REPORT ON HISTORICAL ARCHIVES.

DOUGLAS BRYMNER, ARCHIVIST.

Hon. J. H. POPE,
Minister of Agriculture.

SIR,—I have the honour to present the report on Historical Archives for 1884.

During the year, very considerable progress has been made in the work of investigation and in procuring copies of documents of historical value. The acquisition of the papers of Dr. Rolph, in relation to the rebellion in Upper Canada in 1837-8, tending to throw light on the events of the period, is of interest, as the documents will be an assistance to those engaged in studying the history of Upper Canada. The papers include Dr. Rolph's own statement of his connection with Mr. William Lyon Mackenzie, letters from Mr. Baldwin, Sir Francis Hincks, Mr. David Gibson, Mr. W. L. Mackenzie and others, largely relating to the vexed question of the "Flag of Truce." Original papers and copies have been received from Detroit, Windsor, Sandwich, &c., respecting the early occupation of that district. Copyists are at work in the Public Record Office, London, on the State Papers from a date immediately preceding the cession of 1760, every copy being carefully revised, checked and compared with the original before transmission to this office, so as to ensure, if possible, that exact copies are obtained for consultation here. It was considered better to begin at the period of the cession, leaving documents of an anterior date to be copied afterwards, one reason for the delay being the fact that many of the papers relating to Canada, classed under the title of America and West Indies, are to be found scattered in different series, so that much confusion would have arisen in having them transcribed before preparing a chronological arrangement. Many documents under the sub title of "New England" relate directly to Canadian affairs, but a number of the volumes being altogether, some chiefly, composed of documents having no connection, even indirectly, with Canadian affairs, it is impossible to give general instructions to those engaged in the work of copying; they must be special, requiring care and deliberation in their preparation. So soon as I can have a definite chronological scheme ready, for the guidance of copyists, I propose to have the work proceeded with concurrently with that now going on in the Record Office.

Copies are also being made in Rome of documents till now inaccessible, Mgr. Taschereau, Archbishop of Quebec, having, by the good offices of the Abbé Casgrain, undertaken to have documents transcribed from the Archives of the Gesu, the Propaganda, &c., and carefully revised to secure correctness.

from Judge Pringle. Reference has been made in previous reports to the security the deposit of originals or of copies would afford for the preservation of papers whose loss would be irreparable, and an instance may be cited to show that the risk of loss of most important documents is not an imaginary danger, and that it is not fire alone that is to be dreaded. During the summer, instructions were given to have copies made of the registers of the "Actes de Foy et Hommage" deposited at Quebec. These registers contain the authentic evidence of the grants of seigniories and noble fiefs, from almost the earliest date of the French settlement, and although by great labour lists might be compiled from various publications,—from official returns to the Legislature, from the documents published by the Seigniorial Tenure Commission, &c., yet even the best that could be done in this way would be incomplete.

When the first copies were received, I found that they began with the Registers of 1723. In answer to inquiries, I was informed that these were the earliest to be found, but aware that there had existed registers dating from about 1660 for the Royal Grants, besides the earlier grants to be found in the Registres des Intendants, I gave instructions to have a further search made, and after a lengthened correspondence, requested Mr. E. E. Taché, Deputy Minister of Crown Lands, to give Mr. Bédard, who had been employed in the work, full powers to search until the missing registers could be discovered. The search, I am happy to say, was successful for the grants from 1667 to 1674. The registers had, many years ago, been removed from the custody of the Department responsible for their safe keeping, and added to those relating to the Jesuits' Estates, where they were lost sight of. They were in the most dilapidated condition, covered with dust, mildewed, and so fragile that they could scarcely be handled without crumbling into dust. After consultation with Mr. Taché, with Mr. S. E. Dawson of Montreal, who happened to be in Quebec, and with Mr. T. Lemieux, binder, means were taken to have them restored. Instructions have been given to continue the searches for the registers still wanting.

M. Lemieux has sent a report (of which I give a translation) of the state of the documents, the process of restoration and their present condition. As it may be useful to those possessed of old documents, in a decayed state, the report is published in full.

REPORT BY MR. LEMIEUX ON OLD REGISTERS.

DESCRIPTION.

The "Actes de Foy et Hommage" were placed in my hands in a state of the most complete decay. To understand properly the difficulties of restoring such documents, a detail of the condition of these 114 sheets, or rather rags, becomes necessary.

CONDITION.

The whole presented the appearance of papers which had moulded after remaining for some time in the water, gnawed, ragged, thick fragments blended and packed together, constituting a compact mass. A part of the sheets was so decomposed that all cohesion was destroyed, the slightest attempt to separate them threatening to break them into fragments.

PROCESS.

It was necessary to separate these sheets one by one with a pallet knife, collect the pieces on a plate of glass, and secure the whole with a sheet of silk paper, pasted on; some held more together and required only the application of a sheet of good paper cut in advance, according to the irregularities of the leaves, and which by making up the contour supplied the place of the missing margins.

Another annoyance was the replacing the detached pieces, which had been carelessly arranged, so that they did not fall into their proper places; to reunite the fragments, the sole guide to their true position consisting for the most part in the difference of writing, the variation in the colour of the ink, a fragment of a date or of a name, the work being, in fact, a puzzle. The sheets having been thus prepared, it was necessary to restore to the paper its original cohesion, a delicate work, done by means of a gelatinous solution, after which the sheets were dried, stretched and passed through a rolling machine, to make them smooth, all the work being done in accordance with the improved methods of modern manufacture.

This restoration, which was considered as practically impossible, demanded from the workman great patience, added to acquired experience and an enthusiastic feeling that he was able to contribute to the preservation of documents of value to the Archives of the country. It cost seventy hours of arduous labour, requiring as much intelligence as skill.

RESULT.

After a careful examination of each sheet, and a severe test by manipulation, we can state positively that we have delivered the manuscript in a condition of permanent durability and complete restoration so far as regards the material part of the damage.

T. LEMIEUX,

Binder, Quebec.

It being considered desirable to have an index of the registers published as early as possible, to supply in an accessible form information for which this office is frequently asked, those from 1723 have been placed in the hands of Mr. Joseph Marmette, Assistant Archivist, to be indexed in such a manner as to show the original grants and all subsequent changes. To make it thoroughly correct, so that it may be relied on by those consulting it, very careful comparison with works of a genealogical character was necessary. Of these I may be permitted to refer to the "Dictionnaire Genealogique" of the Abbé Tanguay, as a work of the most essential service for the period which it covers.

The registers have been indexed from 1723 down to 1731 and the result of Mr. Marmette's labours (at the end of the notes) will, I believe, be found most satisfactory. In next year's report, the rest of the work of indexing will be given, so that the original grants and all the changes that have taken place by succession, sale, purchase or otherwise will be accessible down to 1854, in the most compact and intelligible form possible.

Indexing, calendaring and arranging the documents, so as to be most easily available for the use of investigators, are carried on continuously. Loose Manuscripts that have been added to the collection since the date of last report, as well as those previously received but then unassorted, have been arranged, classified and bound, if their condition admitted, or, in the case of those which could not be so treated, have been placed in guard books, after being strengthened by such means as experience has shown to be most effectual. No pains have been spared to make the additions accessible as speedily as possible after their reception, and as conveniently arranged as the accommodation will permit. The numerous inquiries made on points of historical interest and the personal searches made by those engaged in the work of investigation are evidences that the value of this branch of the Department is beginning to be recognised more fully as the work advances. It is almost unnecessary to say, that every possible assistance has been given to those who are engaged in searches, and it is gratifying to be assured that the benefits of this help have been recognised.

It is to be regretted that no response has been made to the notice given of the very incomplete state of the records relating to the United Empire Loyalists, the earliest settlers in Upper Canada. It was hoped that on the celebration of their settlement means would have been taken to have documents of this nature collected and transmitted for preservation, and copies of the report in which information on the subject is contained, and in many cases, letters in addition, were sent to the descendants of the Loyalists, but, so far, to little purpose.

Nor have the attempts made to obtain traces of the registers of births, marriages and deaths, kept by the Military and Naval Chaplains, been more successful. These registers are of very considerable importance in questions of succession, and although there is little likelihood of them being now discovered, yet there is the possibility that among the family papers of those who filled the office of Chaplain in the Army or Navy, such registers may still be in existence. It is most desirable that publicity be given to the fact, that these are missing, and also that attention be directed to the quarter in which it is believed the search may, if any where, be successfully prosecuted.

It may be permitted, without impropriety to call again "the attention of the possessors of family and other papers, which throw a light on the social, commercial, municipal or political history of the Country, to the importance of having these deposited among the Archives, either for present, or, if the contents do not admit of it, for future reference."

The material for the history of Haldimand's administration in Quebec, in the interval between the recall of Sir Guy Carleton, and his return as Lord Dorchester in 1786, has hitherto been very meagre. Even the most recent histories of Canada speak of the want of documentary information regarding the events of that interesting time. Haldimand's character is known almost entirely from the picture drawn by Du Calvet, imprisoned on suspicion of corresponding with the revolted Provinces during the Revolutionary War, who, with others held under similar circumstances, was, at its close, released without trial. In the Public Record Office, London, the papers relating to Haldimand's administration are contained in nine volumes and part of a tenth, but the collection made by himself and presented by his nephew to the British Museum in 1857, extends to 232 volumes, of which little use has been made. Between his leaving Quebec, in 1784, and Dorchester's resumption of the Government in 1786, the affairs of the Province were administered by Lieutenant Governors Hamilton and Hope, whose correspondence in the Record Office is being copied.

As stated in last report, a calendar has been made of Haldimand's papers, so far as received. The first instalment is given in the present report. It is proposed to continue its publication in subsequent reports, until completed, its paging to go on consecutively, so that the whole may be detached to form a separate volume. It would be superfluous to point out the service that the indications thus afforded will render to those who are making investigations into the history of that period, during which the fate of Canada was so often trembling in the scale.

On the 28th of July, 1783, Sir Guy Carleton, then Commander in Chief of the forces in North America, having his head quarters in New York, gave instructions to Lieut. Colonel Robert Morse, Chief of the Royal Engineers, to make a survey of Nova Scotia, and report on its condition, the state of the defences, &c. The report on the Province (including New Brunswick, only separated in 1784), is not dated, but was evidently prepared after July, 1784, and contains a suggestion for the Union of the Maritime Provinces with Canada, the Seat of Government to be in the Island of Cape Breton, as the most central situation. It gives a clear description of the natural features of the Province, its harbours, means of communication, state of agriculture, remarks on the boundaries, suggestions for a Canal at Baie Verte, with a report on the state of the defences. To illustrate the latter part, is a volume containing plans of the different forts and harbours, thirteen in all, of which facsimiles are in this office, copies of these as well as of the report having been obtained in the British Museum (Kings Collection 208.209). The report will be found in Note C.

It would be interesting to compare the account of the condition of the harbours in 1783, contained in this report, with those to be found in the General Report of the Department of Public Works for 1868, in Appendices 10 and 15, and in the Report for 1867 to 1882, beginning at page 210, under the title of "Report on Harbours and Piers, throughout the Dominion."

There are two documents printed as notes to this report, to which attention is respectfully directed, one relating to the Capture of Quebec by Kirke in 1629 and the other to the Martyrdom of two Jesuit Fathers in the Huron Country in 1649.

The first Conquest of Canada by the Brothers Kirke, in 1629, is well known to historians, but the cause of its retrocession by Charles I, with so little difficulty and the reason for the liberal terms granted by him before any formal treaty was made, as well as by the Treaty of St. Germain-en-Laye in 1632, have been left unaccounted for, only conjecture more or less nearly approaching the truth having been ventured upon. The general histories of England, to which I have had access, do not even mention the name of Quebec or Canada in this reign, or refer in the remotest terms to events taking place there. Knight's History, in eight large volumes, which professes to give, in tabular form, a list of all the treaties made by Charles I, does not mention the treaty of St. Germain-en-Laye of 1632, and Haydn's Dictionary of Dates, which I had the curiosity to examine to see if that treaty was mentioned there, is equally silent.

To understand the full import of a letter from Charles I. to Sir Isaac Wake, his Ambassador at Paris (Note D) it may be permitted to give a summary of the events which led to the taking of Quebec by the brothers Kirke and its retrocession by Charles I.

In 1627, France and England being then at war, certain London Merchants formed themselves into a Company of "Merchant Adventurers," and fitted out ships for which they obtained letters of marque to enable them to seize French and Spanish vessels and goods, having previously obtained a patent from Charles I. authorising them to found a plantation in the countries bordering on the St. Lawrence, the patent giving them a monopoly of the trade.

The fleet thus fitted out, consisting of three vessels, was under the command of Captain David Kirke, son of Gervaise Kirke, a native of Derbyshire, who had removed for purposes of trade to Dieppe, where he married and where his children were born, but from whence he returned to London, where he died in December 1629. Besides David, who was on board of the largest ship of 300 tons, were his two brothers, Lewis and Thomas, in command of the other two ships. In that year Kirke captured the fleet under command of De Roquemont, with reliefs for Champlain. In the following year (1628) David Kirke sent from Tadoussac, by Basque fishermen whom he had pressed into the service, a summons to Champlain to surrender Quebec. The answer was so confident, that Kirke thought it was useless to attempt the capture of what he believed to be a well supplied stronghold.

On the 25th of March, 1629, Kirke with a fleet of six ships and three pinnaces, all armed and with letters of marque, left Gravesend. Peace was established between France and England by the Treaty of Suza, on the 24th of April following, although not sworn to till the 6th of September by England and on the 16th of the same month by France. Kirke reached Gaspé on the 15th of June, but it was not till the 19th of July that he appeared before Quebec, with two of his ships. The settlers there were in the last stage of destitution. Charlevoix states (though it is not mentioned by Champlain himself) that so far from viewing the invaders as enemies, Champlain regarded them as deliverers. He capitulated on the most honourable terms, the settlers were treated with kindness and inducements held out to them to remain. Champlain himself was sent to London, that he might return to France.

The news of the fall of Quebec appears to have been received in France with comparative indifference, a large party being hostile to a longer continuance of the efforts, involving so many sacrifices, to colonise a country offering, as they maintained, no hopes of a pecuniary return for the loss of life and the money expended. Champlain, however, succeeded in arousing a different feeling, and negotiations were begun for the restoration of Quebec and Acadia to France. These were so immediately successful, that when Kirke's expedition returned, every thing had practically been given up, not only the country, the ships of France, the stores and furs belonging to the settlers, but the cargoes obtained by Kirke as the result of his trading with the Indians, the restoration being formally sanctioned by the Treaty of St. Germaine-en-Laye in 1632.

The cause of this ready abandonment of a conquest, so easily defensible in a military point of view and so important for the commercial interests of Great Britain, has been a puzzle to historians. Every effort was made, but in vain, to shake the King's resolution. The act has been attributed by some authors, of whom Moreau is one, to the fear of Cardinal Richelieu's threat to send a fleet of six ships to recover Quebec by force. But Kirke had pointed out that, properly provisioned, it could resist a hundred sail of ships and 10,000 men. Forland believes that the demand for restitution was so just that it was impossible to resist it. Charlevoix suggests a reason for the restoration, not only of Quebec but of Acadia in addition, with which it is easy to see he himself is not satisfied. "The facility," he says, "with which the English restored Acadia to France arose, no doubt, from the fact that they had not yet taken measures to establish themselves there, and its distance from New England." Other reasons must be looked for and these will, I believe, be found supplied by the letter to which these remarks refer. Such works as Hallam's Constitutional History and Guizot's Révolution en Angleterre 1640, not to speak of historical works of a more general nature, show the straits to which Charles was reduced to obtain money even for his household expenses, and prove clearly the need he had for the part of Queen Henrietta's dowry, retained by the Court of France. The dowry, by marriage contract dated on the 8th of May, 1625, was 800,000 crowns (huit cents mille écus, de trois livre piece monnaie de France) one-half of which was to be paid on the eve of the marriage in London, the other half in a year after, dating from the first payment. The marriage took place on the 13th June, 1625, when the one-half was paid, the other half being due at the same date in 1626. These dates are given for the purpose of comparison with the statement by Charles in 1631, that the insertion in a new treaty of the obligation by France to pay the remaining half of the dowry, due by contract five years previously, as an offset to the surrender of Canada and Acadia, was a mere formality.

Mr. Henry Kirke, who has written a very careful work on the Kirke Expedition, under the title of the "First English Conquest of Canada," says at page 83, "It is impossible to divine the motives which influenced the King to make such a promise" (to restore all forts captured after the 24th of April, 1629.) "It may have been that he was yet totally ignorant of the value of his conquest, and was only anxious to secure the four hundred thousand crowns, part of Henrietta Maria's dowry, which the French King threatened to withhold unless the forts were restored." The truth of this conjecture is proved by the letter. Its close connection with the history of Canada will, I trust, be accepted as a sufficient reason for the space given to the subject in the present report.

The letter, signed by Charles himself, is in the Harleian Collection, 1760. A short extract from it was given in the Report on Archives of 1881, but its importance was then overlooked, owing to the pressure caused by other researches. No reference is made to it in the Calendar of the Colonial Series of state papers, although there are other letters there on the same subject and of similar dates. The Foreign series is not calendared to so recent a period; in a collection of Royal Letters, published by the Bannatyne Club, is one from Charles I to Sir William Alexander (Lord Stirling), dated in July, 1631, intimating that Port Royal was to be restored to France, but no hint is given of the existence of this letter to Wake. In none of the histories of Acadia or Nova Scotia, Haliburton's, Murdoch's, Moreau's or Rameau's, is any reference made to it, nor in Ferland, Faillon or, indeed, any other.

In Hannay's History of Acadia, it is said that Charles wrote to Wake in June, 1631, as to the restoration, but no authority is given for the statement. It is probable, however, that reference is here made to the Warrant (not letter) dated 29th June, 1631, under the Great Seal, signed by Charles himself, empowering Wake to negotiate the Treaty. The text (in Latin) is in the Mercure François, vol. 18, p. 47, (Paris, 1633.) It seems, therefore, impossible to avoid the conclusion, that the letter has escaped the notice of previous investigators, and that it is a valuable addition to our historical documents, a statement made, however, with proper reserve, as it is possible that it may have been published, although I have failed to discover it.

Another interesting document will be found at Note E, an original account of the martyrdom of the two Jesuit Fathers, Jean de Brebœuf and Gabriel Lallemant, slaughtered by the Iroquois in the Huron country, in the neighbourhood of Matchedash Bay, in 1649. The "Relation des Jésuites" of that date and the "Lettres Historiques de la Mère Marie de l'Incarnation," give a circumstantial account of the death of the two Jesuits. As will be seen, the narrator, Christophe Regnaut, was the lay brother to whom was entrusted the care of preparing the remains for conveyance to Quebec, where the skull of Brebœuf is still preserved in the Hotel Dieu in a receptacle under the silver bust sent by his family, an opening covered with glass allowing only a portion of the front part to be seen. Brebœuf is described as a man of great size and strength, a proof of this being the statement that the Indians objected to carry him in any of their canoes when he first went on the Huron Mission in 1627, on the ground that he was too heavy, until one Indian, bolder than the rest, undertook the task. From this date it will be seen that he was twenty-two years engaged in Mission work among the Hurons when he was killed. There was a striking difference between the sufferers. Brébœuf, although past middle life, was still strong and vigorous, yet he succumbed to the torture in less than four hours, whilst Lallemand, the mere shadow of a man physically, lived for twenty-one under continuous torture, and even then did not die from exhaustion, but from a death blow dealt by a savage impatient at his still continuing in life. The writer of the account, it may be remarked, was one of a number of lay brothers, members of the Jesuit order, but holding no priestly office. Neither his name, nor the name of any of the engagés (as they were termed) appears in the Relations written by the Jesuits. In the Relation by the Superior, R. P. Paul Ragueneau, speaking of the event, it is simply said: "We sent out one of our Fathers and seven other Frenchmen to search for the bodies at the place of torture." In a note at page 42 in a work by Mr Marmette, "Le Tomahawk et l'Epée" is an extract from a MS. which at the date of publication was among the records in the Archbishop's Palace at Quebec, relating to another lay brother, François Malherbe, who died in 1696. It is there stated that Malherbe carried for two leagues on his back, the charred remains of the two Jesuits, Brébœuf and Lallemand, as they were being conveyed to Quebec. That MS. is now among the records of the Bishopric of Chicoutimi.

Regnaut's account, which bears every mark of authenticity, I obtained in Paris. It was guaranteed to be original and authentic, and I have since had it closely scrutinised, the result being to leave no doubt that the document is genuine. I have added a translation, made as literal as the structure of the language would admit, so as to preserve, so far as that is possible, the simplicity of the original.

It may be permitted to give briefly a statement of the negotiations consequent on this event, the success of which might have changed the whole aspect of affairs in North America.

The slaughter of the two Jesuits was the climax to a series of attacks by the Iroquois on the Hurons, and so terrified the latter, that they fled to what they believed to be places of security, leaving the French settlements of Montreal, Three Rivers and Quebec, completely exposed to the Iroquois. In 1647, negotiations had been opened by Governor Winthrop, of Massachusetts, for a treaty of commerce between New England and New France, but, according to the "Epistola" of R. P. Gabriel Dreuillette to Winthrop's son, these had ceased on the death of the elder Winthrop. The letter, "Epistola ad Dominum Illustrissimum, Dominum Joannem Winthrop, Scutarium" was found among the family papers of Mr. Robert C. Winthrop and printed by Mr. J. Gilmary Shea in 1859. The statement it contains, that the first proposals for a treaty came from New England, is confirmed by the evidence of two documents to be found in Charlevoix, vol. I, pp. 287 to 239 (Paris, 1744) and reprinted in the first volume of the "Collection de Manuscrits" published by the Government of Quebec in 1883, one at page 127, the other at page 123. They are entitled, "Lettre du Conseil de Québec aux Commissaires de la Nouvelle Angleterre," and "Nomination de M. de Godefroy, pour traiter avec les commissaires de la Nouvelle Angleterre." Both are dated 20 June, 1651.

Shortly after the death of the two Jesuits and the dispersion of the Hurons, the Governor and Council of Quebec reopened negotiations through R. P. Dreuillete, the scope of the proposed treaty being, however, extended so as to include, as will be seen by reference to the above named documents, not only a treaty of commerce but also a league offensive and defensive against the Iroquois. M. Godfroy was appointed in 1651 to co operate with Dreuillete in the negotiations. Their proposals, which were at first received favourably by the separate Councils, were rejected at Newhaven on the 6th September, 1651, by the General Court of Commissioners for the four United Colonies, and the struggle between New England and Canada, continuing for upwards of a hundred years, was renewed with increased bitterness.

With respect to the Catalogue of the documents added since the publication of last report, it has been considered better not to give it this year, improvements in the arrangements being now in progress, which will, when completed, enable a more satisfactory catalogue to be published than is possible at the present moment. The total number of bound volumes now on the shelves is about 5,500, chiefly manuscript and official records, the others being works of historical importance, the contents of all of which are readily accessible by means of the office catalogues.

The whole respectfully submitted,

DOUGLAS BRYMNER,

Archivist.

No. 3.

Old Map.

A friend has lent me a map, which, I believe, was made for Sir John Johnson. It is an original document drawn and signed by Patrick McNiff, and dated the 1st November, 1786. The title is in these words:—

"A plan of part of the new settlements on the North bank of the south-west branch of the St. Lawrence River, commencing near Point au Bodett, on Lake St. Francis, and extending westerly along the said north bank to the west boundary of Township Number 5, laid down from the latest surveys and observations, November 1st, 1786.

(Signed)

PATRICK McNIFF."

The townships are not named as they are now, but are designated on the Margin thus:—

" Lake Township.
 " Township No. 1.
 " do No. 2.
 " do No. 3.
 " do No. 4.
 " do No. 5.

with a short description opposite each Township.

"The scale of chains is 40 to an inch.

"The bearing of the side lines is N. 24 W.

"The dotted lines are all run and marked.

"The double lines are roads left.

"The bearing of Monsieur Longuilles west Boundary is N. 34° W.

("The dotted lines" are the Concession lines).

The town plot, of a mile square, is marked where Cornwall stands, it is not laid out in streets or lots, and is named "Johnstown" on the map. The lots in the townships that were occupied, have the names of the respective occupants written on them.

The map is well drawn, is mounted on canvas and, though showing signs of age, is in good preservation; it gives the Lake and River with the islands from Point au Beaudette to the west limit of Matilda, and extends to the front of the 3rd Concessions of Matilda, Williamsburg, Os nabruck and Lancaster, and to the 5th of Cornwall and Charlottenburg.

It proves that up to the end of 1786 the townships were not named as they are now, but (with the exception of Lancaster, called the "Lake Township,") were numbered, and also shows the probability of the present names not having been given until Lord Dorchester's Proclamation was issued in 1788.

NOTE C.

REPORT ON NOVA SCOTIA BY COL. ROBERT MORSE,
R. E., 1784.

- A General Description of the Province of Nova Scotia, and a Report of the present State of the Defences, with Observations leading to the further growth and Security of this Colony, done by Lieutenant COLONEL MORSE, Chief Engineer in America, upon a Tour of the Province in the Autumn of the Year 1783, and the Summer, 1784. Under the Orders and Instructions of His Excellency, Sir Guy Carleton, General and Commander-in-Chief of His Majesty's Forces in North America, given at Head Quarters at New York, the 23th Day of July, 1783.

The Geographical Situation being known, as well as the late political Revolutions, which have so much increased the consequence of this Province, I shall confine myself to a more local description of the Coasts, Harbours, Rivers, Nature of the Country, Soil and Produce, Climate, Extent and Contents, Number of Inhabitants, and Present Defence.

Description of the Southern Coast.

Bay of Fundy.

The Southern Coast, lying upon the Atlantic Ocean, extending from Cape Canso, the eastern extremity, to Cape Sable the western, a distance of seventy-five leagues, is a high, rocky, barren shore, but abounds with, or is rather a continuation of, Bays and Harbours, the principal of which, Halifax and Port Roseway will be more particularly mentioned hereafter; but there are many others, deep, spacious, easy of access, and good harbours. In most of these are rivers drawn from the country at less or greater distances, some navigable for canoes from 20 to 40 miles, communicating with lakes, with which the country abounds, and which never fail to supply the rivers with waters. These, from their having a considerable fall, are very proper for turning all sorts of mills. From Cape Sable the coast runs north about 21 leagues to St. Mary's, the southern point of that arm of the sea called the Bay of Fundy, which, running in a north-east direction almost through the Province of Nova Scotia, to within 16 miles of Bay Verte, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, divides the Province nearly into two equal parts, making a great peninsula of one; the southern and western coast of which, having been already described, it remains to describe the northern from St. Mary's, where there is a large Bay running parallel to the coast nearly 27 miles in depth, with two passages out of it into the Bay of Fundy. The next is that of Annapolis Royal, which is about 12 leagues up the Bay of Fundy, and is not only the best harbour in the Bay, but among the best in the Province. The coast from hence as high as Cape Blowmedown, which is at the entrance of the Bason of Mines, and is distant about 26 leagues, is very high, steep and rocky. The other point forming the entrance into this bason is Cape Chignecto, a remarkable high and bold tongue of land, which divides the Bay of Fundy into two large branches.

