting exclusive attention to the professional training of teachers, and of teachers' institutes. In religion, he is a Methodist, and has been an acceptable local preacher for more than thirty-two years, and Sabbath School superintendent for more than twenty-two years. He is a prominent temperance man, and takes a general interest in the welfare of the town where he resides. In politics, he is a staunch Reformer, and an advocate of free trade. He was married, September 17th, 1869, to Louisa, daughter of Nicholas Redmond, of Iroquois, Ont., by whom he has five children living and one deceased. His eldest son, William Arthur, is a physician in Prescott.

JEAN-BAPTISTE RESTHER, architect, Montreal, Que., was born in that city, July 17th, 1830. He is the son of the late John Ignace Resther, formerly contractor in the city of Montreal, and brother of the Rev. Father Resther, of the Jesuit Order. Mr. Resther, after spending a short time as dry goods clerk, commenced with his father in charge of works, for the construction of the Bonsecours market in 1847. In 1849, he left Montreal for St. Hyacinthe, where he was contractor for the college. After the construction of the college, he took a contract for the building of all the stations for the G. T. R., from St. Thomas down to Rivière du Loup. While in St. Hyacinthe, he was for several years, a member of the council. In 1867, he returned to Montreal, and opened an office as architect, arbitrator and valuator, in which profession he has a large practice. In 1884, Mr. Resther was chosen first vice-president of the St. Jean-Baptiste Association. He has served in determining important cases of arbitration, for Government, Railway corporations, &c., in which he has distinguished himself. He received his education in the Christian Brothers School, and under private tutors.

LOUIS JOSEPH LAMONTAGNE, assessor of the city of Montreal, was born in that city, September 3rd, 1825. His father, Louis Lamontagne, was born in Three Rivers, Que., and was a builder and contractor by trade, and had the honor of building the Parish Church of Montreal. He was educated partly at the Montreal College, and partly with the Brothers of the Christian Schools. He subsequently learned to be a stone mason and cutter, which occupation he followed until he was twenty-five years of age. He then became a contractor, which business he carried on very successfully; and during his thirty-nine years' practice, he has built a great many of the principal and most beautiful buildings in his city. He has had the honor of working with the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, who was at that time in the same line of business. He is a Liberal in politics, and has taken an active part in matters relating to the interest and welfare of the party. He has been an alderman of the city of Montreal, and a Justice of the Peace for that district. Mr. Lamontagne was married, in 1850, to Miss Marie Hermine Leveruoge, of the town of St. Hyacinthe, Que.

JAY SPENCER CORBIN, manufacturer, Prescott, Ont., was born in Gouverneur, New York State, in 1840. He received his education amid the meagre advantages which the country had to offer in those early days, but so improved his opportunities, that at the age of seventeen he was teaching school in a log school-house for $12.00 per month. He continued to follow the teaching profession, until he finally taught in one of the large American cities, for a salary of $1800.00 per annum. He subsequently engaged with a Life Assurance Co., and in this connection, his diligence as a canvasser was rewarded with a State agency, and he subsequently became superintendent of another company. Gathering a fair competency from these sources, he determined to gratify his love for mechanics, and invested in a machine-shop and foundry. During the next five years, his entire earnings were lost, and then began the real work of his life. Seeing the need of something that he could control, he started on his career as an inventor, and from that onward, the Patent Offices at Ottawa and Washington, have borne frequent record of his genius. He became a pioneer inventor, by substituting a concave rotating disk, for the tooth and Scotch harrows then in use. The worth of his inventions are attested by the frequency of their infringement by other manufacturers. It may be said that Mr. Corbin's patents so completely cover all forms of disk harrows, that no saleable machine of this class can be made without using some of his improvements. His factories are now making his implements with an estimated yearly output of 20,000, and they are known nearly all over the civilized world. He is still in the prime of life, possessed of a competency, controlling a trade yielding ample returns, and is an inventor of improvements which have vastly increased the farmer's products, while reducing his toil. He is an ardent supporter of temperance and other reforms. He was married, in 1865, to Christia Ann Hill of his native town.

HON. ARTHUR HENRI RENÉ TURCOTTE, Q.C., was born in Montreal, January 19th, 1845. His father was the late Hon. J. E. Turcotte, speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Canada. He was called to the Bar of Quebec, in June, 1867, and created Q.C. in 1879. Being well qualified for the duties of public life, he soon found his way to positions of responsibility. He is an honorary director of the British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Company, and has been councillor, alderman, and mayor of Three Rivers. He was speaker of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Quebec, from June, 1878, until the dissolution of the House in December, 1881. He was first returned to the Legislative Assembly in 1876, and was re-elected by acclamation at the general elections of 1878. He was an unsuccessful candidate three years later, but upon the unseating of Mr. Dumoulin, was elected in 1884, re-elected at the general elections of 1886, and appointed member of the Executive Council in 1887, and Attorney General of the Province in 1888. He introduced and carried the Act exempting from seizure under execution, one half of a laborer's wages, and has carried through several measures amending the civil code, and simplifying legal procedure. Mr. Turcotte is a Liberal Conservative in politics. He acted as Premier during the Hon. H. Mercier's first trip to Europe, and also as commissioner of Crown Lands during honorable Mr. Garneau's absence at the same time. He was defeated at general elections, June, 1890, and appointed prothonotary of the Superior Court of Montreal, August 19th, of the same year, which office he now fills. Mr. Turcotte is yet in the prime of manhood, and gives promise of extended usefulness in the important career upon which he has entered. at that time. He immediately began the practice of his profession, and has been very successful. He is a well-known man in Montreal, and is highly respected, not only by his numerous clients, and by his brethren of the medical profession, but by the public generally. He is a staunch Liberal in politics, and his influence is felt to the advantage of his party. In religion, Dr. del Vecchio is a member of the Roman Catholic Church. After his primary education in the public schools, he took a course in the Toronto Grammar school, and subsequently entered the Toronto Medical School, then under the presidency of the late Hon. Dr. Rolph, spending two years there, after which he took a year's course in the Buffalo Medical College and another course in Queen's College, Kingston, where he graduated in 1860, and began practice in Arnprior in 1861. He represented the Ontario Medical Council from 1881 to 1890, and was vice-president during 1889 and president during 1890. He is coroner for the county of Renfrew, and has been chairman of the Arnprior Board of Education twenty-one years, member of the village council twelve years, and takes an active interest in everything pertaining to the advancement of local interests, with which he is always identified. He was nominated as the Reform candidate to represent Renfrew in the Commons in March, 1891, but declined the honor. The doctor is a mason of high standing, being a past D.G.M. of the Ottawa district. In 1891 Dr. Cranston was appointed by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Kingston to deliver the inaugural address at Queen's University for that year,

THE LATE DANIEL McLACHLIN, pioneer lumberman of the Ottawa Valley, and founder of the village of Arnprior, Ont., was born at Point Fortune, Que., in 1820, and died at Arnprior, February 6th, 1872. Mr. McLachlin was an important factor in the social, commercial and public life of his day, and has left an impress on Renfrew county, which will long perpetuate his name. About the year 1850, he bought the water power, and several hundred acres of land along the Madawaska River, and began building up a town on the present site. To the genius and foresight of Mr. McLachlin, may be wholly attributed the present prosperity of the town. One of his first acts, was to have the land surveyed into lots, many of which were given to men who would build on them. The choicest lots were offered at very low figures, and soon houses and stores appeared, which caused the little hamlet to increase in importance year by year, until Arnprior is now (1892) one of the most important and prosperous towns in Eastern Ontario. In early life, Mr. McLachlin engaged in lumbering and acquired property so rapidly, that while in his twenties, he owned extensive and valuable estates, in various parts of the country. While a resident of Ottawa, he represented a constituency of the Capital in Parliament, and on removing to Arnprior, was chosen to represent the county of Renfrew. After confederation he again represented the South Riding of Renfrew, in the Commons, and faithfully fulfilled the honorable trust. During the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada, Mr. McLachlin had the honor of entertaining the heir apparent and his suite, when they visited Arnprior, and he gave largely from his purse and stores, to ensure a proper welcome to the Royal party. He was a generous, genial, gentleman, a noble type of manhood and a splendid specimen of the sterling Canadian pioneer. At his death, his sons Hugh F. and Claude McLachlin, succeeded to the management of his enormous business, and are worthy sons of a noble sire.

E. Church, and was appointed to Ottawa, as Dr. Stone's colleague, after which he was assistant to the Rev. Dr. Aylesworth, Napanee. His next charge was Arnprior, after which he returned to college. The following year he labored in Ottawa West, returning to college again and graduating in 1875, with honors, in metaphysics, ethics and civil polity. He then labored in Lyn, Iroquois, Farmersville, Almonte and Smith's Falls, and accepted his present charge, June, 1891. He was the first secretary of the Montreal Conference after Union, and was for several years secretary of the old Bay of Quinte Conference. He was married, June 25, 1875, to Mrs. M. A. Smith, preceptress of Alexandra College, Belleville.

He subsequently attended school for a short time, and after four months spent at Ann Arbor, Mich., he returned to Canada, and for seven or eight years, was either proprietor or manager of some of the most important papers in the Dominion. In 1888, he bought the job office of R. L. Crane, Winchester, and established the Press. In 1891, he started printing the whole of the paper in the Press office, an unusual thing for a paper of that size. In politics the Press is Independent, but thoroughly Canadian. Mr. Lane is a member of the A.F. & A.M. and A.O.U.W. societies, and is a past master of the Masonic Order. He was married in December, 1885, to Miss Annie May, daughter of W. H. Haley, of Petrolea, Ont.

Bishop Lorrain entered St. Thérèse College in 1855, where he remained eight years. He graduated from Laval University in 1864, and was ordained priest in August, 1867. Subsequently he was pastor at Redford, N.Y. for ten years. In August, 1880, he was appointed vicar-general of the diocese of Montreal, and in September, two years later, was consecrated titular bishop of Cythera, and vicar apostolic of Pontiac. Since his settlement in Pembroke, his career has been marked by many trying experiences, but has nevertheless been crowned with wonderful success. In 1884, he travelled some 15,000 miles in a canoe through the Northern wilds of the Dominion to Abbitibi and Albany, establishing missions amongst the Indians. Three years later, he covered some 17,000 miles, making pastoral visits to the Indian missions on the Upper Ottawa, St. Maurice and Rupert's Land. Since locating in Pembroke, bishop Lorrain has paid off a debt of about $11,000 on the church, built a magnificent episcopal residence at a cost of $18,000, fully provided for, enlarged and decorated the church, and secured a large amount of property to be devoted to charitable purposes. The church at Pembroke, would be a credit to any large city, and has cost about $60,000. The bishop is a man of strong force of character, wonderful executive ability, sympathetic, and is beloved and honored by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. The close of his tenth year at Pembroke, Thursday, September 22nd, 1892, was marked by a grand jubilee, at which he was made the recipient of many valuable presents and wishes, notably amongst these, may be mentioned, a handsome cash gift of $1,700, which he has devoted towards the furnishing of a new hospital which he has nearly completed.

He has more than an ordinary capacity for learning, which was quite noticeable in his childhood, and has been retained by him all through his course, and through his love of study he has developed an excellent memory. When a lad of fifteen years of age, he won a Worcester dictionary as a prize in a county competition spelling match in Brantford, in 1874, against all comers. After graduating, he practiced three and a half years in Morpeth, Ont., after which he removed to Blenheim, and entered into partnership with the late eminent Dr. D. J. Vanvelsor, and now

(1892) conducts a very fine practice in Blenheim and surrounding country. For a man of his years, Dr. Shaver has won an enviable distinction, and has gained the esteem of the community in which he moves. He is a member of the I.O. O.F., I.O.F., A.O.U.W., Select Knights, R.T. of T., and A.F. & A.M., and is medical examiner for these orders. He has also been medical health officer ever since he located in Blenheim. He is the eldest son of the late Joseph White and Angelique, daughter of the late Captain Pierre Fortier, formerly of Quebec. Mr. White was educated in the schools of Essex county, and was called to the Bar in 1865, and immediately entered upon the practice of his profession, with the late Mr. Justice O'Connor. In 1868, he retired from the practice of law, and purchased the Clair House vineyards at Cooksville, and carried on the business of vine growing and wine making until the year 1876, when he retired from that business. From 1873 until the present (1892), Mr. White has been a prominent figure in the North Essex political life, having represented that constituency at different times. His last defeat was owing largely to the stand he took on the Riel question. In 1890, he was elected mayor of Windsor by acclamation, and in June following at the general Provincial election, he was elected again M.P.P. In politics Mr. White is a Liberal Conservative, and he is one of the most influential, able and useful members of the Legislature. He is outspoken in his opinions and has been the subject of much comment by reason of his declaration that he would favor political union with the United States, in preference to unrestricted reciprocity. He takes a great interest in agricultural matters, and has a beautiful farm of about 500 acres, situated some three miles from the city of Windsor on a charming location on the Detroit River. He was president of the Agricultural Society of the Riding, also president of the Windsor Driving Park Association. Since his retirement from the Cooksville vineyards, he has resumed the practice of his profession. He has been engaged in all the principal cases in his county, and altogether his career has been a brilliant success, both in the Legislature and at the Bar. He is a Roman Catholic in religion, but is liberal in his views of all denominations.

Some fifteen years later, he was admitted into partnership with Mr. Cameron, under the firm name of Cameron & Bartlet. This continued until 1887, when Mr. Cameron after an honorable business and public life, retired to a well earned repose in his native Invernesshire, Scotland. In 1887, Mr. Bartlet formed a partnership with Colin McDonald, which continues to the present (1892). They carried on a very large general dry goods trade in the city of Windsor and surrounding country. Mr. Bartlet is, in religion, a member of the Presbyterian Church, in politics a Liberal, and is an influential, zealous and trusted member of the party. He is and has been treasurer of the Windsor St. Andrew's Society for many years, and in 1886 and 1887, was alderman of ward No. 1, and chairman of the finance committee. His career is a worthy example to the young business men of our country. His dealings have been strictly upright, and his course both in public and private, thoroughly reliable throughout life, which makes his career worthy of emulation by our aspiring Canadian youth. He is also a magistrate and the vice-president of the following organizations: the Natural History Society, the Microscopic Society, the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society. He is a life member of the Art Association, and of the Mechanics' Institute of Montreal. Mr. Murphy was called to the Senate May 30th, 1889. He is a steadfast supporter of the Liberal-Conservative party. He has been twice married; first, in 1848, to Miss McBride, of Dublin, and again in 1863 to Miss Power, second daughter of the late Hon. Wm. Power, Judge of the Superior Court of Quebec, and has a family by both marriages.

WILLIAM STAHLSCHMIDT, founder of the Canadian Office and School Furniture Co., (limited), Preston, Ont., was born in Cologne, Germany, November 18th, 1844. His father, Rev. D. Stahlshmidt, was a Lutheran minister, who spent many years of arduous toil in connection with his own denomination in both the United States and Canada. Mr. Stahlshmidt located in the United States with his parents in 1848, and came to this country in 1859. He was educated at American and Canadian public schools, the Berlin High School, and Toronto Normal School. In 1868, he became first assistant master of the Preston public school, and the next year he accepted the position of principal of the same school, which position he held for fifteen years. He was married, May 24th, 1871, to Miss Mary, daughter of Rev. H. C. Kaehler, a Lutheran minister. It was as a teacher that Mr. Stahlshmidt gained his inspiration for his life work, and it was his consciousness of the need of improvements in school furniture, that aroused his mechanical and inventive faculties. While yet teaching, he designed and had manufactured for him, such improved and excellent appliances for the school room, that they were soon in great demand throughout Canada, and he was compelled to devote all his energies to their production. Thus, in the spring of 1884, the present well known business was founded. One year later Mr. Jacob E. Klotz was admitted as a partner, the firm's name being W. Stahlshmidt & Co. Their business has increased rapidly, and now orders are coming in from all parts of the Dominion, from Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia, Morocco, India and the United States, and their goods have found their way into the palaces of Royalty in England and into the Vatican at Rome. In 1889 the firm of W. Stahlshmidt & Co. was merged into a joint stock company with Mr. Stahlshmidt as manager and treasurer, under the name of the Canadian Office and School Furniture Co., (ltd.), and now employ from 70 to 80 hands.