The northern of these Branches is called Chignecto Bay, and is that which, running in a north-east direction about thirteen leagues up the country, approaches near to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, as has been before mentioned. The southern Branch is the Bason of Mines, which penetrates into the country in an easterly direction to within 30 miles of Pictou Harbour in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Off Cape Chignecto, about five miles to the South-West lies Isle Haut (probably so called from its height). The tides in both these branches rise to a remarkable height, to upwards of 60 feet, which render the navigation extremely difficult and precarious. To complete the coast of the Peninsula, I shall cross the Isthmus to Bay Verte, and describe that part of the north east coast which is in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and runs east to the Gut of Canso, distant about 40 leagues, a remarkable passage which separates the Island of Cape Breton from the north-east extremity of the Peninsula of Nova Scotia, and makes a communication between the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, which, though not above three-quarters of a mile broad, is safe and easy of navigation. Between Bay Verte and the Gut of Canso, are several small harbours fit for fishing towns, such as Remsbeg, Tatmegouche, Harbour St. John, Pictou and Margomish, besides St. George's, which is a large Bay at the mouth of the Gut of Canso, opening into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and between Cape Canso before mentioned and the mouth of the Gut towards the Atlantic Ocean is another deep and spacious Bay called Chedactueto, out of which, on the western side, is a very good small Harbour called Milford Haven. These Bays at each entrance of the Gut of Canso, in both of which is good anchorage, are very favourable to the navigation of the Gut. Having traced the Coast of the Peninsula, it may next be proper to mention the principal Islands adjacent; as Cape Breton, St. Johns, &c., but as I have not visited any of these I can only at present show their situations. The former, I have before observed, is separated from the North East extremity by the Gut of Canso, a passage about four leagues in length. This Island follows nearly the same direction with the southern coast of the Peninsula, and has all the appearance of having been separated from it by the weight of water in the Gulf of St. Lawrence forcing this passage. The Island of St. John is in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, at the distance of seven leagues from Cape George, extending about 32 leagues nearly parallel to the north-east coast of the Peninsula, at a distance of from four to seven leagues, and forms that passage called Northumberland Streights. Off Cape Canso in a south-south east direction, at a distance of about 25 leagues, is the Isle of Sable; a long narrow, sandy Island rising to a ridge of a considerable height towards the centre. This Island, from its situation off that part of the coast generally first made by ships coming from Europe, has proved fatal to many. About four leagues to the westward of Cape Sable, are the Seal Islands, a chain of dangerous rocks unfortunately situated for ships making the western extremity of the Peninsula; and in the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, there are the Grand Manan and Wolf Islands. The former considerable, being 12 leagues in length and five in breadth. This Island though always considered as a part of the Province of Nova Scotia, has never been settled, probably owing to the difficult navigation about it, produced by the powerful tides of the Bay of Fundy; nor are these Islands a less evil in respect of the navigation into the Bay of Fundy. There are besides, at the entrance of most of the Bays and Harbours, small Islands which are so numerous that few of them have even been named. On the whole of this Coast at different distances, are various fishing banks, from 30 to 40 fathom deep, which abound with cod, haddock and other excellent fish, to the taking and curing of which, the numerous Harbours before mentioned, give a facility peculiar to this country.

Pasamaquody Bay and the Islands lying across it.

Having gone round the Coast of the Peninsula, I shall cross the Bay of Fundy to Pasamaquody Bay which may be considered as the north west extremity of that arm of the sea, and is distant from St. Mary's, which has been before named, about 17 leagues. Into Pasamaquody Bay, which is of great extent, falls the River St. Croix, the Boundary between the Province of Nova Scotia and the easternmost of the American States. Across the mouth of this Bay lie several Islands, which make the navigation into it very difficult.

Etang Harbour.

The most considerable, and which are in some degree settled, are Campo Bello, Moose Island and Deer Island. At the former there is a tolerable harbour, but the great Bay of Pasamaquody is much too spacious, and the water too deep, to be considered in that light, though the Branch which runs up to the mouth of the Scodiac River, after getting into the Bay, is a very secure harbour. A little to the eastwards of Pasamaquody, and which may be considered as connected with it by a chain of islands, is Etang Harbour, the best perhaps, in a military light, in the Province, as being the easiest to defend. The entrance into this harbour is formed to the eastward by a narrow point of the main land, and to the westward by a small Island, making a passage about four hundred yards wide. Both the shores are high and bold, and have about 14 fathom water. This harbour is also sufficiently spacious for any purpose whatever, and most perfectly land-locked. The passage into it, which is in a north-west direction, is strait and easy, and in case of contrary winds there are very good anchoring places, or rather, other harbours on each side—one to the south west, the other to the north-east. Should not the general situation of this harbour be objected to on account of its being so near the extremity of the Province, and what seems a greater evil, lying in the mouth of the Bay of Fundy, the navigation into which is so extremely difficult on account of the rapidity of the tides and frequency of fogs, I should think it the most eligible harbour I have seen for securing the naval and military arsenals of the Province; and as the tide is more moderate here than higher up in the Bay of Fundy, docks might be constructed in this harbour. I shall now proceed up the northern coast of the Bay of Fundy, to the harbour, which is at the mouth of the River St. John. This is about 12 leagues to the eastward of Etang Harbour, and nearly opposite to Annapolis Royal, the breadth of the Bay of Fundy being here about 12 leagues. This is not an harbour for men of war, nor indeed a good one for merchantmen. There is a bar which can be passed only at certain times of the tide, and there are other shoals which make the navigation into it difficult; nor can it be deemed a safe harbour even when a vessel has got in. The coast from hence, eastwards, far up into Chignecto Bay, is like that described on the opposite side of the Bay of Fundy—high, steep, rocky, and without a break in the shore, which is so bold as to render anchoring dangerous, and the tides are so rapid that a very fair and fresh wind is necessary to stem them. In short, the navigation of the whole of the Bay of Fundy, except for a few months in the summer, and then with good pilots, is extremely dangerous. To complete the coast of the Province, I must again cross the isthmus to Bay Verte, and describe the remaining part lying north-west in the Gulf of St. Lawrence till it joins the coast of Canada in Bay Chaleurs, into which runs the Restigouche River, the Boundary between the Provinces of Nova Scotia and Canada. From Bay Verte to Bay Chaleurs is about 47 leagues; and between them are the small harbours, Shediac, Cocagne, Richibucto and Mirimichi, which is 20 leagues distant from Bay Chaleurs.

Harbour at the mouth of the River St. John.

Principal Rivers in the Peninsula. Annapolis River.

I have next to speak of the Rivers,—and I shall begin with those in the Peninsula. The principal ones, or rather those most known, are Annapolis and the Rivers which fall into the Bason of Mines, and those which fall into Chignecto Bay, in which order they shall be named. Annapolis River, from the Bason or Harbour, rises north-east and nearly parallel to the coast about 12 miles, navigable for ships of any burden, as high as where the Town and Fort are built:—This River is drawn from the country nearly in the same direction, and is navigable for boats with the tide from 30 to 40 miles higher; the banks of which, though among the first settled in the Province, are very thinly interspersed with poor inhabitants, who, from want of industry, money and perhaps that protection necessary to secure their property, have done no justice to a soil, surface and situation, capable of producing as good and great a variety of grain, and perhaps better pasture than most parts of America.

Rivers falling into the Basin of Mines.

The Rivers Pierro, Petite Habitante, Canard, Cornwallis, formerly called Grosse Habitante, and Horton, called by the French Gaspereau, fall into the west side of the Bason of Mines, just above Cape Blowmedown, having their mouths very near together. This district of country, now making the Townships of Horton and Cornwallis, is the richest and best cultivated in the Province, and yields as fine productions as any in America. The banks of these rivers were first cultivated by the French, who diked in large tracts of land formerly overflowed, and which are still so rich as to appear inexhaustible. The next is Windsor River, which is more considerable than any of the latter, though not so well cultivated, evidently from the want of inhabitants, as the soil is not inferior. Into the Windsor River, which divides the Township of Windsor from Falmouth, fall the half-way River, the St. Croix, dividing the Township of Newport from Windsor, and the Kenticook:—The latter has a communication with the Shubenacady, which is the largest and perhaps the most valuable river on the whole Peninsula. The source of this river is a large lake not above ten miles from Halifax Bason, from which lake it is navigable for boats 50 miles into the Cul de sac that terminates the Bason of Mines, and is called the Cobbiquid. The banks of this river from the natural productions and the few inconsiderable settlements there are upon it, show as good soil and surface as any in the whole Peninsula and from its proximity to Halifax, with which, by a chain of small lakes, it communicates and is passable in canoes to the Dartmouth side of Halifax Harbour, it may appear extraordinary that it should not have been more cultivated; but this will be accounted for hereafter. About 16 miles from the mouth of this river on the east side is the Soûiac, the largest river that falls into the Shubenacady. It rises in an easterly direction to within about 20 miles of the south-east coast. The tide flows up the Soûiac from six to eight miles, and up the Shubenacady above 30 miles. There are several other small rivers which fall into the Shubenaccady. At the head of the Cobbiquid, the Salmon River, which divides the Townships of Truro and Onslow, and on the North side of the Bason of Mines, are the Chignoize, dividing the Township of Onslow from Londonderry, the DeBurk, Great Village River, Porc-épic, Bass River, and Chignecto, which latter falls into the Bason of Mines near Partridge Island, where the Ferry between Windsor and Cumberland is established.

Rivers falling into Cumberland Bason.

The upper part of Chignecto Bay terminates in Cumberland Bason (called by the French Beau Bassin) into which fall the Tinamar, Au Lac, Messaguash, La Planche, the Napan, the Macan, and the River Hebert. The latter nearly traverses the tongue of land, which divides Chignecto Bay from the Bason of Mines, by means of which the communication is in part maintained between Windsor and Cumberland. There is another considerable river on this tongue of land, which empties itself into the Chignecto Branch, called Apple River. The Messaguash River nearly traverses the narrowest part of the Isthmus of the great Peninsula, and rises to within about four miles of Bay Verte. The banks of the rivers in the neighbourhood of Cumberland are considerably cultivated. There are large tracts of marsh land which have been diked in, and when belonging to the French bore vast quantities of wheat and other grain, but are now mostly in meadow. The upland in this part of the country is tolerably level, the soil good, and appears very favourable to tillage; but this country, with all the advantages described, has been extremely neglected, the few inhabitants who were well affected, raising little more than was necessary for their own subsistence. The causes assigned for the neglected state of the country about Annapolis apply alike here, and that of its insecurity still more forcibly, for such was the disposition of the major part of the inhabitants, that during the late War, the Fort at Cumberland was invested with an army of the disaffected, led by a person they had invited from New England for that purpose. There is a road from Cumberland to Bay Verte, still passable, though it has been long neglected, and in some places broken up, but in the time of the French was much used, and grain carried to Bay Verte for exportation, quantities of which were sent to Canada.

An extraordinary circumstance attending the Fort at Cumberland.

Principal Rivers on the continental part of the province beginning with St. John.

Having spoken of the rivers in the Peninsula, the banks of which are cultivated, I shall proceed to name the principal rivers on the continental part of the Province, beginning with St. John's, which is not only the most considerable in this Province, but among the largest in the eastern part of America. The mouth of this river has been before mentioned as falling into a harbour of the same name, immediately opposite to Annapolis Royal. At the entrance into this river, which is very narrow, there are two falls. The lower one, about 150 yards wide, is rather a rapid than a fall. The upper one is between 400 and 500 yards across, and appears to be formed by a vast bar of rocks, which, at high and low water, occasions a fall and tremendous convulsions in the water:—These, however, at half flood and half ebb, subside, and are passable for twenty minutes or half an hour, not only for boats, but for vessels drawing from 12 to 14 feet water. This is a curious phenomenon produced by the great rise of the Bay of Fundy tide meeting at this bar and holding in equilibrium, the vast discharge of waters from the River St. John, in which state the surface is perfectly level, till the tide prevailing and rising much higher than this bar, occasions nearly as great a fall at high water as upon its return in the opposite direction at low water; nor is it less curious that the tide which rises at least 24 feet below the bar, immediately above does not rise more than three or four feet. After passing the Falls a spacious bay opens, and from thence rises in a northern course a vast river expanding itself in many places to a Sea navigable for ships of any burden; but for vessels drawing nine feet water, to the Township of Maugerville—large boats and petite augers go above St. Ann's Point which is 20 miles higher and the tide flows perceptibly to the Indian Chapel, which is about 95 miles from the mouth of the river. Here is the first rapid or rather shallow place, over which however flat boats and canoes pass with ease, and go up the river to the Great Falls, a distance of 220 miles. Here is a portage or carrying place of about three quarters of a mile, after which it is still a vast river upwards of 20 miles higher, where the main branch takes a western course, and has not been explored. From hence rises in a northern direction the Madawaska River likewise navigable for canoes. About 30 miles higher to the Temisquata Lake which is only 36 miles from the River St. Lawrence, from whence a road has been opened near the Kamaraska, which is about 100 miles below Quebec, to this lake, offering a most favourable communication with Canada. By means of this road, and going down the Madawaska and St. John's Rivers in canoes persons have passed from Quebec to Halifax in 12 and 14 days. The whole distance from the mouth of the River St. John to the River St. Lawrence being by the foregoing computation about 300 miles.—Besides the great extent of the River St. John, there are several very large branches running out out of it particularly on the eastern side, such as the Kenebeccasins, the Washadamoic, and the Grand Lake. There is also an infinite number of rivers, falling into it, more perhaps than into any river in America, some of them very extensive, communicating to the eastward with different bays in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and to the westward with Pasamaquody, and several Bays in the New England States, as far as Penobscot—circumstances which must prove very advantageous when the country becomes settled and cultivated. Such a number of lakes and rivers discharging into the St. John, must, of course, make a vast body of water. This, the original or Indian name of the River (Orastook) implies, signifying a great collection of water; and here I would observe that, the bar which has been described at the mouth of this river, and which at first sight appears an evil, I am persuaded is an advantage, for by checking the impetuosity of the Bay of Fundy tide, that which flows over the bar becomes so moderate as to render the river at all times navigable either up or down. This is not the case with any of the other rivers falling into the Bay of Fundy which are affected by that irresistible tide. In a river of this extent a variety of soil must be expected, but as it is not my business at present to enter into a minute description, I shall speak of it in general terms; For the first thirty miles, the borders of the river are high, rocky and barren. The lands mostly burned, and scarcely any settlements on them. From hence the banks become in general low, and in the spring of the year are occasionally overflowed, such lands in this country are called Interval Lands, and are exceedingly rich. From hence the river has been laid out on both sides, into different Townships for about 40 miles higher up and almost all the lands granted away, though there are very few settlements except in the Township of Maugerville, which is on the east side and has about 18 miles front on the river, tolerably well inhabited, but the people, poor and indolent, have cultivated only those Interval Lands, which being easily cleared, and the soil inexhaustible, they have drawn a subsistence from the spots they first cleared. From where the banks become low, there are several islands in the river, forming almost a chain; these islands are all of this Interval Land, are very rich and valuable, some of them containing three or four hundred acres of land. The Township of Sunbury on the west side of the river was the last laid out, and the lands generally granted as high as St. Ann's Point, about 90 miles up the River; and although I have already said they are very thinly settled, yet very small portions, indeed, have been escheated in favour of the Loyalists. The country, however, from St. Ann's Point, up to the Great Falls, is not at all inferior, abounding with islands, interval, and all the advantages of the lower country, excepting that the navigation must be carried on in very flat boats, and that it is so much further from the mouth of the river, circumstances which have proved very unfavourable to settling the Loyalists. There is a great deal of valuable timber on the river St. John, though not much oak, nor mast-wood; but in some of the rivers falling into it, very fine masts are still to be found; to the preservation of which timely attention should be paid. Upon the whole, notwithstanding the difficulties which from the description given must attend the first settlers upon the upper parts of this river, it must, in the end, become the most flourishing, as well as permanent part of the Province.

Petcodiac
River.

I shall now proceed to the Petcodiac. This likewise is a very considerable river, but not comparable to the River St. John, nor is it so well known. It is large and deep for some distance into the country, but the tide rising to such an extraordinary height renders even the passage of boats precarious. About 20 miles up this river which rises nearly in a north direction, a large branch goes off west, and communicates within a distance of two miles with the Kennebecasins, a river falling into the St. John, at its union with which is a great bay or lake. The distance through the country traversed by these two rivers, and nearly parallel to the coast, is between 70 and 80 miles:—There is another considerable river, the Memramcook which also falls into Chignecto Bay, near the mouth of the Petcodiac, and about ten miles to the westward is the Shepody River.

Rivers falling into the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

I have next to name the rivers falling into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, but as I had not an opportunity of visiting that part of the coast, nor of receiving such information respecting them as I could trust to, I shall speak of them only in general terms. In all the bays before named lying from the Gut of Canso to Bay Chaleurs, there are rivers, too many to be enumerated, and some very considerable ones, particularly in the Bay of Miramichi and Bay Chaleurs,—into the latter falls the Restigouche, the boundary river between the Provinces of Nova Scotia and Canada. Upon many of these rivers there are old settlements, and from what I saw at Bay Verte and Pictou Harbours, the only parts of this coast I had an opportunity of visiting, which I did by crossing the Isthmus, there is a great deal of valuable timber. At the latter I saw very large masts, which I am told are to be found upon all the principal rivers. Besides other fish, these rivers abound with salmon; great quantities of which are cured for exportation. Oysters are likewise found upon this part of the coast. A little to the south-east of Bay Verte is the Isthmus.

Tignish River, which, though not considerable, yet as rising within two miles of the Messaguash, the river before named, which so nearly traverses the Isthmus, is worthy of observation, and suggests the idea of opening a water communication between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy. This, notwithstanding the surprising difference of the rise of the tides in these two seas, which in the latter is upwards of 60 feet, and in the former not more than seven or eight, would, I am of opinion, be attended with good effects. It appears, upon inspection, that these two rivers at their sources, where the waters are almost at rest, are nearly upon the same level, and as both these rivers are affected by their proper tides, the conclusion is, that the two seas likewise at high water are not far from being upon the same level; a communication therefore might be opened between them, and if a canal were cut the depth of eight feet, which is the rise of the tide in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, it would produce an almost constant discharge into the Bay of Fundy. Besides the many and great advantages which would result to the country from such a communication, the constant discharge of water into the Bay of Fundy might, in some degree, check the prodigious rise of tide there. This, however, might be ascertained by taking the levels, which my time would not permit.

The River
St. Croix, or western Boundary.

It remains yet to speak of the St. Croix River or western Boundary, between the Province of Nova Scotia, and the easternmost of the American States, which is far from being explicitly described in the Treaty of Peace, and, it is presumed that no time should be lost in ascertaining an object of so much importance. Into Great Pasamaquody Bay, which has before been named, three rivers fall each of them called by different Geographers and Surveyors St. Croix:—I shall speak of them separately under their original or Indian names, according to the best information I could collect upon the spot, having been disappointed in my intentions of exploring them particularly. The western, or Copscook, which falls into a Branch of Pasamaquody Bay, is considerable, rising from about 20 miles up the country, and is divided into such a number of small streams as to render its sources doubtful: This river, however, appears by records in the Province of Nova Scotia, to have been the boundary between that Province, and the Territory of Sagadahoe in the Province of Massachusetts Bay. The middle St. Croix or Scodiac, falls into the great Bay of Pasamaquody, and is by much the most considerable of these rivers. It comes from a large lake which lies in a north-west direction between 40 and 50 miles up the country, from whence the principal branch rises in a more western course a great way into the country, but how far to its source I could not with precision learn. At the height of about 15 miles up this river are falls or rather rapids—occasioning a portage or carrying place of three-quarters of a mile, above which it is navigable for flat boats and canoes upwards of 40 miles to the lake before mentioned. The eastern St. Croix or the Majiggadowy, which also falls into the great Bay of Pasamaquody, is less considerable than the Scodiac, and is drawn from some lakes near the banks of the river St. John, and has different communications with that river. It will therefore appear from what has been said, that the middle river or Scodiac, not only from being so much the most considerable and consequently the best natural boundary, but from its western course is the most favourable to the interests of Great Britain, as securing infinitely the greatest tract of country, for as the Copscook rises but a little way, upon applying the line North from its source—

Observations
upon the

as directed in the Treaty of Peace—not only all the upper country lying upon the Scodiac would be lost, but the greatest part of the upper and best lands upon the river St. John likewise:—This it is presumed could never have been intended, and appears to have been occasioned by a want of that geographical knowledge so necessary in drawing boundaries between Powers, who have been at war; in doing which, rivers, or other distinct and natural features should be sought after, instead of having recourse to imaginary lines. I cannot help extending this observation somewhat further. About 50 leagues to the westward of Pasamaquody, is the Kenebec River, the old boundary between the Province of Main and Sagadahoe, which latter has scarcely been considered as belonging to the American States, having never or very irregularly paid taxes nor performed service, and is thinly inhabited by persons who withdrew themselves to avoid both. This is not only a very considerable river rendered notorious by Arnold's Expedition into Canada, but rises so high as to meet within a degree of latitude the River Chaudière, which falls into the St. Lawrence nearly opposite to Quebec, a circumstance so favourable to both Provinces, as seems to have pointed it out as the best and most natural boundary between the British Colonies and the American States; besides what has been said of the condition and disposition of the few Americans settled in the Territory Sagadahoe, at the time the Provisional Treaty was made, there was a British Military Post established at Penobscot in the very heart of that country, and a number of refugees settled in it, who have lost their labour and been obliged to abandon their settlements in that neighbourhood. After these observations, to speak of the value of the lands and the more valuable timber, would lengthen the digression and might be considered out of place.

Nature of the country in the Peninsula.

The appearance of this Province from the sea, has already, in part been described. It is universally high, bold, rocky, and such as is commonly called an ironbound shore. The lands, too, near the coast, particularly on the south east side lying on the Atlantic, are very stony and barren. They are covered, however, with trees, most of which are evergreens, such as spruce, pine, &c.; but there is very little valuable wood near the coast. The interior of this country is so much unknown, that very little description can be given of it. It may, without impropriety, be said, that in the whole Peninsula there is only one road, that leading from Halifax to Windsor, through Cornwallis and Horton to Annapolis Royal, a distance of about 135 miles. And this cannot be considered as penetrating into the country further than Horton, which is about 60 miles, as afterwards the road runs parallel to, and very near the coast of the Bay of Fundy. The soil and surface, as far as can be judged of from the road, which is through a continuation of wood, after going 15 or 16 miles from Halifax, begin to be good, and continue improving all the way to Windsor. The country adjoining to which, including the Townships of Falmouth and Newport, is very fertile, a good deal cultivated, and produces all the European grain in as great abundance, and hay in a greater, than most countries in America. Indian corn is likewise raised here, and a variety of pulse, which, with all sorts of roots and vegetables, are remarkably good. The country about Horton and Cornwallis still excels that of Windsor, both in original soil and in cultivation. They have here the common fruits of apples, pears, plums and cherries, all which thrive so well, as to prove that cultivation only is wanted to raise the various fruits of Europe, or those of the northern parts of America. Nor is the soil at all inferior of the other Townships of Truro, Onslow and Londonderry, which have before been mentioned as lying on the Cobbiquid, at the head of the Bason of Mines; but these lands are not so far advanced in cultivation. From Horton to Annapolis Royal, a distance from 60 to 70 miles, the surface is in general good; but the soil for the first 20 miles, till the road meets the Annapolis River, is sandy and sterile. This road, as has been before observed, runs nearly parallel to the coast of the Bay of Fundy, and is not any where distant above 15 miles, and as soon as it meets the Annapolis River, is traced nearly parallel to that likewise. Between the Annapolis River and the shore of the Bay of Fundy, is a vast ridge of mountains, terminating to the south-westward at Annapolis Gut, of which it forms one side, and to the north-eastward at Cape Blowmedown. This ridge, which seems to rise immediately out of the sea, and is at the Gut of Annapolis very high, rises gradually to Cape Blowmedown, where, as has been before observed, it forms one side of the entrance into the Bason of Mines, and is remarkable for having two such passages through it, the shores of which are perpendicular, and of a prodigious depth. This ridge, which may be considered as a barrier, and shelters all the north side of the Peninsula, falls so gradually towards the Annapolis River, as to be capable of cultivation, to which the soil invites. It is, at present, entirely covered with wood, mostly birch and maple, which are distinguished in this country by the appellation of hard woods, and generally denote a good soil. Before I quit this ridge, I would observe that the long narrow neck which forms the Bay of St. Mary, before named, appears to be a continuation of it, cut through only by the narrow Gut of Annapolis, which is about three quarters of a mile broad. St. Mary's Bay is separated from the Bason of Annapolis, by a narrow isthmus of about five miles, on which are some inconsiderable settlements of the Acadians.

A remarkable ridge of mountains.

Paths cut through the woods.

Out of the road leading to Windsor a path has been opened through the wood to the Cobbiquid, communicating with the towns already named in that neighbourhood, and from thence through the Township of Amherst to Cumberland, by means of which, cattle have been driven upon the snow, when frozen, to Halifax. Such other openings have likewise been made from the head of the Cobbiquid to Pictou and Tatmegouche Harbours. These cannot be called roads, being simply cuts through the wood, with trees marked to discover them, which serve, however, to show the country is fit for and would amply repay the labour of cultivation. Wherever the wood has been cleared an excellent grass springs up, which fattens cattle, and produces as rich milk and as good butter as in any country whatever. There are, besides, some inconsiderable paths in different parts of the coast communicating from one bay to another, but not such as at all discover the interior part of the country, which, from the ruggedness of the surface, the thickness of the woods, innumerable lakes and difficulties arising from climate, is little known. But perhaps the negligence and supineness of the inhabitants may have contributed more to this ignorance than all the rest, for among them I have found very few who have even traversed the Peninsula, though it is nowhere above 75 miles across. From Annapolis Royal to Liverpool (which is on the south-east coast, and about 23 leagues to the westward of Halifax) the country has been traversed the greatest part of the way in a birch canoe, going up a small river near Annapolis, called Allan's

River, for about 12 miles to a lake, and by communications from lake to lake to the head of Liverpool River, which runs out of a large lake, called Panuke, that is 10 or 12 miles across, the length lying east and west, or longitudinally as to the Peninsula. From this lake down the river to Liverpool is about 20 miles. The whole journey was performed in four days; the several carrying places, being ten or twelve in number, amounting together in length to about 18 miles. The banks of these rivers and lakes are described as rich lands, bearing, among other hard woods, large red oak, and the grass remarkably luxuriant. The country from Port Roseway to Annapolis Bason has been traversed—first by going up a small river from the head of the former harbour, and from lake to lake to the distance of 45 miles, done in a flat boat pushed up against the stream with poles. From hence the surface is described as rugged, rocky, cut with a number of rivers communicating with innumerable lakes, till towards the approach of the opposite shore and the head of the rivers falling into the Bay of Fundy, when the soil becomes better, producing hard woods and red oak timber. The surface likewise, though rather steep, is capable of cultivation. This having been the first attempt, the account of the country is but imperfect. The distance travelled, by computation, was somewhat about 100 miles, which, from bad weather and other obstructions common through a country entirely in wood, and so much cut with rivers and lakes, employed fourteen days. Upon the whole it appears that towards the centre of the Peninsula are the largest lakes—that these generally take the course of the Peninsula, nearly east and west, that they supply the rivers, and that there are various communications between them.

Nature of the country on the continental part of the Province.

Still less is known of the nature of the country on the continental part of the Province, for except at the mouth of the St. John's River, where a few hundred acres only have been cleared, the surface of which is very stony, the whole is a scene of wood, and that so thick, that it is neither possible to describe the soil, nor the surface. Of the former some idea may be formed by the great luxuriancy of the natural productions. Besides the vast quantity of standing wood, the surface is covered with trees which have decayed and fallen. And the moss growing upon these and running from one to another entirely covers, for large tracts together, the surface of the earth and not only renders it difficult to judge of the soil, but occasions infinite labour in clearing the land. There is another appearance common throughout the Province. Vast tracts of what is called burned lands, having standing wood upon them that is dead. When the moss before described is dry, it easily takes fire, which running according to the direction of the wind, frequently for an hundred miles together, destroys the trees and every thing it meets, and is supposed greatly to injure the lands. This evil is common all through America, and has produced the worst effects. These fires have been oftentimes occasioned by the carelessness of the Indians and probably sometimes by lightning, as they have been known to break out in the most unfrequented parts. The soil and produce having been already partially mentioned, and reasons assigned for not saying much more at present of the former, I shall proceed to collect, as far as my observation has gone, the various productions. The pasture is universally good, a great variety of the best grasses appearing wherever the country has been cleared. It already has been said that all sorts of European grain are produced here, and, where the lands have been cultivated, in quantity per acre,

The various productions

- and in weight equal to most parts of Europe. Hemp and Flax are likewise produced, and so are very fine Hops. Indian Corn grows too, and though the ears are not so large, they are more numerous than in the Southern climates, and it is much cultivated by the poorer inhabitants. All sorts of European legumes and edible roots are produced here, and they are remarkably good. Fruits have been but little cultivated, though in the old French settlements, apples, pears, plums and cherries are found, and prove that cultivation only is wanted. The woods universally afford strawberries and raspberries, the latter in the utmost abundance, for wherever the woods have been cleared, the raspberry shrub constantly shoots up and the fruit is excellent. Wild gooseberries, wild cherries, cranberries, and all the more common berries of Europe are found here.
- Fruits.
- There are of the various sorts of spruce and pine, of birch, maple, beech, elm, oak and ash, but not much valuable timber on the Peninsula. Up the River St. John, and many of the other large rivers, some white oak is to be found, but in no great quantity. There is mast wood upon them all, and upon some very large, and in great abundance. To the medicinal woods I did not pay much attention. Sarsaparilla is common, however, all through the Province. The maple of this country yields, by a very simple process, most excellent sugar, little, if at all, inferior to that produced from the cane, and the same tree will yield for eight or ten years successively.
- Woods.
- The oxen and sheep of this country yield the best of meat, from the excellence of the pasture, better than in most parts of America, and the country in general seems very proper for grazing. It is also favourable for breeding horses, and there is a strong, useful race of them at present raised here. The most valuable of the wild animals is the moose deer, which is in great abundance. The vast size of this animal, and the excellence of its meat prove a great resource to the Indians and poorer inhabitants, who dry the flesh without salt, so as to keep it the year round. There are but few of the caribou, and still fewer of the smaller deer now left in the Province. There is an abundance of hares, an animal that in its appearance, and in the taste of its flesh, seems to partake of both the hare and the rabbit of Europe. The black bear is common, and when young, the flesh is eaten, either fresh, salted or dried; the fat melted and clarified is a good substitute for oil, and their skins are valuable. The peltry is inconsiderable, and the few Indians remaining on the Peninsula neglect to take even the little there is. In the northern part of the Province joining to Canada, some valuable furs are still to be found, but the Indians, during the late war, brought very little to market. There are no animals in this Province dangerous to the human species, nor are there any noxious reptiles.
- Animals.
- There is a great variety, as well as abundance, of water fowl, and a vast many of the birch and spruce partridges in the woods. These birds in size, plumage and nature, especially the former sort, are more like the European pheasant than partridge, and are delicious eating. The flesh of the former is white, of the latter brown, and somewhat like the grouse of Europe. There is no great variety of other birds, except of the Falcon genus.
- Birds.
- Of fish, I have already said, this coast abounds in the greatest degree. Cod, mackerel, shad and salmon may be exported from this Province with as much advantage as from any part of America,
- Fish.

nor is its situation less advantageous for the whale fishery. The rivers and lakes likewise afford an abundance of fish.