JACOB E. KLOTZ, eldest son of the late Otto Klotz, Preston, Ont., was born December 21st, 1840. He received his education at the public school, and through extensive travels in Germany, acquired such a fluency and pure diction of the German language, as few native Canadians possess. The government, knowing this, soon appointed him Commissioner of Immigration to Germany, from 1872 to 1880, during the Macdonald and Mackenzie regimes. Having good family connections in Germany, he had no difficulty in following with advantage his calling, from his headquarters at Hamburg. Among other successes, the extensive immigration of the Menonites to Manitoba, a source of wealth to our country, is due to him. Having great sympathy with the Germans, and having made the acquaintance of Prince Bismarck, he assumed the red cross in order to aid suffering humanity at the siege of Paris in 1870-71, witnessing thus the hardships of the Franco-Prussian war. Returning to Canada, he associated himself with his friend, the late Premier Norquay, for developing the coal fields near Medicine Hat, N. W.T., a mine to-day in successful operation. Retiring, he returned to his native home, and noticing the new industry of the school desk manufactory, needing extension, he invested a large amount of capital, to place it on its present successful basis, which soon developed into the so widely and well known "The Canadian Office and School Furniture Company," of which he is vice-president. In 1886, he crossed the ocean, the ninth round trip, to attend the colonial exhibition, London, to establish agencies. In religion, Mr. Klotz, is an active member of the Lutheran Church. On the demise of his father, July 6th, 1892, his many friends on either side of politics, asked him to become his successor as division court clerk, which he refused, preferring to spend his spare hours with his mother. This happiness, however, was not to be enjoyed, as she died four weeks later. He is now travelling in Europe in company with his sisters and niece.

RAYMOND FOURNIER PRÉ-FONTAINE, B.C.L., M.P., Montreal, Que., was born at Longueuil, Quebec, September 16th, 1850. He is descended from one of the oldest and most honorable families in the province. Receiving a sound education, and being gifted with strong natural ability, a brilliant future was predicted for him. He graduated from McGill University, Montreal, and in 1873 was called to the Bar, receiving the degree of B.C.L. the same year. His success in law has been unusually brilliant, and he is now a partner in one of the leading law firms in Montreal. At an early age, he went into politics, and was soon looked upon as an exceedingly active worker, an orator of great power and a coming man. At the general election of 1875, for the Quebec Legislative Assembly, he was nominated as Liberal candidate for the county of Chambly, and carried the county against overwhelming odds. However, he was defeated at the next election, but was re-elected in 1879. In 1881, at the general election, Mr. Préfontaine found himself again defeated, but the eyes of the Dominion were turned to him in 1886, when he ran as the Nationalist candidate in Chambly. The election was one of the most stubborn and fiercely fought contests in Canada, and resulted in his return. The Dominion elections of 1887 came on before Mr. Préfontaine could take his seat and again he had to go through a great contest, but did so successfully. With a similar result at the next general election he may be considered as possessing the entire confidence of his electors who look with pride upon their champion. Mr. Préfontaine ranks high among his colleagues of the Commons. He does not speak often, but when he does, his remarks are effective. He is possessed of a keen, discerning judgment, and his marked business ability stands him in good stead. The laboring classes owe him much, as he was the member who succeeded in having the first law adopted whereby only one half of the wages of laborers can now be seized for debt.

DAVID JOHNSTON, M.B., Toronto, practicing physician and surgeon, Iroquois, Ont., was born at Bouck's Hill, Dundas county, July 28th, 1861. He is a son of John and Mary (McLean) Johnston, natives of Dumfriesshire, Scotland. The former was an enterprising Canadian farmer. After leaving the public school, Dr. Johnston continued his studies in the Morrisburgh High School, and subsequently taught for three and a half years. He then entered the Toronto School of Medicine, matriculating at Toronto University in 1883, and graduating in 1887. In August of the latter year he commenced the practice of medicine as successor to the late Dr. Geo. Colquhoun, in Iroquois. For a young man, Dr. Johnston has attained a high standing in his profession, and gives large promise of becoming a very eminent medical man. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and is a prominent member of the A.O.U.W., having held the office of master workman for two years in Iroquois Lodge, No. 213, and has been chief ranger in the I.O.F. for one year. He has been a member of the High School Board for two years, and is greatly interested in the cause of education. In politics he is a Reformer.

REV. JAMES STUART, Presbyterian minister, Prescott, Ont., was born in the township of Beverly, Wentworth county, April 3rd, 1842. After leaving the public schools, Mr. Stuart attended the Galt Grammar School, subsequently taught for two years, and entered Knox College, Toronto, in 1868, graduating in 1872. He then went to Pakenham, as a student missionary, and was ordained September of that year. After seven years of successful work there, he was inducted into his present charge in March, 1879. The first Presbyterian church in Prescott, was dedicated in 1822, under the late Rev. Dr. Boyd, the second building was erected in 1850, and destroyed by fire in 1892; however, the congregation and pastor, proceeded at once to rebuild, and the present magnificent structure is the result of their energy and enterprise. Mr. Stuart was appointed moderator of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, May 10th, 1892, which position he fills with ability and dignity. He is a member of the A.O.U.W., and in politics a Reformer. He was married, August, 28th, 1879, to the youngest daughter of Mr. J. Dunnet. His family consists of one daughter.

W. W. OGILVIE, mill owner, Montreal, Que., was born February 14th, 1835, in that city. He is a son of the late Alexander Ogilvie. His education was received at the Montreal High School, and early in life he commenced the business in which he was destined to become so prominent. It may be said of him that he is a miller by inheritance, for the extensive business now carried on by him, was founded by his grandfather, who erected a mill at Jacques-Cartier, near Quebec, in 1801, which was followed by another mill at Lachine Rapids. Mr. Ogilvie is now one of the leading millers of the world, operating extensive mills at different points in Canada, with headquarters at Montreal. The combined output of his mills, is about 7,500 barrels of flour daily, made from 33,000 bushels of wheat, which is supplied from his own elevators in Ontario, Manitoba and the North West Territory. He is a progressive miller, and was the first to introduce the roller milling process into Canada, having made a personal investigation of the new system in Hungary, where it was invented and first put into operation. Mr. Ogilvie possesses a great practical and scientific knowledge of wheat, wheat lands, and the production of flour, equalled by few men, and his immense business is a result of this knowledge practically applied. He was the pioneer wheat buyer in Manitoba, and has contributed largely to the development of that province. From a small shipment of 500 bushels in 1876, the shipments have now increased, to his own mills alone, of 4,000,000 bushels annually. But he excels just as much in his personal and private character, as in his business, and all who are intimate with him, especially his employees, are greatly attached to him. In his magnificent business house at Montreal, there is a handsomely furnished and well equipped reading and recreation room, for the large staff there employed. In religion, Mr. Ogilvie is a Presbyterian, and in politics a Conservative.

GERALD O'REILLY, M.D., C.M., Fergus, Ont., was born in Hamilton, Ont., February 7th, 1858. His father, doctor Gerald O'Reilly, of Hamilton, was one of the best known medical men in the Province. Until ten years of age, our subject was educated at home by governess and private tutors, when he entered the Simcoe grammar school under the head-mastership of Rev. J. G. Mulholland, where he remained three years, and then entered the Hamilton Collegiate Institute. He matriculated in medicine in 1873, at the age of fifteen years, and entered the Trinity Medical College in 1875, graduating in 1879, taking the degree of M.D. C.M., and also that of M.C. P.S. of Ontario, the same year. He was medical assistant to the Hamilton and Guelph hospitals, and senior assistant house surgeon to the Toronto General Hospital during 1879 and 1880. In January, 1881, he entered into partnership with Dr. Geo. T. Orton, M.P., of Fergus, and the following year bought the practice, on the removal of Dr. Orton to Winnipeg. In July, 1890, he took Dr. H. W. Armstrong (double gold medalist of Trinity Medical College, Toronto), as junior partner, his practice being much too large for one man. In religion, the doctor is a member of the Church of England, and for years a church warden of St. James Church, Fergus. In politics, he is a staunch and active Conservative, and a prominent member of Mercier Lodge, No. 347, A.F. & A.M., O'Reilly, manager of the Band of Hamilton, Owen Sound, Ont.

He began his business career as clerk, in a general store at St. Johns. In 1881, he bought out the wholesale flour and grain business of James McPherson, and owing to his genial and gentlemanly manner, together with a strict attention to business, has won the esteem of a large circle of friends, and as a result, is now the largest dealer in his line, east of the St. Lawrence. He buys his flour direct from the manufacturers, and deals heavily in Manitoba flour and wheat. He was a member of the town council for three years, but has no taste for public office. Mr. Cousins is a member of the Methodist denomination, and is a trustee of that church at St. Johns. In politics he is a Conservative. George, Ont., November 30th, 1849.

He is the only son of the late Dr. N. E.
Mainwaring of that place. He received his education at the Galt Grammar School and in the Upper Canada Col-

Toronto, in 1886, and entered into the real estate business with Mr. C. J.
McCuaig, son of the late Hon. J. S.
McCuaig, of Picton, who was already a real estate agent in that city. He became interested in Montreal in 1889, and moved to that city in 1890, opening an office, under the firm name of McCuaig and Mainwaring. He is now a real estate agent of considerable importance in Montreal. He was the moving spirit in the establishment of the street railway electric service, and was also the promoter of the extension of the street railway lines. This was accomplished by organizing a strong association, and with Mr. Mainwaring at the helm, the obstacles have been overcome. He represents companies and syndicates, controlling immense quantities of real estate, and it is safe to predict that we shall hear from him in the future.

JOHAN MILNE, banker and mayor of Essex, was born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, in 1838. In 1841, he came to this country with his parents, and located in Woodstock, Ont. When twelve years of age, he embarked for himself as an errand boy in Toronto, and spent his leisure hours in studying to improve his education, with such a success, that at the age of eighteen, he obtained a teacher's certificate, on which he taught for ten years in York county. However, close confinement injured his health, and compelled him to undertake out-door employment, which he found in the oil fields of Pennsylvania, where considerable prosperity attended him. Mr. Milne subsequently became a contractor on the C. S. Railway, and finally located in Essex in 1873, when it contained but two log houses. He at once took such an interest in the little hamlet, that he is universally acknowledged to be the father of the town. He built saw mills, stave works, machine shop, plow works, planing mills and other works, which employed over 100 men. In 1875, through his efforts, a Division Court was established in Essex Centre, of which he has been clerk ever since. In politics, he is an ardent Liberal, but has declined to become a candidate for Parliamentary honors, on the ground of pressure of business. He is a forcible lecturer, having recently taken a four months' tour through Manitoba and the North West Territories, to present the claims of the A.O.U.W. Order, of which he is grand master. While in the West he formed a grand lodge for that part of the Dominion, and during the ten years in which he was chairman of the Finance committee, he signed warrants for beneficiaries for over $1,000,000. Among other municipal honors, he was elected by acclamation first mayor of Essex, and re-elected each year since that time. In religion he is a Methodist, and a trustee of that church. firm name of Villeneuve & Lacaille. This firm carried on business very successfully for twenty-four years. From 1878 until 1892, Mr. Lacaille carried on the business alone, with increasing success, but in that year took his son into the firm, and they now carry on business together under the name of C. Trinity Medical College, Toronto, two terms and became M.C.P. and S.O. in 1884. His parents came to Canada from Ireland in 1831, and settled in Quebec, where his mother, Anne McGoldrich, recently died. Patrick Fahey, his father, still lives (1893) in his 83rd year, and is one of Quebec's oldest and most respected citizens. Our subject had all the advantages of a broad and liberal education, which he received in the Quebec Seminary, at the Laval Model and Normal schools and under private tutors. He graduated in July, 1862, and commenced the study of the notarial profession, and completed his clerkship in 1866. In 1867, the year of Confederation, the Provincial Government shewed their appreciation of his talents by appointing him professor in the Jacques Cartier Normal School, Montreal. This position he still retains. He began to practice in 1873, and enjoys a select and lucrative clientèle. In 1882, he was appointed by the Provincial Government, a member of the Catholic Board of Examiners for the city and district of Montreal. Providence has blessed him with material success, and he has gathered a considerable share of this world's goods, among which is a good deal of real estate in Montreal. He would like to see the dawn of that day, however, when a new science will be created by the rich to alleviate, in a more practical way, the wants of the poor and needy, and both by precept and example, he is doing his part with this end in view.

PETER EDMUND JONES, M.D. (Chief Kahkewaquonaby), Hagersville, Ont., was born in London, Ont., October 30th, 1843. He is a son of the late Rev. Peter Jones (Chief Kahkewaquonaby), a celebrated Indian Methodist minister, who died June 28th, 1856. The doctor's mother was a well known English woman, who closed her illustrious career in Brantford, Ont., in 1890. Dr. Jones received his first tuition from his parents and from a governess in the family, but subsequently attended the Brantford public schools for one year, before entering the University at Toronto, which he attended for two years, and then entered Queen's College, Kingston, from which he graduated M.D., in 1866, soon after his 22nd birthday. Dixon of Hagersville, after which he practiced in Brantford for one year, then returned to Hagersville, where he has since remained. The doctor belongs to the Ojibway nation, and about the year 1870, was elected chief of the band. He is also a hereditary chief through his father, and was for years secretary of the Grand Council. He was instrumental in obtaining the franchise, and passing of "The Indian Advancement Act" for his people. In 1880, the Dominion Government made him the Indian agent for the band, he being the first Indian appointed to that responsible position. The name of his band is "The Messissauguas of the Credit," the richest tribe in the province. Dr. Jones for a time edited and published The Indian, a reliable and valuable publication on Indian matters. He has the most rare and valuable private collection of Indian relics, and curiosities in the Dominion, and has been solicited to take it to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893.

DAVID MORRICE, Montreal, Que., was born in Perth, Scotland, in 1832. He attended the High School of his native city, and received a thorough education. Commencing at Perth, he had also large business experience at Dublin, Cork, London, Liverpool and Manchester. In these places he received that experience which has since been turned to such good account. In 1855, he came to Montreal remaining a short time; he then went to Toronto in the employ of a large wholesale establishment, but in 1863, returned to Montreal, and began the immense business now managed by him and his sons. As general merchants and manufacturer's agents, they carry on the largest business in the Dominion. They have warehouses in Montreal and Toronto, and control over forty cotton and woollen mills. On coming to Montreal, he attended the Cotté Street Church, where Rev. Dr. McVicar was Pastor, and the late Hon. Justice Torrance the S. S. Superintendent. On the retirement of the latter, Mr. Morrice was elected, and for a quarter of a century, has been the efficient superintendent of this large Sunday school. In 1876-77, he was an active worker and a generous donor to Crescent Street Church, but the work by which his name will be perpetuated to distant generations, is that part of the Presbyterian College of Montreal, better known as the "David Morrice Hall." This building cost $80,000, and was opened with great rejoicings November 28th, 1882. He has been a liberal giver to the Y.M.C.A., the General Hospital, the Sailor's Institute, the House of Refuge, etc., etc. In June, 1861, he married Anne S. Anderson, of Toronto, a lady who has nobly seconded all his generous undertakings. He has seven sons and one daughter. His two eldest sons are now members of the firm, and another is practicing law. He is a member of various societies. He has been for many years a director and part owner in the large cotton, woollen, coal and other industries of Canada. gical course in the Presbyterian College, Montreal. He was ordained and inducted into the charge of Wakefield, Quebec, September 6th, 1881, by the Presbytery of Ottawa, and remained there two years and built a fine church. In 1883, he removed to Morrisburg, and took charge of the church there for nearly five years, and largely increased the membership. He was inducted into the pastorate of the Pembroke church, December 29th, 1887, and commenced to preach, January 1st, 1888. He then found a membership of 140 and now has 357 members; and a debt of $10,000, which he found on his arrival, is now reduced to $3,000. Mr. Bayne possesses great energy, is a forcible Gospel preacher, and having excellent executive ability, leads his people in all departments of church work. The Presbyterian Church at Pembroke, holds a somewhat historical position. In 1835, Rev. Jas. Cairns first preached there; in 1843 Rev. Dr. Mann ministered to the people; in 1847 Rev. Henry Gordon was called, but declined; in 1849 Rev. Andrew Melville reorganized the church and became the first settled minister in 1850. The first elders were Alex. Moffatt, sr., David Bell and David Moore. Mr. Bayne, while at Morrisburg, distinguished himself as a teacher of classics in the Collegiate Institute there. He is a Reformer in politics, and is an ardent prohibitionist. He was married June 14th, 1883, to Eliza, daughter of Richard Loucks, of U. E. L. Stock.

H. DION-YOUNG, L.D.S., D.D. S., Montreal, Que., was born in St. Martin, P.Q. He became a citizen of Montreal in 1855. Dr. Young was educated at the College of St. Mary, Montreal, and at the age of sixteen years, entered the office of his preceptor, Dr. Candee, to study dentistry, and in 1873 graduated from Philadelphia Dental College. He came out second in studies in a class of one hundred members. He is practicing with improved methods in crown work, bridge work, &c., and has reduced this line of his profession to almost perfection. During his thirty years practice in Montreal, he has accumulated sufficient to provide for himself and family during his declining years. Dr. Young has lately organized in connection with his confreres, a dental school, which is attached to Bishop's Medical College, with the kind permission of Dr. W. F. Campbell. He is a member of the order of the Artizans, C.M.B.A., and a prominent member of I.O.F., and treasurer of Court St. Louis Lodge. He declined the mayoralty, but was elected councillor for the municipality of Côte St. Louis du Mile End, by acclamation. Dr. Young was married, in 1879, to Miss M., daughter of A. G. Fitzallan, Esq.