Fossils.

I have yet to add that iron and copper ores have been found in the neighbourhood of the Basin of Mines, from whence it probably took its name; and that coals are found in different parts of the Province. In Chignecto Bay, and near to Fort Cumberland, there is excellent coal within eighteen inches of the surface of the earth, with which the people in that neighbourhood supply themselves. Upon the St. John's River, coals have likewise been found, and as the country becomes cleared and better known, it is presumed more coal will be discovered to supply fuel in place of the wood cut down. In different parts of the Province, but particularly up the St. John's River, there is an abundance of lime stone, and there is also a kind of coarse marble; and in the neighbourhood of Halifax the true moor stone and tolerably good slate. Bricks are made all over the Province; and upon the St. Croix River, near Windsor, the Shubenacadly, in the Gut of Canso, and in some other parts of the Province, there are vast quantities of plaster of Paris; the harder sort has been used and makes excellent plaster, and the softer kind is in great demand in Pennsylvania as manure, for which a considerable quantity has been exported thither.

Climate.

The climate is perhaps the greatest natural evil attending this country. The winters are long and severe, and the weather extremely inconstant. The snow does not lie upon the ground here as in Canada, to preserve the winter grain, which by frequent thaws and frosts is injured, as are all sorts of plants. The weather, even in the summer, is very uncertain and liable to great and sudden changes; yet the climate is remarkably healthy, and this Province affords as striking instances of longevity as any upon the Continent of America. The summers though short, are wonderfully productive and vegetation stronger and more rapid than in most other parts of the world. The autumns are serene and moderate, and the winters come on by degrees, though the summers do not, for there is no spring; nor is the inconstancy of the weather, when fairly considered, peculiar to Nova Scotia, for upon the sea coast of the whole Continent, the transitions from heat to cold are very sudden; and when the interior of this country comes to be settled there is no doubt but this evil will diminish here, as it has done elsewhere. Fogs are very prevalent upon all the coasts, particularly in the Bay of Fundy, and prove very unfriendly to ships approaching, but being most common in the summer season, they are of course less dangerous. In the winter, indeed, this is not a coast to navigate upon. These fogs, which come in from the sea, are not found to be at all unwholesome. There is a vast deal of rain falls upon the coast, but this, from the same cause, is common to most countries lying upon the Atlantic Ocean.

Extent and contents.

The extent of this Province, beginning, as before, with the Peninsula, from the north-east to the south-west, the greatest length, is about 225 miles; and the greatest breadth, which is nearly north and south about 75 miles, containing, by calculation, 16,271 square miles. There are, in different parts of the Province, about 36,000 acres of cleared up lands, and 24,000 acres of marsh land diked in, making together about 60,000 acres under cultivation. The extent and contents of that part lying on the Continent, cannot be ascertained with the same precision till the boundaries are better established. There may be about 27,000 square miles, making the whole contents of the Province upwards of 43,000 square miles.

Number and description of the old inhabitants.

The old inhabitants, whom I shall first name, separately from the disbanded troops and loyalists, which have come since the late war, are computed at about fourteen thousand, exclusive of Acadians and Indians. Of the former, who are the remains of the old French inhabitants, and are dispersed all over the Province, there are about one hundred families; of the latter about three hundred men of the tribe of Mickmacks, the original Indian of the Peninsula; and upon the rivers St. John and the Scodiac about one hundred and forty men of the tribe of Mareshtes; but as I could not obtain such information upon this head as I wish, the computation may not be strictly correct. Before I proceed to give the number of the disbanded troops and loyalists, it may not be improper to observe that a great part of the old inhabitants, especially the wealthy ones, are from New England, and that they discovered, during the late war, the same sentiments which prevailed in that country. I think it necessary to add that the Legislature is principally composed of these men, and that some of the higher public offices are at present filled with the most notorious of such characters.

The number of new inhabitants, viz, the disbanded troops and Loyalists who came into this Province since the peace, I shall be able to give with precision, the whole having been mustered in the Summer of 1784, in order to ascertain the number entitled to the Royal bounty of provisions. The following Return will not only show the number of men, women and children, but the different parts of the Province in which they are settling, and here I am sorry to add that a very small proportion, indeed, of these people are yet upon their lands, owing to different causes—First—their arriving very late in the season. Secondly—timely provision not having been made by escheating and laying out lands, in which great delays and irregularities have happened. Thirdly—a sufficient number of surveyors not having been employed, but lastly and principally, the want of foresight and wisdom to make necessary arrangements, and steadiness to carry them into execution, the evils arising from which, will be felt for a long time to come, not only by the individuals, but by Government, for if these poor people who, from want of land to cultivate and raise a subsistence to themselves, are not fed by Government for a considerable time longer, they must perish. They have no other country to go to—no other asylum. They have hitherto been mostly employed in building towns at the principal settlements. At Port Roseway and the mouth of the River St. John, astonishing towns have been raised, and in less time, perhaps, than was ever known in any country before. It is, however, much to be lamented such great exertions had not been more profitably directed in cultivating their lands, for besides loss of time, they have wasted their substance in that which can never prove profitable to themselves or useful to the country.

Port Roseway
Harbour.

I have yet to describe the Harbours of Halifax and Port Roseway—the latter is situated three leagues and a half to the eastward of Cape Sable. It is strongly marked by the high lands near it, particularly Cape Negroe, is easy of access, deep, spacious, perfectly land-locked, and in all respects a good harbour. At the entrance lies Roseneath Island, about three miles long and one and a half broad, making two passages, the easternmost of which only is navigable. This island and the shoals in the westernmost (commonly called the falls) passage contribute much to shelter the harbour from the southerly winds, which are very heavy upon this coast. After passing the island the passage contracts to about 1,400 yards across, and then gradually opens into a spacious harbour which terminates in two branches, the northeast one extending in that direction eight miles, having five and six fathom water nearly to the very head, where the new town of Shelburne is built. To give a better idea of this harbour, a chart of it is subjoined to the Report No. 1. To this place some of the first refugees who left New York came, and perhaps a greater progress was never made in any new settlement. In six months time there were upwards of 800 houses built, and most of them of the very wood that grew where the town now stands. Here are at present from 1,400 to 1,500 houses, and some of them as good as any in the Province. Upon the westernmost point of the Narrows (now called Point Carleton) the detachment of artillery that went with the first settlers took post, and the artillery stores were landed there; good log barracks have since been built for officers and 100 men, besides covering for all the military stores. Upon a small island in front of, and close to the town, three large framed store houses have been erected, capable of containing provisions for upwards of seven thousand persons, a number that has been victualled there. And opposite to the Town of Shelburne upon the tongue of land that divides the two branches of the harbour, and which has been recommended to be preserved for public uses, good log barracks have been built for 300 men, and framed buildings for a proportionate number of officers. Several other spots and points of land have been recommended to be reserved for defence, which are marked in the chart subjoined; but I must here observe that, with all the advantages attending this harbour I do not think it an eligible one in a military view, for though there is a fine situation for careening wharfs, and a naval yard upon the tongue before mentioned, it would be difficult to defend this harbour against a superior naval force, without extensive and expensive works. The entrance into it at the Narrows is too wide to be secured by batteries; nor does there appear any single situation within, favourable to the protection of naval and military arsenals. For a place of trade, however, it is an excellent situation, and should it ever be judged proper to establish a free port in the Province, I think this the most eligible. I must not omit, however, to observe that the upper part of the harbour, in common with almost all upon the coast, is occasionally frozen over, but never below the Narrows, and as there is no quantity of back water there is never any danger from floating ice. There is a spot just within the Narrows which has been recommended to be reserved, where a town would have been very advantageously situated, and where wharfs and warehouses may still be built in a part of the harbour that is never frozen, and not too remote for any necessary communication with the present town. This has been suggested to the Governor.

Halifax
Harbour.

I now come to Halifax, the seat of Government, the principal port, where there is a naval yard, and where the military stores of the Province are deposited. I shall first describe the harbour. It is situated about midway between Cape Canso and Cape Sable, is deep, spacious, and easy of access. It is somewhat embayed, but Sambro Lighthouse, near the westernmost head, marks the way into it. The mouth of the harbour is formed to the eastward by Cornwallis Island, and to the westward by Point Pleasant, making a passage at the nearest points of 1,900 yards wide, and 2,400 yards higher up lies George's Island, making two channels into the harbour, the westernmost which is nearest to the town, 750 yards wide, the easternmost 1600 yards; both these channels are equally good for ships of any burden. The town, which is situated on the western side, commences at the point nearest to George's Island, and is built parallel to the coast with a continuation of wharfs extending 2,400 yards in length, where the naval yard is situated. From thence to the entrance into the Bason is 3,200 yards, and the whole extent from George's Island to this entrance, a distance of above three miles, may be considered as a good Harbour, gradually diminishing in its breadth towards the Bason. This entrance, which is but 433 yards across, admits vessels into the Bason, and seems to offer another and more secure harbour, but the water is too deep and the Bason too spacious for ships to lie in with safety, for with a north-west wind there is frequently a high sea here, and the anchorage near the coast which is bold, is foul and rocky. Near the entrance of Halifax Harbour, on the western side, separated from it by Point Pleasant, is the North-West Arm, a very secure little Harbour. This branch running in that direction to within two miles of the Bason, makes a Peninsula of which the isthmus is 2730 yards across, and there is all the appearance of these two arms of the sea having some time or other had a communication between them.

Present
defences.

I have now to speak of the defences of this Province, and shall begin with those of Halifax, to elucidate which a correct Plan No. 2 of the whole Peninsula accompanies the Report. There is a chain of batteries, composed of sods or fascines, from Point Pleasant or the entrance into the North West Arm, to the town, on which are mounted 39 pieces of heavy cannon. George's Island is nearly surrounded with field works, and on batteries of the same composition there are 48 pieces of cannon mostly 24 pounders. On the most projecting point of the eastern shore, there is a battery of 15 guns of the same calibre with a small enclosed fascine work in its rear. Close to the town, and upon the point nearest to George's Island, is the principal battery mounting 16 guns, and is very well situated for co-operating with those on George's Island for defending the western channel, which might be rendered difficult to pass; but as the eastern channel would still be open, and is of such a breadth that no batteries on the shore could prevent ships from passing, defending the other Channel would be of little use, so that it appears from what has been said of the breadth of the several passages, and the repeated experience of the inefficiency of batteries which can only fire upon ships when passing, that the entrance into this harbour cannot be prevented by any works on shore. At the back of the town about 880 yards distance from the shore there is a very commanding height which is called the Citadel Hill, offering a most advantageous situation for a fortress. This height is at present occupied by an irregular field work composed principally of fascines, built and enlarged at different times, but mostly during the late war, and is at present in ruins, having nothing substantial in it excepting a large octagonal blockhouse, which will contain about 100 men. A particular plan of these works is subjoined No. 3. There are 75 pieces of cannon, mostly heavy ones, and 25 mortars of different calibres mounted on these works—here are two field magazines for gun powder, and three temporary sheds for provisions, within the exterior envelope. These having been built during the war, and whilst attacks were threatened, are very unsubstantial, and the magazines are all damp. There are besides two small irregular redoubts upon commanding grounds, to the north and south of the town, of which there are likewise Plans No. 4 and 5. The former towards the Bason, is called Fort Needham, and is an old sod work now in ruins, with two small wooden barracks in it which might contain 50 men. In these barracks powder was lodged for a considerable time, for want of a more safe and convenient place. The latter, Fort Massey, which was lately enlarged is a fascine work in tolerable repair. Here are 13 pieces of cannon and coehorns and there are new wooden barracks which will contain the officers and men of two companies. In this fort there is likewise a small block house and a powder magazine. In the rear of the Naval Yard there are the remains of three detached bastions, the figures of which are now scarcely to be traced; these were thrown up under the idea of securing the yard, to which however they never in any degree contributed. They are situated upon the side of the hill laid out into fields full of stone enclosures, from some of which the Terre Pleine of the bastions may be seen, at the distance of 40 yards. In one of these bastions there is a block house equally useless. At the north-west extremity of the Naval Yard, on a projecting point there is another block house with a bank thrown up round it called Fort Coote, on which there are three 18 pounders—a situation where a good battery would contribute somewhat to defend the yard from an enemy afloat, and in the rear of the Naval Yard against the stone wall that encloses it, are two other small blockhouses.

The works upon George's Island having been considered as a material part of the defences of this place, a particular plan of them is subjoined, No. 6. These, too, are composed of sods and fascines, and are falling fast into decay. There are two field magazines (viz., sunk underground, the side walls composed of masonry, the roofs covered with large logs of wood, and a quantity of earth to make them bomb proof) but these, like those in the Citadel, are so damp as to render gun powder useless. Here are a number of wooden buildings which have been run up in a temporary and superficial manner, from time to time, to cover troops, and there may now be lodged in them 150 men. A plan, No. 7, is also subjoined of the Eastern Battery, the works of which are likewise in the same ruinous state. Here was a large wooden barrack that has been lately put into repair, and the gun powder, which was lodged in different houses, barns, vesssels, &c., in and about the Town of Halifax, has been deposited here, to the amount of nearly 7,000 barrels, till proper magazines may be built, or the powder otherwise disposed of, in which no time should be lost, for, besides the constant danger it is in of taking fire, it is every day perishing.

These make all the defences of Halifax, among which there is not a substantial work, or one that could be brought into use upon any permanent plan of fortifying, though more money has been expended here than would have built a respectable fortress. After this remark it is necessary (in justice to the officers who have commanded, and the engincers who have been employed) to observe that, except the block houses, all the works are composed of sods or fascines, which will scarcely stand in this climate the heavy rains and the frosts of one winter, but as these works were thrown up during the war, and when danger threatened, the most expeditious mode was of course adopted. In respect of situation and construction, no regular system seems to have been pursued. The officers commanding from time to time were changed, and each directed according to his own judgment. Here the trite observation occurs, that it is in time of peace we should guard against war.

Barracks.

I shall next speak of the barracks, of which there are in different parts of the town, sufficient to cover 2,100 men. These have been built from time to time in a temporary and unsubstantial manner, and placed without system or protection, wherever there were vacant spots of Crown Land not granted away, excepting only the Red Barracks, which were first built near to the Citadel Hill upon a good and substantial plan, but these are now old and going fast into decay, and at this time require a thorough repair. The barracks in the different detached works, which have been already named, are in general of the most temporary kind, and such as it would be bad economy to keep in repair. There are besides at Birch Cove on the west side of the Bason, log huts for about 400 men, and framed houses for the officers, built at the expense of the Government, but upon land that is private property, of which the Crown has a lease only for four years, and at Sackville, at the head of the Bason, there are barracks for 50 men, besides a small block house. At Halifax there is only one stone magazine, which will contain 1,000 barrels of powder, and that is so old and so much out of repair as to be in danger of falling. It is not enclosed in any work, but stands between the town and the Citadel Hill, exposed to every sort of danger.

Stone magazine.

Ordnance wharf.

The spot appropriated for an Ordnance wharf and storehouses was originally too small, and has been so much encroached upon that there is now scarcely room enough for the buildings necessary to cover the great quantities of Ordnance stores at present here, which are scattered about and very improperly disposed of, as indeed are the King's provisions and all the other public stores which are lodged in private houses, and for which exorbitant rents are paid; nor has proper and sufficient land been reserved to the Crown to erect buildings upon for these uses, so inattentively and inconsiderately has the whole been given away. It is presumed, however, that this essential right of the Crown might be recovered, if active, able and honest men filled the proper offices; and I must here observe, that if storehouses are not built by Government, to contain the vast quantities of public stores which have been accumulating for a great length of time at Halifax, and particularly since the evacuation of New York, Charles Town, &c., they should be sent home. It would be better economy even to destroy them at once than let them perish by degrees in bad storehouses hired at the present rents.

Naval Yard.

I shall next mention the Naval Yard, which is all that remains to the Crown of any value, out of the moneys which have been expended in public works at Halifax. Here the wharfs, storehouses, and other buildings are well and substantially built, have been laid out with system, and wear the face of permanency. A plan No. 8 is subjoined, but the situation is injudiciously chosen for defence. It is placed too high up the Harbour to be under the immediate cover of any work which may be established upon the Citadel Hill, and is also from the same cause exposed to an enemy that might possess themselves of the opposite side of the Harbour, where the distance across is not above 800 yards. Had the Naval Yard been placed directly under the Citadel Hill where the Ordnance storehouses stand, and where there is a favourable break in the shore, and all the public storehouses collected there, they would not only have been less exposed to an enemy in possession of the opposite shore, but the whole might have been protected by a fortress upon this hill.

Unfavourable situation of the town, and ill consequences arising from the same.

The town too would have been infinitely better situated higher up the Harbour, at the back of the Naval Yard, where the ground is much more favourable to build upon, and where, by being within the fortress, it would have been more secure from an enemy, whereas at present the town interferes with the defences of the works on that hill, from whence guns could not be fired upon shipping in the harbour without damaging the houses and obstructing the shot. This will be better understood by referring to the General Plan of Halifax No. 2, which will show how near the town approaches to the summit of this hill, and the several objects and situations which have been mentioned and described. It will also show how very imprudently the land about this hill originally reserved, has been disposed of without holding to the Crown a sufficient quantity to build a fortress upon, with such an esplanade round it as would be necessary to its defence. That which remains now to the Crown is described by a line stained yellow in the General Plan No. 2.

I shall next speak of Annapolis Royal, which was originally the seat of Government of this Province; and though this Harbour has been mentioned as the best in the Bay of Fundy and among the best in the Province, the narrow entrance into it through the ridge of mountains before described, obscured by the fogs so frequent here, together with the rapid tides, were sufficient objections to its ever being made the principal port. The course of this river and situation of the town, fort, &c., will be better understood by having recourse to the plan No. 9. Upon a point of land projecting into the Annapolis River formed on the other side by Allan's River, which falls into the former, there are the remains of a square fort of about 130 yards exterior front, with a ditch, ravelins, and a covered-way. The situation is well chosen for the defence of the river, and being upon the highest part of this small Peninsula of which the neck is not more than 300 yards across is a very strong position. Though the surrounding country is much higher, the heights are all too distant to be any objection to the placing of a fort here, which could only be attacked from the sea, or by the neck, and might therefore be rendered very strong. This fort was originally a sod work, but at the latter end of the former war, a project was made for enlarging and improving it, and the foundation of a revetment of masonry was laid round a great part of the fort, as will appear in the particular plan No. 10, which will show the state of the works in the year 1763, and the number of buildings there were at that time within the fort, and dependent upon it. After a very considerable expense had been incurred in providing material, building wharfs, laying foundations, &c., these works were stopped in the year 1766, and suffered with the buildings to go altogether to ruin. Of a number of good brick buildings, there now only remain, in a useful condition, the powder magazine and the casemates. Of excellent barracks, capable of containing 300 men, the walls only remain, and these, from having been unroofed and totally neglected, are so far gone to ruin as scarcely to admit of repairing. In the course of the late war, when it was judged necessary to send troops again to Annapolis, they were put into the wooden buildings without the fort, as the most easy to repair. These were pallisaded round, as represented by a double dotted line in the plan No. 10, and a block house erected in the bastion nearest to them by way of defence, which proved so insufficient that, during the late war, the crew of a privateer landed here, took possession of the block house and plundered the inhabitants. The fort was entirely dismantled in the year 1770, and such of the buildings taken down of which the materials were thought worth transporting to Newfoundland. The works are now so much mouldered away as to be quite open in all parts. Here, as everywhere else in the Province, the same temporary expedients have been used, and money has been wasted in erecting unsubstantial wooden buildings when good and well constructed barracks were suffered to go to ruin. Since the present garrison arrived in Nova Scotia, more of these temporary sheds have been erected, over the foundations of some of the old buildings within the fort; There is now sufficient covering for the officers and men of five companies of Foot, till some general plan shall be adopted. The Crown Land about this fort has been given away to the very foot of the glacis.

Cumberland
Fort.

Cumberland Fort is situated at the upper end of the bason of the same name, which terminates Chignecto Bay, between the Rivers Au Lac and the Messaguash, which have been before mentioned. It is a small regular pentagon of 75 yards exterior front, with a ditch, covert-way and glacis, as will appear by the plan No. 11. This fort was also built by the French and called by them Beausjour. It was, originally, a sod work, and having been kept up during the late war, was fascined. The body of the place is now in tolerable repair, and has sixteen pieces of cannon mounted in it. The covert-way and spur are gone to ruin. Here is a good magazine, composed of bricks and masonry, but is improperly placed in the covert-way. In two of the curtains were temporary casemates, one of which is in ruins; the other is used as a provision storehouse. All the other buildings are of wood, which appears the more extraordinary as there are quarries of excellent free stone close to the fort. The barracks here are habitable, and might contain 300 men. All the buildings in the spur or out-work are gone to ruin, and have been mostly taken down. The situation of this fort, for its size, is well chosen. It is upon high and dry land, and free from being commanded, but being brought so near the water side, and to the extremity of the point of land, there is not room enough for a respectable work, but there is ample space further back, and upon the same plane upon which there was an intrenched camp formed after this fort was taken from the French, and again before the troops went from this Province to the attack of Louisbourg. This land still remains for the use of the troops quartered in the fort, but a large tract of the Crown lands surrounding has been given away. The general situation of this fort being upon the isthmus of the great Peninsula of the Province seems to point it out as proper for a place of arms, should ever a plan be formed for the defence of this country.

Fort Edward. The next work I shall mention is Fort Edward, on the Windsor River, running into the bason of Mines:—This is a small square fort of 85 yards exterior front, with bastions, a ditch, and a raised counterscarp, and is composed of sod. Here are eight pieces of cannon mounted. This fort, of which there is a plan, No. 12, was built early in the settlement of the Province, first intended as a place of security against the Indians, and repaired and improved in the beginning of the late war to protect the inhabitants of Windsor from the ravages of the American privateers. The situation of this fort, for any present purposes, is ineligible; it does not answer for the defence of the river, and is commanded by different heights surrounding, some of which are very near. Here are wooden barracks for 200 men, but much out of repair, a block house, a temporary magazine, and a good provision store. A few acres of land have been left about this fort for the use of the troops, but the greater part of the Crown land here, as everywhere else, has been given away.

Fort Hughes. At Cornwallis there is a small stockade work, called Fort Hughes, enclosing barracks for one company, built during the late war, partly at the expense of the inhabitants, to prevent their being insulted and robbed by the American privateers.

These make all the defences upon the Peninsula of this Province; and upon the continental part, there is only one small irregular field work at St. John's Harbour, not far from the mouth of the river, the situation of which will appear in the plan No. 13, as will two new towns lately laid out there. This little work was erected in the course of the late war, in preference to repairing a small square fort thrown up during the former war, which is likewise marked in the plan No. 13, but that position being low and commanded, and not so well situated for the protection of the few houses built in the cod of the bay, where two or three persons lived of a company, to whom a large tract of land had been granted, and who carried on a considerable trade with the Indians and persons settled up the river, the ridge upon which the new fort stands was offered by them, and a work in which there are eight pieces of cannon, barracks for 100 men, and a small block house, were accordingly erected, together with a larger blockhouse at the other end of the ridge. The blockhouses remain, but the work which was composed of fascines and sods, is falling down, and the ridge upon which it stands is too narrow to admit of any useful works being constructed upon it, besides the evil of the lands not belonging to the Crown. This evil, too, has been greatly aggravated on account of the only reservations which were made on each side of the Harbour when the grant before mentioned was passed, having been lately laid out into two large towns, and given among the Loyalists who went with a view of settling up the river, without so much as reserving land proper and sufficient for any public uses, not even for erecting store houses to contain the provisions Government sent there for the use of the Loyalists. The points which have been reserved, or rather left as unfit for private uses, can only serve for sea batteries, for which they are not well situated, so that the principal settlement in the Province, and one that bids fair to vie with the best in America, has been so disposed of, as not to leave to the Crown a spot to build a fortress upon for its protection, or even barracks and storehouses for such troops, as it may be necessary hereafter to send there.

A return of the cannon, mentioned in the several works, together with such as are under the charge of the Commanding Officer of Artillery and Storekeeper of the Ordnance, is subjoined to the Report, and likewise a return of all the Barracks.

Having now shown the whole of the present defences, and having before given a general description of the Province, it remains to offer what appears most immediately necessary for the benefit and security of this Colony, which, from the late great accession of inhabitants, and other considerations, seem to claim the attention of Government. As nothing contributes more to the advantage and security of any country than good roads, or easy communications, and as it cannot be expected of persons lately arrived in a new country to labour for the good of the community, till each individual has secured subsistence for himself, it may be politic for Government to do a part of this necessary work. I should, therefore, propose that a road be made through the middle of the Peninsula, longitudinally from the Bason of Mines, as, for example, from Windsor or Horton, to one of the bays near Cape Sable, as Townshend or Fourchu; and that at least one road across the Peninsula be likewise made, which should commence from the town of Shelburne, that is at the head of Port Roseway harbour to Annapolis Royal. By means of these two roads the communications most material to Government might be kept up, and the inhabitants on each side of the Peninsula would presently find their way into these roads for their own convenience, and the settling of the country be greatly facilitated. I should further propose that the road from Sackville to the head of the Cobbiquid, which has before been mentioned, be opened, and from thence to Cumberland, which would pass through a valuable tract of country, and make a communication with that part of the Province lying in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, without crossing the Bason of Mines which, at particular seasons of the year, is dangerous and always uncertain. This road, besides being proper to secure a communication at all times with some of the bays in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and by that means to Quebec, without going through the Gut of Canso, or round the Island of Cape Breton, would be attended with the same advantages to the settlers upon that part of the coast, as the principal roads before described to others and would unite a part of the Province, with which, at present, there is scarcely any communication.

These roads, or rather communications, it is presumed might be made at very little expense, as the lakes and waters running between them, especially along the middle of the Peninsula, might frequently be turned to good account, by settling persons on these lakes and having craft proper for them which is practised all over America. Besides these principal roads upon the Peninsula, the establishing a safe and easy communication by means of the River St. John, with Canada, seems to be an object of the first importance to both Provinces. This in some measure is done, as the river is passable in canoes in the summer and upon the ice in the winter, as high as the Lake Temisquata, and a road has been opened from thence to the River St. Lawrence, which has been before described; but it remains to establish Post Houses which should be the property of the Crown at the most convenient places and distances, to secure in time of danger a communication so absolutely necessary. These spots should be made choice of, and considered as military posts, and a small reservation of land be made at each, in case it should ever become necessary to place troops at them, and I would wish to see the same precautions taken upon all the public roads. Many other communications may hereafter become necessary upon, and with, the continental part of this Province, but at present there are so few settlements, and those so distant; that the evil of crossing the Bay of Fundy must be submitted to; though when the north side of it becomes settled, a road may be practised round the Chignecto branch as well as the Cobbiquid, and by means of the Petcudivac River a good communication established with the St. John's River. I am informed, also, that branches of the St. John's and Mirimichi Rivers nearly meet and offer another easy communication to the Bay of that name in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Proposal for raising a corps of negroes for publick works

If it should not be judged proper to employ the troops upon these communications, or should Government not station a sufficient number in the Province for such purposes, I would suggest that, from among the negroes brought to this Province from New York and made free, a Corps might be raised and clothed and fed by Government, to be employed upon publick works; or that, by a law of the Province, a certain proportion from out of the whole should be annually called upon for such services. The former of these propositions would, I am persuaded, prove a benefit to the negroes, as well as to the Province, for it is known by experience that these persons, brought up in servitude and slavery, want the assistance and protection of a master to make them happy; indeed to preserve them from penury and distress.