REV. THOMAS DAVIS, Catholic priest, Madoc, Ont., was born in Kingston, Ont., February 5th, 1845. He is a son of James and Mary (McArrow) Davis, both of Ireland. His mother was always a Roman Catholic, but his father was a Protestant, until two weeks before his death, when he was converted to the Catholic faith, in which he died in 1892. Father Davis received his primary education in a public school in Kingston, and subsequently attended a private one, and the Christian Brothers' Institute. He graduated from Regiopolis College, under the late Bishop O'Brien, in 1865.

He then took a three years theological course in Laval University, and was ordained July 26th, 1868, by Bishop Horan, in St. Mary's Church, Kingston. He was the first Roman Catholic priest who was born, brought up and ordained in that city. On July 12th, 1869, Father Davis took charge of his present parish, where he has remained ever since. At that time his parish included about twelve townships, but has since been reduced. He has built churches at Madoc, Marmora, Queensboro' and Tweed, and also a beautiful Presbytery at Madoc. He has done much valuable service amongst his own people.

ALDERMAN WILLIAM H. CUNNINGHAM, Montreal, Que., was born of Irish parents at Factory Point, Bennington county, Vermont, U.S., September 12th, 1841. He removed to Montreal with his parents in 1849, where his father established the St. Lawrence Marble Works. After the death of his father, and having a desire to travel, he went to Boston in 1869. In the year 1873, he engaged in the marble business at St. Albans, Vermont, and was very successful. He married while in St. Albans, Vermont, and in 1877, after the death of his mother, he returned to Montreal, and re-established the old marble works, which are so well known. He was elected alderman for St. Lawrence Ward in 1887, and in 1890 he was re-elected by acclamation. He was very successful in the advocacy of widening and opening up streets in certain sections of his ward. He has also served on the Fire and Market committees. On the death of his predecessor he was elected chairman of the Market Committee, October 5th, 1891, in which capacity he served until the end of his term, February 1st, 1893. Owing to certain changes in the city charter, desired by the citizens, and owing to defective legislation in the Parliament of Quebec, the amended charter was so mixed up, that it was impossible to know if an election held on February 1st, 1893, was legal or not. The citizens had recourse to the courts in the way of injunctions against holding an election, which was granted by Judge Doherty. Under the circumstances, Mr. Cunningham did not consider it worth the loss of time and expense to offer himself again for election. Alderman Cunningham was one of the first to advocate, in the city council, the running of electric cars through the streets of Montreal. He was a most industrious alderman, and many are desirous that he should again enter the field for civic honors. He is also a member of the Council of Arts and Manufactures of the Province of Quebec, and has been vice-president of St. Patrick's Society.

Dr. Dagenais was educated in the Montreal College, finishing his classical course with great success at the age of seventeen years. He then began to study medicine under the late Senator Dumouchel, M.D., of St. Benoit, county of Two Mountains, Que. He attended the lectures of the School of Medicine and Surgery, Montreal, and took his license from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Lower Canada, on May 11th, 1858. In 1864, he married Marie Louise Ozine Mercier, daughter of N. Mercier, trader, of Montreal. He has had eleven children, seven of whom died in infancy, those living are Marie Louise, Augusta, Josephine and Claire.

REV. WILLIAM H. GANE, Methodist minister, Amherstburg, Ont., was born near the town of Ingersoll, July 10th, 1851. His parents, William H. H. and Elizabeth Gane, came from England in 1840. Mr. Gane prepared for matriculation in Toronto University, in the Ingersoll High School, but financial reverses rendered a university course impracticable. He then began life on his own account and taught school for five years. His subsequent success in the ministry is largely due to the experience gained during these years of self denial and toil. He began his probation in the Methodist ministry in 1875, and after serving Exeter, London North, Kirkton and Leamington, was ordained the 8th of June, 1879, in London. Mr. Gane has spent one year at Blenheim, one year at St. George and three years in each of the following places, Alvinston, Elinville and Lyons, and Amherstburg. His first year in Elinville witnessed the conversion of nearly 500 souls. He has the record of leaving his charges in excellent condition spiritually and temporally. As a preacher, Mr. Gane is thoughtful, practical and evangelical. He has also contributed to some of the leading periodicals of Canada and the United States, and two of his larger poems, "Madeline" and "Eyrion," have been highly spoken of. When he arrived in Amherstburg, he found the congregation worshiping in a frame church, which had done duty for fifty years, and in Malden two small congregations worshipped in two small edifices. His first work was to unite the congregations in Malden; he succeeded, as the handsome church dedicated August, 1892, testifies. He also built a fine new church in Amherstburg, and has been in every way successful on this charge. Mr. Gane is pursuing a course of post graduate study in philosophy in Otterbein University, Ohio. He was married, October 27th, 1880, to Miss Emmeline L. H., only daughter of Wm. White, Chatham, Ont. They have three children, Silas, Pearl and May.

EDWARD R. BARTON, L.D.S., surgeon dentist, Montreal, Que., was born July 19th, 1869, in West Kent, England. He is a son of Edward Barton, Esq., and a grandson of the late Captain Barton, of Her Majesty's Royal Navy. Mr. Barton commenced his education in England in the schools of Blackheath, Kent. He came to Canada early in life and completed his education in this country, matriculating in arts at the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., in 1886. After this he commenced the study of dentistry, and after a successful career as a student, passing his examinations with great credit, was admitted to practice his profession in 1890. He at once opened an office in Montreal, and has secured a large and growing practice. Although a young man, he has already taken a foremost stand in his profession. He is the treasurer of the Odontological Society of the Province of Quebec, and a member of the Montreal Microscopical Society. In 1892 he was honored by the important appointment of lecturer on dental pathology and therapeutics in the Dental Faculty of Bishop's College, Montreal. Doubtless higher honors are still in store for him.

REV. THOMAS McLACHLAN, B. A., Presbyterian minister, Hagersville, Ont., was born in Erin, Wellington county, Ontario, March 12th, 1862. He was educated at the public schools, Collingwood Collegiate Institute, Toronto University and Knox College. He began his university course in 1885, taking honors in metaphysics in his second year, and after engaging in mission work in Manitoba for a short time, returned to the university and graduated B.A. in 1890. He received his theological education at Knox College, which he attended for three years, and graduated in the Spring of 1892. During the Summer of 1890, he satisfactorily supplied Caledon and Ballinafad, and served the Church at Hagersville during the Summer of 1891. After graduating he received a call to become missionary of that church, which he accepted, and was inducted and ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church on May 31st, 1892. While in Manitoba, his station at Holland grew so rapidly, that it was deemed advisable to erect a place of worship there, which has since become an important centre of Christian work. Mr. McLachlan is an able Gospel preacher and temperance worker.

JOHN BARKER VOSBURGH, licentiate of dental surgery, Montreal, Que., was born in Ottawa, August 27th, 1859. He is the third son of John Shibley Vosburgh, contractor and constructor of railways and canals, who was the eldest son of John Vosburgh, of Hartington, Ont. John Shibley Vosburgh, was married to Elizabeth Barker, third daughter of Dr. Edward John Barker, late editor and publisher of the British Whig, Kingston, Ont. Mr. John B. Vosburgh received his education at Lennoxville and Montreal. When sixteen years of age, he was indentured with the late

Dr. J. H. Webster, of Montreal, as a dental student. In 1882, he went West to Manitoba, and practiced his profession for two years. In 1884, he went to St. Paul, Minnesota, and practiced dentistry for five years. During this time he formed many friends and had a very large and lucrative practice, but having a yearning for his native land, he returned to Montreal in 1889, since which time he has continued his profession there with great success. He is the registrar of the Dental Faculty of Bishop's University, also professor of Operative Dentistry in the same institution. Mr. Vosburgh is a leading member of the dental profession in Montreal, and although still a young man, he has taken a prominent part in all professional matters, and doubtless greater things are in store for him, for men who have the secret of success generally retain it. Mr. Vosburgh is a member of the Episcopalian Church, and in politics is a Conservative, but takes no active part in political matters. He is also a member of the masonic order. He was married in Montreal, 31st July, 1883, to Miss Sara Kent, only daughter of Thomas Kent and Sara Fulton, of Montreal. His family consists one son and two daughters, namely: Reginald Fulton, born in Montreal, Que., May 20th, 1885; Rena Maud Pope, born in St. Paul, Minnesota, on 16th March, 1887, and Vera Gwendoline, born in Montreal, Que., 21st September, 1891.

STEPHEN THOS. REEVES, merchant trader, Windsor, Ont., was born in Sandwich, December 26th, 1844. His father, James A. Reeves, was publisher and proprietor of the Amherstburg Courier, and served his country as a volunteer in the rebellion of 1837-38, and was present at the Yonge street affair. Mr. Reeves was left an orphan at the age of five years, and the little education he received, was obtained at the Sandwich public schools. After this, he was apprenticed to Thomas Woodbridge, harness maker, Sandwich, and remained at that business until 1876, when he entered the large exporting fish establishment of C. W. Gauthier, and after a few years, succeeded to the entire control of that business, which now embraces the exclusive trade on the Canadian side of Lake Huron. In addition to this, Mr. Reeves is secretary of the Manitoba fish companies. Notwithstanding the duties of his busy life, he has found time to give attention to the welfare and improvement of his city, and has for four successive years, been the recipient of aldermanic honors. Through his efforts as chairman of the fire, water and gas committee, the city has adopted an electric plant of its own. He is also interested in military matters, and was a volunteer of Sandwich county, No. 1, during the Trent affair, and was color sargeant when the company disbanded. He was subsequently attached as supernumerary of the 23rd Battalion, and in 1885, on the organization of the Essex Fusileers, was appointed quarter master, and has latterly filled the office of adjutant. Politically, he is a Conservative, and an effective worker in the ranks of the party. In religion, he is a Methodist; he is also a member of the I.O.O.F., in which order he has filled all the offices in Frontier Lodge, and is a P.C.P. of Encampment No. 2. In a word, he is a man of push, tact and method, and his integrity has won for him the esteem and respect of all who know him. He was married in 1869, to Mary Jane, eldest daughter of Walter Shorland, of Windsor, Ont.

A. A. CHRÉTIEN ZAUGG, M.D., Montreal, Que., was born in that city in 1864. His father, Chrétien Zaugg, was born at Berne, Switzerland, and his mother M. Guimond, is a native of Montreal. Dr. Zaugg was educated in St. Thérèse Seminary, subsequently passed a course at the Jesuits' College, and finished his studies with a private preceptor. He began the study of medicine in the Victoria School of Medicine, Montreal, where he remained from 1882 to 1886, after which he went to Paris, France, and studied the eye, ear, nose and throat diseases, under Baron de Wecker and Dr. Chatellier. In January, 1888, he became first assistant of these two leading men of Paris, occupying that position until October, 1891. He now gives clinics every day at the Hôtel-Dieu, where he has a very large practice. For a man of his years, Dr. Chrétien Zaugg has certainly secured a very enviable position in his profession, and if his past is in any way an evidence of his future career, he will be one of our best known specialists. In religion, he is a Roman Catholic. He is a member of the Société d'Ophthalmologie de Paris, Société d'Otologie, Rhinologie et de Laryngologie de Paris.

REV. CLIFFORD T. BENNETT, B.A., pastor of the Methodist Church, Jarvis, Ont., was born in 1856, in the township of Nelson, county of Halton, Ont. He is a son of W. J. and Sarah Bennett. His father is a successful farmer in that township, and an earnest Methodist. Rev. Mr. Bennett spent his early life on the farm. He obtained his education at the public and high schools of Ontario and at Victoria University. He took an Arts course in the latter institution, graduating B.A. in 1882. Mr. Bennett's special forte is philosophy, and in that department he excels. He entered upon the study of law with bright prospects, but the convictions of his early life, that he was called to the Christian ministry, were renewed, and he yielded to the call. He joined the Methodist Conference in 1883, and was ordained at Woodstock, Ont., in June, 1886. He has travelled the following circuits: Sheffield, Stevensville, Oxford Street, Brantford, and his present circuit at Jarvis. Mr. Bennett is an able Gospel minister, and as he is yet a young man, doubtless a bright future is ahead of him. He was married, August 10th, 1887, to Miss Minnie Smith, of Burford.

JOS. PETER CHARTRAND, M.D., C.M., professor of practical anatomy in Laval University, surgeon to the Hôtel-Dieu, and consulting physician to the Providence Dispensary of the University of St. Pélagie, Montreal, Que., was born in St. André Avelin, Ottawa county, Que. His parents were Joseph Chartrand and Leocadie Bélanger. The former is a prominent notary, residing in Montreal. Mr. Chartrand was educated at Joliette College, and after that studied medicine at Victoria University, from which he graduated second in his class, took the degrees of M.D., C.M., and immediately commenced practice at Actonvale, in Bagot county, Que. After remaining there some sixteen months, a vacancy occurred in the chair of chemistry in the Montreal School of Medicine and Surgery, and out of several candidates for the position, the doctor was chosen to fill the chair, which he continued to occupy until 1891. This year he spent in Paris, making a special study of surgery, in all its departments, under such eminent specialists as Professors Verueuil, Guyon, Ledentu, Doloris and Pozzi. His attainments in, and knowledge of surgery, were of such a high degree, that on his return from Europe, in 1892, he was named professor of toxicology, and entered the Hôtel-Dieu as surgeon, and very flattering things are said of him by the profession, since he has held that position. He is physician to the "Compagnie d'Assurance La Canadienne," the "Société des Artisans Canadiens Français," the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, and the I.O.F. Society. Dr. Chartrand is, in religion, a Roman Catholic, and in politics, a Conservative. He was married, September 6th, 1887, to Miss Anna, daughter of the late Dr. Étienne Prevost. His medical course was a very brilliant one, as he graduated M.A. at 22 years of age, and was appointed a professor at 23. He is now (1893) only 31 years of age, the youngest member of the Montreal medical faculty. As the doctor is yet a young man, doubtless high honors are in store for him in the future.

AUGUSTUS E. RONDOT, merchant, Amherstburg, Ont., was born in Essex, Ont., October 15th, 1856. His parents were E. and Sophia (De Quindre) Rondot, and were among the early pioneers of Essex county. The former who is still enjoying good health, came from France when quite a young man, and taught school for a number of years after arriving in this country. He subsequently followed farming with such success, that he now owns a large amount of real estate. For several years he sat in the County Council, but latterly has declined further municipal honors. Mr. Rondot was educated at the public schools near his birth place, and afterwards attended the Sandwich school for two years, when he entered commercial life as clerk in a store in Amherstburg, where he remained for four years, and then began business for himself. Like many other business men, Mr. Rondot has had his successes and reverses, but by his careful industry and integrity, has always held the esteem and confidence of those who have done business with him, and in this way has secured an extensive and flourishing business. The firm of Doneau & Rondot now carry a very large and well assorted stock, and cater to the best class of people in Amherstburg. In addition to this, our subject holds a large number of paid up shares in other very valuable private enterprises, and is now one of the successful business men of the county. In religion, he is a Roman Catholic and in politics a Conservative. He has often been solicited to become a candidate for municipal honors, but has declined owing to the large amount of attention his business requires. He is made of the material which sooner or later forces men into prominence, and places honor upon them by making them indispensable to the public life of the community. Mr. Rondot is a member of the C.M.B.A., A.O.U.W., K.O.T.M., and Chosen Friends societies. He was married, February 27th, 1889, to Miss Nellie M. Boyle, of Detroit, Mich. His family consists of one son.

CALVIN VICTOR CAMPBELL, B.A., principal Central School, Windsor, Ont., was born in Whitby township, Ontario county, September 12th, 1866. After the death of his mother, Mr. Campbell lived for some time with his grandfather, Calvin Campbell, from whom he received much that was valuable in the way of precept and example. He was educated in the Ottawa schools, winning in 1884, the Governor-General's medal for Classics, and the Gilmour medal for Moderns, and matriculated at Toronto with honors. After some time spent in teaching and in attending the Model and Normal schools, Mr. Campbell entered Victoria University, Cobourg, where he won distinction in the Literary Society, being chosen valedictorian in 1890, in which year he was also graduated with first-class honors in mental and moral science. In the same year he was appointed principal of the Central School, Windsor, though but twenty-three years of age. As Mr. Campbell is a strong public speaker and possessed of considerable originality, he should have a useful, if not a brilliant future. In politics, he is an Independent, but keeps abreast of progressive thought; in religion, a Methodist, and unmarried.

EDMUND CAZALET FEILDE, M.D., practising physician and surgeon, Prescott, Ont., was born in that town, March 27th, 1859. He is a son of the late Fulford B. Feilde, assistant commissary general to H.M.S., who did duty in nearly every part of the world where the British Empire extends. Dr. Feilde's mother was Catherine, daughter of the late Rev. Robert Blakie, first rector of the Church of England, in Prescott. He received his early education in the public and High schools, and entered the McGill University, Montreal, October 1st, 1877, from which he graduated in the Spring of 1881. He immediately commenced to practice in Prescott, where he has a large and increasing practice. Dr. Field is a member of Episcopal Church. He also belongs to the A.F. and A.M., (being a Past Grand Chapter officer in the Royal Arch) the A.O.U.W. and the Select Knights, and is physician to all these societies. The doctor is also a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. In politics he is a Conservative. He was married, June 16th, 1885, to Miss Catherine, daughter of Capt. Thos. Lee, of H. M. 20th Regiment, Prescott, Ont.