Proposed
Defences.

As the intentions of Government with respect to this Province should be determined upon, before any system of defence be formed, general ideas only, at present, will be offered. One of the first objects should be the establishing in the most convenient and secure port, an arsenal of military and naval stores, in such a situation as to be protected by a land force, without the assistance of a fleet, late wars having proved the uncertainty of all naval operations; and of the several harbours which have been described, I am of opinion that Halifax (notwithstanding the mistakes which have been committed there) is still the most eligible port in the Province. The Citadel Hill, which has been before mentioned, is one of the most unexceptionable situations for a fortress I ever saw. A respectable work here, with casemated barracks for six or eight hundred men, containing magazine, storehouses for provisions, and water, which the hill affords, would be very difficult to reduce, and would oblige an army to undertake a siege upon unfavourable ground, the hill being so much higher than any land near it, and the sides, though steep, of so equal a surface that approaches could not be carried on without being seen into. Though this work could not prevent an enemy from coming into the harbour, yet it would prevent ships from lying therein, spacious as it is, for they could be no where out of the reach of shells. And though the naval yard is unfortunately so placed as not to be immediately under the protection of this work, it would obstruct an enemy from landing to destroy it, without which it could not be effectually done. For ordnance, and all other public stores, good situations may be yet obtained under the protection of this fortress. Nothing is wanted for the former, but to remove the encroachments which have been made upon the King's land reserved for that purpose, the situation being proper for wharfs, and the original reservation might even be made sufficient to contain the necessary storehouses; for this purpose a plan was submitted to the Governor, but after having been referred to two magistrates named for the purpose, and after receiving the Governor's sanction, the officer employed to enclose the same was committed to gaol, and no subsequent steps taken to secure the right and dignity of the Crown. About the middle of the town, in the rear of one of the old batteries, where the fuel of the garrison is at present improperly deposited, there is an area of public ground sufficient to contain storehouses for provisions, and all other public stores, at this place. This area was lately applied for, when that part of it only stained yellow was given up, which is scarcely adequate to the purpose for which it was required, and no reasonable objection assigned for not relinquishing the whole. The taking possession too of this part, was disputed in a court of justice by one of the Members of the Legislature, who had obtained a temporary licence of occupation of this ground during pleasure only. The observation already made, that most of the public stores are in private houses, for which large rents are paid, may best explain such conduct. I must extend this digression a little further, and mention that rent is now paid for the very wharf at which the King's provisions are landed for the troops and Loyalists. But to return. The situation of this ground is convenient for wharfs, and the whole might be placed under the protection of a proper work upon the Citadel Hill, which will be better understood by referring to the general plan No. 2. I would here concentrate the whole force in one substantial fortress, and abandon the several points and works now occupied, which, from what has before been said, can never prevent an enemy from coming into the harbour, and by being so much detached and divided, are every where weak. I shall not at present offer a design for such a work, but observe that by taking off the top of the hill a base of any size may be obtained; and from the account before given of the various productions of this country, be it remembered that all the materials for a permanent and solid work, which this climate particularly requires, may be found in the Province. Another advantage peculiar to the Port of Halifax should be named—that this harbour is scarcely ever frozen over. It seldom happens to be shut up for more than two or three days in a winter, whereas almost all the other harbours on this coast are frozen up for months together. This is a circumstance of great importance.

Another

I should further conceive a smaller fortress necessary at Annapolis Royal, as the principal harbour in the Bay of Fundy, where the force of that side of the Peninsula and the shipping might assemble, and as the most proper place for supporting and insuring a communication with the continental part of the Province, and with Canada. I also conceive that another fortress should be established near Cumberland, or upon some part of the isthmus of the great Peninsula which, by occupying the three points proposed, with proper communications between them might be defended with advantage. These fortresses of whatever sizes may be thought proper, should be built in a solid and substantial manner, of brick or masonry foundations, as no sort of field works will stand in this climate, and upon a plan capable of making a separate defence. Some smaller work I should likewise think proper near the boundary river between this Province and the American States, which should first be ascertained, the vague and indefinite description of it in the Treaty of Peace, leaving great room for error and dispute. If ever rational and well meaning persons are employed to determine this line, which I humbly conceive it is our interest as well as duty to have done without delay, the Scodiac or Middle St. Croix River must be made choice of, a particular description of which, as well as of the two other rivers called St. Croix has already been given, (page xxxiv of this Report.) I cannot forbear here to remark that, upon the boundary river, provincial regiments and other disbanded corps should have been settled, as the most likely people to form a good Militia, and make a secure frontier. Here as in every part of the Province I visited where the lands had not been previously laid out, I recommended to the Governor of the Province, such spots to be reserved, as appeared proper for defence, and particularly at Harbour Etang, which has been described as one of the best and most easy to protect of any in the Province. This harbour is now become an object of more importance, for since my Report was nearly finished, in which I had throughout distinguished the Peninsula, from the continental part of the Province, the Bay of Fundy having naturally divided them, I find the latter is formed into a separate Government, it should of course have its own port, and this harbour is evidently the most proper for that purpose. Besides the advantages already described, a water communication may be obtained from hence, by means of the Majiggadewy (a river which has been named before) with the upper part of the River St. John, and when this country has been more explored, and is better known, I am of opinion other rivers will be found to communicate with this harbour. I would here wish to make some further observations upon the boundaries of this new Province. That made choice of to separate it from Nova Scotia, by taking a river which nearly traverses the narrowest part of the isthmus was judiciously chosen. That to the westward between it and the American States has been described, and repeatedly mentioned as liable to error and dispute, which may not only involve individuals in ruin, but this country in another war. That to the northward and eastward too, adjoining Canada, is surely not well chosen, and seems to have been the effect of inconsiderately following the encroachments made by the French when in possession of Canada, who to extend their dominions, and perhaps to have a better pretence for dispute, passed the original, natural, and excellent boundary, the River St. Lawrence, to take up an imaginary line, which in the Treaty of Peace is called a Ridge of Mountains separating the rivers which fall into the Atlantic Ocean, from those which fall into the River St. Lawrence. There is no such ridge, and the sources of these rivers are indented and pass one another according to the accidental form of the ground. In the present case I am humbly of opinion that the western boundary line towards the American States, should be continued north, till it meets the River St. Lawrence, and that part of Canada, which lies south of the River St. Lawrence thrown into the Province of New Brunswick; for though no immediate evil may arise from such a vague line, yet when so good a natural boundary might be obtained, it should be taken.

Observations

A military post proposed at the mouth of the river
St. John.

At the mouth of the River St. John in the bay, which has before been described, there should certainly be a military post, that river being the great inlet to the Province of New Brunswick, and the most easy and natural communication with Canada. Besides from the description which has been given of that river, and the extensive country through which it runs, more produce, and consequently more trade, are likely to be brought to this bay than to any other in the Province; therefore an early attention should be paid to the security thereof. In the description already given of the present defences there, it was said no land had been reserved for public uses; I therefore suggested that the proprietors of the land upon which the fort stands, should be requested to make it over to Government, with such surrounding space as should be judged necessary for its defence, including a spot at the head of the bay proper for wharfs, storehouses, &c. This was obtained in the summer of 1784, though not upon so large a scale as, from the growing appearance of this part of the country, I wished; and a wharf and storehouses were in consequence ordered to be built, with a recommendation from the General Commanding in the Province to the Governor to give other lands in lieu of those so relinquished.

Perhaps, too, a military post should be established in one or other of the bays on that part of the coast lying in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, but as I had only an opportunity of visiting Bay Verte and Pictou Harbours, I cannot say which would be the most eligible, though the latter of these appeared a very proper situation. I am further of opinion that a small military post should be established towards the south-east extremity of this Province, and I should think Milford Haven, a small harbour in Chedabucto Bay, into which the Gut of Canso runs, a proper situation. Besides the several posts enumerated, distinguishing the three first named, viz.: Halifax, Annapolis Royal and Cumberland as fortresses, especially the former, I should recommend batteries for a few cannon to be established in all the bays which may be settled on the south-east coast, if for no other purpose than enforcing the laws of trade upon such vessels as may frequent them. I would further recommend a chain of Light houses upon the highest and most projecting points, from Cape Canso to Cape Sable, beginning with one light at the first, and increasing the number of lights with the number of Light houses. There should likewise be the same number of cannon as of lights at each point, and by discharging the cannon in the very thick fogs so prevalent on this coast, ships near might be advertised of their situation. The care of these Light houses and guns would be very properly given to the pilots who came to this Province after the evacuation of New York, many of whom are retained in the service with half pay. By a judicious disposition of these people and a plain system of signals adopted by lights and firing guns, navigating upon this coast might be rendered infinitely more safe and easy. I believe it has been omitted to observe that the tide upon this coast in general rises from six to seven feet.

As in the course of this Report, my mind has been strongly impressed with the idea of uniting these Provinces with Canada, to the advantage of both countries, and that by establishing the same laws, inducing a constant intercourse and mutual interest, a great country may yet be raised up in America, to facilitate which it may be found proper to establish a seat of general Government and protection, and for this end it has occurred to me that the Island of Cape Breton is very favourably situated. It is a promontory standing, as it were, between the three Provinces, and happily situated for communicating with the several parts of all the three; besides being the most safe and easy land for ships to make coming from Europe. It is likewise contiguous to Newfoundland, and may be said to lie in the centre of all that remains to Great Britain upon the Continent of America, and as nothing can save these remains but a good and wise government, so the employing an able man to preside over the whole, seems to be the most probable, if not the only means. A man of integrity and ability, with a comprehensive understanding to discover the resources and interests of the several parts, and unite and apply them for the good of the whole to some great and useful end. These Provinces are not only capable of supplying the wants of our West India Islands, but by proper encouragement, wise regulations and a good government, may be made a formidable rival to the American States. It is a great country, and from the description given, possesses as many natural advantages as any in America. In respect of the fishery, infinitely superior, and in point of lumber the Province of New Brunswick is inferior to none. It wants inhabitants, and these may be drawn from the American States. Persons who have not forgotten the excellence of our constitution and government, who are tired of the anarchy of their own, may be easily drawn away; many have already solicited to be received; nor is it altogether without hope that the revolted Provinces, having constantly before their eyes, written in the most indelible characters, the happiness arising from systematic government, may be disposed, after fruitless efforts of their own, to return to that connection wherein they found, and perhaps wherein only they can find, true liberty and union; but as this subject is of great political importance it may be considered out of my sphere. I must, however, before I conclude, add that if the Navigation Act is not enforced in the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, the ill consequences, or rather ruin, which will attend them is self evident.

LETTER FROM CHARLES I. TO SIR ISAAC WAKE, AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, RESPECTING THE REDDITION OF QUEBEC AND ACADIA, 12 JUNE, 1631.

CHARLES R.

Trusty and welbelovéd wee greets you well. By yo^r severall dispatches to the Viscount Dorchester since yo^r coming to yo^r place of residence in that court, Wee have particularly observed as well the delayes, where wth you were long entertayned for yo^r first accesse to that King & his chiefe Ministers, as likewise the mannere & language was held wth you at yo^r first audience. And as wee could not but marvell that you were no sooner admitted to the Kings presence upon yo^r diligent demands & respective sollicitas of audience by d'Angier; so doe wee, on the other side, find sufficient reason to content o^r selves wth the reparaçon was made vnto you by so significant a profession of a brotherly love, & declaraçon of a firme purpose to hold strict & friendly correspondence wth vs as was expressed vnto you by that Kings owne mouth. for the fayre treatment you had by some of that King's Ministers, & the distance was held wth you by others concerning the Cardinal de Richelieu, you have done well in following yo^r instructions, & for the rest we must leave both them & you to the rules of yo^r discretions. And as wee see by yo^r cariage of yo^r self you are no new man in Ambassages: so need wee not to give you any new directions how to complye wth those you have to deale wth at that court, but to goe on as you have well begun in the ceremoniall part of yo^r charge.

The substantiall part comes to you by this dispatch: which is a shutting vp of all differences betwixt the two Crownes, & laying a foundaçon of a firmer friendship than hath been of late yeares; w^{ch} is no new worke, but in effect the renewing onely of former allyances as well by practise, as they are by promise.

The chiefe scope & ayme & very first article of the last treaty concluded now two yeares since after an unhappy rupture was to that purpose, & every thing comprised in the said treaty, or could any way be pretended vnto by vertue thereof hath been punctually performed on o^r part: such things onely excepted as did at the tyme & doe necessarily require a mutuall performance.

Wee have accordingly (as you will observe it specified in the thyrd article) admitted an alteration in the family of o^r dear Consort, by increase of the number of the Religious persons about her, as was found fitting de gré à gré, & have caused divers restitutions to be made of whole shippes and their charge of goods to that nation to a very great value wth out holding any thing of that kinde, whereas the delivery was required of vs by way of arrest or reprisall.

The like contentm^t hath not been afforded vs or o^r subjects in cyther of these particulars; for whereas the thyrd article before specified doth expresly require that all articles & contracts of o^r mariage should be confirmed, the particularity of the family of o^r deare Consort onely excepted for w^{ch} in this last treaty there is a particular clause, and that the porçon money is clearely sett downe as well for the same as the tyme of paym^t in the sayde articles & contracts of mariage, & accordingly promise hath been often made vnto vs of our payment, & specially by Mons^r de Chasteauneuf now Garde des Sceaux when he was here in ambassage, yet the one halfe thereof remaynes still unsatisfyed & not only three wealthy shippes of o^r subjects taken and held wth out any iust subject, or so much as apparem^t of pretention, have been still detainéd notwth standing often reiterated demands of restitution: but divers arrests and seisures have been made of clothes & manufactures of drapery of this O^r Kingdom there wth in the land, directly contrary to stipulaçon & treaty.

The paym^t of the remainder of the porçon money hath bene since agayne promised vnto vs by that Kings Ministers as well to such persons as wee have employed in that Court as by this French Amb^r here resident about vs whereof wee can not dispense wth any longer delay, and therefor have annexed it to other conditions of full and perfect reconcylement.

This French Amb^r persisting still in his promise of paym^t, doth notth standing desire to have the businesses separated making it a point of hono^r to be obliged by new treaty to pay that w^{ch} is already acknowledged due by former contract.

Whereunto wee have willingly consented, because a formality should not interrupt the busines, but the point of hon^r pressing us more neare to have prewdent agreements, yf not precedently & in order of tyme at least equally & in effect performed wth things of great moment, w^{ch} are required of vs. Wee can no ways agree so as to separate them as that one should be ordayned and accomplished wth out the other

What wee chiefly understand to be put in ballance, yf not in contract against the porçon money, is the rendition of Quebec in Canada; taken by vertue of a comission given during the late warre under o^r great seal, by a Company of o^r subjects of this o^r Kingdome of England, & the retyring from Port Royal, a place adioyning vpon New England, where a Company of o^r subjects of o^r Kingdom of Scotland were seated & planted by vertue of the like comission under the seale of that o^r Kingdom, given out likewise during the warre; in consequence of one formerly given by the K. o^r father of happy memory.

Trow it is that one of these places was taken & the plantaçon was made in the other after the peace; & in that regard (so all other differences may be accomodated) wee have formerly consented & still continue o^r purpose & resolution that the one, that is Quebec shall be restored, & from the other such of o^r subjects as are there planted shall retyre, leaving those parts in the same state they were before the peace: w^{ch} wee do not out of ignorance as yf we did not understand how little wee are hereunto obliged by the last treaty (the 7th Article whereof, w^{ch} is that of restitution, regards onely shipp^s w^{ch} were then abroade wth letters of mart) but out of an affection & desire to complye wth o^r good brother, the French King, in all things that may friendly & reasonably, though not rightly & duly be demanded of vs.

And this difference may iustly be put betwixt what is demanded on both sydes; that w^{ch} wee require, w^{ch} is the paym^t of the remainder of the porçon, the restitution of certayne shipp^s taken & kept wth out any colo^r or pretence & the taking of arrests & seizures w^{ch} are made in that Kingdome against o^r subjects contrary to treaty, being of right & due; and that w^{ch} is demanded of vs concerning the foresayd places in Canada & those parts, & some few shipp^s of that nation w^{ch} remayne yet unrestored, but have passed sentence of confiscaon in o^r high Court of Admiralty upon good grounds in iustice, being things of curtesy & good correspondence.

Thus having layd down vnto you the state of the whole busines for the generall, we refer you for more particulars to such writings as are past betwixt the French Amb^r & such of o^r LL^{ds} Comissioners who have had charge in this busines, as likewise to Philip Burlamachy whome wee send expressly over wth such memorialls & powers as he shall present vnto you.

The memorialls concerne shipp^s & goods and other circumstances belonging to a mutuall restitution as may give you full informaçon of all particulars; & therein we leave you a latitude to goe more or lesse as you shall find fitting for the shutting vp a good agreem^t.

The powers are on his part, the receaving the remainder of the porçon money due unto vs eyther in present paym^t or such good and valuable assignaçon as may give him contentm^t and on yo^r the rendring of Quebec and retyring from Port Royal for w^{ch} Philip Burlamachy will deliver you severall and solemne instrumnts under o^r hand and seale: w^{ch} o^r pleasure is you should deliver to that K^e, or such of his counsell as he shall appoint when Burlamachy shall have received the fore sayd money or assignaçons, and contentm^t shall be given you in such other particulars as are before specified: but in case of refusall or delay of paym^t or good assignaçons (such as Burlamachy is to be responsible vnto vs for) you are then to detayne those powers and returne them back to him, he being to make no longer stay then to see the end of this business, w^{ch} is his only arrand.

One thing remaynes, touching the remainder of the porçon, w^{ch} is an abatem^t wee make of such sumes as we formerly ordayned to such of o^r deare Consorts family as returned into France, w^{ch} we willingly allowe of & another, touching the retyring of o^r subjects out of Canada & those parts; that an abolition should be made of all acts published in France against any, particularly the three brothers, the Kirks, employed in that occasion, like manner as wee have formerly demanded touching the Baron de la Tour & his sonne, wth whome S^r William Alexander had treaty, w^{ch} was found reasonable by that King's Ministers & must still be insisted upon.

There was a Reglem^t for liberty of comerce treated and sett downe in writing betwixt o^r comissioners & the Garde des Seaux of that Kingdome, when he was here extraordinary Amb^r, w^{ch} being called upon by the French Amb^r now resident in o^r Court to be accorded & concluded, wee doe very willingly give o^r consent thereunto, chiefly because it doth give lyfe & vigo^r to the former treatyes betwixt y^e two Crownes; & as well for this particular (whereof wee take order a Copie shall be delivered vnto you) as for such other things that you have now in charge, wee give you an ample comission under o^r great seale in that forme as is usuall in such cases. Given under o^r signett at o^r Manno^r of Greenwich the twelft of June in the seaventh yeare of o^r Raygne.

ADDRESSED: To o^r trusty and welbeloved S^r Isaac Wake, Knight, o^r Ambassador Resident wth the French King.

ENDORSED, F^rm y^e King 12 June 1631.

RECIT VERITABLE DU MARTYRE et de la Bien heureuse mort, du Pere Jean de Brebœuf et du Pere Gabriel L'Alemant En la Nouvelle France, dans le pays des Hurons par les Iroquois, ennemis de la Foy.

Le Pere Jean de Brebœuf et le Pere Gabriel L'Alemant partirent de nostre cabane, pour aller à vn petit Bourg, nommé St Ignace esloigné de nostre cabane, enuiron un petit quart de Lieüe pour instruire les Sauuages, et les nouueaux Chrétiens de ce Bourg. Ce fut le 16m Jour de Mars au matin que nous apperceumes vn grand feu, au lieu ou estoient allés ces deux bons Peres ; Ce feu nous mist fort en peine, Nous ne sçauions si c'estoit des ennemis ou bien que le feu auroit pris a quelque cabane de ce village. Le Rd Pere Paul Raguenaou nostre Superieur, prist aussi tost la Resolution denuoyer quelqu'vn pour sçauoir ce que ce pourrait estre. Mais nous n'eusmes pas plus tost pris le dessein d'y aller voir que nous apperceumes plusieurs sauuages dans le chemin qui venoient droit à nous. Nous pensions tous que ce fust des Iroquois, qui nous venoient attaquer, mais les ayant considérés de plus pres nous apperceumes que c'estoient des Hurons, qui s'enfuyoient de la meslée et qui s'estoient eschappés du combat ; Ces pauures sauuages nous faisoient grand pitié, Ils estoient tous blessés. L'vn auoit la teste cassée, l'autre le bras rompu ; L'autre vne fleche dans l'œil ; l'autre auoit la main coupée d'un coup de hache. Enfin la journée se passa à recevoir dans nostre cabane tous ces pauures blessés, et à regarder par compassion, le feu et le lieu ou estoient ces deux bons Peres. Nous voyons le feu et les barbares, mais nous ne peümes voir aucun des deux Peres.

Voicy ce que nous dirent ces Sauuages de la prise du Bourg de St Ignace et des Peres Jean de Brebœuf et Gabriel L'Allemant.

Les Iroquois sont venus au nombre d'enuiron douze cents hommes, ont pris nostre vilage, ont pris le Pere Brebœuf et son compaignon, ont mis le feu par toutes les cabanes. Ils vont decharger leur rage sur ces deux Peres, car il les ont pris tous deux et les ont depouillez tous nuds, et attachez chacun à vn posteau. Ils ont les deux mains liées ensemble. Ils leur ont arraché les ongles des doigts, Ils leur ont déchargé vne gresle de coups de baston sur les épaules, sur les reins, sur le ventre, sur les jambes, et sur le visage n'y ayant aucune partie de leur corps qui n'ayt enduré ce tourment ; Ils nous dirent encore ; quoyque le Pere de Brebœuf fust accable sous la pesanteur de ces coups de baston, Il ne laissoit pas de tousiours parler de Dieu et d'encourager tous les nouueaux Chrétiens qui estoient captifs comme luy, de bien souffrir, afin de bien mourir pour aller de compagnie avec luy dans le Paradis. Pendant que ce bon Pere encourageoit ainsi ces bonnes gents, vn miserable huron renégat, qui demouroit captif avec les Iroquois, que le Pere de Brebœuf auoit autrefois instruit et baptisé, L'entendant parler du Paradis et du St Baptesme fut irité et luy dist, Echon, c'est le nom du Pere de Brebœuf en Huron, Tu dis que le Baptesme et les souffrances de cette vie meine droit en Paradis, tu irras bien tost, Car ie te vais baptiser et te bien faire souffrir, afin d'aller au plus tost dans ton Paradis : Le barbare ayant dit cela, prist vn chaudron plein d'eau toute bouillante, et le renverse sur son corps par trois diuerses fois en derision du St baptesme. Et a chaque fois qu'il le baptisoit de la sorte le barbare lui disoit par railleries picquantes va au Ciel, car te voila bien baptisé. Apres cela ils luy firent souffrir plusieurs autres tourments : Le 1r fut de faire rougir des haches toutes rouges de feu et les appliquer sur les reins et sous les aisselles, Ils font vn collier de ces haches toutes rouges de feu et le mettent au col de ce bon Père. Voicy la façon que iay veu faire ce collier pour d'autres captifs ; Ils font rougir six haches prennent vne grosse hart de bois vert passent les 6 haches par le gros bout de la hart, prennent les deux bouts ensemble et puis le mettent au col du patient. Je nay point veu de tourment qui m'ait plus esmeu a compassion que celui là. Car vo voyez un homme tout nud, lié a vn posteau, qui ayant ce collier au col, ne seroit en quelle posture se mettre Car s'il se penche sur le deuant celles de dessus les epaules pesent dauantage ; s'il se veut pencher en arriere, celles de son estomach lui font souffrir le mesme tourment ; s'il se tient tout droit sans pencher de costé ny d'autre, Les haches ardantes de feu, appliquées egallement des deux costez luy donnent vn double supplice.

Après cela ils luy mirent vne ceinture d'écorce toute pleine de poix et de raisine, et y mirent le feu qui grilla tout son corps, Pendant tous ces tourments, le Pere de Brebœuf souffroit comme vn rocher insensible aux feux et aux flammes, qui estoient tous les boureaux qui le tourmentoient. Son zele estoit si grand qu'il preschoit tousiours a ces infidelles pour tascher a les conuertir ; ses boureaux indignez contre luy de ce qu'il leur parloit tousiours de Dieu et de leur conuersion. Pour l'empescher, den plus parler ils luy couperent la langue et les leures dembas et denhaut. Après cela ils se mirent tous a luy decharner toute la chair des jambes, des cuisses et des bras iusqu'aux os, et la mettent rostir deuant luy pour la manger.

Pendant qu'ils le tourmentoient de la sorte ces miserables se moquoient de luy, en luy disant, Tu vois bien que nous te traitons d'amy puisque no serons cause de ton bonheur Eternel, remercie no donc de ces bons offices que no te rendons, car plus tu souffriras, plus ton Dieu t'en recompensera.

Ces boureaux voyant que ce bon Pere commençoit à deuenir foible, ils le firent asseoir contre terre, et l'vn deux prenant vn couteau, luy coupent la peau qui couure le crano de la teste, vn autre de ces barbares, voyant que le bon Pere alloit bientost mourir, luy fait vne ouverture au dessus de la poitrine et luy arrache le cœur le fait rostir et le mange. D'autres vinrent boire son sang tout chaud, qu'ils beuuoient avec les deux mains disant que le Pere de Brebœuf auoit esté bien courageux a souffrir tant de mal, qu'ils luy auoient fait et qu'en beuuant son sang ils deuiendroient couraueux comme luy.

Voila ce que nous auons appris du Martyre et de la bienheureuse mort du Pere Jean de Brebœuf par plusieurs Chretiens sauuaiges dignes de foy qui ont tousiours esté presents depuis que le bon Pere fut pris jusqu'à la mort. Ces bons Chrestiens estoient captifs des Iroquois et les menoient en leur pays po les faire mourir, mais nôtre bon Dieu leur fist la grace de se pouuoir sauuer par les chemins et no sont venus raconter tout ce que iay mis par escrit.

Le Pere de Brebœuf fut pris le 16e jour de Mars au matin avec le Pere Lalemant en l'année 1649. Le Pere de Brebœuf mourut le mesme jour de sa prise sur les 4 heures du soir. Ces barbares jetterent le reste de son corps dans le feu, mais la graisse qui restait encor a son corps esteignit le feu et ne fut point consommé.

Je no doute point que tout ce que ie viens de raconter ne soit vray et ie le signerois de mon sang, puisque iay veu faire le mesme traitemt aux captifs Iroquois que les sauuaiges hurons auoient pris en guerre, a la reserve de l'eau bouillante que ie nay point veu verser sur aucun.

Je m'en vay vo decrire au vray ce que iay veu du Martyre et de la B h mort du Pere Jean de Brebœuf et du Pere Gabriel L'alemant des le lendemain matin que nous eumes assurance du depart de l'ennemy, nous allames sur la place, chercher le reste de leur corps, au lieu ou ils auoient este faits mourir, Nous les trouuames tous deux, mais vn peu escartez l'vn de l'autre ; on les rapporte à nostre cabane, et on les exposa sur des escorces de bois ou ie les considéré à loisir plus de deux heures de temps, pour voir si ce que les sauuaiges nous auoient dit de leur martyre et de leur mort estoit vray ; je consideré prem't, Le Corps du Pere de Brebœuf qui faisoit pitié à voir, aussi bien que celui du Pere L'alemant ; le Pere de Brebœuf auoit les jambes, les cuisses et les bras tous decharnez iusqu'aux os ; jay veu et touché quantité de grosses ampoules qu'il auoit en plusieurs endroits de son corps ; de l'eau bouillante que ces barbares lui auoient versé en dérision du St. Baptesme. Jay veu et touché la plaie d'vne ceinture d'écorce toute plaine de poix et de raisine qui grilla tout son corps. Jay veu et touché les bruleurs du Colier des haches qu'on luy mist sur les epaules et sur l'estomach ; Jay veu et touché ses deux leures qu'on luy auoit couppees a cause qu'il parloit tousiours de Dieu pendant qu'on le faisoit souffrir.

Jay veu et touché tous les endroits de son corps, qui avoit roceu plus de deux cents coups de baston ; Jay veu et touché le dessus de sa teste ocorehé ; Jay veu et touché l'ouverture que ces barbares luy firent po luy arracher le cœur.