B. HAL BROWN, manager for Canada of the London & Lancashire Life Assurance Company, Montreal, Que., is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brown, of Whitby, Ont. He was born 4th December, 1854. He received his education in the public schools, Whitby High School and Brantford Collegiate Institute. When about twenty-one years of age he began teaching, and so continued for two or three years, then attended a term in each of the Provincial Normal schools, Toronto and Ottawa. He then went to Brantford Collegiate Institute, completing his course for first grade second certificate.

Teaching was resumed at Braughton, Waterloo county, and continued until 1881. In addition to teaching, insurance was made a study, and considerable business in fire and life insurance obtained through canvassing. The remuneration in the insurance business was more favorable than in teaching, and was adopted as a profession. In the Spring of 1883, he accepted the offer of the London & Lancashire Life Assurance Company, of inspector for western Ontario. This soon embraced the whole of Ontario, and later the inspectorship was superceded by the appointment of superintendent of agencies for Canada. In 1889, the position of manager for Canada became vacant by the death of Mr. William Robertson, and was offered to Mr. Brown, and accepted by him. The position of manager for Canada, of the London & Lancashire Life, is one of responsibility. The Canadian branch has authority to deal with all matters pertaining to the conducting of the business in Canada. The Canadian business of this company now in force amounts to $8,000,000, and the annual income is $300,000, while the invested assets in Canada are $1,500,000. The board of directors are composed of Sir Donald A. Smith, K.C. M.G., chairman, R. B. Angus, Robt. Benny, Sandford Fleming, C.M.G. The company has a bright future before it, and is filling a sphere of great usefulness. Mr. Brown is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and in politics is a Conservative.

ENOCH JAMES, manager of the Montreal Roofing Company, and an alderman for St. Lawrence Ward, Montreal, was born in Devonshire, England, in 1854. He came to Canada with his parents in 1858, and settled at Montreal. His father began manufacturing, and in a short time won the confidence of leading men of the city by his superior workmanship and sterling integrity. Those qualities were inherited by his son, as a very successful business career fully proves. From the days of his boyhood, Mr. James had to devote all his time to business, hence opportunities for study were limited, but he so well applied his leisure to self-culture, that he is one of the best informed men in the country. From modest beginnings, he gradually built up the roofing trade, till to-day, the Montreal Roofing Company, under his wise and enterprising management, is the largest concern of the kind in the Dominion. Some of the finest buildings, public and private, at Montreal and elsewhere, have been covered in under his direction, his name being always a guarantee of excellence. In 1892, in response to the wish of a large number of the citizens of St. Lawrence Ward, where he had lived all his life, Mr. James accepted nomination for alderman, and was elected by a majority of over 200. St. Lawrence Ward is situated in the heart of the commercial metropolis, and is one of the most intelligent and wealthy sections of the city. The same qualities which distinguished Mr. James in private and business relations, have been conspicuous in his conduct of municipal affairs, with the result that he has the full confidence of his constituents. Should he choose to devote his abilities to public life, a brilliant future is undoubtedly before him. Besides his roofing business, he is connected with several other enterprises, and although a very busy man, he always has time to give a helping hand to those less fortunate than himself. He is kind-hearted, a successful business man, an exemplary citizen and a popular alderman.

NELSON J. JONES, Essex, Ont., was born in Maidstone, Essex county, June 16th, 1857. His parents Alfred and Sarah (Williams) Jones, were persons of sterling worth, and in their kind hospitality, were typical of the early Canadian pioneers. Mr. Jones received such education as the public schools of his days afforded, after which he worked on his father's farm until about twenty years of age. In early life a severe calamity robbed the family of everything they possessed, and Mr. Jones had then to assist in the maintenance of the household. His efforts, however, have been successful, and to-day he has an excellent business, and is one of the most highly esteemed men in the community. He is a member of the A.O.U.W. and I.O.O.F. Orders, and has been on different occasions solicited to stand for municipal honors, but so far has refused. He is interested in whatever relates to the comfort, safety and progress of the town. Mr. Jones is a Methodist in religion, in politics a Liberal, and is foremost in all good work in either Church or State. He was married, in 1887, to Miss Martha, daughter of Thomas McCreery, Esq., of Gosfield. He has one daughter.

D. WILLIS MASON, J.P., merchant and manufacturer, Windsor, Ont., was born at Bunker Hill, Indiana, Vt., U.S. A., in 1862. He is the eldest son of Geo. W. Mason, a retired merchant, and mayor of Sandwich. After finishing his course at the public schools, Mr. Mason attended the Windsor High School, and subsequently entered L'Assomption College, to prepare for matriculation in medicine, but failing eye sight compelled him to relinquish his plan. In 1878, he concluded to enter commercial life, and began as clerk in Newcombe & Endicott's establishment in Detroit. After remaining four years with this firm, he returned to Sandwich, and entered business with his father, as general merchants and manufacturers. In 1889, the firm located in Windsor, and shortly after the business passed into his own hands. In January, 1892, he was visited by a disastrous fire, but his determination and energy overcame this drawback, and he has again one of the finest establishments in Canada. Some two years prior to this, he founded the Mason Brick and Tile Works, which are located on the Detroit River at Sandwich, and also launched the Mason Nut, Lock Bolt Works of Chicago, about the same time. Mr. Mason has also given public matters considerable attention. Before reaching his majority, he was appointed town auditor, and soon afterwards elected a member of the board of education, on which he served until elected mayor of the town, three years later. He was the youngest man ever elected to the mayoralty in Canada. He is an ardent Reformer and always found in the foremost ranks of battle. He has always been connected with the vital interests of his city, and encourages whatever tends to its welfare and improvement. He is a member of the Episcopal Church, one of the directors of the Y.M.C.A., a member of the A.O.U.W., and Knights of Pythias societies, and is C.C. & P.C. to the latter order. Having graduated M.D. with honors at the University of Victoria College in 1886, Dr. Cruickshank commenced his profession in Scarborough, but subsequently finding the fatigue of a large country practice too severe, he sold out and went to Great Britain for hospital study. Having passed the examinations of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, he continued his studies in London and New York, and returning to Canada, began practice in Windsor in 1890, getting almost at once, a foremost position. In politics, Dr. Cruickshank, is not in accord with either party. He believes in the unity of the Anglo-Saxon race. He is sanguine as to the future of his country, and believes that it needs, for immigration and commerce, Independence; for the building up of interests fitted to survive, free trade; for the abolition of boodling and honesty of electorate, direct equitable taxation and civil service reform. The doctor would have promotions made from employees only, new men to be properly tested. In 1886, Dr. Cruickshank married Emma, daughter of the late C. A. Jones, and grand daughter of Robert Knight Payne, a highly respected pioneer of Chatham, Ont.

Beaudry, who had the office for ten years, and whom it was considered impossible to defeat. During his term of office, he displayed remarkable powers of organization and fitness for office at a critical time, namely: during the Riel trouble, small pox epidemic, and the floods of 1885 and 1886. He was one of the most efficient mayors who ever sat in the civic chair of Montreal. Mr. Honoré Beaugrand, was married to Eliza, daughter of S. Walker, of Fall River, Mass.

The next three years he spent in travelling through the United States, subsequently worked at his trade for four years in the city of Chicago. He then removed to Kentucky and followed the same line of business, but returned to Chicago two years later and remained until the great fire of 1870, when he removed to Windsor, and after working at his trade for a short time, formed a partnership which existed until 1878, when he bought his partner's interest and has since then made a specialty of high-class work in carriage making. Mr. Collier's customers are among the wealthier men of the city, and in consequence of the superior work done by him, his business is steadily increasing. He is most careful in all the details of his work, shows particular skill in purchasing his material, employs none but first-class mechanics, and gives personal oversight to every article made on his premises. Having a ready grasp of all the requirements of his trade, he brings to bear on every department, the skill and experience of a thoroughly practical training. In religion, Mr. Collier is a Roman Catholic, and a member of the C.M.B.A. and the C.O.F. In the former order he is vice-president, and treasurer in the latter. He remained in St. Louis until the Spring of 1865, and at the opening of navigation, on 4th April, left in company with several who came from St. Johns, for Fort Benton, Montana. They sailed on the boat commanded by Capt. Laberge, formerly from Montreal, being 90 days on the boat. At Fort Benton they had to take wagons, and it took four days to reach Helena City, Montana, arriving there on 4th July. He was engaged as clerk with leading merchants in this city until the Fall of 1866, when he started a store in Silver Bow Deer, Lodge county, Montana, with Messrs. Murphy & Stevenson, and remained there two years. He then left for Stevensville, Misonla, starting business for himself, and remained there until the Fall of 1876, when he returned to his native province. In the following year he started a general store in St. Johns, Que., where he has conducted a remarkably successful business ever since. His parents were Robert and Marion Hannah Williamson, whose ancestors lived at "The Barr," near Sanquhar for over two hundred years. Major Williamson was only six years old when his father died. He came to America in 1848 and his mother followed him the next year. She died at Kingsbury, Que., January 1st, 1888, aged 94 years. The Major received his education at the parish schools of his native place. On coming to this country he lived one year in Montreal, and then removed to Melbourne township and settled on a farm. In 1855 he bought out Clark's mill at Kingsbury. The first year he conducted this mill, his expenditure was but little more than $300.00, now, however, the annual business expenditure of the firm is over $35,000.00. Besides the large saw mills, the firm own ten thousand acres of land. Major Williamson was for many years secretary and director of the Missisquoi Valley Railroad (now the Orford Mountain Road) and was largely instrumental in getting the road to Kingsbury. He is a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, also a Royal Arch Mason; was a member of the municipal council of Melbourne and Brompton Gore for eight years and was mayor during six years of this time. He was appointed a justice of the peace for the district of St. Francis in 1862. Major Williamson has never taken an active part in politics. ALFR ED EDWARD MAXIMILIAN BOHRER, pianist and teacher, was born in Montreal, on the 25th of February, 1860. He is the son of William Bohrer (the well known teacher of singing and of the pianoforte), who was born in Stuttgart, Wurtemberg, Germany, and descended from a family of artists of great repute. Gaspard Bohrer, his great grandfather, born in 1744, at Mannheim, Germany, was a celebrated performer on the double-bass, and held the post of first player on that instrument at the Royal Court of Munich, Bavaria. Anton and Max Bohrer, sons of Gaspard, scored success after success in the artistic world; the former as a violinist, and the latter as a violoncellist, the two brothers giving concerts together throughout Germany, Austria, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Russia, besides visiting London and Paris. Alfred Edward Maximilian Bohrer (kown as Max), began his musical education at the age of seven years, his father (a pupil of Drs. Lebert and Pruckner, of the Stuttgart Conservatory, and of Pacher and Sechter, of Vienna), being his sole instructor on the pianoforte, and later on, in Harmony. He was educated at St. Mary's College, in Montreal, pursuing at the same time his musical studies. On leaving college, he went into music more thoroughly, and had the great honor, when only thirteen years of age, of playing to Rubinstein, while the latter was in Montreal, in 1873. In the year 1878, the family was called over to London, Eng., and this afforded young Max an opportunity of initiating himself more deeply into the secrets of his art. Needless to say that he heard, while there, all the great pianists of the day. After four years' study in the great metropolis, he returned to Montreal, in 1882, and performed at several concerts with success, which is mainly due to his beautiful singing touch, the principles of which he acquired from his father (an exponent of the German school). His annual recitals with his pupils are regarded as musical treats.

D.C.M. in 1890. In the Winter of 1890-'91 he took a post-graduate course in Hahnemann Homœopathic College, Philadelphia, Pa., and in 1891-'92 was an assistant surgeon in the hospital connected with that institution. Throughout his entire educational course he stood well in his classes, acquitting himself creditably, and is now busy laying the foundation of an extensive practice, and he will doubtless rank as one of the foremost medical men of our country. In politics, the Doctor is an Independent; in religion, a member of the Church of England. He is also a member of the I.O.F. Society.

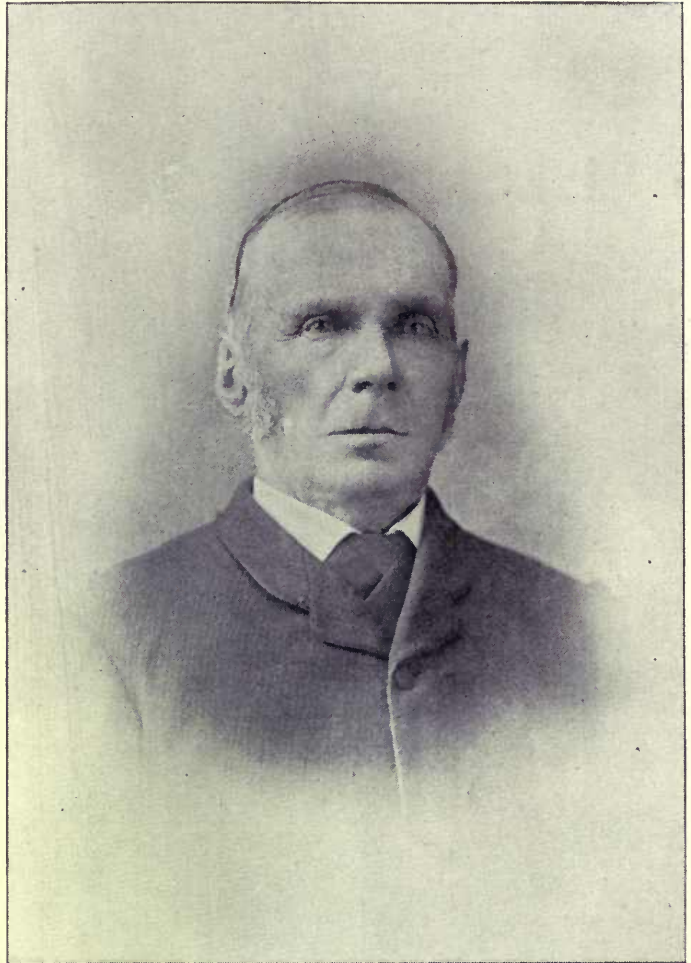

GEORGE JOHNS, carriage builder, Rothwell, Ont., was born in Hampton, Darlington township, Durham county, January 10th, 1852. His father, George Johns, a man of education and refinement, and his mother, Elizabeth Piper, came from Devonshire, England, over forty years ago. Mr. Johns was absolutely denied the advantages of education, having been obliged to work his own way since very early boyhood, but being a stranger to the word "fail," he persevered, and has made a success of life. When a mere lad, he worked for farmers for the munificent sum of $2.00 per month, and at the age of thirteen, went to his trade in Wardsville; when seventeen years of age, came to Bothwell, a skilled workman, and at intervals went to school about nine months, which was all the education he received. On reaching Bothwell, almost empty handed, he rented the premises he now owns, and by persevering industry and honest endeavor, has slowly but surely risen in the estimation of his townsmen, first as councillor for five years, then as reeve for six consecutive years, and was subsequently honored by the county with the highest municipal office in its gift, that of warden. It is well-known that ex-warden G. Johns, takes a sincere interest in whatever tends to the improvement, comfort and prosperity of the town, and lives in the respect and confidence of his fellow townsmen. He is a member of the A.F. & A.M., I.O.O.F., C.O.F. and I.O.F. orders. In the former society, he has been senior deacon for three years, and in the latter order, chief ranger for three terms. For many years, he was chief of the Bothwell fire brigade, and leader of the Bothwell band. Of late years, he has given considerable attention to dealing and raising roadster horses; at the present time, his stock consists of 57 head. These range all the way from well gaited horses worth $100, to standard bred performers worth $3,500. He was married in 1871, to Mary, daughter of Alex. McAlpine, reeve of Euphemia.

PIERRE LANGLOIS was born in Windsor, Ont., November 12th, 1814, died May 11th, 1892. He was one of those pioneers whose sterling qualities did so much in writing the history of our Western Peninsula, and whose strength of character never failed to exercise a great influence on his fellowmen. From 1857 to 1870, he sat in the municipal council. During this long term of civic honors, he became widely known and thoroughly appreciated. A happy souvenir of his public career, was the visit of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales to Windsor, in 1860. Mr. Langlois was the first alderman to exchange greetings with the Royal visitor, who graciously expressed his delight at finding la belle France represented in the Far West. The last few years of his life, Mr. Langlois spent in the enjoyment of his family circle.