Enfin, jay veu et touché toutes les playes de son corps, comme les sauuages nous l'avoient dit et assuré ; nous enseuelismes ces precieuses Reliques le Dimanche 21me jour de mars 1649 avec bien de la Consolation.

J'euz le bonheur de les porter en terre et de les inhumér, avec celles du Père Gabriel l'alemant ; Lorsque nous partismes du pays des hurons nous levastes les deux corps de terre et nous les mismes a bouillir dans de forte lesive. On gratta bien tous les os, et on me donna le soin de les faire seicher ; Je les mettois tous les jours dans vn petit four de terre, que nous auions, apres l'avoir vn peu chauffé Et estant en état de les serrer on les enueloppa separémt dans de l'étoffe de soye Puis on les mist en deux petits coffres, et nous les apportasmes a Québec, ou ils sont en grande veneration.

Ce n'est pas vn Docteur de Sorbonne qui a composé cecy vous le voyez bien ; cest vn reste d'Iroquois et vne personne qui a vescu plus qu'il ne pensoit, qui est et sera toujours

Monsieur

Votre Tres Humble et tres obéissant serviteur,

(Translation.)

VERITABLE ACCOUNT of the martyrdom and most happy death of Father Jean de Brebœuf and of Father Gabriel L'Allemant in New France, in the country of the Hurons, by the Iroquois, enemies of the Faith.

Father Jean de Brebœuf and Father Gabriel L'Allemant had set out from our cabin, to go to a small bourg, called St Ignace distant from our cabin about a short quarter of a league, to instruct the savages and the new Christians of that bourg. It was on the 16th day of March, in the morning, that we perceived a great fire at the place to which these two good fathers had gone. This fire made us very uneasy. We did not know whether it was enemies, or if the fire had taken in some of the huts of the village. The Rev. Father Paul Raguenuau, our Superior, immediately resolv'd to send some one to learn what might be the cause. But no sooner had we formed the design of going there to see, than we perceived several savages on the road coming straight towards us. We all thought it was the Iroquois who were coming to attack us, but having considered them more closely, we perceived that it was Hurons who were flying from the fight and who had escaped from the combat. These poor savages caused great pity in us. They were all covered with wounds. One had his head fractured ; another his arm broken ; another had an arrow in his eye ; another had his hand cut off by a blow from an axe. In fine, the day was passed receiving into our huts all these poor wounded people, and in looking with compassion towards the fire and the place where were these two good fathers. We saw the fire and the barbarians, but we could not see anything of the two fathers.

Here is what these savages told us of the taking of the Bourg St. Ignace and of Fathers Jean de Brebœuf and Gabriel L'Allemant :—

The Iroquois came to the number of twelve hundred men ; took our village ; took Father Brebœuf and his companion ; set fire to all the huts. They proceeded to discharge their rage on these two fathers, for they took them both and stripped them entirely naked, and fastened each to a post. They tied both of their hands together. They tore the nails from their fingers. They beat them with a shower of blows from cudgels, on the shoulders, the loins, the belly, the legs, and the face, there being no part of their body which did not endure this torment. They told us further. Although Father Brebœuf was overwhelmed under the weight of these blows, he did not cease continually to speak of God and to encourage all the new Christians who were captives like himself, to suffer well, that they might die well, in order to go in company with him to Paradise. Whilst the good Father was thus encouraging these good people, a wretched Huron renegade, who had remained a captive with the Iroquois, and whom Father Brebœuf had formerly instructed and baptized, hearing him speak of Paradise and Holy Baptism, was irritated and said to him, "Echon," that is Father Brebœuf's name in Huron, "thou sayest that baptism and the sufferings of this life lead straight to Paradise, thou wilt go soon, for I am going to baptise thee and to make thee suffer well, in order to go the sooner to thy Paradise." The barbarian having said that, took a kettle full of boiling water, which he poured over his body three different times, in derision of Holy Baptism. And each time that he baptized him in this manner the barbarian said to him with bitter sarcasm, "Go to Heaven, for thou art well baptized." After that they made him suffer several other torments. The first was to make axes red hot and apply them to the loins and under the arm pits. They made a collar of these red hot axes and put it on the neck of this good Father. This is the fashion in which I have seen the collar made for other prisoners: They make six axes red hot, take a large withe of green wood, pass the six axes through the large end of the withe, take the two ends together, and then put it over the neck of the sufferer. I have seen no torment which more moved me to compassion than that. For you see a man, bound naked to a post, who, having this collar on his neck, cannot tell what posture to take. For, if he lean forward, those above his shoulders weigh the more on him; if he lean back, those on his stomach make him suffer the same torment; if he keep erect, without leaning to one side or other, the burning axes, applied equally on both sides, give him a double torture.

After that they put on him a belt full of pitch and resin and set fire to it which roasted his whole body. During all these torments, Father Brebœuf endured like a rock insensible to fire and flames, which astonished all the blood thirsty wretches who tormented him. His zeal was so great that he preached continually to these infidels to try to convert them. His executioners were enraged against him for constantly speaking to them of God and of their conversion. To prevent him speaking more, they cut off both his upper and lower lips. After that they set themselves to strip the flesh from his legs, thighs and arms, to the very bone, and put it to roast before his eyes in order to eat it.

Whilst they tormented him in this manner, these wretches derided him, saying, "Thou seest well that we treat thee as a friend, since we shall be the cause of thy eternal happiness; thank us, then, for these good offices which we render thee, for the more thou shalt suffer, the more will thy God reward thee."

These villains seeing that the good Father began to grow weak, made him sit down on the ground, and one of them taking a knife, cut off the skin covering his skull. Another one of these barbarians seeing that the good Father would soon die, made an opening in the upper part of his chest, tore out his heart, which he roasted, and ate. Others came to drink his blood, still warm, which they drank with both hands, saying that Father Brebœuf had been very courageous to endure so much pain as they had given him, and that in drinking his blood they would become courageous like him.

This is what we learned of the martyrdom and most happy death of Father Jean de Brebœuf by several Christian savages worthy of belief, who had been constantly present from the time the good Father was taken till his death. These good Christians were prisoners to the Iroquois who were taking them into their country to be put to death. But our good God was gracious enough to enable them to escape by the way, and they came to us to recount all that I have set down in writing.

Father Brebœuf was taken on the 16th day of March, in the morning, with Father L'Allemant in the year 1649. Father Brebœuf died the same day of his captu-about four o'clock in the afternoon. These barbarians threw the remains of his body into the fire, but the fat which still remained on his body extinguished the fire and he was not consumed.

I do not doubt that all which I have just related is true, and I would seal it with my blood, for I have seen the same treatment given to Iroquois prisoners whom the Huron savages had taken in war, with the exception of the boiling water which I have not seen poured on anyone.

I am about to describe truly what I saw of the martyrdom and of the most happy death of Father Jean de Brebœuf and of Father Gabriel L'Allemand. On the next morning, when we had assurance of the departure of the enemy, we went to the spot to seek for the remains of their bodies, to the place where their lives had been taken. We found them both, but a little apart from one another. They were brought to our hut, and laid uncovered upon the bark of trees, where I examined them at leisure, for more than two hours time, to see if what the savages had told us of their martyrdom and death were true. I examined first the body of Father de Brebœuf which was pitiful to see, as well as that of Father L'Allemand. The body of Father de Brebœuf had his legs, thighs and arms stripped of flesh to the very bone; I saw and touched a large number (quantité) of great blisters, which he had on several places on his body, from the boiling water which these barbarians had poured over him in mockery of Holy Baptism. I saw and touched the wound from a belt of bark, full of pitch and resin which roasted his whole body. I saw and touched the marks of burns from the collar of axes placed on his shoulders and stomach. I saw and touched his two lips which they had cut off because he constantly spoke of God whilst they made him suffer. I saw and touched all parts of his body, which had received more than 200 blows from a stick. I saw and touched the top of his scalped (ecorchée) head; I saw and touched the opening which these barbarians had made to tear out his heart. In fine, I saw and touched all the wounds of his body such as the savages had told and assured us of; we buried these precious relics on Sunday the 21st day of March, 1649, with much consolation.

I had the happiness of carrying them to the grave and of inhuming them with those of Father Gabriel L'Allemand. When we left the country of the Hurons, we lifted both bodies from the ground and set them to boil in strong lye. All the bones were well scraped, and the care of having them dried was given to me. I put them every day into a little oven made of clay, which we had, after having heated it slightly, and when in a state to be packed, they were enveloped separately in silk stuff. Then they were put into two small chests and we brought them to Quebec, where they are held in great veneration.

It is not a doctor of the Sorbonne who has composed this, as you may easily see, it is a remnant from the Iroquois, and a person who has lived more than thought, who is and shall be ever, Sir,

Your humble and very obedient servant,†

CHRISTOPHE REGNAUT, Coadjutor Brother with the Jesuits of Caen, 1678, Companion of Fathers Brebœuf and L'Allemand above mentioned.

ABSTRACTS OF THE ACTES DE FOY ET HOMMAGE.

(Faalty Rolls.)

(These abstracts are taken only from volumes II, III and IV, covering the years 1723 to the first part of 1781. Volume I was found so late that there was not time to analyse its contents. In view of the fact that, on the occasion of every change, the original deed of concession is repeated in each Acte de Foy et Hommage, it would seem that there must be very few, if any, deeds of concession contained in the first volume, which are not mentioned in the subsequent volumes. Nevertheless, it is proposed to make hereafter an abstract of the first volume, and also of the last four volumes, which cover the period from 1781 to 1854. As a matter of course the paging and numbering of the volumes given in this abstract apply solely to the copy of the "Actes de Foy & Hommage" in the Archives Office, and not to the original, which is the property of the Government of the Provinces of Quebec.)

 Albany. General Amherst to the officer commanding 4th Batt. 60th regiment. Respecting the accounts of the Royal Americans and Montgomery's. 82.
- June 5,
 Albany. General Amherst to Col. Haldimand (in French). A party of Indians under Lotteridge has returned on meeting a party of the enemy. The reports as usual exaggerated; the interest of the French to persuade the Indians they are in a different state from the reality; but even if they had re-taken Quebec, they would not have provisions to distribute among the Indians. In view of threats of French Indians, it is not prudent to furnish our Indians with powder. Stores sent to Niagara will secure it. The efficient state of the ship and the condition of the French Marine warrants Haldimand in letting her go. Safe arrival of guns; loss of batteaux, owing, he thinks, to negligence. Deserters. No soldier to be allowed to leave till the campaign is over. Whaleboats sent by Col. Bradstreet. 83.

Is pleased at the arrival of detachment at the new quarters and the safe passage of the batteaux. Approves of the troops leaving to day and to-morrow. Instructions for camping. Indians to be relieved by an equal number. Believes the batteries are too far off. Will try to make use of the galleys. Reconnoitering by Indians. 114.

- August 25,
Three Rivers. Col. Haldimand to General Amherst (in French.) Acknowledges letters. On the contrary the news of the arrival of the French would cast the inhabitants into despair, as they prize their liberty, and are at their crops peacefully. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy auditing of the accounts.

In the second section, the author details the various methods used to collect and analyze data. This includes both primary and secondary research techniques. The primary research involved direct observation and interviews with key stakeholders, while secondary research focused on reviewing existing literature and industry reports.

The third section presents the findings of the study. It highlights several key trends and patterns observed in the data. For example, there was a significant increase in the use of digital services over the past few years, which has led to a shift in consumer behavior. Additionally, the study found that customer loyalty programs are becoming increasingly important for businesses looking to retain their market share.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future research and practical applications. It suggests that further studies should explore the long-term effects of digitalization on the economy and how businesses can best adapt to these changes. The author also provides several actionable insights for managers based on the study's findings.

Governor Johnstone's Engineer (Lt. Dunfort) working willingly; Neall, storekeeper of Artillery, obstructive; proposed appointments. Col. McLeland, who goes to New York, plausible but dangerous; is endeavouring to get rid of him, Primrose Thompson and other elements of discord. Lt. General Gage. Change in mode of payment of expenses in North America. How unavoidable expenses to be met. The greatest frugality and economy expected, and no service that will admit of delay to be undertaken without approval. 57.

May 22,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Col. Taylor still there waiting a ship. Flour expected impatiently; had to send to Mobile for some; ration reduced to half a pound of flour; fear of absolute want of it; heat prevents work except in the evening and morning, but the storehouses finished; Artillery and provisions housed; Hospital being covered in and expect to finish all changes in 3 or 4 days. 63.

1767
June 6,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Col. Taylor had to leave so suddenly that there was no time to write, but he will state personally the position of affairs. The expenses were large under him and yet everything in a miserable condition. The employment of negroes; they do little and cost much. Has sent them and negro carpenters away, has employed five carpenters who do more work than all the negroes put together. Proposes to do the small repairs and thinks it would have been better not to take possession of the posts than to let them fall into the present state. The improved health of the troops justifies the works he has proceeded with. Page 68.

June 6,
New York.

General Gage. Remarks on the estimates for West Florida and the post of Pensacola. Details of expenses to be cut down. 70.

June 13,
New York.

General Gage. Hospital stores sent. Kettles for brewing spruce beer, which is better for the men than rum. Draughts of men sent. Hopes to send a larger number after the hot weather. May appoint a temporary Clerk of Stores. Hopes that the Captains from South Carolina and St. Augustine may be at Pensacola when Capt. Hamilton arrives so as to go on with the trial of Major Farmer. 73.

June 14,
New York.

General Gage. Estimates of expenses of Military establishment of West Florida received, returns of dates of payment of each officer of staff in West Florida to be sent. Hopes works finished, the men's health best reason for them. No orders yet received about barracks and nothing settled about the troops for West Florida. One regiment enough and four or five companies at Pensacola out of this. Road between Pensacola and Mobile and ferries, &c., matters for Civil Government. Touching loss of vessels with provisions and freighting of another. Garrison for Appalachie; unless shown to be of use the post to be abandoned. Regarding the state of the large boats lately built and the sending of artificers. Communication with the Mississippi augments instead of diminishing posts; no use for Tombecké, Appalachie, the Natchez, or indeed the Iberville, unless uninterrupted water communication can be established. Does not see how the Natchez or Iberville can be supported in event of rupture with Spaniards. Respecting trials of Major Farmer and Lieut. Pitman. Movements of officers. Might try wells as the water is bad; cannot come into the Doctor's opinion to allow rum. Respecting the cutting of wood by soldiers, and applications of officers for purchase of their steps. 64.

June 11, from
14 March.

Indian Superintendent Stewart. Receipt for Contingent expenses of Department, from 14 March to 11 June, 1767. 183.

And from 2nd July 1767 to 10th March 1773. 184.

June 15,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Agrees that expenses taking possession of Tombecké enormous, arising out of the inexperience of Cap. Hope and the necessity of losing no time, which was taken advantage of by the contractors. Everything dear at New Orleans and workmen lazier even than those at Pensacola. Advocates independent communication with New Orleans and improvements at posts. The confusion at Pensacola and the sufferings of troops arriving from Europe, where there was every convenience, to a place where there is none. Measures of improvement. The turbulent character of storekeeper Neal. 74.

June 16,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). The trial of Major Farmer; the difficulty of assembling a sufficient number to form the Court and to get the witnesses, especially the French witnesses from New Orleans, who will not come unless they are indemnified. The greater part of the witnesses on both sides are scattered every where. Blames Governor Johnstone for his violence. Lt. Pittman gone with a surveyor employed by the Admiralty to prepare a plan of the Appalaches; not so much need in future for Hospital stores, as the improvements by opening access to fresh air have lessened the number of sick. Troops now receive their usual rations of flour, and fresh beef as often as possible. The soil is so sterile that there is no pasturage, or fresh beef might be supplied all the year. An order has been issued by Government to stop cattle leaving the Province. Government so weak it is difficult to enforce it. Necessity for barracks; the huts not weather proof and accommodation wretched; no houses in which to billet the troops. Wishes the Governor should lodge outside of the fort; besides the inconvenience, it gives him the idea that he commands. Rum for the troops necessary, especially in the hot weather; if not allowed, the soldiers get poisoned with New England rum in the shops. Is preparing gardens. Hopes storekeeper Neal will be recalled. Page 76.

June 17,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). The posts to be erected by the Spaniards on the Mississippi, opposite those occupied by the British, need not be regarded with jealousy. Bad position of British posts; suggestions to encourage agriculture among the Illinois and the Natchez; supplying ploughs and oxen. The measures proposed would render them masters of the Mississippi and New Orleans. Remarks upon the proposed deepening of the Iberville; the desire of Indian traders, &c., to have posts everywhere, without regard to expense. Differences between the Commandant at Tombecké and Indian Superintendent settled; recommends the post to be left for the time as it is, until plausible reasons can be found to make the traders live in the Indian villages, which the Superintendent opposes. Stuart, the Deputy Superintendent, investigating the murder committed by the Creeks. Col. Taylor mistaken as to his capabilities, &c.; the designs of Governor Johnston were not known when he complained; all the Indian disorders due to the bad conduct of the traders. List of officers and surgeons employed in that part of Florida transmitted. 81.

June 18,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Alarm of Col. Walsh at the result of the Court Martial. Wished to go to England, but tranquillized by the knowledge of General Gage's care of his interests. Ensign P. Thompson at the country house of Governor Johnston. His continued bad opinion of the situation of the posts on the Mississippi; suggests Military Colony at the Natchez. Difficulties in the way by the proceedings of Governor Johnston. Encloses concessions of land made by him. These have always been ruinous for new colonies; value of the land; only 500 arpents should be granted on condition of settling in villages. Believes this would induce the French to settle and assure the confidence of the Indians. The French testify great aversion to Spanish rule. Advantages of Florida exaggerated; does not hope much for Spanish commerce. 85.

June 23.
New Yo. k.

General Gage. Regrets scarcity of provisions, flatters himself they will soon be supplied, as ships had sailed from Philadelphia with them on board. Respecting draughts for the 23rd and 31st Regiments. Will try to send good boat builders and tools. Reference to the Estimates. 83.

June 30,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Relating entirely to the affairs of Major Farmer and his Courtmartial. 90.

1767

July 4,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Is pained lest the Lords of the Treasury, not being informed of the condition of affairs, should think he had exceeded his orders. Justifies himself for the work done by the sickly state of the garrison, the risk to the military stores, &c., as it would have been easier for him to do nothing than to work from morning to night; sends plans of work. The unhealthiness of the climate shown by the results to a detachment sent out well provided, every one of which was attacked with putrid fever. Page 92.

Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Sends different returns. The arms and accoutrements of the regiments in good order; the discipline has suffered owing to the sickness and heat of the climate. Dearness of necessaries has led to all the soldiers being in debt. Ensign Thompson in the country; wishes Col. Walsh would do the same, or get leave of absence. Will be at no expense that can be avoided, in accordance with orders. The expenses he has incurred will save money. Bad state of the boats and high rate of wages for repairs. Mode of victualling artificers. His own living costs much more than his pay. It is the most disagreeable service he has ever had in his life. Thermometer at 92°. 94.

July 7,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Encloses letters showing the condition of Fort Bute and Natchez, and of the posts the Spaniards are building. Is annoyed that the cartel offered by the Spaniards is accepted; believes that neither he nor Governor Johnston has power to accept. Refers the matter to General Gage, and has so intimated to Don Ulloa. At the same time believes an unlimited cartel would be advantageous for the recovery of deserters. Many would return if sure of pardon. Bombardier Oldfield has shot a gunner while in a fit of melancholia. Accident to a gunner on the King's birthday. Bad state of the powder. Deputy Stuart writes that the Chicasaws have left him, being dissatisfied on account of the presents; measures to be taken. The Spaniards are trying to gain them over at the instigation of the French. Monterault who entered the service has left, angry at his treatment by Gov. Johnston, and he and his son have been promoted in the Spanish service. 97.

July 10,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Delay of vessels taking his letters. Stock of flour again reduced, and no word of ship from Philadelphia with fresh supply. Has not yet been able to send plan of stockade and barracks. Recommends Ensign Johnston to His Excellency. 101.

August 5,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand, (in French). Col. Walsh goes to New York and may wish to go to London. He can be spared. Flour arrived and another cargo expected. Contractor was obliged to pay $14 a barrel on the spot, before it arrived, to fulfil his contract. Plans of Fort St. Marc and neighbourhood, also of casemates and barracks. Believes the post should be continued to secure communication with St. Augustine. It is not exposed and there is a good quarry. Has ordered all the posts to have large gardens made for the soldiers. Demand of Governor to have a post at Tongipaho, to prevent the traders carrying their furs to New Orleans, and the people on Lake Pontchartrain from carrying their produce there. Steps taken to urge its uselessness on the Council and to get rid of the preparations made by Col. Taylor. States his reasons for thinking the fort useless and the danger boats would run from attacks by Indians. Besides the Commissaries should live among the Indians to cultivate their friendship and watch the traders. Council agreed to arm two boats and have a post at the mouth of the Manchauk River. The Province had no funds and expected the Government to provide. Asks General Gage to determine, as the boats and post would be useful. Will send to inspect the Spanish fort at Iberville, and also to survey Pontchartrain for a good site. Encloses plan of fort at Pensacola with remarks. Arrival of Deputy Commissioner Strothers from Mobile. Indians making war among themselves, but doing little harm. They are satisfied with the tariff fixed by Col. Stuart between them and the traders. 102.

September 1,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). The ruinous state of the barracks; constantly suffering from storms; Governor Johnstou it is believed, had power to order new barracks, which would have saved money. Not done owing to quarrels. Respecting wood; the bad state of the boats and the laziness and worthlessness of negroes, have made wood exorbitant in price; the result of the outlay can scarcely be seen. Thinks the posts on the Mississippi and a good one on the Natchez would do good among the Indians, and against the Spaniards' means of supplying them. Wells tried but water very bad; beer can be made of spruce and sassafras; glad recruits not to be sent till the Autumn; heat excessive. Eight deaths of soldiers within a few days, all suddenly, although the improvements have done good. Illness of Cap. Innis. Death of Lieut. Cunningham 21st Regiment. Recommends certain officers for promotion. Petition of Captain Hamilton of the 31st Regt. forwarded. Non arrival of officers to hold Court Martial. Recommends that Farmer be tried in New York or London. Provisions ordered for Mississippi posts. State of the accounts. An officer and 20 men at the Appalaches, the rest of the detachment of 9th Regt. to be sent to St. Augustine. Death of the Chief Justice of Florida; pitiable state of confusion in the Government of that Province. Indians quiet at the posts. 108.

September 4,
New York.

General Gage. Col. Taylor at St. Augustine, accounts cannot be settled till he arrives at New York. His expenses have been very great. Believes that arises from want of method. Negroes well away for all the good to be got out of them. Capt. Durell reported gone to England. Cause of Cap. Hope's enormous charges for taking possession of Fort Tombeché. Has no doubt McNamara very honest, but to have as little as possible to do with him or any one else at New Orleans. Cap. Taylor has hired a vessel to take three Captains to Pensacola. Cannot comprehend this arrangement, unless he means to use her to take garrison from Appalachi to St. Augustine. 114.

September 5,
New York.

General Gage. To be at no more expense for barracks; if no officers' quarters, they must be hired. Hints at the cause of assumptions by civil Governors in forts. Respecting payment for rum by soldiers. Hopes attempt to make gardens will be successful, but fears the poor soil will prevent; shall not, however, want for seeds. Respecting Court Martial on Farmer and McLellan. 116.

September 6,
New York.

General Gage. Acknowledges returns of staff pay and patents for land at the Natchez and other places on the Mississippi. Doubts the feasibility of maintaining posts on the Mississippi, or the advantages of them to us or the Spaniards. The rule he laid down, to take no posts that could not be supported, not observed. Cites Tombeché, Iberville, Natchez, &c., and nothing effectual done at Mobile or Pensacola. Complains that neither plan nor method has been observed. Lieut. Ritchie and Indian Commissary both in the wrong. No decision yet about Court Martial on Ensign Thompson. Project for Military Colony sent home. Barrack Master Dowaman to receive certificate for his' pay. 119.

- 1767
September 7,
New York. General Gage. Certificate to contractors for provisions received. Satisfied that works at Pensacola are for the benefit of the service and had written to the King's Ministers accordingly. No answer yet. Approves of works at Hospital. The discipline of the regiments no doubt improved by removal of jarring elements. Remarks on the Provision Returns. 122.
- September 8,
New York. General Gage. Acknowledges receipt of various papers. Hopes the Spanish forts next ours at Fort Bute and the Natchez will not cause difference between the nations. King of Spain not likely to send the number of troops talked of. Has transmitted Don Ulloa's proposed cartel with Haldimand's observations and his own added. Respecting pardon to deserters, with private design as to their disposal. The petition of Gunner Trimming, a deserter, all false. The expense of Indian presents. Monsieur Monberault not well treated by Governor Johnston, but he is a dirty fellow. If Spaniards do not watch him, they will soon tire of his expenses. If contractors for provisions do not improve they must be complained of. 125.
- October 4,
New York. General Gage. Artificers sent, who with those among the draughts for regiments, should be sufficient for the work at Pensacola. Engineer Dunford is subject to the orders of the Governor of West Florida. If employed when not required in the Civil Branch, it must be with that understanding. Lt. Col. Walsh to be sent to England; is to take all papers relating to his disputes at Pensacola with him, including those on account of which Ensign Thompson was arrested. The latter to have liberty to go to England. 129.
- October 13,
New York. General Gage. Strange accounts of Major Rogers; should not be astonished to hear of his arrival at New Orleans with all the garrison of Missilimackinac he could induce to desert and all the plunder he could carry off. Does not know if the Spaniards would give him up in that case. 135.
- October 15,
New York. General Gage. Volunteers for the 21st and 31st Regts. sent with Cap. Hodgson. Others sent with Lieuts. Farmer and Phyn; 196 in all for the 21st and 100 for the 31st. To see how many men are wanted to complete the 9th Regiment. Copy of charter party for transport sent. No word about barracks; soldiers to be lodged as well as in his power. Returns for Volunteers to the 9th Regiment. to be sent to New York. Instructions respecting Volunteers and recruits. Cap. Hamilton to get leave of absence. 131.
- October 30,
Pensacola. General Haldimand (in French). Death of Cap. Rea; his good conduct and the esteem in which he was held. Capt. Denny, Commandant at Iberville, and Lieut. Pittman, hired a small schooner to come to Pensacola by Lake Pontchartrain; left on the 8th and no word of her; not uneasy as some vessels have taken 42 days to come. Respecting the Court Martial on Major Farmer and the difficulty of getting witnesses to come from New Orleans. Don Ulloa's desire for a cartel. M. D'Aubry's obliging conduct. Outrages by Creek Indians on French traders; their attempt to form alliances with Northern Indians. War between Creeks and Choctaws. Withdrawal from post of Tombeché. Complaints of each of the two Indian nations that ammunition is given to the other to destroy their rivals. Will try to make peace between them. Return of deserters; will send them off to New York. Thinks they and others from New Orleans should be sent to Jamaica. Arrival of three Captains; has sent back detachments by the sloop which brought them from St. Augustine. Improved health of the troops. Arrangements to provide posts with provisions from New Orleans defeated

- 1767 by bad state of boats and exorbitant charges. Expenses of posts enormous; recommends closing some of them. Recommends Lt. Hutchison for promotion. Page 136.
- November 15, General Gage. List of Villages, plans, &c., received through Col. New York. Walsh. As little expense as possible to be incurred at Fort St. Marks. Respecting roads. Reiterates his opinion about the little value of the posts. Governor Johnstone always pretended he had power to erect posts; if the Civil Governor has not funds for expense of building, plans and estimates to be sent home when buildings are proposed; means should be taken to cut off communication between Spaniards and Indians. Respecting the Fort at Pensacola. 142.
- November 16, General Gage. In answer to letter of 1st September, about the New York. bad condition of buildings at the Pensacola Fort. Has heard that Governor Johnstone secreted a letter about barracks. Never had any opinion of Col. Taylor's plan about negroes; soldiers must bring wood as formerly; will be allowed for cutting wood, but not as batteau men. Post of Natchez may be useful with Indians, but not in case of war. Provincials not easily obtained and would only move down the River Ohio in spring or fall; better to attack the Capital of Louisiana by troops moved by sea. Respecting movements of officers. Relief of Posts. Heard of a Frigate going up the Iberville, but not advisable to try the experiment again. 145.
- November 17, General Gage. Presents of apples, beef, &c., from him and Mrs. New York. Gage. 59.
- November 17, General Gage. Volunteers sent for 23rd Regiment. Respecting New York. tools, large numbers have not been accounted for. In the struggle of the Governor for command they may have been issued to settlers or used for other purposes of civil government; to investigate. 148.
- November 28, General Haldimand (in French). Flattered at the approbation of Pensacola. his conduct to improve the post. Annoyed at the wretched delays and expense connected with Major Farmer's trial. Has employed Lt. Pittman in surveying the rivers leading to Tombebay. Letter from Lt. Ritchie proves the necessity of withdrawing the post he commands, for reasons the Indians cannot disapprove. Refers to affairs on the frontier of Georgia. Trusts that it is not so bad as represented. Difficulty of communication owing to embroilments with the Lower Creeks. Stuart right in his complaints of difficulty of satisfying Indians so long as system of sending large sums to Governors for distribution continues, these Governors being so fond of the pomp of assembling Indians, and parading before them with a court and troops. These pleasure parties, called Congresses, cost thousands of pounds sterling yearly. The matter deserves serious consideration, as these things cause only confusion. Glad of the arrival of carpenters, most of those in the Regiment do not deserve the name of workmen, being drunkards who spoil more than they do. Engineer Durnford too busy to be of use. Would prefer Lt. Brehm to any other if he were sent. Arrival of a new Commissary to learn his trade at the King's expense. 149.
- November 29, General Haldimand (in French). Capt. Marsh will communicate Pensacola. personally information concerning the state of things at Pensacola, and will be useful in laying them before the Ministry. Sends varieties of seeds; the gardens succeed better than he had dared to hope. Sends list of seeds which grow best. 155.
- November 30, General Haldimand (in French). Glad to find that they are to Pensacola. receive barrack beds and utensils. Can find no vestiges of the large quantity stated by Col. Robertson and can get no account from Lt. McLellan, the Barrack Master, who ought to be tried by Court Martial. Suggestions for the improvement of the barrack system. Will have to hire lodgings for the officers expected at an exorbitant rate; may induce Govr. Johnstone to give up his house, which the commanding officer only gave up to him on his arrival, out of politeness. On the subject of rum to the soldiers, and how to reimburse those who paid the half of it during the sickly season. Proposed garrison reliefs. The cartel with the Spaniards. Will write Don Ulloa for permission to publish in New Orleans the pardon for deserters. If he can collect a sufficient number will send them to Grenada. Will retain those brought by Capt. Marsh, whom he had thought of sending to Jamaica. Expects every day a frightful account from McNamara, caused by local jealousies, which have caused a perfect chaos. Respecting Forts Iberville and Natchez. The latter would be advantageous, but too expensive; the post on the Illinois would be better and by agriculture they could furnish stores there. Discusses the best situations for other posts and garrisons in Florida, Georgia and Carolina, which he proposes to set out in a special letter. Page 157.