His residence was the abode of an abundant hospitality, kind and open hearted towards all, he knew no enemy. One and all found in him the genial, frank and courteous manner characteristic of the French pioneer. He was an ardent Roman Catholic, whose life was in harmony with the teachings of his church, to which his generosity, as well as to the poor, had become proverbial. Few there are who leave as many devout deeds to perpetuate their name as did this distinguished head of one of the leading French families in Western Ontario. He married, Jan. 11th, 1841, Zoë Pajot, who died Nov. 6th, 1882. She was the daughter of Chrysostôme Pajot and Françoise Parent, of Sandwich. Mr. Pajot, another worthy scion of French descent, was the owner of the first steam grist and carding mills in Western Ontario. Mr. Grant was licensed by the Montreal Presbytery in the Spring of 1888, and was ordained by the Presbytery of Lauark and Renfrew, and inducted into his present charge August 26th, 1889. CHARLES STEW-ART BURROUGHS,

advocate, Montreal, Que., is the son of Asa D. and Mary A. (Williams) Burroughs, who came from the United States when children, and settled in Canada. He was born June 14th, 1819, at Montreal.
Mr. Burroughs received his education at the College of St. Hyacinthe, Province of Quebec, and studied law at Quebec and Montreal. He was commissioned as an advocate May 9th, 1843, by
Honorable Sir Charles Theophilus Metcalfe, then governor in chief over the Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Island of Prince Edward.
He practiced law at Montreal for ten years, and had an extensive practice. On the projection of a railroad from Montreal to Ottawa in 1853, he became a stock holder, and the attorney for the contractors; he then removed to St. Andrews, P. Q., where he remained twelve years, subsequently removing to Lachute, where he bought land and continued his professional business. A plan was devised for a new railroad from Montreal to Ottawa, to pass through Lachute. In this he became much interested, and by persistent effort (the establishment of a newspaper and considerable expenditures), succeeded in procuring the passage of the road through his estate, which was thus largely increased in value. He has recently returned to practice in Montreal, where he now resides. Mr. C. S. Burroughs is the oldest practicing lawyer in the Province of Quebec, is wealthy, and still a lover of the "manly sports" of old England, in which as a young man he took a prominent part. His youngest son, W. Herbert Burroughs, is now practicing as a lawyer with him at Montreal, and bids fair to repeat the success of his father, in the professional and commercial world. He has always been a Liberal in politics as well as in religion. He was married August 4th, 1852, at Montreal, to Cynthia P. Gilbert, who was born in September, 1826, and died March 12th, 1867, leaving three children, two sons and one daughter.

(Harwood) Fleming, located in Windsor, nearly thirty years ago. The former was a cabinetmaker and a typical Scotch pioneer. Mr. Fleming was educated in the public schools of Windsor, and by private tuition. After matriculating in law, in 1880, he studied with McCarthy, Osler & Co., Toronto, and passed as barrister and solicitor in 1885. In the following year, he opened an office in Windsor, and is now senior member of the firm of Fleming, Wiggle & Rodd. Mr. Fleming is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and was on the board of management of St. Andrew's Church for two years. He is also a member of the I.O.O.F. and A.O.U.W. orders, and has for many years been trustee of the former, and is grand marshal of the Grand Lodge of Ontario. In politics, he is a staunch Liberal Conservative, and his friends know just where to find him. He has been president of the Conservative Association of Windsor for the past seven years, was on the school board two years, alderman three years, and mayor of the city of Windsor for the past two years. Mr. Fleming is also a director on the board of the "Home for the Friendless" in Windsor, and enjoys in a remarkable degree, the respect and support of the community for the sincere and practical interest he takes in everything that tends to benefit and improve the city. He is a shrewd and successful lawyer, and gives the most careful attention to the interests of his clients. For a man of his years, he has made a strong impression on his city and county. His legal ability is evinced by the large and important clientage he has secured, while the public offices which he holds, speak volumes for his influence in the community. He was married February 12th, 1890, to Miss Caroline Maud, the only daughter of doctor W. H. Drake, of Kingsville, Ontario.

ALF. GIRARD, B.C.L., M.P.P., advocate, Montreal, was born in Marieville, Que., July 6th, 1859. His parents, Pierre Girard and Marie Pelletier, are yet living (1892). The former was a farmer, but is now retired and living in Marieville. Mr. Girard began his education at Marieville College, and afterwards passed a course in Sherbrooke College, finally graduating in law at McGill College in 1882, when he received his B.C.L. He was admitted to the Bar in the same year and immediately began practice at Marieville, where he continued for nine years, and then removed to Montreal, where he remained one year. He subsequently practiced for seven years in Marieville, then two years with Hormisdas Pelletier, after which he removed his office to Montreal and became associated with the late Hon. Geo. Duhamel and J. O. Pelland. The firm name is now Pelland & Girard. Mr. Girard was elected a member of the Assembly of Quebec, in 1890, for Rouville county, and re-elected in 1892. He is a Liberal in politics, and a Roman Catholic in religion. He has been married twice: first, to Miss Eugenie Reeves, of Montreal, 1882, and second to Miss Albini Auclair, in 1891.

ALPHONSE GAUTHIER, drill instructor of the Montreal Police Force, was born June 23rd, 1862, at Ste. Anne des Plaines, P.Q. The name of his father was Ovide Gauthier, who, for ten years, was mayor of Ste. Anne des Plaines. His mother's name was Aglaée Lacasse, of the same place. Mr. Gauthier was educated at the schools of Ste. Anne and St. Henri de Mascouche. Having a taste for military life, he qualified in artillery at Quebec and Kingston. He was appointed on the Canadian artillery team, who competed successfully in Shoeburyness, England, in 1883, in command of lieutenant-colonel Macdonald, of Guelph, and the lamented major Short, as adjutant. He was subsequently appointed drill instructor of the St. Johns, P.Q., Infantry School, in 1884 (the year of its formation). He resigned this position three years later, to accept his present position on the Montreal Police Force. He has met with many successes in his military career. He was also sergeant major of the 65th Mount Royal Rifles, who took an active part in the suppression of the North West Rebellion in 1885. He was married on January 3rd, 1893. In religion, he is a Roman Catholic.

JEAN-BAPTISTE ROY, C.M., M.D., physician and surgeon, Montreal, was born May 31st, 1844, in the parish of St. Louis-de-Gonzague, county of Beauharnois, P.Q. He is a son of Basile Roy and Apolline Chasle. His grand father, Basile Roy dit Lapensée, was one of the patriotes who, after the Rebellion of 1837-38, were condemned to deportation. Dr. Roy's career is one that shows what strong will and talent can do. While we find many self-made men in commercial pursuits, a real one is seldom met within the ranks of the liberal professions. A natural reason for this stands in the fact that the access to such professions requires an amount of classical knowledge which, as a general thing, cannot be obtained but from a regular and complete course of college studies. The subject of this sketch, received but an elementary education at school, and at sixteen began learning the tailor trade, employing his economies in purchasing books, and his leisure hours in the study of the same. This, however, interfered so little with his business, that from 1870 to 1875, he was to be found at the head of the firm of Roy & Cadotte, leading merchant tailors in Montreal. At this latter date, being admitted, after a brilliant examination, to the study of the medical profession, he gave up business, and devoted himself entirely to medicine. In 1881, he received his diplomas from L'Ecole de Médecine de Montréal, Victoria University. He practiced his profession in Minneapolis and Detroit for nine years, and in 1890, returned to Montreal, and started practice as specialist for chronic diseases. He is now at the head of a successful institute, principally devoted to that branch of medical science. In 1865, he married Mlle Céline Plante, of Maskinongé, Q. He has had seven children, of which there are four sons living. M. J. B., 24 years of age, a talented young musician; M. J. A., a rising artist in crayon, oil, etc.; M. I. I. U., aged 21, just completing his studies; M. J., just 18 years of age, now pursuing his studies.

WILLIAM ROBERT PLUM, Hamburg, Ont., was born December 14th, 1848, at Haysville, Ont. His parents were William and Ruth (Sangster) Plum, both of whom were natives of England. His father came to Canada in 1834 and settled in Waterloo county, Ont. He was for a number of years a captain in the Militia. Mr. Plum, after completing his education, worked for his father in the hotel business, until he was twenty-six years of age. He was subsequently bailiff of the Division Court of the township of Wilmot, Waterloo county, for about three years, and was appointed an Official Assignee by the Dominion Government in 1879. He was then senior partner of the firm of Plum & McCallum, dry goods merchants, carrying on a large business, for five years at Hamburg. Then he sold out and bought a farm, and commenced farming operations personally, but finding that he was out of his element in this capacity, he disposed of the farm, at the of two years, and returned to Hamburg, where now carries on a conveyancing, insurance, collecting and real estate business. He enjoys the confidence and esteem of a large circle of patrons and the public in general. He was appointed census commissioner for the South Riding of Waterloo county, in 1891. Though of a retiring disposition, and not seeking office, Mr. Plum has taken a very active part in political matters ever since 1880, and is an ardent admirer of everything good in the conservative party. He has, from time to time, rendered it valuable service on the public platform, when his gentlemanly criticism of an opponent is usually very effective. Mr. Plum is a "Canada First" man, and favors legislation which keeps our own country prominently in view. He is a member of the Episcopal Church, and was for seven years church warden. He was married, March 24th, 1875, to Miss Mary Hannah Smith, daughter of the late James Smith, of Wilmot township. They have four sons and one daughter living, and one son deceased.

He resigned this position and joined the Fire Brigade of that city, May 5th, 1871. August 15th, 1875, he went to St. Henri, to organize a police and fire department, a position for which he had been unanimously chosen by the authorities of that place. Here he remained until November 16th, 1888, at which time he received the appointment of chief of the Montreal Fire Brigade, which position he still holds. He reorganized the entire department, increasing the staff and putting in new apparatus. He invented and put in a double barrel hose carriage, which is of great service. He is a Roman Catholic in religion, and belongs to the following societies: C.M. B.A., I.O.F., A.O.U.W. and the Catholic Order of Foresters. In 1870, he was married to Miss Rose Delina Dus-sault.

Brandon, he carried many valuable testimonials from his people. He has held several denominational offices: Journal Secretary of Bay of Quinte Conference of late M. E. Church, member of Alma College Board, secretary of Examining Board and member of Board of Examiners of Albert College. Mr. Wilson is not only an effective preacher and successful church financier, but an earnest evangelist and has been blessed with large additions to his ministry wherever he has labored. He was married, Aug. 4th, 1880, to Mrs. Hannah Eliza Searls, widow of the late A. W. Searls, M.D.

EDWARD ART. ST. GEORGE HUGHES, Chief of Police, Montreal, Que., was born at Three Rivers, Que., July 5th, 1847. His father was Henry B. For two years he practised in partnership with Hon. Col. Ouimet, and was afterwards appointed Deputy Clerk of the Peace for the district of Montreal, and Clerk of Licenses for the city. Lt.-Col. Hughes always had a penchant for military life, and when 17 years of age, obtained a second and first class military certificate at the Military School of Quebec, and served a few months afterwards at the frontier during the Fenian raid, and again in 1870. In 1879, when the 65th Battalion was reorganized, he was appointed senior major, position he held until he was appointed brigade major for No. 6 Military District, in 1883, and brevetted as lieutenant-colonel on the staff. When the North West rebellion broke out, he was granted permission to join his old battalion. He went to the front as major, and had the command of his battalion at the engagement of Frenchman's Bute, May 28th, 1885, and was recommended by Gen. Middleton to be full colonel for his services there. Colonel Hughes was appointed Chief of Police for the city of Montreal, April 7th, 1888. When he took the reins of this most important office in hand, there were 228 men of all ranks on the strength of the police force, and by his exertions he has had it raised to the number of 375 all told. Under his régime the pay of the men has been increased 25 per cent., the uniforms remodelled, and a strict discipline enforced. Acting upon his suggestions, 3 new stations have been built, an alarm and patrol system is being established, and a very comprehensive manual, regarding the duties of constables, is under press. Col. Hughes served in the Papal zouaves for 2 years and is Knight of the military order of Gregory the Great.

REV. GEO. BERKLEY DAVIS, B. D., Baptist Minister, Windsor, Ontario, was born in Woodstock, March 20th, 1848. Soon after his birth, his parents located in Northumberland county, Ont., where Mr. Davis spent most of his boyhood. At the age of twelve years, he finished his course at the village school. During the next six years, the maintenance of the family, then very large, devolved upon him, as his younger brothers were not old enough to manage the farm. At the age of eighteen, he went to the Colborne Grammar School for two years, and came out at the head of sixty-two teachers. After teaching two years in Percy Oak Hills, he entered Woodstock College, and completed his course in 1876, having taught in the mean time, that he might owe no man anything. In the Fall of 1876, he entered the Theological class of Woodstock College, and passed his first Summer out as student preacher at Salford, where 32 persons made profession of faith, and the church was changed from the "free will" to the regular Baptist order. The result of his second Summer out was thirty baptisms near Pakenham, a church organized, and $1,300 subscribed towards a new chapel. On the death of Dr. Fyfe, of Woodstock College, Mr. Davis went to the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, where he graduated B.D. in 1879, and he has subsequently received the degree of Ph.B. Immediately after this, he canvassed the churches in Ontario, collecting several thousand dollars, with which to found a College in the New North West. In the Fall of 1880, he returned to Ontario, and married Lydia, eldest daughter of James Harris, Esq., Ingersoll, after which he returned and taught in the afore mentioned Prairie College, and from that centre, assisted in organizing many of the Baptist churches now found in the various parts of Manitoba. In February, 1890, The Independent, Comber's newspaper became defunct, and he was urged by his employer, Mr. Johnson, to start a paper at this point. Without means, he was backward in consenting to this, however the necessary plant was procured, and arrangements made and Mr. Clark successfully launched the Comber Herald. Although this paper has been in existence only three years, it has been very successful. Commencing at the bottom of the ladder, Mr. Clark feels under many obligations to his old employer, Mr. Johnson, for the unbounded confidence placed in him. An elder son, Oliver, died 1881.

JOSEPH H. BERNARD, architect, Montreal, Que., was born at Varennes, county of Verchères, Que., in 1862. His parents were Charles Bernard and Louise Brodeur. His primary education was received at Varennes College, and continued and completed at St. Laurent College, near Montreal. He was an apt and a diligent student. At the age of seventeen years, he entered the firm of Messrs. J. W. and E. C. Hopkins, to study architecture, where he remained four years. Two years after this, he began to practice architecture on his own account in Montreal, being the only young man of his years, practicing there as an architect at the time. Notwithstanding his youth, he has succeeded admirably, and from the beginning has made rapid progress in his profession. He has a select and growing practice, and he is destined to make his mark. This should be an inspiration to other young professional men. In religion, Mr. Bernard is a Roman Catholic. Mr. Bernard was married in 1890, to Miss Amanda Mary Daggett, daughter of the late William C. Daggett, and grand daughter of the Hon. J. D. Daggett, of St. Louis, Missouri.

JOSEPH VENNE, architect, Montreal, Que., was born in that city, June 14th, 1859. He was educated in the Christian Brothers' School, in Montreal, and was a diligent student, passing creditable examinations. After leaving there, he entered the office of Perrault & Mesnard, architects, and has been head clerk in that establishment for many years. Altogether, he has been in the office of the firm of which he is now a member, for twenty years, as he entered their employ when but fourteen years of age. The best recommendation his talents as an architect can receive, is the fact that he has been admitted into partnership with such an old and well established firm as that of Perrault & Mesnard. On his admission as partner the firm name was changed to Perrault, Mesnard & Venne, each member of which is well and favorably known. Mr. Venne is also a member of the Provincial Association of Architects. In religion, he is a Roman Catholic. He belongs to the St. Jean-Baptiste Society and is president of the "Sacred Heart Section" of that society. In politics, he is a Liberal. Mr. Venne was married to Miss P. Boucher, in 1882, daughter of S. Boucher, Esq., of Montreal.

FREDERICK P. BOUTEILLER, ex-warden and Division Court clerk, Belle River, Ont., was born in Haute Saône, France, July 22nd, 1836. His parents, Pierre and Madeleine (Dormoy) Bouteiller, came from France in 1848 and settled on a farm near Detroit, Mich. For two years our subject went to a backwoods school and learned to speak English. At the age of fourteen, he struck out for himself, and for years followed various occupations, such as farming, the machinist trade, the U. S. Survey, school teaching, etc. In 1861, when the American "little unpleasantness" broke out, Mr.

Bouteiller enlisted and saw stern service, amidst shot and shell at Fredricksburg, Chancellorville, Gettysburg, Petersburg, the siege of Charleston and the capture of Richmond. He rose successively to the rank of sergeant, lieutenant and captain; and in 1865 and 1866 served in the commissary department in Texas. He subsequently returned to Detroit and afterwards settled in Belle River, where he engaged in the lumber business. In 1860, he was married to Miss Emily Gillet. He has one son, George A., now Inland Revenue Officer at Waterloo, who was born in 1861. In 1871, Mr. Bouteiller was elected reeve of Rochester township, and in 1876 was appointed Inland Revenue Officer at Windsor, but resigned in 1878. He was the first reeve of Belle River, and has held that position eleven times. In 1891, by a unanimous vote, he was elected to the wardenship of Essex county. Mr. Bouteiller is a ready and graceful writer and a forcible speaker. He believes that from its geographical position Canada will eventually have to cast its lot as an Independent Republic, federated with the United States, not so much from admiration of American Institutions, as from the necessities of intercourse and material advantage. He believes that the dream of building up a rival nation, with antagonistic institutions, must eventually prove so expensive and impracticable, that Canada would be forced to abandon the attempt.

D. A. GORDON, of Steinhoff, Gordon & Co., manufacturers, Wallaceburg, Ontario, was born January 18th, 1858, in Wallaceburg. His father, Aaron Gordon, who is still living, and resides in Wallaceburg, is of Scottish descent, and a man of sterling integrity. His wife, who died some years ago was, before her marriage, Miss Jane E. Steinhoff, sister of Capt. James Steinhoff. She was an exemplary Christian and a woman of beautiful character. Mr. D. A. Gordon received a fair education, and spent two or three years while in his teens in the printing office of the Wal- laceburg Advocate. Afterwards, he was appointed reporter on the Sarnia Observer. His health failing, his physician advised outdoor pursuits, and eleven years ago, he entered upon the manufacture of elm staves in a small way, on his own account. A year or two later, a strong partnership was formed with his uncle, as above indicated, and Mr. Gordon assumed the control and management of the business of the firm. In the conducting of this business, Mr. Gordon has displayed great ability, and the output of the concern has increased in value from $75,000 to $600,000 a year. The increase is truly remarkable, but it is believed that the limit of success has not yet been reached. Mr. Gordon believes in annexation, and has the courage of his convictions, professing his political faith whenever necessary. He is an adherent of the Methodist church, in whose choir in Wallaceburg, he and his talented wife, both sing. For his business, executive and social worth, he commands the highest respect of all his wide circle of acquaintances. On April 22nd, 1884, he married Bay City's favorite vocalist, Miss Rose Fox, daughter of B. Fox, Esq., of that place. Mrs. Gordon's parents are of English extraction. They once lived near Chatham, Ontario, but removed some years ago to Bay City, where Mr. Fox was engaged in mercantile pursuits. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have had four children, three of whom are living.

ANDRÉ JULIEN HORMISDAS ST. DENIS, notary public, Montreal, Que., was born in St. Clet, county of Soulanges, Que., December 20th, 1863. He received his education at Bourget College in Vaudreuil county. During his college days, he was a brilliant student, and carried off many prizes each year, notably among them, the silver medal given by Pope Leo XIII. in philosophy. He was also a successful competitor in music, for which he had more than ordinary talent, being especially proficient on the piano and church organ, and was organist successively in his Alma Mater, during his three last years, Vaudreuil Church, and St. Peter's Church, Montreal. In October, 1887, he was admitted to the study of the notarial profession, and three years later began to practice. He is now (1892), comfortably established in business, and is known as a successful, reliable and able man in his profession, and speaks very good English. Mr. St. Denis was requested, in March, '92, to run as an anti-Mercierist for the county of Soulanges, but declined. He has attained a very desirable position for a man of his years, and there appears to be a bright career in store for him.

NARCISSE QUINTAL, Montreal, Que., was born in St. Paul l'Ermite, in the county of L'Assomption, October 6th, 1830. His father was a farmer, and his young son had little chance for education, although he pursued his studies, in what time he had, at the common school in his native town. At fourteen years of age, he left school, and in another year came to Montreal. For five or six years, he acted as clerk in various retail grocery establishments of Montreal. In 1851, he went into the retail business on a small plan, making the grocery trade a specialty. In 1870, he took the same business on a jobbing plan, and in 1880, went into business as a wholesale grocer. His firm does a business now of a million dollars a year, having in their employment over forty clerks. He took his son into partnership in 1880, when he was twenty-one years of age, making the present well-known firm of Quintal & Fils. His son takes the greater part of the responsibility from his father's hands, in conducting the business, although Mr. Quintal, sr., is still an active man, and is to be found at his desk every day. He is a Conservative in politics, and is a warden of Notre-Dame church.

MAJOR GEO. STEWART, lumber merchant, Courtright, Ont., was born April 7th, 1825, in West Calder, near Edinburgh, Scotland. His parents were John and Mary (Gowans) Stewart. When three years old, his father died, and in 1834, he came to Canada with his mother. After a short stay at Fisher's Corners, on the St. Clair River, they settled on a farm on the North Branch of the Sydenham River. After three years, they removed to a farm on the St. Clair. In 1842, young Stewart launched out for himself, a poor sailor lad before the mast, but he had a stout heart, an honest purpose and willing hands, and with these and a mother's blessing, he could hardly be called poor. In a few years, he had risen first to be mate and then captain. During one of his trips, the passengers presented him with a very valuable spy glass, of which he has always been proud. After seventeen years continuous service, he quit navigation, and engaged in the cordwood business, supplying craft plying between Chicago and Buffalo. After about twenty years of prosperity at this, during which he acquired 700 acres of land, he bought a planing mill in Courtright, and the lumber trade has engaged his chief attention ever since. In 1866, during the Fenian raid, he organized a troop of cavalry of 70 well mounted men, a troop he has commanded ever since, and patrolled the frontier from Sombra to Sarnia, a distance of twenty miles.

At first, he was only lieutenant, but was afterwards promoted to captaincy, and finally to be major. In politics, major Stewart is a staunch Reformer, and in religion a Presbyterian. He also belongs to the A.F. & A.M. and the I.O.O.F. He had been honored with seats at both his township and county Council boards. On January 25th, 1855, Major Stewart married Miss Jane Gibb, daughter of Robt. Gibb, Esq., of Moore. On leaving Scotland, Mr. Gibb was presented with an address and a gold watch by his friends, as a token of their esteem. Major Stewart's family consists of two sons and five daughters.

its completion. He is also senior surgeon in a Provincial battalion of militia. He is medical examiner for various assurance companies, and of several societies. In religion, he is an Anglican, and in politics a Conservative. Although past his prime, the doctor appears to retain the vigor of his youth. Hudon & Co. In 1883, Mr. Hamelin retired, and the firm was continued under the name of Hudon, Hébert & Co., the members of the firm being Mr. Hudon, Mr. Hébert, and two young partners, Mr. Brault and Mr. Jarret. This firm does a business of over a million and a quarter annually, and is one of the largest wholesale grocery houses in Canada. In April, 1836, Wm. Tyrrell was sent out to America on business for a company, and landed at New York. He subsequently proceeded to Toronto, Ont., where he commenced taking building contracts. He built the first bridge over the mouth of the Humber, in 1837. He continued in this business in and about Toronto, until 1842, when he went to Kingston, but after two years, he returned to Toronto. In 1845, he settled in Weston, Ont., and retired from business in 1883. Mr. Tyrrell was reeve of York township for twenty-seven years, and when Weston was incorporated as a village, he accepted the reeve-ship of that. The latter was the daughter of Arthur McArthur, lumberman, of the same place. Mr. Burns began his education at the public school, which he attended until thirteen years of age, after which he attended the High School at Almonte. After completing his course at that institution, he entered the office of G. J. Clint, dentist. He subsequently entered the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, graduating in March, 1890. He then settled in the town of Smith's Falls, where he is at present (1893) engaged in his professional calling, and is rapidly securing a fine dental connection. In religion, he is a Methodist, and in politics, leans toward the Conservative party, but does not take an active part in political matters. He is also a member of the I.O.O.F. and the A.F. & A.M. societies, and is connected with the Board of the Mechanics' Institute.

REV. JAMES SIEVERIGHT, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntsville, Ont., was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, June 9th, 1833. He was educated in the Grammar School, Marischal College, and Free Church Divinity Hall, Aberdeen. He attended Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., from which he graduated in 1857, and was ordained the same year. He then spent three years in Melbourne, Eastern township, three years in Ormstown, Que., twelve years in Goderich, Ont., and after the union in 1875, was colleague to the Rev. Dr. Ure, of Goderich. Mr. Sieve-right was the first Home missionary in the Saskatchewan Territory, and was practically the founder of Prince Albert. He declined several larger salaries, to take the mission fields in Huntsville, in 1884, where he has been very successful. He has been instrumental in erecting fourteen churches and four manses. He is a member of the A.F. and A.M., I.O.O.F., C.O.F. and S. of T. Societies. In politics, he is an Independent with Reform leanings. JAMES WRIGHT, architect, Montreal, Que., was born in Glasgow, Scotland, January, 1833. He removed with his family to Hawick, Roxburghshire, in 1837, and was left an orphan in 1841. At fifteen years of age he was apprenticed to the carpenter trade. He went to Newcastle on Tyne, in 1853, and emigrated to Cobourg, Ont., two years later, when he married Miss M. Hutchison. In 1861, he removed to Montreal, and one year later commenced business on his own account as builder. For some years he did an extensive business. He executed the wood work on St. Pauls,

St. Georges and St. Andrews churches, and a great many buildings, both in and out of the city, attest his skill as a builder. In 1875, he gave up the building department, and confined himself to the finer branches of the trade, and manufactured church furniture, bank fittings, art furniture and parquet plans and other fine furnishings. An example of the latter was the fine wood-work of the palatial residence of R. B. Angus, Esq. The parquet floors made by him were used in nearly all the cities and towns of the Dominion, as they attained a national reputation, and the demand was accordingly great. Since 1885, he has confined himself to architecture, and has carried on that business, in which he is associated with his son, W. S. Wright, with remarkable success. The many public and private buildings designed and superintended by them, testify to their skill in this department, and their large practice testifies to their popularity. He has been a member of the Board of St. Andrew's Society for a good number of years, and is past president of the Caledonian Society, and as would be naturally expected, he is much interested in whatever pertains to perpetuate the memory of Scotland. He is at present treasurer of the North American United Caledonian Association, and also president of the National Mutual Loan and Building Society. He is a prominent member of the Presbyterian Church, at St. Lambert.

His wife, Abigail (Burnham) Knight, is still living, and resides on the old homestead, is of Pennsylvania Dutch descent. One great object in her life, was that her sons should be well educated, an ambition which has been fully realized. Two children, a son and a daughter, died in early life. Four sons, Milton, Charles, Alonzo and Silas, taught school for a time, and latterly, became successful farmers in Chatham township. Another son, A. G. Knight, B.A., is principal of the Collegiate Institute, Deseronto, and the portrait of the youngest appears on this page. Dr. Knight taught school for some years, and then took his medical course at the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Kingston, graduating in 1880. In 1885, he located in Wallaceburg, and has now a wide and successful practice. He is sanitary physician to Wallaceburg, and is a member of the A.F. and A.M., and other societies. On July 28th, 1886, he married Miss Jennie Fraser, daughter of Chas. Fraser, Esq., whose portrait appears elsewhere in this volume. Two children comprise their family. He has also interested himself in military matters and has been connected with the 65th Battalion Mount Royal Rifles since 1879. With this battalion, as major, he went to the North West Rebellion in 1885. Its contracts do not abound with technicalities, but are a simple promise to pay a certain stipulated amount, either at death or at the end of a certain term of years, according to the nature of the contract. Mr. Joseph states that the Union Mutual Life Insurance Co., is the only company issuing policies under the "Maine Non-Forfeiture Law," which provides that after three years' premiums have been paid, failure to pay any subsequent premiums, shall not forfeit a policy, but it shall continue in force for its full amount until the reserve upon the policy is exhausted. Thus, if a person aged 36, pays three years premiums upon a fifteen year Tontine endowment, and then discontinues payment, the policy will be continued in force for the whole fifteen years, and should the assured die during this extension, owing more than five annual premiums, the company would only deduct five premiums at life rates. The company has already paid under the "Maine Non-Forfeiture Law," since March, 1877, over \$350,000 to the beneficiaries of policies that had lapsed through non-payment of premiums. It has also made payments to its policy holders since its organization, to the extent of \$26,191,648.43. The assets of the company, January 1st, 1892, were \$6,301,010.18, and its surplus, according to the $4\frac{1}{2}$ Canadian table, \$712,000.00. At this time there was some trouble in the school through the changes made in the curriculum, whereby the classics were being forced out of the school to make room for the so-called modern side, which Mr. Tucker thought was already fully recognized in the High School and Senior School of the city. On this account, he retired from the staff of the High School, and set up a private school on the old line of classics. In September, 1891, the school opened in a suitable building erected by himself with the aid of his friend, Mr. George Bishop. The roll contained 325 names. At the end of June, the

In 1867, he established a woolen mill at Rockwood, in company with his brothers, Thomas and Joseph. Joseph retired in January, 1874, and Thomas, in January, 1887. Since then, Mr. Harris has carried the business to its present proportions. He makes a specialty of friezes for the wholesale trade, but manufactures a general line for his local customers. The factory buildings were replaced by stone, in 1884, and the entire machinery is of the latest pattern. He is a member of the school board; and was for some years in the township council. In politics a Reformer, and in religion a Friend. He was married, October 21st, 1863, to Mariana, daughter of John and Mary Ann Treffry, by whom he has four sons. WILLIAM BARCLAY CRAIG, B.A., head master of the High School, Arnprior, Ont., was born December 18th, 1852, at Inverurie, Aberdeen, Scotland. He is a son of George and Ann (Clark) Craig, who with other members of the family removed to America, and settled in Arnprior, about the year 1857, but the subject of this sketch remained in Scotland until 1873. Mr. Craig's father is a J. P. and for over twenty years either a member of the Arnprior Council or School Board. He is now president of the Arnprior branch of the South Renfrew Reform Association, and was once strongly urged to stand as the Reform candidate for the Local House, in South Renfrew, but declined. Mr. Craig received his early education at the parish school of Kincardine, O'Neil, Scotland, and Ash Tree Academy, in Staffordshire, Eng. He entered Aberdeen, (Scotland) Grammar School. in 1866, and matriculated into the Aberdeen University, in 1870. After working nearly two years in the North of Scotland Bank, he came to Canada in 1873, and after three years returned to Scotland and accepted a position as accountant for the North of Scotland Canadian Mortgage Company, at Aberdeen, where he remained until his return to Canada, in 1878. In September, 1879, he became first assistant master of the public school, Arnprior, and at the end of four and a half years, became first assistant master of the High School. After occupying that position for two years, he went to Kingston and took an honor course in Queen's University, graduating in the Spring of 1888, and became head master of the Arnprior High School, in July, 1891, which position he has filled with marked ability, improving the already high standard of that institution. In religion, he is a Presbyterian, and in politics, an Independent, with Reform tendencies. He is also a member of the I.O.F. and S.O.S. Mr. Craig's superior education eminently fits him for his position, and being at the best stage of his intellectual manhood, he will doubtless have an excellent career.

AUGUSTINE McDONELL, P.L.S. and Civil Engineer, Chatham, was born in the township of Dundee, Huntingdon county, Que., June 22nd, 1828. He is a son of Austin McDonell, a strong adherent of the Stewart dynasty, who emigrated to Canada, in 1816, from Inverness-shire, Scotland. He was educated in the common schools of Lower Canada, the High School of Glengarry county, and the Normal School, Toronto, and confined his studies to English branches and mathematics. In 1860, he became articled to a Provincial Land Surveyor, and since then has continued to follow his profession with a large measure of success. Mr. McDonell was one of the promoters and engineers of the Erie and Huron Railway. He has also been prominently connected with the drainage of wet lands on the Peninsula, and introduced a number of important changes in the Drainage Act of Ontario. He was the promoter of the gigantic scheme known as the "Forbes' Drain Scheme," in connection with the land now known as "Kent's Little Holland," which consists of some 5,000 acres of land, which have been recovered from nearly two feet of water, and converted into fertile land, capable of raising during 1892, some 15,000 bushels of wheat. The cost of relieving this tract of country from its watery bed, was something over $56,000, and it is now worth upwards of $125,000. The water is pumped from this land by a huge water wheel some 28 feet in diameter, which makes about three revolutions per minute, pushing out with its gigantic paddles the almost incredible amount of 3,000 barrels of water per minute. This scheme was vigorously opposed by the people living on the high lands in the township, who spent over $5,000 in opposing it; however, Mr. McDonell sustained, and completed his work. He is a gentleman of large public spirit, and his character stands high for integrity. Religiously, he is a Roman Catholic, and politically, a Conservative. He was married, in Aug., 1861, to Margaret Flynn, of Brockville, Ont.