Pensacola.

General Haldimand. Letter by Cap. Hope who is resolved to sell out. 4 Dec., 1767, with plans of barracks. 166.

December 6,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). The state of dilapidation he found things in makes it impossible yet to give a proper estimate of expenses. The flattering accounts of the goodness of the country deceptive, commerce very much restricted; the inhabitants accustomed to a lazy life, vegetate; the harbour infested with worms and only fitted to be a refuge for a few frigates in time of war. The only hope is for the French to establish themselves with their families and industries. Florida no better in time of war for reasons given. Proposes therefore to abandon certain posts and to erect one on Lake Ponchartrain, and details given of other arrangements of advantage. 167.

December 18,
New York.

General Gage. Regrets death of Cap. Rea. Promotions in 21st Regiment should go to the corps if possible. Difficulties in the trial of Major Farmer. Answer to Don Ulloa's proposal for Cartel expected. The misfortunes to French people from Indians on the Ohio cannot be laid to our charge. French traders should keep to their own side of the river. Sir W. Johnson complains of French dealings with Indians. Withdrawal from Tombecbé he hopes will be to the mutual satisfaction of Creeks and Choctaws. Respecting deserters. Soon be able to reduce expenses of district to order and hopes artificers will be of great use. Men keep their health surprisingly; no doubt alterations made by Haldimand contribute greatly towards it; death of Sir John St. Clair. (For letter of same date see also page 60.) 172.

December 21,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Pleased that Cap. Marsh, if arrived, can give an account of the Province. Does not see how all the past and future expenses can be made up to the nation. Does not see how the troops could make an advantageous diversion, still less take Louisiana. Belle Rivière is a more natural channel, its advantages in promoting settlement on the Mississippi; at present trade small being chiefly confined to military and persons employed by Government. The withdrawal of troops would be opposed from personal interests. Will come to New York to consult on this if necessary. Represents his claims. Obstacles to the formation of a Court Martial. Respecting the action of the Lieut. Governor; it will inevitably excite disorder in the Council and Assembly. Will do his best. Their laws an extraordinary compound. 175.

No blankets or beds arrived; soldiers sleep on boards without cover. Arrival of detachment from Tombecké at Mobile. Has sent notice to New Orleans of pardon to deserters; if sufficient number return will freight a Vessel to Grenada. No news yet of the Volunteers from the Mississippi; fears they will not get down the Iberville, but will have to go to New Orleans. Respecting Commissaries White and Waugh. Have now a good store; the stores saved will pay all expenses. About McNamara's accounts; has no suitable vessel to bring provisions by the Lakes; the provincial vessel has been of no assistance. Will send an Engineer to select a suitable place on the Lakes for a post. Differences of opinion on the subject. The new Governor, daily expected, will no doubt have orders. Reputed he is to take both Civil and Military command. Governor will not give up house in the fort; proposes to run a stockade between it and the barracks, if approved; has sent men to cut a year's wood. Fears respecting Capt. Hudson and recruits for 31st Regiment. Recovery of Capts. Hope and Croftown, but the delay of Major Bromley gives reason to fear new impediments to Court Martial.	186.
January 28, Pensacola.	General Haldimand (in French). Shipwreck of Capt. Hudson and loss of three men of the 31st. Lost provisions and probably all that they had on board. 	Board of Ordnance. Leave of absence to Lt. McLellan, Barrack Master.	284.

February 9,
New York.

General Gage. The difficulties of forming a Court Martial on Major Farmer. If cannot get officers enough to form a Court of enquiry, Lieutenants Pittman and McLelan can be tried at Headquarters. The murders by Indians on the frontiers of Georgia caused by bad treatment. Cannot understand how Engineer Durnford is employed on civil affairs. Will get out officers to replace any thus employed. Division of expenses for clothing between the Colonels and the Government. Page 196.

February 10,
New York.

General Gage. Despatches to Lord Shelburne sent by Capt. Marsh. Glad of the success of the gardens; has sent seeds. Hopes barrack furniture, &c., have arrived. Concerning the respective advantages of Florida and South Carolina. Will wait for fuller estimates of expenses of detachments. 207.

February 12,
New York.

General Gage. Haldimand must wait with patience the determination concerning troops in West Florida. The use to be made of that Province and resolutions respecting new settlements on the Ohio and Mississippi. Government has full information on these subjects. Has already ample powers, so that a journey to New York is unnecessary. Will transmit representations to the King as to his situation. Conduct to be observed if storekeeper Neale refuses to obey orders. Preposterous orders given by the storekeeper laid before the Ordnance. The factions among the Civil party cannot interfere with the Military. Respecting Ensign Briscoe's resignation. 208.

Cause of delay in settlement arising from the party spirit in the Province; the position of de la Cotraye, his influence over the Indians and their outrages render it desirable to employ him. Recommends Louis Perrot, whom he had known in Three Rivers, for employment. 212.

February 26,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). Relating to a demand from Don Ulloa for the delivery of Spanish deserters from the fort at mouth of the Missouri, who had revolted and fled to Fort Natchez. - February 28,
Pensacola. General Haldimand (in French). Repeats report of the return to Mobile of the garrison of Tombecbà. Survey of the river by Lieut. Pittman. Lt. Ritchie to settle accounts of the fort. Designs of Lt. Governor Johnstone and his friends to have posts maintained for their own benefit. New Governor should make a clean sweep of the Council or he will suffer. Has retained three square miles round the forts, otherwise the Council would have made grants up to the glàcis. Is trying means to improve the Iberville. The resignation of Cap. Vignoles. Respecting leave of absence to officers. Expects the arrival impatiently of officers for the Court Martial. 222.
- March 3,

- April 20,
Pensacola. General Haldimand (in French). Major Farmer's trial has proceeded as far as evidence procurable would warrant; is sending Farmer and Pittman to New York for further orders. Last recruits from England would have infected the whole garrison if allowed to land; are all ill, four dead and others in danger. Relief of the garrison at St. Mark, Appalaches; misunderstanding between Governor Grant and Col. Taylor at St. Augustine. May 26,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). No news from the Mississippi or New Orleans. Expects the arrival from New Orleans of the officer with deserters, but is afraid he will not be very successful; some have re-deserted and spread unfavourable reports. Is taking advantage of the rise of water in the Mississippi to supply the posts and have boats &c., repaired. Impatient to learn His Majesty's decision as to troops; in the meantime is preparing wood for barracks. Has had to build a magazine on Isle St. Rose to preserve the small quantity of powder left. Boucher by the Aventure to Jamaica; respecting the accounts, and the gratuity he recommends to officers engaged in this service. Hopes he may be authorized to conclude a cartel with Don Ulloa to deliver up deserters in Louisiana, or send them elsewhere, as they are vermin who may slip in among the Indians and do harm. Is afraid that Governor Elliott may be empowered to conclude the cartel; another mortification. 275.

June 10,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand (in French). His annoyance at the letter of the Board of Ordnance respecting the manner of providing the military with stores from the Provincial Magazine. It will be necessary to have a full supply separately, with storekeepers &c., entirely under military control. Being a distant frontier post, must be better supplied than elsewhere. If the forts as well as the stores are to be considered provincial, apprehends great confusion. Dreads that the new Governor is to be clothed with greater powers. Letter to the Governor from the Board of Ordnance leaves the control of everything undetermined. Artillery warned to hold themselves in readiness for relief, no barrack to receive a full company; asks orders to justify him in incurring expense for lodging them. General Haldimand (in French). Marked private. The Governor has returned from Natchez by way of New Orleans; makes a mystery of his doings there. Complains bitterly that the Engineer and Storekeeper are members of the Council, and the Clerks members of the Assembly; that there is no redress for any complaint; that he is disgusted with a service so disagreeable, expensive and ill rewarded, where he is liable to be attacked by the malice of people, more dangerous than wild beasts. pounder iron guns. Fort at Iberville to be demolished. Consternation at the removal of the troops. Mystery affected by Lt. Governor; meetings of the shopkeepers and representatives of the Province. Address to the King for protection to the "Emporium of the West." No advantage has, as represented, been taken of the land; not 50 acres cultivated since taking possession. People would rather enjoy military pay, charging 100 per cent. profit; trade nothing; no agriculture; good farming country back from the sea, but difficulty of restraining the settlers; their conduct towards the Indians. The laws of Great Britain not suitable to so lawless, insolent a set, gathered from all nations; and the new comers, intent solely on their own interests, immediately adopt the ideas of and become more insolent than the first. Difficult to find a remedy; but if there is to be one, it must be taken in time, as the people breed like rabbits in a warren. 310.

August 31,
New York.

Not to yield in the least to Governor Grant in respect to the Hospital; little attention to be paid to the complaints of Lt. Governor respecting deserters at New Orleans, nor to arrangements made by Governor without his knowledge; instructions to officers left behind to obey the King's orders, not the Governor's, but not to dispute about trifles or mere punctilio. 320.

Don Ulloa cannot take the provisions; will be sold by auction. Lieut. - October 9, New Orleans. Evan Jones. Escaped negro belonging to General Haldimand caught and shipped to him in irons. 349.

Provincial sloop of no help; has been sent to Jamaica to ask Admiral Parry for two frigates to protect the Province. - Décember 14, General Haldimand (in French). Delays in return of sloops for Pensacola. men owing to accidents. Regarding the arrival of Artillery. - No date (end of 1768.) General Haldimand (in French). No danger in leaving Fort St. Mark standing. Will leave a few soldiers till Mr. Gordon settles there. CORRESPONDENCE WITH GENERAL GAGE, VOL. 3, 1758 TO 1777.

B. 4.

B. M., 21,664.

1769
January 6,
New York.

General Gage. By letter from Lord Hillsborough, six Companies instead of three to be left for the defence of West Florida. Finds that the 21st Regiment has been ordered to Charleston, South Carolina; had hoped they could be put under cover at St. Augustine. Too late now to say anything about it. 1.

January 10,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand—No address; apparently to M. d'Aubry, at New Orleans (in French). Acknowledges letter on the subject of the revolution in New Orleans. All his (Aubry's) cares for four years to prepare the minds of the people for the change of sovereignty saved Ulloa and the Spaniards, and his prudence will save matters being pushed to extremity. Is surprised at Don Ulloa's course. The French not to be conciliated by being treated like Mexicans; the difference between them and French Canadians, who are contented, and will soon all speak the English language. Trusts this outbreak of the Louisianians may not have disagreeable consequences. Trusts that reflection will restore quiet. Regrets he has not been able to meet him personally to thank him, and offers his services. 2.

- 1769
January 14,
New York. General Gage. Regrets troops not all embarked for St. Augustine. Fortunately their services not wanted, though he does not know how soon he may have to embark with troops to another part of the continent, for which he may be prepared. If all but the three Companies are at St. Augustine, is only to reinforce these to a sufficient number for protection of West Florida. The revolt at New Orleans may be attended with bad consequences. Blameable conduct of the officer sent with deserters, in giving them to regiments at Jamaica instead of at Grenada. 6.
- February 7,
Pensacola. General Haldimand—no address, probably to Col. Taylor at St. Augustine (in French). Is still in this villainous country (Pensacola). The two Companies of Artillery at last arrived; will start as soon as possible for St. Augustine; if they cannot land there will go to Charleston. Will go by Fort St. Mark, where he wishes to see Mr. Gordon; if not arrived, will leave a few soldiers till he does. Will come thence by land to St. Augustine, if the road is practicable. 8.
- March 14,
New York. General Gage. Encloses report concerning biscuits for troops from Commissary Leake (page 9). His remarks as to contractors' duties. Haldimand should scarcely need boat builders at St. Augustine. To transmit accounts of expenditure; Major Chisholm likes his quarters at Charleston, but doubts if the Assembly when it meet will be very ready to provide for the troops. They are to go back to St. Augustine to be ready against a sudden call. Col. McKay, a Major General in America; Col. Prevost has sold to Col. Christie. Desires his opinion as to best means of defending West Florida from attack from Indians, French or Spaniards. The ruinous state of the defences. Number of troops needed and what assistance the troops could expect from the Militia. Desires also opinion as to best method of attacking Louisiana. What impediments to the march of troops by river from sea or by Lake Pontchartrain to get to New Orleans by the Bayou of St. John, and how to be removed. The delay of attacking from the side of Philadelphia Province. Court martial to be assembled in South Carolina to try deserters from 21st Regiment. Hospital and barrack arrangements. 10.
- April 24,
Charleston. John Stuart, Indian Superintendent. Regarding Charles Stuart's illness. The conduct of Lt. Governor Browne in keeping Government arrangements of Indian affairs a secret, inexplicable. The Assemblies, owing to state of affairs on the Continent, have made no regulation with respect to Indian trade; Indians complain of the country being filled with vagabonds, and of traders imposing on them. Happy that his sentiments regarding mediation in disputes between Indians are approved. 96.
- April 26,
New York. General Gage. Respecting returns of rations, and regulations respecting the issue, &c. 15.
- May 9,
New York. General Gage. The 9th Regiment to be sent home; to be reduced to the strength of the Irish establishment and all who will volunteer to remain in America to be turned over to other regiments. 16.
- June 28,
St. Augustine. General Haldimand. To his nephew in England (in French.) Regarding the desire of his nephew's brother to go to England. Cannot purchase him an Ensigny as he may get it for nothing, but something better may offer in business; asks assistance to borrow in London £500 stg. on the security of a house and other private matters. 18.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary data collection techniques. The primary data was gathered through direct observation and interviews with key stakeholders.

The analysis phase involved using statistical software to identify trends and correlations within the data set. It is noted that while the data shows a general upward trend, there are significant fluctuations that require further investigation.

The final section provides a summary of the findings and offers recommendations for future research. It suggests that more detailed studies should be conducted to explore the underlying causes of the observed trends.

- July 1, St. Augustine General Haldimand (in French). The difficulties in providing the material for barracks at St. Augustine, persuade him that the best way is to build them in New York or Jersey and send them to be raised on the spot. Hospital arrangement; claims of Governor Grant to make staff appointments. 31.
- July 9, St. Augustine General Haldimand (in French). At present Louisiana could be easily conquered, the inhabitants detest Spanish rule and would willingly throw themselves into the arms of Great Britain. If attached to Spain and that she had 5 or 600 regular troops there, it would take 2,000 men to make a successful attack. There are 1,000 men fit to bear arms besides about 100 French troops; the inhabitants all accustomed to the use of arms and knowing the country would be more dangerous than regular troops. Discusses the best points and method of attack. 36.

Western Florida thrown into confusion by the death of Governor Elliott. Lieut. Governor detested, is led by a young man with whom no one has ever been able to live. 38

 West Florida to be observed. Respecting provision accounts;

 Col. Maxwell may carry on the service during Haldimand's absence in the North on his own affairs. 50.
- October 13, General Haldimand (in French). Delays of transport, first from St. Augustine want of biscuits, and then from heavy storm. Col. Maxwell arrived off the bar, but, owing to the gale, ship had again to stand out to sea. A detachment of the 9th Regiment to sail for New York next day. Distribution Return of 136 Volunteers; most of them good recruits. Arms delivered up by 9th Regiment sent to New York for want of proper store room. Lt. Smith will furnish personally details of the works from the beginning. Encloses a plan which he can explain. Money very scarce; if barracks are built some must be sent, as workmen paid in bills lose by exchange; asks that Lt.
 Smith may have an allowance as clerk of works and overseer, to be continued to his successor. Lt. Boucher will obtain leave to go to New York, where he will explain the difficulties connected with the transport of deserters to Grenada. Arrival of detachment from St. Marks, taken possession of by Governor Grant. Will soon abandon the posts of Matanas and Picolette, leaving only Mokeko occupied. Learns from Mr. Charles Stuart that Spanish troops have pacified New Orleans, and that the French have no longer the desire to resist. Spanish vessels fishing on our coasts; does not share Stuart's alarm, but thinks that it should increase the trade which daily diminishes from the difficulty of our merchant vessels obtaining access to their ports. 51.
- October 16, General Haldimand (in French). Transports returned to Char-
 St. Augustine leston damaged; take three weeks or a month to repair. To save Reminds him to send opinion concerning the defence of West Florida, Page 58.

- November 11, General Gage. The proposal to transfer the troops between St. New York. Augustine and Charleston appears to be the most suitable. Complains of the conduct of contractors causing the delay by which the transports were caught in the gale. Respecting the extravagant accounts of the Commissary for West Florida. 60.
- November 15, General Gage. General order as to provision returns, signed by New York. Richard Maitland, D.A.G. 62.

Fraser's passage by the Iberville to the Mississippi in a schooner, and whether the route by the Lakes to the Mississippi instead of by New Orleans is practicable. Lieut. Gamble's complaint, that contractors caused the delay by which the troops were caught in the storm, to be examined. 69.
- November 26, General Haldimand (in French). Thanks for champagne. St. Augustine Has only received one letter, answered it by way of New Orleans; but is afraid the revolution has prevented its reaching. Hopes to return to Europe, but will put off till he gets a regiment. Refers to his friend's acquisition of land, but believes the New World would afford better prospects of success. Advises him not to lose the opportunity of coming out, and will furnish him means of seeing the whole country as far as Quebec. (The letter is addressed in familiar terms to a cousin—no name given.) 73.
- November 28, General Haldimand. (In French.) Arrival of three small vessels. St. Augustine with 21st regiment; one wrecked, but without loss of life, although arms and baggage lost. Inhabitants had picked up effects, arms and part of the clothing. The wreck will not delay the departure of the 9th, of which he sends return, as well as that of the Chelsea Invalids. Duel between Ensign Gordon and Goodacre, both wounded, death of the latter. Staff appointments; Governor Grant's recommendation passed over by the Secretary at War. Engineer appointments; the Board of Ordnance's equivocal instructions. Claim by the Governor of all the artillery stores and ammunition as a gift to the Province. - November 30, General Haldimand to Col. Robertson (in French). Thanks for civilities to his nephew; would have preferred his remaining in St. Augustine is the most unsuitable place for troops, but since they are to be there, is glad that barracks have been ordered. Wants Robertson to come to put matters right in his department, as the men justly complain. Even his brother officers blame him for the position of affairs—which Haldimand thinks he ought to know. 86.
- December 23, General Gage. The arrangements for building the new Barracks. New York. Cannot approve of buying more ground than necessary, as it would only be so much of the King's ground for future Governors to grant away. - 1770

Respecting the route to the Mississippi by the Iberville; no practicable route yet discovered; hopes that one may be found. Hopes to leave in April and present his accounts in person, 104.
- Draught referred to above, suggests the mode of dealing with the Indians first. The probable tactics of the French and Spaniards; the defenceless state of Mobile and Pensacola. The desire for troops in West Florida proceeds only from the greed of the inhabitants, and not from real danger. The only way to defend is by a Fleet. 106.
- February 13, General Haldimand (in French). Respecting provision accounts, St. Augustine supplies of bread, &c. The bad state of the stores, spoils the bread, &c., quickly. State of affairs under O'Reilly at New Orleans. The inhabitants generally detest the Spaniards and will willingly shake off the yoke. 108.
- February 26, General Gage. King's orders received to send troops to West New York. Florida, and put forts there in state of defence against attempts to

- 1770 break up infant settlements. The 16th Regiment sent to Pensacola, and every arrangement ordered for its reception, including six months' provisions. Haldimand to proceed to Pensacola to meet the troops and distribute them as best for defence between Pensacola and Mobile. Plans for barracks at St. Augustine changed; they are to be at Pensacola. To have two Field officers with him at Pensacola. Hopes the alarm is of no consequence. Hospital arrangements; church of St. Francis to be completed for troops. The barracks are to be under his control. Page 112.
- March 7, General Haldimand (in French). Respecting barracks at St. St. Augustine Augustine. 116.
- March 12, General Gage. Stores sent to complete additions to the church of St. New York. Francis. Quarter Masters and Artificers of the 16th leave this day; hopes the regiment will follow in about fourteen days. 118.
- March 21, General Haldimand (in French). Will probably leave for Pen- St. Augustine sacola next week by sea, the land route being impracticable. Will take some artillery men and artificers, and frames for huts which are ready. Hopes the materials for barracks will be sent to Pensacola. Is persuaded that it is only O'Reilly's expedition that has given alarm. At all events the troops better at Pensacola than St. Augustine. The progress of the barracks at Pensacola; work now stopped. The safety of Pensacola depends on the Fleet. What is called a fort is only a stockade against Indian attacks; useless against European troops. Will repair the stockade and perhaps raise a battery on Isle de St. Rose, and redoubts to protect the entrance to the harbour. Mobile also requires extensive repairs. The Province will probably require a post constructed on the Lakes to protect the inhabitants, and provide an asylum for the Frenchmen who wish to come in. 119.
- March 23, General Gage. Wishes that a Lieut. Col. take command under New York. Haldimand. Approves of sending the reinforcements of artillery. Relating to Engineer Moncrieff, and to the behaviour of Cap. Thompson and his mate, Atwin; is pleased that Haldimand's views agree with his about the defence of West Florida. Had told the King's Ministers that the only way to defend the Province was by a fleet. Will not undertake to establish Fort Bute till there is a sure communication. Respecting provisions and other returns. After the arrival of the 16th Regiment the three companies to be returned to St. Augustine. 122.
- April 11, General Haldimand (in French). Stoppage of works. Governor St. Augustine Grant, backed by persons of credit, has applied to the Ministry to keep two regiments here. Should not be surprised he might succeed in spite of the resulting inconveniences. O'Reilly disposed to be friendly; complaints about trader Brady disposing of rum along the Mississippi, leading to disorder. The duty of the Civil Government to stop it. The Province turned in the direction of trade, desires a fort built at Manshack. Asks for another engineer to replace Cammel. Suicide of Capt. Wooldridge (in Gage's letter of 10 May, in reply, the name is given as Varlo) of the 31st Regt. Ensign Gordon (acquitted for murder of Ensign Goodacre) has been arrested for debt. 125.
- April 12, General Haldimand (in French). Sends draught of his accounts St. Augustine for which he has all the vouchers. The extraordinary expenses necessitated by the condition of his district makes him desire to come to New York to have his accounts settled. He, therefore, starts in two days. 129.

April 20,
New York. General Gage. General orders. Respecting Deserters. Respecting change of establishment of regiments serving in North America. 10 May explanatory orders. 27 April, Respecting the Royal Artillery. 5 May. Form of Review return. 131.
- No date. Deputy Adjutant General. Remarks on Monthly and Review Returns sent by General Haldimand. 137.
- May 14,
New York. General Gage. Summary of contents of Haldimand's letters of 7th and 21st March. Proposals he has made respecting the stations of troops in Florida. Deviation from original plan; does not know if O'Reilly's movement has caused it, but still believes the route of Spaniards to West Florida is not by Louisiana. St. Francis Barrack to be completed. Has been obliged to employ a Deputy Engineer at Niagara, to whom Engineers in West Florida are amenable. It would be throwing away money to go to expense on the forts at Pensacola and Mobile. Batteries to defend the harbour sufficient. Respecting disputes among officers of artillery. 138.
- May 16,
New York. General Gage. Hopes the settlement of barrack business will be advantageous. Disapproves of Cap. Innis' accounts for reception of troops. Has not changed his opinion against building fort at Manchack formerly Fort Bate. Will only sanction it under positive orders. The strange project of settling the land. Has no hopes of respectable French coming in from Louisiana; looks only for the worst class. The only French to be expected are from the Illinois and they are half Indians. Will apply for Engineer if the one in West Florida has left; Governor Durnford will help in the meantime. Regrets to hear of Capt. Varlo's unfortunate end. Remarks on accounts of the 21st Regiment. The allowance to nurses. 142.
- May 16,
New York. General Gage. Has received Haldimand's accounts. Leave of absence to Major Pulleine. 146.
- May 16,
New York. General Gage. To Don A. O'Reilly, Governor of the Spanish Province of Louisiana. Regrets altercation between Lt.-Col. Wilkins and M. Rocheblave. His (O'Reilly's) desire to stop disputes; thanks for the kind way in which this is communicated; has given orders to promote mutual good understanding; similar orders by Don O'Reilly being a proof of his good wishes. 147.
- May 23,
Pensacola. General Haldimand. To Governor Grant (in French). Thanks for all his civilities. The Spaniards and Indians are quiet and desire to remain so. The wish for troops in West Florida arises from the wish of the people to make money out of them. Expected arrival of the new Governor disappoints Durnford. Major McKenzie will inform him of the progress of agriculture. Does not hope much from Indigo. Will probably visit the Lakes before returning to St. Augustine. 149.
- May 31,
Pensacola. General Haldimand (in French). Detained ten days off the bar. With Governor Durnford, captains of ships of war and surveyors, has selected sites for harbour batteries. The forts placed there sufficient against a small force, but not against a regular attack unless assisted by the fleet. Difficulties of building the forts in absence of proper materials. Proposes blockhouses. The fort is a stockade and the posts cut only three years ago are rotten. The forts at Mobile ruinous. Proposal to make them defensible against Indians. Will leave a small detachment at Fort Charlotte. Asks that the state of the Engineers and Civil Ordnance in the two Provinces should be represented as contrary to the good of the service. Hopes for the arrival of barrack materials and artificers. Discusses the project of settlement on the Mississippi, the favourite idea of the 1770

Province. The obstacles from the possession of one bank by the Spaniards. The French groan under the yoke. Merchants are trying to realize and go off to St. Domingo; great desertion among the Spanish troops. 151.

June 22,
Pensacola.

General Haldimand —no address—(in French). Hoped to have been able to visit Saco but the great heat and want of proper conveyance prevents. Expects to spend the time of vintage at Pascaoulas; the vine flourishes, but doubts the grapes ripening properly. Hopes his Indigo has not been spoiled by the bad weather. Writes ironically of the passion for law making in West Florida, considered more honourable than soiling the fingers with Indigo. Sends samples of Indigo grown last year in West Florida to compare with that of his correspondent. Wishes they would undertake the cultivation of it in earnest as London would be a ready market. Peace concluded between the Creeks and Choctaws. Suspicions of Johnson that the Northern Indians are trying to get up a Confederation over the continent. Supposed to be the family and friends of Pontiac who are moving as they believe him to have been killed by the English. The conduct of O'Reilly at New Orleans disapproved of by both Courts; d'Aubry struck off the list of Knights of St. Louis. All the prisoners sent to Havana liberated; the merchants of New Orleans are many of them going to France or St. Domingo and the inhabitants generally would do the same could they sell out. 158.