Three years later, he was appointed organist and choir master of St. John's Church, Notting Hill, London; a church noted for the beauty of its services. Through the kindly influence of Dr. Pearce and Mr. A. His father was a successful farmer, notwithstanding the fact that he was an acceptable preacher, and generally exercised his ministerial functions on Sundays. His mother was a woman of deep piety, so that their son John, had all the advantage of a Christian training. Mr. Willoughby received his education, largely by private tuition, and by diligent personal application, and as a result possesses all that vigor and independence of character, which usually characterizes men who have had to rely on their own resources. He was converted in early life, and joined the church of his choice. He began to preach in 1872 and was ordained in 1874, at Drayton. He has served the following charges: King, four years; Orono, four years; Little Britain, five years; Bloomington, Ringwood and Altona, also five years, and his present charge at Drayton. On his fields of labor, he has had extensive revivals, hundreds being converted and added to the Church. The chief doctrines of his church are, the Scriptures as a sufficient rule of faith and practice, the Divinity of Christ, the name Christian for the Church, for that recognizes Christ, and moral character and vital piety, as the only test of membership. Y., after which he took charge of the Aylmer Express, as business manager, for one year. He then established the Parkhill Review for Mr. John Darrach, and remained as manager of the same for two years. In December, 1891, he bought his present business, which had been established the previous August. The Leader is the only Conservative paper in South Essex, and its present enterprising publisher is rapidly giving it a leading position in the county. Mr. Winn is self-reliant and fearless in his opposition, and very sympathetic and prompt in the promotion of any cause which he may espouse. He has been frequently asked to receive municipal honors, but so far, his retiring disposition has obliged him to decline. He is a member of a number of societies, amongst others the I. O. O. F., A. O. U. W., and Canadian Order of Chosen Friends societies, and in the latter order, has been for three years a member of the Grand Council, and chairman of the Finance Committee. At the age of fourteen he taught school near Martintown, subsequently removed with his parents to Victoria county, and attended Oakwood Grammar School, in its palmyest days, and again taught for some years, meanwhile preparing for the legal profession. Mr. McSweyn began the study of law under the late George Dormer, M.P., of Lindsay, and was in due time called to the Bar. With ambition to do business on his own account, he commenced fitting boot and shoe uppers, and in 1867, he established a boot and shoe manufactory, which during his lifetime developed into large proportions. This business is continued by his sons, and it is one of the largest concerns in the Dominion. In politics, he was a Conservative, but did not take an active part in political matters. He occupied many important positions during his lifetime, and among others, he was director of the C. W. Williams Sewing Machine Co. "Macduff" is often spoken of in Shakespeare's master piece "Macbeth." His grandfather, Charles Macduff, took an active part in the war of 1812, principally at Chateauguay. He died at the advanced age of 92 years. The father of our subject was Eustache Macduff, while his mother was Malvina Brissette. He received his education at St. Henry College, and at Bishop's

Academy in Montreal, and then studied for three years under Mr. J. H. Bernard, architect, and two years at Toronto, under a private teacher. After leaving the public school, Mr. Ernst took a complete course in the Commercial College, Toronto, in 1870, but has since applied himself with great diligence, to private study. He devoted ten years to the dry goods business, and subsequently travelled eleven years in the wholesale hat and fur line, but being a born genius, with an inventive mind, he naturally turned his attention to the study of electricity. For two years he was travelling salesman for the Ball Electric Light Company, in the supply line, and now represents the National and Standard Carbon companies, of Cleveland, Ohio, and the Electrical Supply Company, of Chicago, Ill. He is also proprietor of the Hamburg Electric Light plant. Mr. Ernst has numerous electrical inventions in course of construction, but the invention which is perhaps attracting more attention on this continent, than any other of late years, is his "Reliance Fire Escape and Hoist, and Fireman's Auxiliary." This wonderful contrivance was endorsed and recommended by a committee on exhibits, at the National Firemen's and Engineers' Associations' Convention, held at Louisville, Ky., U.S.A., October, 1892, where Mr. Ernst was present with a model. It is over ten years since Mr. Ernst first conceived the idea of a fire escape, that would insure the absolute safety of those using it, and the result of his fertile brain is certainly a boon to mankind. He is a Free Mason and a Forester, and is a musical composer of considerable note. He was married, on the 16th of July, 1876, to Miss Mary A. Laschinger, daughter of Joseph Laschinger, of Hamburg, Ont., by whom he has six children, five sons and one daughter.

Mr. Livingstone has served on important committees of his church, and for several years has been a member of the Stationing Committee. He is a strong and earnest advocate of temperance and prohibition, and is one of the most eloquent preachers in the Methodist Church. The demands upon his services for lectures and special sermons come to him from various conferences in Ontario. He is a man of splendid physique with a commanding appearance, and as he is just in the prime of life, we may expect to hear great things from him in the future. August 8th, 1877, he was married to Miss M. A. Hammond, of Tara, Bruce county, third daughter of the late H. Hammond, of that place. They have nine children, five boys and four girls.

M. SINCLAIR, Courtright, O., was born in North Yarmouth, near St. Thomas, March 13th, 1859. His parents, natives of Argyle-shire, Scotland, settled on a farm in 1832, when all was an unbroken forest, and the old log house still stands, a monument of those early days. Sabbath reverence was early inculcated in all the eleven children of this family, their mother being a rigid Presbyterian of the old Covenanting school, and the father an equally rigid close communion Baptist. A love of reading was common to all the Sinclairs, but of none was this more true than of the subject of this sketch. Every book in his father's scanty library, and in those belonging to the neighbors, were eagerly devoured. At the age of seventeen, he took a third class certificate, while attending a country school, at that time considered a remarkable feat, and after attending the St. Thomas High School for six months, took a second class, and taught for several years in West Elgin. His last teaching position, was as head master of West Lorne public school. In 1884, he was appointed to the Civil Service as railway mail clerk, and served in this capacity on the P.D.L.H. Railway, L.H.B. Railway and C.S. Railway, his present appointment being from Courtright to St. Thomas. He is highly respected in Courtright, and for several years served the community as township auditor. His spare moments are employed in literary pursuits, and many of his magazine articles have attracted wide attention, among which may be mentioned "Old Ephraim Jennings" (verse) and "Canada's Oil Country," in Buffalo Illustrated Express; "Ontario's Salt Territory," in Lake Magazine; "England's Grand Old Poet" and "The Railway Mail Clerks of Canada," in Dominion Illustrated Monthly. His wife is the eldest daughter of Jabez Spencer, Esq., of West Lorne, she is well known as a vocalist at church concerts, etc., being a former pupil of Dr. Verrinder, of London, also an ex-member of Queen's Avenue Methodist choir, London. CHARLES ALBERT EDWIN HARRISS, composer, organist and rector choir of the Church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal, was born in London, England, December, 1862, inheriting his musical talents from his father, Edwin Harriss, a musician of wide attainments. At the age of eight years, the subject of this sketch was the solo chorister boy in his father's choir; three years later, being admitted after severe competition, to a musical scholarship in the College of St. Michael's and All Angels, Tenbury, presided over by the Reverend Canon Sir Frederick A. Gore Ouseley, Bart., M.

A., Mus. Doc., LL.D., professor of music in the University of Oxford. His first organ appointment was that of assistant-organist of St. Giles Parish Church, Reading, when a lad of fourteen, subsequently becoming parish organist to the Earl of Powis, and the parish of Welshpool, in England. He succeeded F. Davies, Mus. Doc., as organist and choir-master of Christ Church Cathedral in Montreal, in his twentieth year, presiding for the first time in the Cathedral at the imposing ceremony of the consecration of Dean Baldwin to the bishopric of Huron. He transferred his services to the Church of St. James the Apostle, where, during the past eight years, the church and choir have become noted for their Cathedral services. As a rising composer, he has achieved success, not alone in Canada and the United States, but also in England. Amongst his more important works, special mention may be made of his Sacred Dramatic Cantata, "Daniel before the King," performed for the first time by the Philharmonic Society of Montreal, some two years ago. This work, published in New York, and then in England, gained prominence from the fact of its being the first extended musical work from the pen of a Canadian musician, published in England. A variety of songs, part songs, anthems, and works for the organ from his pen, have been published. As an ex-temporaneous performer on the organ, he is said to be at his best.

He studied medicine in Victoria College, received his M.D., in 1888, and was then appointed house surgeon of Hôtel-Dieu Hospital for two years. He subsequently studied surgery in Paris, Berlin, London and Vienna, and returned to Canada in December 1891. He was appointed consulting surgeon of Hôtel-Dieu in January, 1892. He is also examining physician for the Mutual, New York and Phoenix Insurance Companies, and is a member of and physician to the A.O.U.W., I.O.F., and C.O.F. In addition to his large surgical practice, the various other important interests represented by him, are evidences of the way in which his valuable time is employed. In religion, the doctor is a member of the Roman Catholic Church, and in politics, a Liberal. He was married, May 30th, 1892, to Miss Alice Beaupré.

REV. FATHER ALPHONSE CHAINE, parish priest, Arnprior, Ont., was born Feb. 9th, 1836, at Rousset, in the South East of France. He received his classical education at Embrun, France, and subsequently studied theology at Gap, in that country. After taking a three years' course in St. Joseph's College, Ottawa, he was ordained in St. Joseph's Church in that city, June 17th, 1860, by Bishop Guigues. He was then curate for two months at Gloucester, (near Ottawa, Ont.,) and afterwards appointed parish priest at Orleans, Ont., where he remained for thirteen years, and built a church. He then labored acceptably for eighteen months, at Curran, (in Plantagenet township) and was appointed to his present charge, June 5th, 1875. He has been very successful in his work and is popular with all classes of people, and has built the present beautiful presbytery, since moving to Arnprior. When he first went there, the Separate School had but one teacher, now it has four, and they are about to build a convent. The full attendance at the Separate School is about 275. In politics, Father Chaine is Conservative, and is doing good work for his Church in a quiet way.

ANGUS NICHOL, M.D., Hamburg, Ont., was born April 15th, 1844, near Pictou, N.S. When three months old, he was removed with his parents to Perth county, Ont. His parents were William and John (Macdonald) Nichol, both Highland Scotch. His grandfather was in the 93rd Highlanders in the years 1801-1808, during the Irish Rebellion, and was one of the original members of that company (having served three years in the Reay Fencibles previously). His father came to this country with his parents in 1815, settling at Pictou, N.S. Dr. Nichol attended the public school until he procured a first-class teacher's certificate, and then taught school for about six years. During three months of that time, he served as a volunteer in the first Western Battalion, Stratford Rifles, under Lieut.-Col. Reeve, in preserving peace on the border, about the close of the Civil War, in the United States in 1865. He graduated M.D. with honors, from Victoria College, Cobourg, in 1872, winning the silver medal. He then practiced his profession at Stratford, Ont., but subsequently removed to Haysville, Ont., where he remained seven years, and then went to Bayfield. Here he was a church warden, a member and secretary-treasurer of the School Board and Medical Health officer. He sold out his practice in Bayfield, and removed to Hamburg in 1890. Dr. Nichol is a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, physician to the I.O.F.

and the Maccabees, is financial secretary of the I.O.F. and health officer for Hamburg, and is a director of the Mechanics' Institute, and of the Wilmot Agricultural Society. He is a member of the Church of England, and takes a prominent part in church matters. He is also the examiner for several insurance companies. THE LATE ROBERT BALDWIN, gentleman, Toronto, was born in that city, April 17th, 1834, and died there, December 9th, 1885. He was the son of the late well known Hon. Robert Baldwin, and was educated at Upper Canada College. When fifteen years of age, he had a strong desire to follow sea faring life, in which he finally engaged and remained in connection with the merchant service for several years. For many years subsequent to this, he was not actively engaged in any business, until the year 1874, he became secretary of the upper Canada Bible Society, and won the esteem of a large number of friends. Mr. Baldwin was very much interested in everything which contributed to the morality and improvement of the community in which he lived, and did grand work in many ways for the cause of humanity. He was a devoted and influential member of the Anglican Church, and continued secretary of the Bible Society for some years. He was one of the founders, and first president of the Y.M.C.A., and in the early years of its history in Toronto, devoted considerable time and energy to its progress, and rendered very efficient service to the work carried on by that institution. His noble Christian influence was a powerful stimulus to others to render help in this good cause, and much is due to his efforts for the good work that has been accomplished by that institution. Wycliffe College, Evangelical Churchman and Evangelical Alliance, can never forget the deep interest he took in their welfare. Politically, he was a Liberal, but took no active part in political matters. He was twice married; first, in 1859, to Miss McDougall, and in 1877, to Miss Walker. He had ten children. His eldest son, Rev. Jas. McQueen Baldwin, is a missionary to Japan, having been sent there by Wycliffe College; his second son, Robert Baldwin is a well known barrister in Toronto; his third son, William Warren Baldwin, is a homeopathic physician in Toronto; and his eldest daughter, was married to Rev. Dyson Hague, Halifax, N.S.

JACOB W. HART, M.D., proprietor and medical superintendent of the Huntsville and Sudbury hospitals, Huntsville, Ont., was born in East Durham, March 12th, 1858. His early education was obtained at the Durham county public schools, and continued at Omeme and Port Hope High schools. After teaching five years, he attended Trinity Medical College, Toronto, and graduating in 1886, at once began practice in Huntsville. Dr. Hart was a bright student, and his success in his student days gave promise of success in future life. The hospital at Huntsville, which has been of so much benefit to the community, and conducted with such signal success, was established by him during his first year there. The success of this institution was so marked, that after having had six years practical experience in its management, he determined to open a branch hospital at Sudbury, which he did in 1892, with Dr. J. G. McKee, as resident surgeon. The system of the Huntsville and Sudbury hospitals, in selling certificates of admission to persons in good health for a small sum, has proved a merciful provision to laboring men and those without homes, as otherwise they might be thrown into an almshouse, if not supported by public or private charity. On payment of $5.00, this certificate, which is not transferable, entitles the holder in case of sickness or accident, contagious diseases excepted, to nursing, board, medical and surgical attendance in either the Huntsville or Sudbury hospitals, at any time during one year from date of such certificate. Dr. Hart is to be congratulated on his success, and is deserving of every encouragement. The Dr. is a Methodist in religion, and a Reformer in politics. He is a member of several societies, amongst others of the A.F. and A.M., I.O.O.F., C.O.O.F. and I.O.F. societies, and was elected reeve of Huntsville, for 1891 and 1892, by acclamation. He was married, December 14th, 1892, to Martha P. Hood, a graduate from one of the American training schools for nurses.

LIEUT.-COL. J. BELL FORSYTH, Collector of Customs, Quebec, was born in Quebec, June, 1830. He is the son of the late James Bell Forsyth, for many years a prominent merchant of Quebec, who was born in Kingston, Ont., and whose father, Joseph Forsyth, came from Huntly, Aberdeenshire (where the family has resided for centuries), about the year 1809. His mother was Fanny Bell, second daughter of the Hon. Matthew Bell, of Three Rivers, Que., and of Samson, Northumberland, Eng., who also came to this country about the same year. Col. Forsyth was educated at Dr. Lundy's Quebec Classical School, and at Lennoxville. He also spent a short time in Paris. He was for many years previous to becoming collector of Customs, a commission merchant and broker, confining his attentions almost exclusively to the timber trade.

At the same time, he ever took an active interest in all public affairs, civil, political, military and religious. As a president or director of a horticultural or an agricultural society, a bridge, railway company or club, we find his name in every part of a Quebec directory. He has been a consistent Conservative, as his father and grandfathers were, and on more than one occasion in stirring times, he was earnestly solicited to stand for the county of Quebec, for, we are told, "he is as popular with the French Canadians as with the old countrymen," and in the French parish of Cap Rouge, where he resided for many years at "Redclyffe," he was elected mayor again and again by his French friends. In military matters, he has always taken a deep interest, and for years has commanded the Queen's Own Canadian Hussars, originally raised and commanded by his grandfather, the Hon. Matthew Bell, in 1810-'11. He is a member of the Church of England, and takes his seat in both the Provincial and Diocesan Synods. Colonel Forsyth married Elizabeth Magdalene, only daughter of the late Thomas B. Anderson, of Montreal, for many years president of the Bank of Montreal.

J. W. WANLESS, M.C.R. agent, Courtright, Ont., was born June 15th, 1839, in Blairgowrie, Scotland. He is the eldest son of Dr. J. Dr. Wanless and his wife, Margaret Macdonald, natives of Dundee, Scotland, have always taken a deep interest in every worthy cause in the different cities in which they have resided. They have had three sons and two daughters, viz.: Violet now Mrs. A. A. Dickson, of Montreal, Wm. Macdonald Wanless, of St. Catharines; the subject of this sketch, the late Dr. John R. Wanless, who died in 1889 in New Zealand, and Agnina, at home with her parents. After completing his education Mr. Wanless entered the service of Mr. H. P. Dwight, as telegraph operator, and after filling various responsible positions in Canada and California, he was selected as one of the expedition sent out by the Russo-American Telegraph Company, to build a line from Victoria, B.C., to existing lines in Russia, by way of the Behring Straits, and the shores of the Behring and Okhotsk seas. They sailed from Frisco, touched at Victoria, and in three months landed at Petropaulovski, Kamtchatka. After eighteen months' hardship and adventure in the Siberian wilds, during which Mr. Wanless met and became the intimate friend of Geo. Kennan and his artist Geo. Frost in his "Exile Prison

Life in Siberia." The work was abandoned on receiving news that the atlantic cable was a success. After three years farming, Mr. Wanless entered the employ of the M. C. R., first at Fletcher, then a Cayuga, and for the past eighteen years at Courtright, to leave which pleasant summer resort, repeated offers of promotion have no charm for him. On January 19th, 1869, he married Miss Elizabeth, daughter of J. D. Anderson, of Wardsville, Ont. He has four children. In politics, Mr. Wanless is a staunch Liberal and a firm believer in Free Trade. He is also a member of the I.O.F.