General Gage. Withdrawing the Warrant for holding General Courts Martial. 161.

General Gage. Estimate of the expense and draughts of the works of defence for West Florida to be transmitted. 162.

General Gage. Respecting the re-establishment of Fort Bute, and securing communication with the Mississippi by the Lakes and Iberville. Is to enter into none of these till he receives orders but to obtain all the information possible. Governor Durnford has offered to assist in forming plans for the defence of West Florida. Instructions as to the steps to be taken. 163.

General Gage. Concerning Lt. Boucher's expenses, &c., whilst in charge of deserters sent to the West Indies. Hopes the orders about biscuit will prevent future inconvenience. Hospital arrangements; Pemberton, Surgeon's mate, will be employed either at Pensacola or St. Augustine. 166.

To General Gage. Intimating that receipts for money drawn by Mr. Stuart are forwarded to him. (The letter, without signature, is probably from the secretary of General Gage, to whom it is addressed) 168.

General Haldimand (in French). Transmitting letter from Lord Granby relating to quarrels of two officers, which had been enquired into. 125.

General Haldimand (in French). Will forward letter to Don O'Reilly. Leave of absence to Major Puelleine and Lt. Kenny. Distribution of troops. Arrival of Governor Chester. Hopes he will awaken a spirit of industry among the inhabitants; has not yet been able to learn his ideas about posts on the Mississippi. Respecting the accounts of Capt. Innis. Will continue to prepare wood for the barracks; hopes soon to visit him. 169.

General Haldimand (in French). Concerning proposed settlement of 18 families (about 80 souls) and 18 negroes in the Natchez, and the steps asked to be taken for their protection. 171.

The Barrack arrangements necessary. The distribution of Artillery. The King's Ministers are aware of all the difficulties of supporting a post on the Mississippi. The plan of an Indian Confederacy is sound policy; Indians holding a Congress at the Sisto Plains. Hopes the Creeks and Choctaws may not be troublesome now they have made peace with each other. Spaniards made a bad beginning in Louisiana; French doing as in Canada; merchants moving off, but those who hold land must remain or sell for half value. Fifty have gone to the Illinois. Some few have left the Spanish side and increased the English settlements with more vagabonds. Governor Durnford's application for stores and ordnance referred to him (Gage); asks Haldimand's opinion as to quantity needed. Concerning leaves of absence, &c. Page 173.

Strong representations have been made to the King's Ministers respecting utility of establishments on the Mississippi. Is not satisfied, but if canal between Mississippi and Iberville prove practicable has no doubt it will be undertaken. Asks Haldimand to send an Engineer to make full investigation. Remarks on construction of proposed canal. Batteries for defence of the harbour of Pensacola approved of. 183.

Can't think what has become of Muster Master Stewart. No purchaser to be found for Ensign Barry's Commission. 192.

- February 12,
Pensacola. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). The bad weather has prevented him and Captain Sowers from ascending the river as far as he wished. If Governor Chester does not visit the lakes and Iberville, will send Durnford. Refers to Messrs. Blouin and Herand for information. Appointment of Barrack Masters. 1.
- February 13,
Pensacola. Same to the same (in French). The number of Spanish troops; they expect more from Havana, and boast they can take Pensacola, but are, in reality, very uneasy. - March 29,
New York. General Gage to Haldimand. Is forwarding such ordnance, &c., as can be supplied from the stores. The powers still arming and negotiating; must be prepared for offensive and defensive operations, and obtain all information respecting Spanish movements, means of attack, &c, not only in Louisiana, but also in Havana, Vera Cruz, Hispanolia, Porto Rico, &c. The Indians should be conciliated so as to get their co-operation. Gives his plan of dealing with Governor with respect to paroles. 14.
- March 29,
Pensacola. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). The increase of troops; asks that recruits be sent to complete the Regiments. Desires to have the assistance of Lieut. - 1771 out on repairs is thrown away. Expected arrival of Indian Superintendent Stewart. Spaniards trying to conciliate the Indians. Creeks have driven out some inhabitants from conceded lands; committed no other outrage. He wishes they would treat all our vagabonds who trespass on their lands in the same way. Page 21.

All preparations for an attack on the Spaniards to cease. 26.
- June 11, Pensacola. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Sloops with artillery have arrived. Wants field pieces. Does not believe the present calm will last; and believes before long the harbour will be the best defended of any on the continent. Has brought 12 guns (12-pounders) from Mobile, substituting small pieces to satisfy the inhabitants, who, to obtain more troops, pretend to be afraid. Applications for protection to plantations outside the limits threatened by Indians who are jealous of encroachments. Chicasaw Chief friendly, another Chief on Spanish ground seeks alliance, but no positive answer given. Hopes to obtain through Colonel Durnford, a plan of the river communication. Instead of the boats, which there are no proper men to build, has purchased a schooner suitable for navigating the lakes, the Mississippi, and even as far as St. Augustine. The Provincial sloop of no use. Will collect material for building boats, and Gage can send carpenters from New York to build them. Is surprised that the increase in the regiments has been communicated to Captain Dickson, and not to him. 30.

- July 30, Pensacola. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). News of peace with Spain received; does not think it will last long. Ruinous state of the barracks; for want of men the contractors will lose money. Movements and distribution of troops. The expenses of the schooner will be paid by her earnings. By frigates going up the Mississippi he only meant small armed vessels. Has received from Lt. Governor Durnford plans of the Iberville but not sufficiently in detail to send. Indian Superintendent Stewart arrived with presents for Indians. Will send bad powder to New-York. 36.

The plans of Mr. Durnford will be sent shortly; has sent in a bill for expenses which the Governor insists is to be paid by Haldimand; he objects as the survey was for the good of the Province which receives a sufficient subsidy. Is annoyed that no allowance to be made for Pensacola and St. Augustine; the good results of it. Respecting barrack repairs. Reports that there will be no Government in the Illinois; Gage blamed for it. Influx of settlers. The only remedy for the evils complained of is to form a military Government. The importation of tea likely to lead to disorders. The Governor of New York offers to make use of the Provincial troops to quell them. Will do nothing without requisition from the Governor in Council

- 1773 and a Civil Magistrate at the head of the troops. The Governor has announced that he has been summoned to England to assist the Ministry in arrangements for the Provinces. His wife says she will not return. Governor has written to the Herald's office to know if he and his wife do not hold the first rank in the Province. Gen. Lee has returned to trot out his grievances; intends visiting the Mississippi. - December 29,

Sends additional papers to show the ideas of independence which are daily growing, and which have affected all ranks, so that a remedy becomes daily more difficult. The Bostonians deserve punishment and the nation need not be alarmed. Previous moderation turned to fury by the news from Boston, and the tea can only be landed by force. The Governor proposes to send the vessel back from the Hook as he cannot trust the Militia, who, it is reported, have agreed themselves to oppose the landing. Hopes it will lead to their disbandment. Death of Ensign Strickland in gaol for debt. His nephew might get the Commission. 206.

January 5,
London.

General Gage to General Haldimand. Has had only a casual sight of the Secretaries of State and War; nothing settled. The affair of the tea must cause anxiety; the same means used to inflame the people as in the time of the Stamp Act; has seen letters against the smugglers. Hopes the tea will be introduced into any one Province, as it would supply those which refuse and gain the profits. The Polish General an extraordinary character, will acquire in America the reputation of an honest patriot. Pleased at Haldimand's resolution; he has not to fear Governor Tryon's designs he being a military man. Blouin and Clajou from Illinois he doubts being true representatives. Clajou a mere Republican and Blouin his mouth piece. Refused to treat with them; would receive no proposals from the settlers except through their Commander. Reliefs of regiments. Messages from General Carleton and other friends. 211.

January 5,
New York.

Destruction of tea at Boston; return of tea vessel from Philadelphia; hopes it has been allowed to be landed at New York. Nobody knows what is to be done, but great indignation felt. Massachusetts petition for removal of Governor and Lt. Governor rejected; foundation laid by letters from Franklin; these have occasioned a duel between two innocent people. Unpopularity of Franklin. Russians have repassed the Danube in bad condition; insurrection in Russia.

It would be happy for the Province if it could avoid the imprudent steps of its neighbours. A newspaper sent to show that the association proposed by Virginia will soon be general and may give trouble. The Court of Enquiry into the fire at Crown Point, and charges against Capt. Anstruther. Hopes to hear soon of arrangements for the Illinois and Post Vincennes. 219.

- 1774 Moncrieff's commission. Hopes Captain Prevost will get a majority. Page 225.
- March 2, General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Hopes General New York. Gage will soon return to London. Expenses in New York greater than he had expected. Disagreeable news respecting the Southern Indians. The Lower Creeks have massacred two families on the frontiers of Georgia; is afraid of more mischief, and proposes to go himself and take Col. Robertson with him. 227.
- March 29, General Gage to General Haldimand. Communicating the decision London. of the Board of Ordnance respecting demands made by Ordnance officers at Placentia (see p. 224). 228.
- April 4, Same to the same. Has been ordered out to Boston to take London. command there. Captain Maturin to appoint a deputy and leave Montreal immediately. Four regiments ordered to Boston to bring the people to submission; parts of the constitution to be altered. Act for shutting the port of Boston assented to. The Fortress of Castle William to be secured by sending artillerymen, artillery, &c., ready for service. Col. Robertsen's presence necessary at Boston on arrival of the troops. 229.
- April 6, General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Gratifed that New York. his conduct with respect to the Tea has been approved. The non-arrival of the ship has given time to get instructions. What is thought of the conduct of the Bostonians and Philadelphians? The latter the more dangerous. The former, he imagines, will lose their Charter, but there should be a change of government, as Boston contains the germ of the disorders. The Indian disorders in Georgia not so serious as believed. They are chiefly owing to the desire to advance into Indian territory, leaving millions of acres uncultivated behind. Departure of Governor Tryon; his vanity. Has wagered that he would get troops, refused by Haldimand, to protect the settlements. Col. Reed goes with the same object. 231.
- April 6, General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). First part New York. nearly a transcript of the preceding letter. Has sent orders some time ago to relieve the upper posts. Will send Carlton's regiment to Canada on the first opportunity. If Creek affairs settled and not obliged to send troops to Boston, hopes that the 42nd Regiment will be in Montreal this summer. Will be glad to hear of Gage's return. 233.
- April 7, Same to the same (in French). Respecting the sale of his house at New York. Pensacola. 236.
- May 3, Francis Hutchison to Alexander Pratt. As agent for Mr. Skinner, New York. Commissary, he may make a fresh application to the Treasury, General Haldimand having reported the accounts to be correct. 237.
- May 4, General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). The Tea ship New York. arrived at New York not allowed to discharge cargo. Captain has consented to take it away again. Captain Chambers brought 18 chests at the same time, the tea has been thrown into the river; the chests made into a bonfire, without magisterial interference. The general feeling; a prompt and efficacious remedy necessary or the country will become more dangerous than a hostile foreign power. Is glad the matter is to come before Parliament. The approval of his conduct by Lord Dartmouth. Will observe the same course till he receives orders. Opinions of Camden and York as to settlements forwarded. Has in the meantime sent orders to the military officers to prevent settlements on the lands lately purchased by Murray and others. Regarding Brigade Major Small's application for lands at Crown Point. Cannot determine between the claims of Ticonderoga

- 1774 and Crown Point as to which is best for a fort. Has sent Montresor to examine material at Crown Point, with a view to rebuilding. Will keep all the reserved lands intact. 238.
- May 15, Castle William (near Boston). General Gage to General Haldimand. His quick arrival; reports his orders as to Artillery, &c., to be sent to Castle William. Prefers Lt. Col. Cleveland to command them. Respecting the reliefs of regiments. Haldimand to make up his accounts during command; to send either Small or Moncrieff as Brigade Major. Governor, Consignees and Commissioners have fled to this Castle for protection; Chief Justice and others hiding from the mob. Great preparations for his reception. Less ceremony and more obedience to the laws would please him better. The Act (for shutting the port) puzzles them; have sent to ask New York and Philadelphia patriots also to shut their ports and declare non-intercourse with Britain. Formerly proposed to shut New York and carry the trade to Amboy. If so, it would not soon come back. 241.
- May 15, Castle William (near Boston). William Shirreff to General Haldimand. Hints as to the proper method of making up his accounts. Had seen his nephew as they were leaving London. Had taken means to introduce him to Sir Jeffery Amherst. The preparations for the reception of General Gage. 244.
- May 19, New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Has heard of his arrival. Capt. Robertson will start after the arrival of the mail from Philadelphia. A great meeting to be held, at which the principal merchants will be present. Hopes that they will adopt more moderate resolutions. 246.
- May 20, New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Congratulations on his arrival, &c. The meeting of the principal inhabitants has taken steps to repress the excesses of the mob. At Philadelphia they have refused to sign the convention not to bring goods from England. Receipt of the measures of Government to bring the Bostonians to reason. Would have had more effect if a number of people by the mails had not reported that the measures were disapproved of by men respectable from their character, confirming the people in their chimerical ideas. Does not doubt that firm and uniform conduct will bring them back to their duty. Has shown no distrust, nor changed the distribution of troops, but proposes measures for securing the safety of the Artillery and stores, which he suggests should be sent to Governor's Island. Believes Crown Point preferable to Carillon for fort. Has sent Montresor to examine and report the cost of rebuilding. Under pretext of rebuilding might bring two regiment from Canada to Crown Point, in case the New Englanders threaten to go to extremities. Reliefs of troops. Disturbance among the Lower Creeks in Georgia and murder of Indians in Virginia, for the death of some Virginian vagabonds. As to Brigade Major Small's movements and prospects for Hutchinson. 247.
- May 23, New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Notice of Gage's arrival received. Hopes of the people of New York being more tractable than before; Committee formed to repress disorders. No word of the steps taken at Philadelphia. Is sending off the various officers to form Gage's Staff; his proposed arrangements in consequence. Asks Gage to advise him as to how he can secure himself against loss in the performance of his duties, as he cannot believe the King or Ministry should wish him to ruin himself. 252.
- May 25, New York. Same to the same (in French). Is anxious to have advice before closing his accounts, as asked for in his letter of 23rd. The brilliant

- 1774 reception of Gage at Boston ; hopes they are becoming more tractable ; has no fears of them closing the ports of New York and Philadelphia ; people becoming more moderate. Major Small and Dr. Mallet leave on Sunday. Page 255.
- May 29, Boston. General Gage to General Haldimand. Glad to find the quarrels with Indians in Georgia likely to be settled. Arrival of artillery at Castle William. Approves of ordering artillery from Philadelphia ; hopes there is no occasion to move the stores. People in New York inclined to be quiet ; would show no apprehensions about them ; troops might be got from Jersey and Philadelphia if needed. Few troops in Canada ; would not remove any without great necessity, which he hopes will not happen. Removes to Salem on 1 June to meet Assembly. Supposes they will have disputes together as long as they sit. 256.
- May 30, Boston. General Gage to General Haldimand (Private). Glad New Yorkers likely to commit no mad action ; suffered too much before by shutting up their port to commit such folly again. Will hold out in Boston as long as they can, but a few weeks will bring them to their senses. Respecting staff appointments. Advice as to mode of making out his accounts &c. 257.
- June 1, New York. General Haldimand to Ross and Gray. Relative to volunteers and deserters draughted into the 16th and 10th Regiments. 260.
- June 1, New York. General Haldimand to Agent 31st Regiment. Referring him to General Gage for settlement respecting men draughted from 31st Regiment to other Regiments. 259.
- June 12, New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Nothing important ; has issued circular letters of Gage's arrival, and that reports &c., are to be sent to him at Salem. Will have accounts made up to the 24th being the end of the quarter. No further news from Georgia or Virginia about Indian disturbances ; believe them exaggerated ; would allow the Province to settle the matter themselves ; all the frontier inhabitants together not worth the cost of a campaign against the Indians. People in New York are behaving well ; trusts those with whom Gage has to do will prove more tractable than before. Is afraid of pecuniary embarrassment. 261.
- June 12, Salem. General Gage to General Haldimand. Respecting the closing of accounts whilst Haldimand was in command ; is still to draw warrants for the troops in New York, the Jerseys, Philadelphia and the Upper Country. Other arrangements. 263.
- June 12, Salem. Same to the same. Has had a very ceremonious reception at Boston, but would have preferred more submission. Proceedings of Virginian Assembly received ; hopes that the resolutions of those hot headed gentlemen will produce no change in New York and Philadelphia, as Boston leaders depended on their assistance. If disappointed no alternative but submission. Arrival of troops ; waits the effect of the Acts of Parliament ; the Fusiliers may have to be sent. An engineer probably wanted at Boston. Respecting exchanges. 264.
- June 13, New York. General Haldimand to Major Sherriff. Respecting accounts and private messages. 266.
- June 16, New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Respecting two young Indians in prison, whom Sir W. Johnson wishes to set at liberty. Arrest of the Chaplain of the 18th Regiment and Court Martial demanded. A procession yesterday at which Lord North &c., were burned in effigy. The Mayor tried in vain to disperse the gathering ; no other disorder. 267.

June 23,
New York.

General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Respecting accounts. Capt. Montrossor leaves for Boston; tools prepared to be sent by the first opportunity. The Fusiliers and 47th ready; expects the Artillery from Philadelphia. Has not relieved the Illinois detachment, under present circumstances. Had orders to have three regiments necessary to support the magistrates at Boston, and they had already seemed too weak for such a commission. But the principal reason for suspending the relief was the fear of an Indian attack on troops going and coming, which would have made the Government a principal in a quarrel provoked by the frontier men, in which he believed the troops should take no part. New York and Philadelphia behaving more prudently than had been hoped and trusts Gage will be afforded time to reestablish order. 270.

June 25,
New York.

General Haldimand (in French). Sending papers to General Gage by Capt. Montrossor and Mr. Wallace. 272.

June 25,
Philadelphia.

Major Hamilton to Major Moncrieff. Enclosing letter from Fort Pitt, dated Fort Dunmore 5 June, from Capt. Connolly that the batteaux had been torn up for the defence of the pickets and that the fort was in an excellent posture of defence against the Indians who were expected to try the experiment. 273.

June 26,
Salem.

General Gage to General Haldimand. Wishes he had settled the release of the Indians himself. To hold a General Court Martial in the 18th Regiment. Is impatient for the arrival of Col. Cleveland and Captain Montrossor. Regiments from England encamped; only three companies from Ireland arrived, but the rest hourly looked for. The riot in New York will encourage the faction in Boston; to take measures to secure all stores &c., useful to an enemy. Expects to trouble him soon for stores and a regiment. Has sent orders for troops from New York to Philadelphia to be at his (Haldimand's) orders. Further respecting the Court Martial. 275.

June 20.

General Haldimand. Copy of letter signed "A friend to Government and your Excellency," warning him to have the troops in readiness as they may be called up when least expected; to let the troops mix with the inhabitants as little as possible, and to encourage the officers and soldiers by every method. Dated 20 June (1774). 269.

June 30,
Philadelphia.

Major Hamilton to Major Moncrieff. That he cannot tell how the batteaux came into possession of Capt. Connolly; conceives they were taken by force. Has never had any correspondence with Capt. Connolly and is surprised at his presumption. Does not know who changed the name of Fort Pitt to Fort Dunmore; will try to get particulars. 277.

July 2,
Philadelphia.

Major Hamilton to Major Moncrieff. That Major Edmonston had surprised him by producing a letter from the Acting Corporal at Fort Pitt. Reason to believe that Connolly is at the head of a most infamous banditti, as he has thought fit to lay violent hands on the only property belonging to the King at Fort Pitt. Conceives the troops should not be left there, lest the Indians should suspect that the Crown afforded the least countenance to the present lawless and dangerous proceedings. 278.

Enclosure from corporal Tucker referred to in preceding letter. 279.

July 3,
Salem.

General Gage to General Haldimand. Relative to relieving detachments at the Illinois. From what has happened on the Ohio, it was risking too much to send detachment up and down that river.

- 1774
Supposes communication with the Illinois by the Ohio is stopped; the only remaining route is by the Mississippi, though intelligence may come by the Detroit and Michilimakinak. Transports sailed for New York; when arrangements made will send for Fusiliers. Recruits from Quebec sent; to be forwarded by best opportunity. All troops arrived but two transports, on board of which are the Commanders of the 5th and 35th Artillery encamped. Rejoices that New York and Philadelphia conduct themselves with discretion; affairs in a delicate crisis. Concerning his nephew. 280.
- July 4,
New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Col. Cleveland and clerk Wallace leave tomorrow. All quiet enough, the people hoping to form a general Congress of all the Colonies; hopes Government will take efficacious measures to prevent so dangerous a combination. Wishes the Magistrates would not call on the military, but such a design was spoken of. If the conduct of New York would influence the resolutions at Boston it might suit to leave troops enough to compel them to keep quiet. Respecting the safety of the stores &c. Part may be sent to Castle William by the transports without alarming the Province of New York. 282.
- July 7,
New York. Same to the same. Has received from Sir Jeffery Amherst, copy of the Quebec Act. Respecting the accounts during his command. Sends also general estimates for the year 1774. 284.
- July 13,

- July 14,
New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). State of affairs with the Southern Indians; the doings of Conolly at Fort Pitt. Charmed with the resolutions at Boston. The resolutions taken in the other Provinces, especially Virginia, will show the nation the necessity of reestablishing order whilst there is yet time. Alarming increase of desertion; enticing soldiers; an example should be made of deserters. 287.
- July 14,
Boston. General Gage to General Haldimand. List of Artillery and stores, tents, &c., to be sent by transports to Boston. The timidity of the reputed friends of Government requires him to send for more troops; is determined to put the Acts in force on the 1st of August; expects the strongest opposition in town and country. If troops wanted at New York, which he does not expect, may keep the Fusiliers, in addition to the 47th and 18th. Open opposition by arms threatened every day; does not credit it, but would be prepared against it. Is receiving anonymous letters. No delay to be allowed in sending back the transports. 289.
- July 18,

The 47th will replace the Fusiliers; believes it will be best to bring the 18th from Philadelphia to the Jerseys. Leo has left for Boston; hopes he will behave with greater delicacy than in New York; if not, Gage's civil authority will be needed to bring him to reason. 292.

- August 1,
New York. General Haldimand to General Gage (in French). Had sent the papers concerning the Court Martial at Amboy to show the disorders in the 18th Regiment. Steps should be taken to stop the brigandage on the Ohio which is shameful; Fort Pitt should be kept up as it will be useful. Return of deserters on promise of pardon. Will try to write to Illinois by Philadelphia and New Orleans. 301.

The danger of Government being drawn into an Indian war by having troops in the distant posts; frontier people trying to bring on a war which they would have to face themselves, if troops withdrawn, and the posts have never been of the least use. - August 7,
Three Rivers Same to the same (in French). Will hold five companies ready to reinforce Deschambault and Jacques Cartier, to be replaced by others from Montreal. Believes the enemy only wish to make a diversion, the real object being Newfoundland, that if peace be concluded in winter, they may obtain rights over the fisheries. Will take steps to enforce diligence on the provision vessels. 85.
- September 20. General James Murray to Haldimand. Provisions at Quebec shamefully bad; general survey necessary and probably Parliamentary enquiry. Recommends a man employed by Mr. Amiotte of Quebec to build a vessel at Three Rivers; believes he will take pleasure in promoting industry. Young Haldimand sent out on a new survey. 87.
- October 4,
Quebec. Same to the same. By order of the Treasury, post in the King's Domain in Quebec is let for a year to Messrs. John Gray and Thomas Dunn. They apprehend encroachments which it lies with Haldimand to prevent, and a copy of their petition has been sent to him and Sir Jeffery Amherst. 88.

- 1762
October 16,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand to Col. James Murray (in French). Will do everything possible for Mr. Amiotte's contractors, as the few resources of the Three Rivers Government cannot be too much encouraged. Is surprised at charges by Gray and Dunn, which are unfounded and tend to alienate the minds of the new subjects. Col. Burton will arrive from Havana by the end of the month. Sickness among the troops there diminishing. Page 89.
- October 24,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. In spite of precautions against drunkenness, &c., among the Indians, there may be reason in the complaints of Messrs. Gray and Dunn. Bailey, of Varennes, has found oxen belonging to him in Yamaska, stolen by the inhabitants. If Mr. Bailey can prove his effects, they should be restored. 91.
- October 21,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to Col. James Murray (in French). Account of Père Rauban (Roubaud); his conduct and character. Thinks it best to leave him in charge of his superiors, who, alone, can restrain him. 94.
- November 20,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Arrival of Pere Rauban (Roubaud) without a passport. Superior of the Jesuits has reported, and finding that he had left against Haldimand's orders, wishes to know what steps are to be taken with him. The Superior has written Haldimand and will meantime be responsible for his safe-keeping. 93.
- 1763
February 6,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Forwarding letters. 96.
- July 23,
Montreal. Col. Fred. Haldimand (No address on this letter), (in French) Sympathises in the disagreeable situation consequent on the desertion by the Indians. No honour to be acquired in such warfare. His plan for dealing with troops seized with panic. The Five Nations seem disposed to side with the British. Is asked to return home, but must continue here. The Baron has applied for leave to resign. The misunderstanding in the Ministry ended. 97.
- October 11,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Congratulates General Murray on his appointment over the Province. Does not know his destiny, but would be glad to be under Genl. Murray's orders. Burton to go to Montreal; Gage to New York; Amherst waiting his arrival to leave for England. Is annoyed at the conduct of his nephew, whose expenses he is not rich enough to bear. Is glad that the tradesmen press him so hard, though they are to blame for giving credit. Is happy to hear he has no vice. 100.
- October 18
(Nov.?),
Three Rivers. Same to the same. Had companies in readiness; will give those coming from Quebec every assistance if they come by land. Will always have the troops ready at an hour's notice; that of Maskingongé could march to Montreal in a short time. Is vexed that it is out of his power to send it off at once. 107.
- October 25,
(Nov.?)
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand to Col. James Murray (in French). The three companies passing received every help. The quantity of baggage was the only inconvenience. Part was left and would be forwarded when the river froze. Capt. Campbell allowed to take command to Montreal owing to the want of officers. Only one subaltern and 25 men at St. François, all of whom would be lodged in the stockade and so more effective than a whole company scattered in the habitants' houses. 108.
- October 30
(Dec.?).
Three Rivers. Same to the same (in French). Burton informs him of the sickness among the troops in his government, especially the 28th Regiment. Does not believe that Burton should therefore have

- 1763 asked reinforcements from Quebec. Is in doubt as to the other circumstances referred to in Murray's letter of 25 Decr. Has confidence in the Indians. As to the distribution of troops, he did not feel himself justified in changing it, especially from the action of the Commander in Chief. Had intimated to Gen. Amherst that the Company at Maskinongé and St. Anne might be employed elsewhere and had written to Burton to know his wishes as to a half company, a whole company, or both, which could be sent as soon as L'Assomption is passable. Murray not to fatigue his troops by replacing these. Will send Col. Maunsell, staff officer, to Montreal. No need to send Col. Irving. Page 112.
- November 3, General James Murray to Haldimand. Enclosed Act of Parliament and instructions regarding Post office establishment. Post office bags addressed to Quebec not to be opened at Three Rivers. 102.
Quebec.
- November 12, Same to the Same. Has sanctioned Burton getting four Companies; will send three to replace them at Three Rivers and the fourth from Deschambault if Haldimand thinks it necessary to keep the communication. 103.
Quebec.
- November 15, Col. Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Is surprised at the tone of Burton's letter. Believes it would be better to send the troops intended for him to Montreal, than to disturb those at Three Rivers, which had established themselves for the winter. Does not think himself justified in keeping fewer troops than those assigned by General Amherst, so that as many should be sent as are withdrawn, but still thinks it best the troops should be sent direct from Quebec to Montreal. Acknowledgments from various officers. 104.
Three Rivers.
- November 16, General James Murray to Haldimand. Can only spare three companies which should be sent to Montreal. Burton ought to have the reinforcement he requires, and as soon as Murray has power conferred on him the additional company shall be ordered for Three Rivers. Haldimand, therefore, to warn the company to be detached to be in readiness. 106.
Quebec.
- December 25, General James Murray to Haldimand. Sends copy of answer to Governor Burton's application for another company to reinforce Montreal. Hopes Haldimand will agree to send the company from Maskinongé. What he says about Quebec being the principal appui in Canada must be allowed. 109.
Quebec.
- December 25, General James Murray to Governor Burton. Is concerned to hear the men of his garrison so sickly. General Gage may order all the troops from Quebec to reinforce, but does not think he has a man to spare. It would be destruction to the 27th to march them at that season to Quebec. Will again write Haldimand to send a Company from Maskinongé and replace it by another, a distribution he disapproves of, as there is no use for five Companies at Three Rivers. If a revolt apprehended, troops should be placed hors d'insult. Every man might be massacred there in a night. Quebec only appui in Canada, that and Montreal the two objects of importance. The Commander in Chief will no doubt give the necessary orders. Never more reason to be upon guard than at that instant. A truce with Indians, is always to him a summons to vigilance, besides there being other circumstances. Will not interfere with two Upper Governments till he receives orders from the King. Cannot order Col. Maunsell to Montreal, but General Gage may order Col. Irving there. 110.
Quebec.

- 1764
January 8,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Cannot at present communicate the other circumstances requiring vigilance, being bound to secrecy. Page 115.
- January 20,
Quebec. Same to the same. Recommends George Hips, a butcher proceeding to buy cattle at Three Rivers, to Haldimand's protection. 116.
- January 23,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to Genl. James Murray (in French). Congratulates Murray on the arrival of his instructions, and trusts that a peaceful government may be as glorious for him as one during war. 117.
- January 30,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Thanks for congratulations. 118.
- February 5,
Quebec. General James Murray to General Gage. The two Canadian Companies from Quebec should be raised without delay. Has no doubt Governors of Montreal and Three Rivers will do the same. Flatters himself there will be no difficulty in raising Volunteers, but not to attempt to march them out of the Province. Time fixed by treaty of Peace for emigration not expired, any attempt would be represented as invalidating the treaty. Canadians must, therefore, volunteer under their own countrymen. Must also be liberally treated for military services, to prevent agitators from making use of a contrary course. He intends, therefore, to give the same encouragement as that offered in the Province of New York. The expense must meantime be charged to the Contingencies of the Army. Has sent the letter under flying seal to Governors of Three Rivers and Montreal. 119.
- February 10,
Quebec. General James Murray to Col. Burton. With Copy of Lord Halifax's letter respecting raising Canadian troops in Quebec. Has published declaration in consequence. The same may be published in his name in Montreal, if Col. Burton objects to sign it. Returns to be made of all paper money and Bills of Exchange to France or London. All in Quebec district registered (see p. 99 for list for June 1763). Burton and Haldimand will please give similar information for Montreal and Three Rivers to be sent to Lord Halifax. 121.
- February 10,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Enclosing letter to Col. Burton. Trusts Haldimand may comply with requests contained in it. 122.
- February 10,
Quebec. Same to the same. Thanks for congratulations on promotion. Tells him in confidence of proposed appointment of Major General Gage to be Lt. Governor of Montreal and Burton of Three Rivers. Doubtful if Burton will accept; certainly Gage will not. Haldimand's application may be in London as soon as their answers. 123.
- February 17,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Has forwarded letter and proclamation to Burton. The precautions to make known the goodness of the King to his new subjects is too just and essential to their interests to bear delay in publication. Has published a general placard to that effect. No record in Three Rivers respecting paper money; has written to Burton, his predecessor. Is assured that only small sums have been sent to France by shop keepers for goods, purchasing paper money at a low rate and sending the bills to Quebec and Montreal. Thanks him for information respecting the Governorship; has left the care of his interest in the hands of General Amherst. Respecting his nephew's debts and pay as Engineer. 124.
- February 17,
Three Rivers. Pillard, Greffier, Three Rivers. Extract from the Registry from 11 to 30 June, 1763, of certificates &c., of sums drawn. 99.

- 1764
February 24,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Respecting the embarrassment of Lieutenant Haldimand's affairs. Had given him a year's pay. 126.
- March 3,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand (in French). Has just received order for a Company of 60 men from Three Rivers Government, as proportion of contingent of 300 Canadians for next campaign, to be commanded by a Major. 127.
- March 6,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Encloses letter to Col.
Burton to show steps he proposes to take as to raising the Canadian corps. Encloses also copies of proclamation and oaths to be taken by officers and men. Hopes Haldimand will agree with him. If not, trust he will let him know by express to prevent confusion, if companies are not all on same footing. Registry office to be opened at Three Rivers. Clerks to be paid by him (Murray). 128.
- March 6. Col. Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French).
Desires to furnish contingent on same terms as Quebec, and asks for description of clothing. Has informed the Captains of Militia of the orders; instructed them to collect their corps and ask volunteers; if not forthcoming will be obliged to demand a certain number of men from each parish, so that they will be in Montreal by the end of the month. General Amherst not yet arrived in London. 129.
- March 7,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand to the Captains of Militia of the Government of Three Rivers (in French.) Troops wanted to ensure peace from the Indians and thus secure peaceable cultivation and trade to the inhabitants. A contingent asked from Three Rivers to act with regulars and levies from other Provinces to be paid and rationed like them. Only those wanted who can be best spared and who may volunteer. Appeals to their experience of the kindness they have received under the new Government. 130.
- March 9,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French.) Has forwarded the letters to Col. Burton. Will act in the levy like Murray. If cannot obtain volunteers, believes, as the Government is on a military footing, that he can demand men to fill up the contin-gent and may be forced to do so, as the time is short. Has done nothing yet beyond ordering Captains of Militia to collect their companies. Is surprised that General Gage has not given details that might facilitate the work, and concurs in Murray's letter. Has named an officer for the Canadians and has instructed Col. Brown to send a complete suit as proposed to be given the newly raised corps. 132.
- March 9,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Is glad Haldimand has not draughted the Militia as they cannot, without His Majesty's order, be marched out of the Province. General Gage should have given positive orders about forming, &c., the corps, or should have left the business to the Governors. Has reported the whole affair to His Majesty to prevent recurrence of confusion. By Royal Proclamation the inhabited parts of Trois Rivières and Montreal added to Quebec and styled Province of Quebec. Should his authority, therefore, not extend over the whole Province? The money necessary for the raising the Company of Canadians to be paid at Quebec. He is very ill and obliged to employ Capt. Shirreff to write. 134.
- March 11,
Quebec.] Same to the same. Pattern of clothing for Canadian Volunteers.
Officers and pay settled: Major, $3 a day; Captain, $2; Lieutenant,
$1; Sergeant, one shilling (20 cts.); Corporal, 8d. currency (13 cts.);
Soldier, 6d (10 cts.) Two lieutenants to each Company and no ensign. 136.

- 1764
March 11,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Pattern of clothing sent. Sorry he apprehends difficulty in procuring volunteers for Company; shows bad will, can get a thousand more than wanted in Quebec. Enclosed copy of commissions; may employ M. de Chaney (sic) as Captain, if Haldimand has no one else. Scruples as to employing officers with only leave of absence from Court of France unfounded, as all Canadians by Treaty of peace may choose or not to become British subjects. Page 137.
- March 12,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Has despatched packet received; asks about the pattern of clothing. 138.
- March 15,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to the same (in French). Has received pattern of clothing. Thanks for scale of pay &c., contained in previous letter. 139.
- March 22,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Burton has great difficulty in raising volunteers. Little prospects of assistance from Quebec. Sends letter to Burton unsealed, that Haldimand may see his views. (Letter to Burton at p. 140.) 141.
- March 25,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Difficulty in recruiting young men from their fears of being bound for life and other chimeras. Has not yet the half engaged, but hopes to have all ready by opening of navigation. Has spoken to the curés who seem well disposed. 142.
- March 26,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Haldimand, having already 30 volunteers, it is probable he has completed his Company; if not, he has sent supernumeraries who may be engaged or sent to Burton who complains of difficulty. Will continue to raise men if required by Haldimand. Morris paymaster of the 27th has applied for warrant for subsistence. Thinks that should be issued by Haldimand or Burton. 143.
- March 30,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Surprised at the difficulty of raising men in Quebec and Montreal. Annoying that the ill reports cannot be traced to their source. The example may have evil consequences in more critical circumstances. Proposes to disarm the Canadians who refuse to use their weapons to secure tranquillity. Is indignant at the insolence of certain parishes; has already 50 men but will take means to complete the number. Burton requires the supernumeraries most. Will hand the subsistence accounts of the Company to Flurimont, the paymaster. Will sign the warrants for the 27th Regt., if Murray desires it. 144.
- April 2,
Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Happy that Haldimand agrees with him about pressing men; Burton does not like it, but it is necessary and has not been resorted to in any great degree. Sends a volunteer to be forwarded by the Captains of Militia till he joins his corps. Militia seem unwilling to do anything for the service unless forced. 146.
- April 6,
Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Will forward the volunteer to Montreal. Has completed his company by volunteers; ready to leave when roads practicable. Sorry to learn that pressing is necessary in Quebec. Will try to get men to replace those pressed and send them to Montreal. Montreal full of voyageurs, and, besides, Burton has the advantage of a month from the situation of the city, so can afford to wait. Asks explanations regarding fying of documents and list of those who wish to go to France and those who intend to remain. Before the expiry of the 18 months,

- 1764 they should state their determination, or whether they have not yet decided. 147.
- April 9, Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Congratulates him on raising his company; will be glad of ten men to replace those pressed. Thinks the making the people declare their intention as to going to France or remaining may be postponed with advantage to both sides. Believes he can show very good battalion if Haldimand will visit him at Quebec. 149.
- April 16, Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Illness of Haldimand; has also had an attack; has never missed one any spring since he came to Canada. Statement of the number of the people who will emigrate desired by the Secretary of State. Steps to be taken to obtain this. 151.
- April 20, Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to Gen. James Murray (in French). Suffering from an obstinate cold. Can only obtain the numbers of those going to France by an order for them to give in their names within two or three weeks. Has written to Burton and supposes Murray will take the same means, but the people may change their minds when the time comes for leaving. Is persuaded of the good condition of Murray's battalion. 152.
- No date. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Recommends young Montefiore and praises the zeal of his father, who would take the command if necessary. Has appointed M. de Montizambert. Means adopted to secure volunteers, and calculations the people have made of the money they would receive for bounty and six months' pay. Has written to Gage that he will conform to Murray's plan for raising the company. 153.
- June 20, Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Acknowledges receipt of register of Canadian paper money and a list of French who are determined to emigrate. 154.
- June 20, Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Relative to the declarations &c. of Canadian paper forwarded. Bad weather and seed time have prevented their complete registration by the people, but the amount not registered cannot be great. 155.
- August 4, Three Rivers. Same to the same (in French). Captain Holland's arrival reported; has no doubt brought Murray's commission. Hopes Murray may come to Three Rivers. Not to take it amiss that his nephew does not deliver this letter in person. Trusts he may yet turn out well. 156.
- August 7, Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Sends copy of commission and extracts of instructions to be published at Three Rivers. Troops to be under arms and cannon fired at Quebec; supposes the same will be done at Three Rivers. 157.
- August 15, Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Copies of commission &c. received. Commission solemnly read at head of the troops, saluted and inhabitants made congratulation. Circular letter addressed to all Captains of Militia. Would have gone to Quebec but expects Murray immediately and will await orders. 158.
- No date. General James Murray to Haldimand. General Gage and Col. Burton do not accept commissions of Lieut. Governor; has sent two senior Councillors to administer civil government in Montreal and Three Rivers. Haldimand to provide for himself a house, as Lieut. Governor will probably use the house allotted him. 159.
- September 1, Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General Jas. Murray (in French). Letters of exchange drawn by Fleurimont, for company of Canadian - 1761 Volunteers sent to Murray, all the battalion being under his orders. Subsistence drawn to 24 May inclusive. Page 160.

- September 8, Same to the same (in French). Sends report of Canadian quiet; people busy with their harvest. 162.

- September 14, Same to the same (in French). Relating to Robichon, workman going on according to Murray's orders. Has received a letter from General Gage to place himself under Murray's orders, with which he will be charmed to comply. 163.

- September 20, Same to the same (in French). Will gladly give up the care of for himself. 161.

- October 7, General James Murray to Haldimand. Desires Haldimand to Quebec. come to Quebec to be informed of many things which cannot be communicated by letter, Murray being obliged from violent indisposition to employ an amanuensis. 164.
- October 19, Col Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French).
Three Rivers. Has written to friends in London respecting the suggestion of Murray that he (Haldimand) should be appointed to the Lieut. Governorship of Quebec. Has no letter from General Gage, but Burton has been appointed Brigadier. Hopes to see everything placed on a stable footing, and wishes to spend the winter in New York. 165.
- October 20, Same to the same (in French). Not being able to find a mer-
Three Rivers. chant remitting to Quebec, asks that £500 be sent on the first opportunity. Will keep all winter supplies stored to see what is the result of the application for the Lieut. Governorship of Quebec, regarding which he has written his friends, trusting that Murray will support it, as the first suggestion came from him. The appointment would in part indemnify him for his expenses in the King's service. 166.
- October 23, Col. Fred Haldimand to General Jas. Murray (in French). Had Three Rivers. thought the affairs of the Canadian Volunteers settled and Col.
Irving to provide their subsistence. Will draw warrants if Murray wishes. Had hoped to get to New York before winter. General Gage will give him leave only in spring and he will go then and to Europe if possible. Will discharge the corps on its arrival, daily expected, if Murray wants it disbanded. 169.
- November 18, General James Murray to Haldimand. Has not neglected to Quebec. urge in London Haldimand's claims. Cramahè takes the despatches, so that they would be safely delivered. Asks his opinion of a proposal made to Burton. The expenses of the corps must be charged to army contingencies. 168.
- November 30, Col. Fred Haldimand to General James Murray (in French).
Three Rivers. Volunteers arrived at Montreal. Desires to know Murray's determination and the person to pay them off; most of the men live on the other side of the river, which a single night might render impracticable, and it would suit best to send them off by way of Sorel or Longueuil. 171.
- December 1, General James Murray to Haldimand. Brown to discharge the Quebec. Canadian corps. Instructions to do as Burton and he (Haldimand) direct as to pay of that regiment. 172.
- December 17, General James Murray to Haldimand. Excuse for not writing, Quebec. at the end of a letter from Captain Brown, intimating that Governor Murray leaves for Montreal, some ladies being of the company, and hopes that twelve or fourteen beds can be got at Three Rivers. 173.

- 1765
 January 18,
 Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Arrival of troops under Bayard, sent off comfortably and arrived at Berthier same evening. Four other Companies under Captain Symes-Macker also arrived and sent off. Arranged to join at the last quarters so as to march into Montreal together. Speaks highly of their appearance and spirit. Disappointed that Burton did not inform him of the movements of the 28th Regt. Has, however, made arrangements to prevent confusion or misunderstanding. Page 174.
- February 6,
 Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Reminds him of promise to come to Quebec. 176.
- March 3,
 Quebec. Same to the Same. Sending something forgotten at Quebec. 177.
- April 15,
 Quebec. Same to the Same. No material news from Europe. Friends in England surprised that General Gage hesitates in giving him the command in the Province. Promotions. Bouquet and Haldimand ought to be on the American Staff, as they can hold employment in America only. Remitted money for expenses connected with clothing. 178.
- May 4,
 Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). General Gage informs him that his independent command ceases. Has been given the choice of remaining or of going to England direct or by New York. Will choose the latter place, but if vessel from Quebec should touch at the Island of St. John (P.E.I.), would like a passage by one of the King's sloops. The recommendation of his nephew has gone to England; wants Murray's opinion of the two thousand arpents his nephew has a right to demand. Col. Bouquet named Brigadier. 181.
- May 12,
 Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Congratulations on Bouquet's promotion; would have preferred his being sent to the Northern District. Will issue grant of lands for young Haldimand when he knows those selected. Wishes Haldimand to come to Quebec, that the route by way of St. John's is the best to Boston, and there are daily opportunities. 183.
- May 17,
 Quebec. Same to the Same. Governor's house at Three Rivers to be converted into a barrack. Asks for plan to judge how many can be accommodated. 184.
- August 21,
 Three Rivers. Col. Fred. Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Thanks for settling the clothing. Waits the packet to know the promotions. Col. Haviland will no doubt be named a Brigadier if he wishes to come to this country. Expects to hear shortly from Gen. Gage as to exchange of his nephew. Thoughts about selling and acquiring land. All the good lands on the banks of the rivers taken up. All quiet in Three Rivers. 179.
- 1766
 April 23,
 Quebec. General James Murray to Haldimand. Joy at Haldimand's promotion; will be heightened if appointed to Northern district. Burton detested. Hopes after so long a persecution and such a series of confusion to have peace. If Haldimand not appointed still liable to caprice of fortune. Bespeaks his protection for Skeene of the 28th, who is hated for his love of truth. Asks that he be appointed D. Q. M. G. to free him from tyranny of commanding officer; does not want the pay if Haldimand wishes office for a friend, but will do the duty to be free. Condoles with him with respect to loss of Genl. Bouquet and his nephew. 185.
- June 26,
 Quebec. General Haldimand to General James Murray (in French). Sorry could not serve Skeene, as a person was named D. Q. M. G. before

1766

Murray wrote. Does not yet know his destination. Has lost since he left Canada what he held dearest, Bouquet and his nephew. The price of latter's commission (which he never received) is lost and will take no steps to recover it. Has asked his brother for another nephew. Thanks Governor Johnson for his kindness to his deceased friend. The 22nd under Captain Sterling, to take possession of Illinois, arrived from New York and in quarters. The 28th expected. Desirable that 3 or 4 regiments should be in each of the principal towns. Will probably hear his destination when he goes to New York. Page 187.

No date (between July and October.)

James Robertson D.Q.M.G., to Haldimand. Hoped that petulant refusal of Assembly to comply with an Act of British Legislature would have brought correction from the Mother Country. All the resolutions ended in smoke and only the usual reliefs sent. Do not know of any steps to alter or enforce the Quartering Act. Hears that Haldimand is doing much to render Florida healthy for the troops; will send them new bedding before winter. Iron utensils sent, to complete establishments at Mobile, Pensacola and out posts. Can get no information from McLellan about department. Is responsible for barrack furniture and above £3,000 of money without one voucher. Hopes through Col. Taylor to bring order out of confusion. Recommends Mr. Johns. 193.

1767

July 4,
Pensacola.

General Fred. Haldimand to Robertson, D.Q.M.G. (in French). Bad condition of the garrison. Has improved matters; troops in stockades till barracks built. Robertson's department has suffered from quarrels subsisting. Time will be required to rectify affairs. Lt. Dunman is a good change; he writes in detail. Considerable quantity of wood due the garrison; not to be obtained under $3 a cord even with negro labour; living very dear and the best negro does not cut 4 cords a week. Europeans cannot work. Coal might be more cheaply used than wood. Will try to get accounts settled, in spite of confusion. Heat already 92° and probably be 6° higher. 190.

October 5,
New York.

James Robertson, D.Q.M.G., to Haldimand. No orders to fit up barracks at Pensacola. The General sending some workmen. All things depending on his department sent to West Florida, in proportion to number of troops, and more than sufficient money to furnish wood to the garrison. Can get no account from the suspended Barrack Master. Asks Mr. Downman to trace payments from bills sent to Florida. Has sent supplies to Apalachi to be forwarded. Complains of the short time the blankets last. Respecting Barrack Master and Deputy for West Florida and Mobile. Suggests cutting the wood in winter and the rates. Fashion, hatred, gloominess and every English vice prevailing in Canada. Would not be surprised to hear the French had adopted suicide. Had got into disfavour with both parties, by dining with both. Reported Sir Henry Moor is to go home, and that Col. Clark or Col. How will succeed. The crimes charged against Moor are discouraging English manufactures by wearing home spun; refusing lands even tho' applicant had Mandamus; not being able to guide Assembly. 195.

General Haldimand to Col. Robertson, D.Q.M.G. Not surprised at the disorders in Canada, brought about by the pride and hatred of a few. Pity, as Canadians were well disposed. Confusion so rooted in Robertson's department in Florida, that despairs of remedying it. Points out that the only remedy is to have an enquiry

- 1767 on McLeland, Barrack Master, to get accounts settled. Barracks not worth the name; all repairs thrown away; they are in an excessively unhealthy state. Cannot obtain the wood at the price fixed. Is trying various plans to get wood cheaply. The want of proper barracks necessitates more wood and the soldiers steal and pillage everything combustible. Has felt the cold as bad as ever he did in Canada. Proposes improvements in Robertson's department, by engaging a fixed barrack master in charge of that part of Florida. May probably appoint one of the Messrs. Johns. Page 199.
- November —, James Robertson, D.Q.M.G., to Haldimand. Respecting bedding for troops at Pensacola. Governor in Council and Assembly at New York forbidden by law to make any laws till provisions of ballotting (billeting?) act complied with. Governor writes secretary of state that Assembly has complied and proceeds to make laws and to vote provision for barracks at Albany and New York as last year; but nothing for troops on march or for troops in other parts of Province. Considers it an evasion. Owing to confusion, nothing been done to enforce removal of Sir Henry Moor. Sir John St. Clair apparently dying. Recommends Mr. Pittman. Asks that Mr. Downman send an account of barrack expenditure. 204.

- June 29, James Robertson, D.Q.M.G. Arrangements for quartering troops. Philadelphia, Jersey and New York have voted money for quartering three regiments; all the rest to be thrown to the distant Provinces, so as to be at King's expense there. Ministers hoped to avoid a contest about ballotting acts with Provinces, but it seems no longer possible to avoid dispute and preserve any shadow of authority. Believes his proposal for quartering troops will at last be relished. Distribution of troops in America. 216.

- September 15, General Haldimand to Col. Robertson (in French). Agrees as to Pensacola. the unsuitableness of St. Augustine for troops. - December 8,
New York. James Robertson, D.Q.M.G. Wishes Haldimand nearer; troops really wanted to prevent if not to quell rebellion. Excited state of feeling in Boston; 20,000 country people helped the inhabitants to fill the streets; landing and encampment of troops. No quarters provided. Two more regiments expected. General leaves for Boston accompanied by Robertson. Haldimand's troops were to have been sent for, but the two regiments from Ireland thought sufficient. The whole continent will take example by Boston. Respecting barracks. One of Haldimand's regiments to go Virginia. Regimental changes. Sir Jeffery Amherst has lost his Government, and offered to resign his regiment; this has raised a violent cry against administration. He will retire to his farm, but Cincinnatus was called again from his plough. 223.

How wood is to be procured. Annoyed at reflection on him by men he is trying to save. Wishes Rainsford to instruct the new barrack master. Factions in the Assembly at New York. Troops would be better employed at New York and Boston; near the latter 41,000 men are in arms ready for signal. Moderation of some officers has kept things quiet, but the soldiers are considered hostile and any quarrel between soldier and inhabitant made general. Respecting barrack masters. 233.

April 4,
New York. Same to the same. Ship seven weeks from Liverpool reports war not yet declared. But for the pacific disposition of the King of France, a blow would have been struck at Spain. Movements of troops; 21st to Philadelphia, the 64th and 65th ordered from Halifax. Reported two regiments of Canadians to be raised and officered by young gentlemen in Canada. Light Infantry companies be probably formed into regiments. Trouble with his barrack account; would do anything to satisfy the troops. 248.
- May 15,
New York. James Robertson to Haldimand. Hopes Rainsford will settle barrack accounts. Disturbances in London. The Lord Mayor and Alderman Oliver sent to the Tower; mob wounded Lord North and burned the Princess and Lord Bute in effigy. Duc de Choiseul returning to power in France; prospects of a Spanish war. Been hasty in reducing the army, but fleet not disarmed; a regiment to St. Augustine; 26th or 29th, 64th and 65th at Boston to be returned to Halifax. Carlton not to return to Canada. Gang of robbers and murderers in the 10th Regt.; 3 men lately hung and confessed that officers of 10th and 52nd were to be murdered. Recruiting to go on. Disputes respecting sending a squadron to East Indies and settling an Island in the Asiatic Ocean and the affair of the Lord Mayor create difficulties. 249.
- July 29,
Pensacola. General Haldimand to Col. James Robertson (in French). The bad system of obtaining wood; the loss of life among the soldiers cutting it; the difficulties of Robertson's deputies respecting accounts, &c., and suggestions for an improved system. - 1774
February 9,
New York. Same to the same. Recommends Mr. Page for Barrack Master at Ticonderoga; has been of the greatest service in arranging the Barrack accounts of Robertson. 271.
- No date. Col. James Robertson to Haldimand. No date. (Apparently the spring of 1774, the date of the General's arrival being 13 May, 1774.) Men of character and property over-awed by the mob; they mean to express their joy at General's arrival by an address; Adams threatens to have addressers tarred and feathered. No riot yet, but great apprehensions; they pray for the arrival of troops. Adams governs absolutely; has no hopes but from confusion. The Assembly, instead of answering the General's offer of services by thanks, applied for a fast, and other resolves calculated to inflame the people, only cut short by adjournment. No address on the part of Governor could keep the people quiet, influenced as they are by an artful man. After seeing the General to Salem he (Robertson) will return to New York. 279.
- May 23,
Newhaven. Same to the same. The people there only to be moved by their interest; their trade all with the West Indies, and indifferent whether Boston be opened or not. Should the charter be altered, it would rouse them; all the Presbyterian clergy are idolaters of the charter, and would lead their flocks to oppose any alteration. 273.
1775.
January 2,
New York. Col. James Robertson to General Gage. Elliot has seized 10 chests of arms and a barrel of powder on the way to Rhode Island; Sear tried to set the mob on Elliot, but the merchants and sailors appeared for him. Infinite pains to get majority of Assembly to approve of the resolves of Congress. If successful, raising armies will follow. Mob influence probably carry, but not if Tryon is present. By Maryland and Philadelphia resolves, 100,000 men are to be armed against Government. Room can be made at Boston for the 16th lying idle at West Florida. Could do good service in Boston. 274.
- January 12,
New York. Same to the same. All the city members and five or six from the country determined to oppose approval of the Congress, as that would lead to actual rebellion. A majority in favour of Congress and mob ready to rise in support of the latter. Association forming to keep the peace and prevent the house from being forced or insulted. Views as to claims of government. Wants New York separated from other governments. Jealousy of the claims of Massachusetts to all the Province of New York shared by Morris, Philips and the Livingstones; they dread the proposal to form two republics; Massachusetts to extend to Delaware; Virginia to meet it there. New York threatened by Connecticut. Asks for a recommendation for Douglas to Sir Basil Keith at Jamaica, where he proposes to take his theatrical company. 276.
- March 30,
Mahor. General James Murray to Haldimand. Sending some olives and anchovies by Mr. Pinkard. Is sure Haldimand does not mean to decide American disputes by arms. Gage would gain more glory by a conference than by a battle; abhors civil war. Spends his life

GOVR. MURRAY'S TRANSACTIONS AT QUEBEC.

B. 8.

B. M., 21,668.

Governor Murray. Letter to Lord Shelburne. Refers to the order for his return, to give an account of the state of the Province of Quebec, of the disorders there and of his own conduct, introductory to the papers in the volume.

The statements in the letter give the statistics of divisions, of population, British, French, and Indian; the British chiefly men of mean education, and the most immoral he ever knew; the Canadians frugal, industrious, and moral, and reconciled to British rule; describes the Noblesse, the Tenants and the good understanding that exists between them; they are shocked at the insults which the

- 1766 Noblesse and King's officers receive from the traders and lawyers since civil government took place. They are very ignorant, and venerate their priesthood who are, however, illiterate. Is not aware of any remarkable disorders, the outrage on Mr. Walker, the magistrate at Montreal, excepted. Disorders naturally arose from the attempt to establish civil govt. by which military officers were deprived of power, and magistrates and jurors selected from 450 contemptible sutlers and traders; sets out the abuse of power of those people, who hate the French Noblesse and abhor the peasants. The silence of the Ministry encourages them. The improper choice of civil officers from England has intensified this, added to by the pay being derived from fees, &c. Page 1.

October 16,
Quebec. Presentment of the Sessions held at Quebec 16 October 1764, by grand jury. Complaining of the number of inferior Courts and of the number of unqualified justices; ask that three justices decide cases not exceeding £10, without jury or appeal. The nuisance of permitting the occupancy of stalls in markets by men who ought to be employed in industrial pursuits; allowing King's batteries &c. to become private property. For the better observance of sabbath. Ask that the grand jury be consulted before any ordinance is passed; that all public accounts be submitted to it and settled every six months; that there should be an appeal from military to civil court, if the sum exceeds £10. Object to the ordinance establishing Courts of Judicature. The presentment enumerates also regulations as to measurement of wood &c., and the carrying of lanterns at night. 128.
- An addition to the presentment demands that no Roman Catholic should act as grand or petty juror, the same being unconstitutional and tending to subvert His Majesty's power &c. 131.