He obtained the degree of M. D. from Queen's College in 1870. In 1890, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Kingston, conferred the fellowship of that body upon him. In 1884, he was elected a member of the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, by Queen's College, re-elected twice since. In 1889, he was vice-president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and president in 1890. During that year he went abroad, visiting European centres of medical education, and was present at Berlin at the meeting of the International Medical Congress. He was also present at the ninth meeting of the Congress held at Washington in 1887. He is a member of Queen's University Council, and was examiner in surgery for the same institution in 1887 and 1888, and examiner in anatomy for the same in 1888 and 1889, and examiner in surgery in 1889 and 1890. He was educated at the Jacques Cartier Normal School, in Montreal, then went through the commercial course of the Catholic Commercial Academy. He afterwards graduated as a Civil Engineer at the Polytechnic School. After graduation, he started in Montreal at municipal work, especially in the line of street paving, and also on the Hochelaga system of sewerage. In 1878, he was called by Mr. P. Beaudry, brother of the late mayor of Montreal, to go to Los Angeles, Cal., to assist in the construction of the water works of that city. He returned to Montreal in 1879, and has since practiced there as a civil engineer. He has had charge of all the municipal works, such as water, sewerage, paving, electric lighting, and nearly everything connected with the municipalities which surround Montreal, as well as most of the other small towns in the Province of Quebec. Mr. Vanier is a late member of the Council of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, professor of geodesy and hydrography in the engineering department of Laval University, an expert in hydraulic machinery, late vice-president of the Society of Hygiene of the Province of Quebec. He is the chief engineer and promoter of the Montreal Water and Power Company, who are building a system of water works to cost a little over two million dollars, the object being to supply the towns and villages immediately surrounding Montreal, with water. Fourteen assistants are now working in his office in Montreal. Mr. Vanier has a continental reputation as an expert engineer, and the extensive works constructed by him, aggregate many millions of dollars. He is a Conservative in politics, but his numerous occupations prevent him from taking an active part in political matters. He was married in 1881, to Marie Olivine Pariseau. THOMAS TRIVITT, J.P. and clerk of the 5th Division Court of Huron county, Exeter, Ont., was born September 2nd, 1813, at Langaller, Somerset County, England. Many centuries ago, his ancestors were among the great men of Europe, and have furnished commanders-in-chief of the army of France, Jurists and Lord Chancellors, of England, and learned historians, but for some hundred of years they have been quiet country gentlemen of Somerset. In 1848, Mr. Trivitt married, and the same year came to Upper Canada, settling upon the site of the present village of Centralia, which in 1868, was founded by him. He was the first clerk of Stephen township, holding that office for many years. When the 5th Division Court of the County was organized at Centralia, in 1852, Mr. Trivitt was appointed its clerk, and has so continued, going to Exeter when the Court was removed there. In 1857, he was commissioned as a Justice of the Peace. Inheriting an ample fortune, which has been added to, he has been in a position in a variety of ways, to gratify his benevolent disposition. The crowning work of his life, however, was the erection and endowment of the magnificent English Church at Exeter, "The Trivitt Memorial Church," costing over $30,000, and in subsequently donating a beautiful chime of bells, costing about $3,000. The church was consecrated by the Lord Bishop of Huron, on December 31st, 1888, while the chime of ten bells was inaugurated on the first Sunday in Advent, 1890. In addition to the above gifts, he proposes to build a new rectory house, a vestry and school-house, and at his death endow the church in the sum of $6,000. A notable event happened on the day of the consecration of the church; namely the burial of the esteemed wife of Mr. Trivitt, beneath the chancel of the church, in the building of which she had taken such a lively interest. It is to be devoutly desired that Mr. and Mrs. Trivitt's example, may be copied by many Canadians who have means at their disposal.

He is the son of Jean-Baptiste Laporte and Marie Berthiaume dit Jubinville. The only education he received was at the village school, so he is a self-made man. In 1866, he came to Montreal to work in a nail factory, and at nights attended Mofatt's School. After four years of hard work, he was strongly inclined to commercial business, and in the Spring of 1870, he left wages of twelve dollars a week, to take a position as clerk in a retail grocery with a salary of ten dollars a month. Having a natural disposition for his new calling, he made rapid progress, and during the Fall of the same year, he started a grocery on his own account. In 1881, he sold out his retail business and started a wholesale grocery and provision establishment, which increased so rapidly, that in 1888, he called in as partners J. B. A. Martin and J. O. Dr. Prevost received his education at St. Mary's Jesuit College, Montreal, and Victoria Medical School. He attended the former from 1878 until 1886, and received his professional education at the latter, from 1886 to 1891, in which year he graduated. Dr. Prevost was an apt student, standing well in his classes, and gave promise of future success. After graduation, he went to Paris, France, and took a post graduate course in medicine at the University of Paris. He also attended the hospitals of that great city and the other hospitals of Europe. Returning to Canada, he commenced the practice of his profession in 1892 in Montreal, where he is building up a large and profitable connection. Dr. Prevost is also the proprietor of a pharmacy, at the corner of St. Denis and Craig streets. In religion, he is a Roman Catholic, and in politics, a staunch Liberal.

THOMAS LIGGET, carpet merchant, Montreal, was born at Ormstown, Que., August 24th, 1843. His parents came to Canada in early life, from the North of Ireland, and located at Ormstown. His father, John Ligget, was a prosperous farmer, and enjoyed a long life. Mr. Ligget received his early education in the schools of his native place and his commercial training in a general store, and at the age of twenty-one, commenced his dry goods career with the well known house of Henry Morgan & Co. In 1867, he formed a partnership with Mr. Henry Hamilton, as dry goods merchants, under the firm name of Ligget & Hamilton, which was continued until 1888. The firm was then dissolved and the carpet and furnishing part of the business assumed by Mr. Ligget, and developed to its present magnitude. It is universally admitted that his carpet premises are the finest in Canada, and that he possesses clear and active business qualities which enable him to keep apace with the times. Mr. Ligget is a Protestant, belonging to the Church of England, and in politics is a Liberal. He is a well known merchant and a highly respected man.

R BEULLAC, Montreal, Que., was born in France in 1844, coming to Canada in 1874. He settled in Montreal and established a house, dealing in church ornaments. From small beginnings this house has developed, until to-day, it is the leading concern of its kind in the Dominion. Mr. Beullac is endowed with artistic qualities, an exquisite taste, and extensive archaeological knowledge, and he has given to this art, the very best ability which he possesses. For some years past, he has been engaged in decorations for public and religious festivals, and there are few celebrations in the Province of Quebec, where he has not been called upon to display his artistic taste in the arrangement of the drapery and for their embellishment by his decorations. For many years, Montreal was without an historical gallery representing the glorious episodes of the history of Canada, but this lack Mr. Beullac has supplied by founding the Musée Lasalle, an institution which is very largely patronized. He is the president of the Club de France, and is a member of the Geographical Society of Paris, and a corresponding member of the Artistic Club of Montpellier, also of the "Société des Langues Provençales."

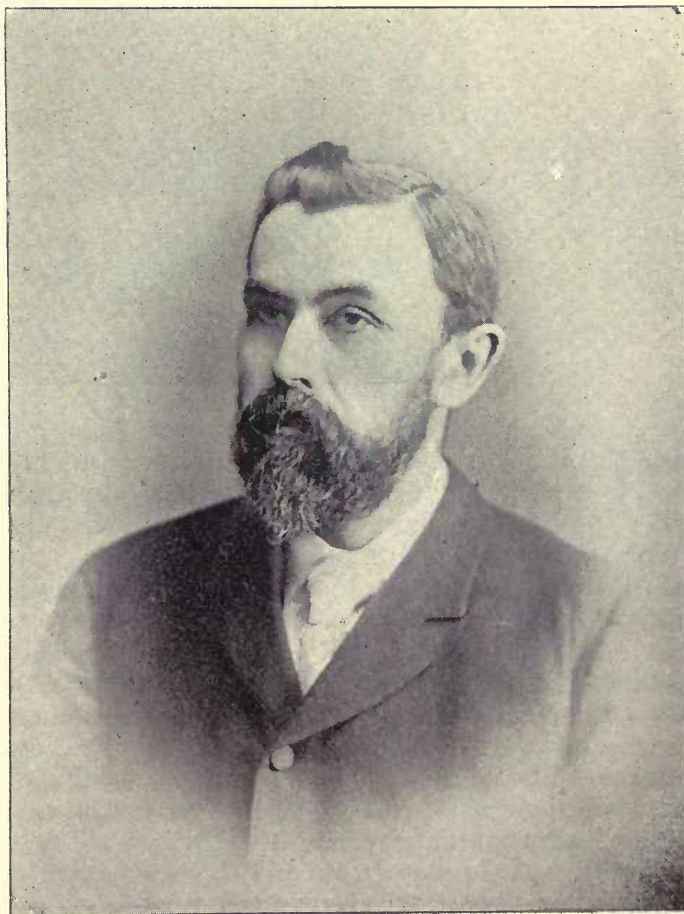

ARTHUR DANSEREAU, Postmaster, Montreal, Que., was born at Contrecoeur, July 5th, 1844. He was sent to L'Assomption College, where he passed a brilliant career, and was contemporary with the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier. He arrived in Montreal, September 1862, and presented himself to Sir George Cartier, a friend of his father, and asked him for advice as to his future. Being advised to be a student with Mr. Girouard, he entered that gentleman's office, and for three years studied law. He afterwards entered McGill College, and received his B. C. L., and was admitted to the Bar in 1865. He subsequently abandoned his profession in favor of literature, and entered the office of La Minerve, which he edited for thirteen years. In 1870, he became one of its proprietors, and retired in 1880. Since 1862, Mr. Dansereau employed himself in literature and other congenial occupations, and on February 1st, 1892, was appointed postmaster of Montreal. During the short time he has been in office, he has proved himself a courteous and capable head of this important department, the whole internal economy of the Post Office having greatly improved under his able management.

HON. LOUIS TELLIER, Judge of the Superior Court of the Province of Quebec, St. Hyacinthe, Que., was born December 24th, 1844, at Berthier-en-Haut, Que. His parents were Zéphirin and Luce (Ferland) Tellier. The family came from France in 1789. Judge Tellier completed his classical education at Joliette College, Joliette, Que. He commenced the study of law with Hon. M. Baby, Joliette, and finished with Hon. H. W. Chagnon, in St. Hyacinthe. He was called to the Bar at Montreal, October 16th, 1866, and has practiced at St. Hyacinthe since 1873. He was appointed a Q. C., January 23rd, 1882. He was Deputy Prothonotary of the Superior Court, and Deputy Clerk of the Circuit Court for the district, from 1863 to 1873, and Crown Attorney for the same, from 1873 to 1878. He was elected to the House of Commons, September, 1878, but was defeated in 1882. On November 12th, 1887, he was appointed to his present position as judge. He is one of the administrators of Laval University, Montreal. Judge Tellier has one of the best law libraries in the district of St. Hyacinthe. He was married first, May 26th, 1868, to Miss Hermine, second daughter of the late Dr. Adolphe Malhiot, who died February 7th, 1878, leaving one son Louis, who is engaged in the establishment of G. P. Landry of Montreal. He was married again, July 18th, 1882, to Miss Elzire, daughter of J. A. Hamel, collector of Customs, St. Hyacinthe, by whom he has one son and three daughters. In religion the Judge is a Roman Catholic. Judge Tellier presides on the bench with dignity and renders his decisions with impartiality, and his rulings are respected, as well by the public as the Bar. He has filled the various responsible positions to which he has been appointed, with signal satisfaction. He was a Conservative in politics, but wisely refrains from allowing his political views to influence his judicial decisions. In private life, his kindly disposition has brought around him a wide circle of friends, and he is respected by all.

JAMES VINCENT CLEARY, D.D., Archbishop of Kingston, Ont., was born in Dungarvan, Waterford county, Ireland, September 18th, 1828. At the age of fifteen years, having completed the curriculum in the English, Latin and Greek languages, and literature, mathematics, etc., in a select school in his native town, he was sent by his parents, Thomas and Margaret Cleary, to Rome for his ecclesiastical education. Two years later, he was transferred by his bishop to the Royal College at Maynooth, Ireland, where he passed five years in pursuit of the various sciences pertaining to high clerical education, carrying off the highest prizes of the college. In 1851, he was ordained priest, and immediately proceeded to the famous University of Salamanca, in Spain, for the further storing of his mind with professional knowledge. In 1854, he was appointed to the chair of dogmatic theology and Scriptural exegesis in St. John's College, Waterford, Ireland. At the request of the bishops of Ireland in 1862, he made a public thesis, or three days' open "welcome all opponents" defence of a series of printed propositions, embracing all the distinctive truths of the Christian revelation, before the Irish Hierarchy, the Senate of the Roman Catholic University of Ireland, and the learned representatives of all the colleges in the country, and at its conclusion was presented with the diploma of Doctor of Divinity, and solemnly invested with the insignia of the doctorate. In 1873, he became president of St. John's College, Waterford, and two years later, was selected to be consulting theologian to his Bishop in the great National Synod held in Maynooth College. In 1876, he was promoted to the living of Dungarvan, his native parish, and in 1888, was appointed by the Holy See to be Bishop of Kingston, in Ontario, Canada. He had no voice or option in this matter. Twice he remonstrated with the church authorities, but the sole reply he received, was a peremptory order to renounce his Irish benefice, and take charge of Kingston diocese. Straightway he proceeded to Rome, where he received Episcopal consecration on November 21st, 1880, from His Eminence Cardinal Simeoni, Prefect of the Propaganda. The following Spring he came to Kingston, and was received with great pomp by all the bishops of Ontario, with those of Ottawa and Montreal, the leading dignitaries of their several dioceses, and the clergy and laity of Kingston. In 1890, he was made Archbishop, a new ecclesiastical province having been created, of which Kingston is the Metropolitan See, with the bishops of Peterboro and Alexandria for suffragans of the Archbishop of Kingston. The spiritual interests of his people are the main objects of Archbishop Cleary's life. He is ever in motion around the parishes, holding conferences with the clergy and laity about the ways and means of advancing religion and morality. He has founded many new missions, placing resident priests in districts that heretofore received but an occasional visit from a clergyman. He has also built numerous churches, presbyteries, schools, convents and other religious edifices, many of which are models of architectural excellence, unrivalled in any part of the Dominion. The recently constructed facade of his cathedral, is the most elegant work of its kind in Canada, combining elevation, massiveness and solidity of block masonry, with gracefulness and richness of tracery most pleasing to the artistic eye. Archbishop Cleary holds aloof from politics, except in so far as religious interests are involved. In defence of those interests, especially such as relate to Roman Catholic education and separate schools, he speaks and writes with great freedom and argumentative force. He deals, he says, "not with politics, but with irreligious politicians." About the election time for the Provincial Legislature in 1890, he engaged in public controversy with the honorable Leader of the Opposition on this subject. His letters were read with lively interest by all classes of citizens, and referring to them, the late Sir Daniel Wilson, president and professor of English literature in Toronto University, once said to a large assembly, "that, for purity of style, they are the best specimens of controversial literature given to Canadians in latter times." In social life, Archbishop Cleary deals with Conservatives and Reformers as a friend of both, and in matters of purely benevolent or civil character, takes a place frequently among the men of action in Kingston, and has delivered some public addresses that have commanded reverent attention from good men of all creeds.

JAMES MANSON, banker, Strathroy, Ont., was born in Wick, Caithnessshire, Scotland, January 27th, 1836. His parents were John and Isabella (Hay) Manson, natives of Wick. After a five years' apprenticeship with John Kirk, the leading merchant of Wick, he came to Canada in 1855, and after a short time in the service of Kerr, Brown & Co., wholesale merchants of Hamilton, he entered the employ of the late W. H. Armstrong, of Strathroy. In 1857, Mr. Manson formed a partnership with Wm. Rapley, of Strathroy, formerly of Sussex, Eng., under the firm name of Rapley & Manson, the former supplying the capital and the latter the experience, and for ten years they carried on very successfully, a large and growing general mercantile business. In 1867, the firm had so prospered, that Mr. Manson, by mutual consent, withdrew, and established the Banking House, which, under his able and continuous management, has long since become one of the reliable monetary institutions of the Province. In religion, Mr. Manson is a Presbyterian, and in politics a staunch Liberal, intimate with all the prominent Reformers of Ontario, and always ready to do yeoman service for his party. He belongs to the A.F. and A.M., and is an honorary member of the Strathroy St. Andrew's Society. He has often been pressed to accept municipal honors, but his business claims and his own personal inclinations always forbid.

He occasionally revisits his native land, from which he sailed nearly forty years ago, a penniless lad whose total assets were courage, honesty and the training of an intelligent and painstaking mother. With these, however, he was not poor, and his present success is the result of the exercise of the principles which characterized his early life, and which have given to him his strength of character. On March 1st, 1860, Mr. Manson was married to Miss Mary A. Rapley, his partner's daughter, an earnest church worker, whose quiet unostentatious manner and kindness to the poor have won for her universal esteem.
